Each chop chips a chip, each ad adds
trade. The sharper the axe, the larger the chip. The more effective the ad,
the better results. Its the last chop that fells the tree. To its effectiveness is added that of all that have gone before.
So also it is the last ad that is most effective. Had it not have been for the first chip the last could not have been cut.
If it could the effect would have been
nil. So, too, with the last ad. It was smaller than the first and cost less, but
it felled the tree of success, scattering branches of prosperity over ground that was bare before.—Printers Ink.

The operation of the new tax law is about as follows: The uncollected taxes
from the several counties are returned to the auditor general's office, and advertised for sale, and unless purchased by others, are bid in by the state. These taxes are of all descriptions and have been generally regarded as worthless.
In selling these titles under the present
law the state merely disposes of its interest in the property sold giving a quiet
claim thereto, the purchaser merely acquiring the claim of the state and assum-
all risks and responsibilities.—Ex.

Who are the most famous writers and artists of both continents? The Cosmopolitan Magazine is endeavoring to answer this inquiry by printing a list

withstanding its extraordinary reduction in price, it is bringing the most famous writers and artists of Europe and America to interests its readers, and in proof of this claim, submits the following list of contributors for the five months ending with February: Valdes,

Abbott, Frederick Masson, Agnes Rep-
plier, J. G. Whittier, (posthumous,)

At last an anarchist has done something praiseworthy; he killed himself with his own bomb.

The circus manager who can secure a partnership contract with Mrs. Lease will be a lucky man.

Those "denunciations" of Secretary Morton are like most of the protests against tariff reform—put up jobs.

MORMONISM doesn't go in West Virginia, as three elders who were treated to new spring suits of tar and feathers can testify.

Do the people elect Congressmen to vote or to filibuster? That question may make trouble in some Congressional districts this year.

The sound of the factory and mill machinery is slowly but surely drowning the calamity wail, and nobody is disposed to throw a life-preserver.

The democratic party has but one request to make of the democratic senators—get together. The majority in the senate is too slim to indulge in any monkey business.

MR. BENJAMIN HARRISON has served notice on Reed and McKinley that the old man still considers himself in the game and able to bluff with the best of 'em.

Of course McKinley isn't a candidate for the Senate. The denial given out by his private secretary was superfluous. Everybody knows what McKinley is a candidate for.

The new state census law provides that the township boards shall appoint enumerators whose duty it shall be to begin June 2 to gather the census. The city council is designated as the body that must name the enumerators in the city. All returns must be made to the county clerk and compensation to enumerators is $2.50 per day.—Cheboygan Democrat.

If you have eggs to swap for flour and the supply of wheat runs short it will take more eggs than previously to get ten pounds of flour. If you have labor to swap for money and the supply of gold—from which alone money is now made—runs short you will have to give more hours of work for a dollar. That is why wages are going down.—Chicago Times.

NEARLY one-half of the American people believe that the more they are taxed on what they eat, drink and wear the better they are off, and it is very funny that those who believe this absurdity claim to be the most intelligent. Protective tariffism is based upon two propositions which people must believe: First, that they are benefited by being taxed; second, that the more they pay for a thing the cheaper they get it.—Jackson Patriot.

The income tax law as incorporated in the Wilson bill will demand of Rockefeller annually $200,000; of the Jay Gould estate, $120,000, of the Vanderbilts $220,000, and of other noted millionaires in proportion. The same lightens the burdens of the poor man by lessening the tax on the every day necessities of life. In short when it becomes a law it will shift the burden of taxation from the poor to the rich. No wonder the protected plutocrats are kicking so vigorously against it.

We know just what we say when we make the statement that no party as corrupt and unscrupulous in its leadership as the republican party has ever before existed on the face of the earth. This grows out of the fact that it is a plutocracy—the party of wealth, of money; and money knows but one way to control elections, which way is by the purchase of votes. Dishonest counting belongs in the same category. For years before they were turned out of power in the nation the republican leaders made no sincere effort to protect the right of suffrage anywhere, either north or south. They wanted the costly machinery merely to aid in them in bulldozing voters and carrying elections. They did not want a large party in the south, so long as they could keep power by northern votes. They preferred a narrow organization, manned by white office-holders, and useful chiefly for furnishing delegates to national conventions, —Jackson Patriot.

MUST GO TO A FINISH.

With time and the development of facts the enormity of the crime committed against the people of Michigan grows upon them. Full comprehension of its magnitude, its far-reaching effects and the ultimate results to which it would lead if unchecked and unpunished, could not be grasped in the surprise and consternation of the first announcement. Men were too much stupefied to think or too incredulous to believe that an act so deeply tainted with treason, not only to the state but to the vital principle of our national government, would be done in Michigan. The scope and the meaning of the terrible crime could have been the more easily grasped if it had been committed by other than those in whom the people had reposed the highest confidence and to whom they had entrusted an important part in the conduct of our public affairs.

Had the offence been that of the ward heeler and the thugs whose transgressions forced the state to a secret ballot as a matter of self protection, public faith would have withstood the shock because of abiding confidence in the integrity of the masses and those whom they have honored by official recognition. Had a constable, a county or even a single state official been elected through the agency of fraud, there would have been no serious apprehension that the waters of corruption were sapping the very foundation of our institutions. Individual instances of wrong-doing in high places indicate nothing more alarming than the frailties of humanity which find manifestation in all ranks of society, in the church and every calling of life.

But the case which Michigan encounters is without parallel in the history of the United States. The frauds of Boss McKane sink into insignificance by comparison with those which this state is now striving to fasten upon the perpetrators. So far as the evidence adduced can be interpreted it points to a wholesale conspiracy among those who are officers of the state, solemnly pledged to its protection and obedience to its laws. What is worse and far more alarming is that the frauds struck directly at the constitution of the state which they were sworn to maintain. It was the votes on proposed changes in this organic law that were falsified. No one man stole an unimportant office, no petty tax was imposed through the efforts of the conspirators, but their dastardly stab went to the very heart of a great commonwealth.

If such crime as this can go unpunished then indeed our attempt at popular government has been not merely an experiment but a disastrous failure. Even should the ill-fated day come when the rule of the minority is to be established in this country, the people want the poor privilege of having honest men in power instead of forgers and thieves; for such there are among those who have done this grievous wrong.

The Free Press has full confidence that some among those indicted will establish their innocence. Otherwise, faith in human nature would have little to subsist upon. But it is due the innocent as well as the guilty that this matter be sifted to the very bottom. Vindication is the right of the innocent and punishment must be visited upon the guilty. The more searching and determined the investigation the surer it is that right and justice will prevail. It will not add a feather's weight to the crime of those who have been in this conspiracy and it will clear the title to innocence for those who have been falsely accused. Every honest man of whatever political faith should insist upon the vigorous prosecution of these cases until crime is brought home to those who committed it.—Free Press.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

The case of Sanborn against the Detroit, Bay City & Alpena railroad has been decided by the supreme court rendering a decision in favor of Mr. Sanborn. The case has been before the courts for several years, and was brought by the plaintiff for damages occasioned by being run into with a log train. He was hauling logs across the track at his regular crossing place and the log train came along at time and ran into his rig, injuring him as he claimed, very badly. He brought suit and the case went back and forth between the circuit court and the supreme court for several years. The verdict gave Mr. Sanborn $5,000, but as the road is in the hands of a receiver and protected by the United States court, it is not yet certain that Mr. Sanborn will get his award for some time, and it may be placed with all other debts and be the same as other claims, unless the officials treat it as a preferred claim.—Times Press.

A large number of draft horses have been purchased in Roscommon county, of late, principally from Shiawassee and Ingham county farmers. These have been paid for by what are now known as "Nestor township orders." The records of Nestor township were destroyed last year, at the time a certain schoolhouse was burned, but the orders are dated prior to the burning. The present town board are unable to tell for what purpose the orders were issued. There is considerable pine left in the town, as well as other forms of wealth, and the lawyers believe the orders will have to be paid by taxes levied on this property. The holders of the orders are now sending representatives to look the matter up. A man from Covington, Ky., has been trying to collect $3,700 worth of orders. It is estimated that there are from $40,000 to $50,000 of the orders in circulation. There is about 100,000,000 feet of standing pine in Nestor township, owned mostly by Saginaw and Bay City men, who will suffer heavy loss if the orders are paid.
