A visit to the Western Plaster Works, at Alabaster, reveals a busy scene of activity; about five hundred tons of rock is being loaded daily for Chicago, besides that which is being manufactured at the works. A small locomotive has just been put in for hauling the rock from the quarry to the dock and mill. Other improvements are also being made.

Just after supper last Saturday evening our citizens were startled by the alarm of fire. It proved to be a small one story house, near the school house, owned by Mrs. Keyes, and occupied by Will Boomer. By the time fire engine and hose cart arrived the fire had gained such headway, aided by the strong, south west wind which was blowing at the time, it was impossible to save the building, which was a total loss. Mr. Boomer saved nearly all his household goods. The loss was about $300, with no insurance.

A newspaper is the greatest help in the growth of a town that can be. It is a standing advertisement that always attracts. It gives more free puffs and explanations of the place than all others. It never lets pass a good opportunity to advocate the interests of its home enterprises. It helps all the churches and never fails to speak out for its schools; resents all insinuations against the character of its citizens and industries of the town; it lives but to benefit the community.

A new provision of the school law passed this year will cause some earnest work among the school teachers of this county or else bar many of them out. It provides that no teacher shall be given more than three third grade certificates. After they have had three they must pass the examination for the second grade or else drop out. The only exception is in case a teacher has secured an average of 85 per cent or over, at the last examination for a third grade, the board of examiners is empowered to renew his or her certificate for another year. So that under the best possible conditions a teacher can teach but four years on a third grade. This means that our teachers must improve and "go ahead" or quit. This law was given immediate effect, and will be in force at the next examination. All you teachers who have had three third grades already, can prepare for the worst—or the best.

The New Postmaster.

The announcement of the appointment of Michael Murphy as postmaster of Tawas City, vice John W. King resigned, on Saturday last, was no great surprise to our citizens, as the matter has been practically settled for some weeks. The HERALD joins Mike's many friends in extending congratulations. We believe Mr. Murphy will give Tawas City the best administration of the postoffice it has ever had, and our citizens are to be congratulated on his appointment.

Entered at the Postoffice at Tawas City, Michigan, as second-class matter.

For unjust and outrageous partisan legislation the present Michigan legislature takes the bake shop.

The discovery of those pension frauds does not seem to interest the republican editors. Why this indifference, brethren?

REV. ROBERT COLLYER struck the bull's-eye when he said that financial disturbance was due to the men who want to make money on the ten-minute plan.

Our South and Central American neighbors will never learn how to behave themselves until Uncle Sam takes charge of that revolution ridden section of our continent.

SECRETARY CARLISLE carries more scalps of republican chiefs than any other member of the cabinet. More power to this good right arm and a keener edge to his scalping knife, say we,

The man who attempts to shake confidence in the credit of the Government, for political purposes, is little if any better than the man who advocates the use of dynamite as a political agent.

The republican party isn't the first political organization that has paid dearly for indulging in the luxury of too many leaders. The lesson should not be ignored by the democratic party of Michigan.

CLARKSON'S platform, which was endorsed by the convention of republican mourners, is being cannonaded by republican editors all along the line. Clarkson's "hoo-boo" is still doing business.

Our republican friends in this state confined their last fall campaign thunder largely to the democratic "garrymander," so called, of 1891, but that much abused act sinks into oblivion when compared with the one of the present legislature.

UNCLE SAM'S new cruiser, the New York, is the fastest warship in the world. The great steel vessel won that proud title when in her trial trip Monday off the Massachusetts coast she traveled the entire distance at the rate of 21.09 miles an hour and secured for her builders the largest premium ever paid in any country. Her performance will be echoed from one end of Europe to the other, for it places the United States in the van among the navies of the world, and gives us not only the most powerful but the swiftest armored cruising vessel.

The 30th of May will soon be here, and we trust that the Memorial services of this year may be even more general than ever before. The sacred mounds that are in every locality are almost all the traces that are left of the great rebellion. Rifle pits, trenches, fortifications for assault or defence in active warfare are well nigh obliterated by the ravage of time and the march of industry. The perpetuation of the Union, for which so many brave men lost their lives, has been accomplished, and we owe to them the preservation of their names and deed. An annual tribute of floral offerings laid upon their graves is but a small recompense for the sacrifice they made.—Home Magazine.

A Golden Bubble.

A great deal of fault has been found with Secretary Carlisle because he called attention to the fact that the treasury notes issued to pay for silver bullion purchased under the Sherman act of 1890 are redeemable in silver or gold at the option of the government, and that if necessary he should redeem them in silver. Mr. Carlisle's predecessor, Secretary Foster, took the same position. When, during his term of office under President Harrison, the Continental National bank of Boston, presented a $1,000 treasurer note to the assistant treasurer in that city for redemption in gold, payment was refused. The bank then wrote to Assistant Treasurer Kennard asking the reason for the refusal. Mr. Kennard replied, giving four reasons which governed his official action, and summed the matter up in this statement: "It is, therefore, and for the reasons, that my instructions were, in this instant, to decline your coin note for gold, as in no case has on act of congress been explicit in that direction." Did the republican partisans who are finding fault with Secretary Carlisle now, find fault with Secretary Foster then? Not a bit of it. The treasury notes issued under the Sherman law of 1890 are redeemable at the option of the secretary in gold or silver. The fact that they have always been redeemed in gold does not change the legal right of the government to redeem them in silver. But our currency legislation has been so bungled and debauched during the last twenty years of republican rule that bad results are just as likely to follow from the observance as from the non-observance of law. There has been less ignorance than venality at the helm.—Jackson Patriot.

Which is Most Important.

It has seemed in some counties as though this "support of the poor" was of secondary importance at the homes provided for such purpose; that after the farm, the cattle, the hogs and the hens, came the human creature at such poorhouses; that it was of first importance that the cattle be well housed, the pig pen be well ventilated, and that chicken coops be warm and snug. I have in mind a visit made to the poorhouse of one of our wealthy counties. The keeper conducted the visitor to the hog house, showed him the fine provision for slaughtering and packing, called attention to the great care taken for good ventilation and to the clean condition of the pen; from there to the tool house, where the farm and other necessary tools were kept from the weather; then to the great barn, stowed with farm products through the center of this barn were two log tables on which was an exhibit worthy of a state fair. The supervisors had made their annual visit the day before. At the suggestion of the visitor a visit to the paupers' residence was made. What a contrast met the eye! In the ventilated pig pen one could breathe freely; in the paupers' quarters one was almost stifled by the impure air. The tools were kept in a clean, dry place; the paupers, in their helplessness were kept in rooms anything but clean. The farm products in the barn showed that constant care and attention had been given them from the time the seed was sown way through to the moment that they were arranged for the supervisor's eye, but beings made in the image of God, and, although now sadly marred, but having still something of the divine, looked neglected and forlorn. The visitor was reminded of the poor slave who, when it rained, took off his hat and put it under his coat; when remonstrated with and told that he should not so expose his head to the storm, replied, "Dat's all right; dat's all right; de hat belongs to dis nigger; de head belongs to massah." The farm and the tools, the cattle and the products of the farm belong to the county; but whose is the helpless paupers? This is an account of an actual experience. I would not have it understood that it is a usual one, in its extreme features. I do not present it either, because I undervalue the conscientious care of property committed to ones keeping, or the increase of products of the farm which are exhibited with such pardonable pride. But is it not a fact that we, more or less, make that of first importance which should be secondary in this benevolent work? From within ourselves, and from without and around us, comes an almost irresistible pressure to misplace, and change in place the relative importance of the different features of this work. Should not this pressure be resisted and overcome? And were it, would not the intent of our laws for the "support of the poor by the public" be carried out more perfectly?—From one country poorhouses as seen by the Board of Charities.

Alabaster News.

Mr. John Whites youngest child is very sick.

The farmers complain of too much rain, but wheat is looking fair.

Did you hear the bell ring? It is the Alabaster elevated railroad now.

Alderman James Meistrup of Bay City was shaking hands with his friends Tuesday.

Thos. McCausland, the general manager, is as tickled with the new engine as he was with his first pair copper toed, red top boots.

Miss Marion Thurgood, our popular and able teacher; will read a paper before the Iosco County Teachers' Association next week, by request.

Waudo Avery, of Detroit, whose brains and money has put the Western Plaster Company where it stands, was in town looking over the company's many improvements.

There were four piano men in town this week and the people thought a cyclone had struck us. Mr. Norris as usual scooped all competitors and sold instruments to the following parties: Miss Marion Thurgood, John Kinny, John McDonald, George McKiddie and others whose name we did not learn. Who says hard times?

The new Hive of L. O. T. M. gave their first ball and supper last Thursday evening, and it was a grand success, both socially and financially, netting them about $40. M. Murphy furnished the music, assisted by Mrs. Shaver, pianist. "Mine Host" Livingston and his estimable wife did the honors splendidly.

A Chicago dispatch of May 23, says the United States customs officials have caused the arrest of a Swiss agent in charge of a large portion of the Swiss exhibit for selling a diamond brooch which was under bond. The Swiss building was closed and placed in charge of two custom officers. The Swiss commissioner is indignant, claiming the arrest to be just, but the closing of his building trespass on Swiss territory, and will endeavor to have all other foreigners close their exhibits until the matter is adjusted.

The orchestral portion of the production, "The World Finder," in "The Chicago Spectatorium" will be in charge of Mr. Anton Seidl, the man whom Wagner selected as the one best fitted to lead the Grand Bayreuth Festivals. Mr. Seidl takes with him, to Chicago, his orchestra of 100 musicians with whose career of success his name has been so closely identified. To the musical mind the lyric features of the production at "The Chicago Spectatorium" will be a gainer by the very presence of so well-known a conductor.

A dispatch to the Detroit Free Press says: The Avery Panel Company, which rented the Carleton factory and fitted it up with machinery for manufacturing cutter and buggy panels, have, after about six weeks work, abandoned the business, and will return to Lowell, Mich. They had an option for purchase of the property, but found the cost of material too expensive. The firm expected to have given employment to many hands.

LYNCHED.

DETROIT, May 24.—(Special)—A special to The Tribune from Coruna says: W. Sullivan, who today pleaded guilty to the murder of Layton Leech and the attempted murder of Leech's wife, was taken from the jail and lynched at 9:40 o'clock to-night. The mob consisted of over 800 men who cheered themselves hoarse as the lifeless body dangled at the end of the noose. Just before he was taken from his cell he attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat. His cell was broken open with a sledge and the noose thrown about his neck, when the crowd dragged him through the jail corridors down the stone steps to the big jail yard, where the crowd stopped and the shout went up: "String him here. This is good enough," and the rope was tossed over a limb about 10 feet from the ground, and with a sudden jerk Sullivan was raised to a sitting posture. Another pull and his head and shoulders were visible above the black mass that surrounded the spot. The men at the rope continued to pull him up until his head touched the limb over which the rope was thrown. When the body was lowered to the ground portions of the mob which had been unable to get close enough to take a hand in the actual hanging seized upon the rope and dragged the lifeless body through the mire. Afterward a crowd dragged him about the streets and around the court house square.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

CHICAGO, May 22, 1893.

EDITOR OF TAWAS HERALD,
Dear Sir:—For some time past one D. R. Stewart has been claiming to the public that he was an agent of ours representing the Kimball Pianos and Organs. We wish to say we do not know this man in any way. We never authorized him to sell our goods.

One of our local agents at Bay City did ship some goods there without our knowledge to this party, and we instructed said Bay City agent to take up the goods in Stewart's hands and return them.

We take pleasure in saying that Fred C. Norris is our duly authorized agent for the shore territory.

Respectfully,
