Farmers who complain of the low price prevailing for wheat might follow the example of a Tecumseh farmer who weighed out 25 bushels of wheat and at the same time weighed his stock of hogs.
He then fed them entirely on the wheat and the result was the increase in weight of the animals netted him $1.10 per bushel for the grain. This is an actual fact and occurred within the last four weeks.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

Say, young man there is one thing you can't do. You can't make a success of life unless you work, says an exchange.
Better men than you have tried it and failed. You can't loaf around street corners, saloons, smoke cigars, tell foul stories or sponge on some one else without making a failure in life. You must learn a trade or get into some honest business; if you don't you will be a chronic loafer, despised by all, producing nothing simply making yourself a burden to your parents or state. There is no place in the world for loafers. The ripe fruit is all at the top of the tree, and you must climb if you would get it. If you wait for it to fall at your feet, you will never get it. Smarter men will jump up and pick it all. Move, do something, no matter how small, it will be a starter. Help yourself and others will help you. There is no royal path to success; toil, energy and endurance are the requisites. Wake up and see what you can do.

Against Keating.

On September 4 last the bondholders of the Detroit, Bay City & Alpena railroad company asked the United States court to appoint a receiver for the road, and a few days later Judge Swan appointed Don. M. Dickinson. Several days later the sheriff of Iosco county levied on three locomotives and 450 tons of coal to satisfy a judgement of $10,000 which Thomas Keating, 19 years old, had obtained against the company, and advised the sale. Judge Swan issued an injunction restraining the sheriff from making the sale, because the foreclosure of the mortgage which included the locomotives and the coal had been ordered by the court. Keating's attorney then moved to set aside the injunction and permit the judgement to take precedence over the bondholders' mortgage. Monday Judge Swan denied the motion on the ground that the levy was made after the road had passed into the hands of the receiver and the mortgage had been foreclosed by the order of the United States court.—Bay City Times-Press.

C. A. Jahraus, attorney for Keating, says that the case will now go to the U. S. court of appeals, and will not be settled this side of the United States supreme court.

A WELL regulated income tax is one of the laws congress should adopt during the coming session.

NOTWITHSTANDING the calamity howls sent forth by the republicans times continue to grow better in nearly every section of the country.

THE Pennsylvania iron and steel manufacturers are increasing their capacity and number of employes right along, notwithstanding the republican press is predicting ruin for them through the new tariff.

THE voters of the first congressional district indorsed the policy of the democratic administration last week by electing Hon. Levi T. Griffin to congress by about eighteen hundred majority, and this in the face of the fact that the republican city ticket was elected by about five thousand.

A FEW hair brained republican editors have already commenced claiming that times are growing better because of the late republican victory. Possibly there are a few people who are foolish enough to believe last week's elections can in any way effect the national policy during the present administration, but we doubt it.

THE tariff fight will commence almost as soon as congress meets next month. The result is certain as the democrats of both houses of congress will stand shoulder to shoulder and pass the bill which the and means committee is now carrying. The people will get the asked for last fall—a reduction of the tariff.

Crop Report.

The secretary of state makes the following crop report for November: That sowing was delayed this year by the dry weather that prevailed previous to the middle of September. The rains that began the 10th of that month placed the land in condition that it could be sown, and wheat was sowed in time on until near the 1st of October. A much larger percentage of an usual was sowed in early part of October.

The area sowed this year compared with area sowed in 1892 is estimated as follows: Southern counties, 75 per cent; central counties, 77 per cent; northern counties, 91 per cent; and State 77 per cent. The reduction in area is indicated is not greater than is reasonably to expect, and is in part due to low price, and in part to the dry weather.

Wheat is doing fairly well, small because late sowed, but it is growing, and but little damage has been done by insects. Less than a dozen correspondents in the southern counties report damage by insects. Compared with vitality and growth of average years the average condition is as follows: Southern counties, 88 per cent; central, 90 per cent; northern, 98 per cent, and State 89 per cent. The percentage for the southern counties is the same as in 1891, but five points above the condition November 1, 1892.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in October is 1,127,516. The number of bushels reported marketed in the three months August, September and October is 4,654,020, which is 787,117 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year.

Corn in the southern counties is estimated to yield 44 bushels of ears per acre, in the central 54, the northern 61, and the state, 57. The average yield of corn in the state for a long series of years is about 50 bushels of ears.

The acreage of clover seed harvested in the southern counties is about two-thirds, and in the state seven-tenths of an average. The yield in the southern counties is 1.12 bushels, in the central 1.47 bushels and in the state 1.20 bushels per acre. The yield of the small, or June clover, is very light, but the mammoth yields fairly well.

Potatoes are estimated to yield as follows: Southern counties, 54 per cent; central, 62 per cent; northern, 68 per cent, and state, 57 per cent, of an average crop.

The condition of live stock is rather below the condition one year ago, the averages, however, are all above 90 per cent.

The statistics of land in farms in May of this year, as shown by returns made by supervisors, are as follows: Total number of farms in the state, 141,235; acres of improved land, 8,366,022; acres of unimproved land, 4,347,877; average size of farms, 90.02 acres.

The statistics of wheat, corn and oats raised in 1892, and acres of wheat in 1893, as shown by the farm statistics, are as follows: Acres of wheat, 1892, 1,622,244; bushels, 25,374,190; yield per acre, 15.59 bushels. Acres of wheat in May 1893, 1,582,127. Acres of corn in 1892, 700,570; bushels of ears, 34,599,245, average per acre 49.39 bushels. Acres of oats in 1892, 825,833; bushels 24,638,787; average per acre, 29.84 bushels.

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genesee St., Lockport, N. Y., says:

"Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a catarrh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was

Nearly in Despair, and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments, I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured."
