COMMUNICATION.

East Tawas, Mich., June 7, 1892. EDITOR AND PROP'R HERALD:

DEAR SIE:-Again grant me your valuable time and space for the purpose of reciting my second lesson in response to "teacher Jackson."

I would have understood it better had he not "chewed his whiskers" for a column and a half and got them tangled in his teeth and consequently didn't say much after all.

I will not attempt to reply to all his harangue. He says, "Now Hank, do spare us. We are not Hankering for any more. We have dealt with you in the main as the dignity of your official position demands; not as a citizen." Now Mr. J., you are aware that I have been honored on several occasions as a citizen, even holding the highest official position in our village. Can you say as much? I think if you were running for "townpump," you wouldn't even get the hole in the handle.

You speak of comparing tax receipts. Poverty is no crime.

You speak of your benevolence. Now I think when a man in the habit of dropping buttons in a contribution box makes a mistake and drops in a nickle or a dime, he shouldn't blow about his benevact when you made that poor farmer three years, at 7 per cent. on the dog.

In speaking about bread, Mr. J., I did not mean to insinuate that I, personally, rendered you much aid from my own pocket. I think you know well what I meant. Your bills on village printing have always been promptly allowed, and our notice. Resp'y Yours, you know that I have never voted against them. You know that you did plead the "baby act" and you can't deny it. And who made the motion that your bill be allowed, as you claimed it was not your intention to word the contract as it appeared on the record? If the board of trustees had held you to your contract it would have made a difference in your pay of $13.75, and that will buy quite a lot of bread, won't it, C. J.? And then -The barges Sprague and Chase you go and smite the hand that gives you bread because you are an editor. This is what I call looking at the affairs of East Tawas with one eye, and not a half an eye at that. Now you claim to be such a law-abiding citizen, but you couldn't properly explain how those tickets got in circulation tion was that you left your back door open and somebody must have stolen For Sale.—The property known them. Wonder if the law is very explicit on this point.

Now C. J., don't say "Jackson and I are out," but just send along your fiftytwo papers and never mind the sugar. Your one hundred and fifty cents is ready at any time-I will stand the depreciation on the paper. You said my article read like poetry; but the majority of the people think there is much "more truth than poetry" in it.

Last half of second round. Time!

HYDENTLY, Mr. Harrison knows what: class of newspapers are the most widely read. When he grants an interview it is invariable to the representative of a Democratic paper.

Ex-Czar Reed is quoted as saying that he would not enjoy being a Blaine shouter except for the knowledge that every Blaine yell adds to the discomfort of Mr. Benjamin Harrison.

THE Rochester merchant who gave Mr. Harrison a parlor gymmasium outfit evidently thinks him in need of training down, if he intends to fight Blaine for the Minmeapolis stakes ...

Is the Minneapolis convention to mominate a candidate who is the choice of a majority of its delagates, or is it merely to ratify the choice of Clarkson, Quay, Platt & Co.? Recent events indicate the latter.

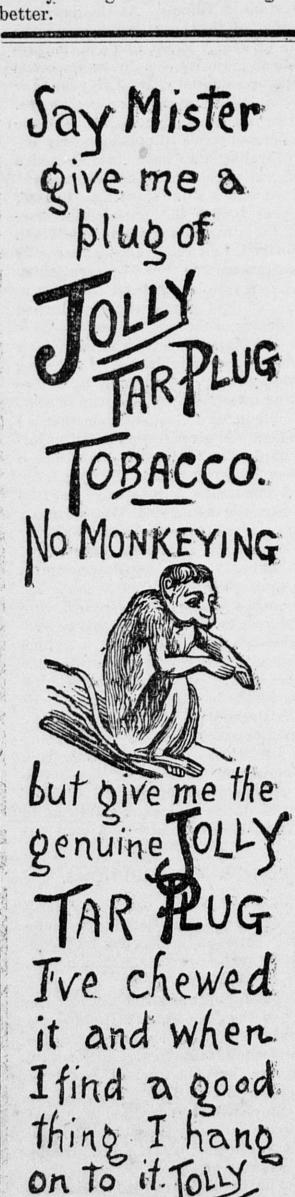

WHEN the time comes, if it ever does, when the President cannot safely go anywhere in the United States without a bodyguard of detectives in citizens clothes at his beels, the country will be ripe for the establishment of an absolute monarchy.

THERE is one consolation in the present political situation. The weakest Democrat has a better chance to win than the strongest Republican. Still that is no reason why the Chicago convention should nominate a weak candidate.

THE Census Bureau investigation shows, so far, that a very demoralized state of affairs exists in that branch of the Government service. Testimony has been given showing that a woman paid $12.50 a month to another woman, a relative of Qhief Clerk Childs, in order to reof the divisions regulated their treatment of the women under them largely by the liberties the women allowed them to take, and is com-of young and pretty girls under them, allowed them to work or play as they may feel disposed. These things have been hinted at before, but now they have been told under Six Months, .75c oath by ladies of undoubted reputation. And these things, calling themselves men, are still allowed to draw salaries from the Government. Chorus of Republican bosses, to It is not to be wondered at the peo-

In other words, Blaine secretly opposed by Harrison will be a much easier man to beat than Harrison supported by Blaine would be. The two men whom Mr. Harrison ought to blame the most are Secretary Foster and Attorney General Miller.
