agement of the Central Michigan Normal School at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., will open June 26th, and continue six weeks.

for special preparation for the August examination. Courses of study are provided for teachers of each grade, up to and including those working for a State Certificate. Circulars sent on application.

Must be that Bill Nye has been in the business: Here is what he says: "Every newspaper man has, at some time in his business experience, met the man who takes more papers than he can read. He was in town last week. He paid 25 cents for an almanac, wiped his nose on an awning, tried to blow out an electric light at the hotel, tried to light a cigar
on it, put a nickle in the slot at the postoffice because the mail did not appear,
wanted to lick the cashier of the bank
because it closed at 4 o'clock and watched the sign over a jewelry store, looking for it to strike."

Society in the east is entering upon a new fad. It is called table football.
The interior of an egg is extracted
through a small hole, and the light egg shell is fought for between goals by the breath of contestants. The side with the strongest breath generally gets there with the eggshell ball. It is not considered in good form to eat onions previous to the contest. Hand bellows are ruled out. The ladies enter into the contest with great spirit, and physicans say that as a chest expander, it is a great success. It is hoped that the game will come west, but if it does, it would be just like some of the old fogies to call them "blowing parties" instead of "zeper football."

Supintendent of Public Instruction
Pattengill recently received the papers of 34 candidates for first grade teachers' certificates. He has decided to indorse 13 of these, and requires the remaining candidates to do a part of the work over at the August examination. Of the 13 indorsed, two were from Washtenaw county, two from Iosco, and one each from Alger, Ingham, Calhoun, Mecosta, Arenac, Grand Traverse, Lenawee, Delta,
and Sanilac counties.—Evening News,
The above speaks well for the schools of Tawas City, since the two certificates spoked thereof as being granted by the State to applicants for First Grade, were granted to Prof. C. E. Clark and Miss Nina Henderson, who has studied in the High School under Mr. Clark the past term. The only other county in the state which secured two certificates of the first grade being the great county of Washtenaw in which the Michigan University is situated, and which has a dozen towns and villages as large as Tawas City. Out of 34 candidates in the State only 13 were endorsed as up to the standard now adopted by the State Board, by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Lost.—A certain township order, number 660, issued by the township of Tawas
Mich., dated the 15th day of April, 1893,

Detroit Safe Co., of Detroit, Mich. All persons are hereby cautioned against purchasing the same. Dated Tawas City Mich., April 12th 1894.

Circuit Court.

The May term of Circuit court com-enced Tuesday, Judge Simpson presiding.

The first case called was that of the people vs. Almon Mead, charged with keeping a house of illfame. The regular panel of Jurymen was exhausted and one tailman called before a jury was secured. The examination of witnesses and pleas occupied all of Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday forenoon and the case
went to the jury Wednesday afternoon.
After being out a short time the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner will probably receive his sentence
today or tomorrow.

The case of the people vs. Thomas Duby, charge with an attempt to rape, was taken up Wednesday afternoon and the regular jury panel exhausted and nine tailmen call without securing a jury, court then adjourned and the sherriff was instructed to subpoena another full panel. Thursday forenoon was spent in securing a jury and the case is now on trial.

For Memorial Day.

Commander Kanitz, of Michigan G. A.
R. has issued the following order:

Twenty-sixth anniversary of Memorial day, inaugurated by John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, will be observed Wednesday, May 30.

As the years roll on the grim messenger will summon from the ranks, one by one, the comrades who marched elbow to elbow in defense of our country's unity.
The labor in this life of a successful man is the sowing of seed, or, if reaps, it is but to sow again. The good that he does lives after him and multiplies, bringing forth fruit many fold. In the past year over 300 true and faithful comrades have been added to those who have gone before to that bourne from which no traveler returns.

Mere eulogy is a waxen flower that melts in the hand fondly grasps it, but true eulogy is a living flower, rooted alike in earth and sun. It is but fitting, as it is the duty of every comrade to lay aside the toils of the day and pay just tribute to the dead. So let it be done.
It is recommended, as in the past, that all posts attend divine service on the Sabbath before Memorial day in uniform,
if uniformed.

Arrangements should be made whereby every citizen and every society may unite and participate in the ceremony of strewing flowers over the graves of every soldier buried. The Woman's Relief corps, ladies and all school children should be especially invited. The Sons of Veterans and the National guard, where organized should be assigned the escort duty.

Honse cleaning season is at hand, and with it considerable papering and painting will be necessary. E. D. Schermerhorn, wishes to announce that, having been able to procure good help, he has decided to run both branches of his business this season, and is prepared to do house painting and paper hanging.
Those who get their names on order book first will be served first. See him at once.

FRANK HATTON, the brilliant editor of the Washington Post, died Monday.

SENATOR Francis B. Stockbridge, died suddenly Monday evening, at the residence of his nephew F. L. Houghteling, at Chicago. Michigan is thus called upon to mourn the loss of another of her favorite sons.

SINCE it costs about $14 a day to be absent without leave, unless on account of sickness, there has been a marked decrease of absenteeism in the House. The old law should have been enforced earlier.

If the soldiers of the blue and gray persist in fraternizing, as they are doing at Birmingham, the Republican party will be compelled to advertise for some new issue in the near future.—Washington News.

THE Coxe movement is the best illustration of the imbecility of Republican paternalism that the country could possibly have. The legitimate conclusion of Republican teaching is that everybody is entitled to be supported by the government, and that is all the "industrials" ask for.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

A REPUBLICAN paper heads a doleful review of the business situation "Congress holds commerce and trade in a vise," which is true enough, but it forgot to add that it is the republican Senators who are delaying action on the tariff bill and preventing the loosening of the vise. Half a truth is often no better than a lie.

GILLAM, of the Harrisville Review last week started a little boom for Judge R. J. Kelly, of Alpena, as the republican candidate for congress from the tenth, and winds his article up with the inquiry of, "what's the matter with Robt. J. Kelly for Congress?" Kelly may be all right but he is on the wrong side of the fence. Mr. Weadock's successor will be a democrat.

THE Republican press of the country howls over the delay of the democrats in passing the tariff bill, because, as it claims, the revival of business is retarded by the uncertainty as to the new rates; but at the same time the Republican senators are straining every nerve to prevent the advancement of the measure. Thus is the Republican solicitude for the revival of business shown to be hypocritical. The party desires nothing so much as to retard industrial revival, in the hope that it will help in returning the discredited g. o. p. to power in the nation. If they really believe that the uncertainty attending the tariff question was the cause of business stagnation, and they honestly desired the revival of business, they would not try by very means in their power to keep the issue in a state of uncertainty. The party is acting the role of the mountebank to deceive the unwary.—Ann Arbor Argus.

THE silly falsehood about the foreigner paying the tariff tax was never more plainly shown than in the letter published by Congressman J. W. Moon in which he declines to be considered a candidate this fall for the republican nomination. Says Mr. Moon in this letter: "All legislation is snaped from the cotton-planters' standpoint, and they, with downtrodden labor and Liverpool for a market, are now, as it seems to me sacrificing every northern interest out of revenge. "Tariff for revenue only is yet the cry. They, however, want the duties put on sugar and rice for that revenue and high enough to give them all the protection they need, and then let the northern farmer and laborer buy the sugar and pay the tax." This is good republican authority for the democratic contention that the foreigner does not pay the tax. Mr. Moon rides the same saddle used by republican congressmen since the days of the war, appealing to sectional prejudice, but he can be forgiven all that for the admission made that the foreigner does not pay the tariff tax.—Muskegon News.

THE plan of electing United States senators by a popular vote has been advocated in the past, and during recent months has attracted the attention of all thinking men of both parties. This agitation is producing good results and the movement is constantly gaining friends among those who love pure government, and are not in favor of hoisting into place, men whose only recommendations are founded on the size of their "barl," and the liberality with which its contents is distributed. Why, we ask, has Michigan cut such a sorry figure in the senate for nearly a decade? The question is easily answered in one word, money. Can Michigan boast of millionaire, and is there one that brought credit to the state in any way? Emphatically, no. Since the days of Cass and Chandler, brain has been a secondary consideration in the qualifications necessary to aspire to that position, and if the ways and means with which some of them have attained their ends could have been held up to the light, bribery, perjury and purchased votes would be found to cut a very important figure in many cases. No man of common intelligence, no matter to what party he may belong, can but agree with The Press in its behalf that the right way and the only way is to elect these officials by a popular vote. It would effectually squelch much that is rotter in politics, a rottenness that extends even to county and city affairs. We hope the subject will be agitated until it becomes a law.—Mt. Clemens Press.

GOODS FOR GOODS.

In the current number of the Westminster Review there appears an able argument in favor of free trade over the signature of Arthur Withy. Mr. Withy makes a plea for absolute freedom of interchange between all the English colonies first, and between all the countries in the world eventually. And it is in demonstrating the feasibility and desirability of universal free trade that he also, without evident intention, makes an excellent argument in favor of free silver. Mr. Withy says:

The fundamental misconception of protectionists is, I think, as to the uses of money. They do not recognize that money is a mere ready-reckoner and medium of exchange and that all trade consists, in the ultimate analysis, in the exchange of goods for goods. Did they realize this they would see that for every pound's worth of goods imported into a country a pound's worth of goods must be manufactured within that country to exchange for it; that the more goods there are imported the more goods must be exported to pay for them; and therefore, curtailing the demand for home labor, would greatly stimulate that demand, and thus raise both wages and profits.

It is in that assertion "all trade consists in the exchange of goods for goods"—that the keynote of Mr. Withy's argument, and of the argument of anyone who discusses the money question intelligently, lies. The goods may be represented, for convenience sake, in pounds, shillings, and pence, or in dollars and cents, or, as in Alaska, in blankets. Middlemen and bankers may handle them in the shape of bills of exchange, bills of lading, warehouse receipts, or storekeepers' certificates, though they may never see the goods. The goods are, in due course, exchanged not for money, but for other goods of equal value.

The use of money in all these transactions is simply to facilitate their progress, to simplify the system of accounts. The quid pro quo in every case is some commodity, and the money passed from hand to hand in the system of trade is but a mere portable representative of the goods themselves. It is imperative that there should be plenty of money for the transaction of business. A contraction of the money volume means the placing of a premium on money, a raising of the rates of interest, and a lowering of the purchasing power of goods as related to money, just as a scarcity of freight cars or vessel hulls during a busy season means a rise in freight rates and the offering of premiums for immediate accommodation in the matter of transportation facilities. The confining of the money function to a single metal, and one of limited production, means preforce a contraction of the volume of money, and, inevitable, an injustice to the producer of goods and a still greater injustice to the men in debt.

Free trade would certainly, as Mr. Withy asserts, stimulate production and international exchange of goods. The money volume of the United States is already inadequate to meet the requirements of commerce, and it cannot be enlarged on a monometallic basis fast enough to keep pace with the natural yearly increase, let alone the great augmentation which would instantly follow upon the removal of prohibitive tariffs. Consequently in event of free trade being inaugurated recourse must, or would most naturally, be had to silver as an auxiliary vehicle of exchange, which would of necessity be coined and circulated upon an equal parity with gold. And all trade being the exchange of goods, and all American values represented for convenience sake in abstract dollars, it would matter not whether the dollars which stood for the goods were gold or silver, their purchasing power—i. e., their right to represent the commodities of exchange—would be equal.—Chicago Times.

MICHIGAN LEADS.

Its Lumber Output Greater Than That of any other State.

The bulletin which has just been issued from the census office covering statistics of Michigan manufacturers shows that Michigan is far ahead of any state in the union in lumber and other mill products from logs or bolts. The product is more than one-third greater than that of the next highest state, Wisconsin, and more than three times greater than any state except Wisconsin. There were 1,918 establishments reporting with a capital of $111,000,000 employing 47,000 men at $15,000,000 a year. The value of the product is given at $73,484,406; but this does not include custom house sawed lumber and some other items. I. M. Weston says that the census bureau admits the defective character of its lumber figures and informed him during the worlds fair that Michigan product was hardly less than $100,000,000 a year. Michigan also leads in timber products not manufactured at the mill, her total product being over $9,000,000 and nearly one-third of the total of the United States. We are second only to New York in shipbuilding. There are sixty-two establishments with a capital of $3,500,000, employing 2,284 men and producing vessels valued at $4,710,108.

A so-called "faith cure" doctor has been known a few days during the week and succeeded in raking in about $200, but his "wonderful" cures were all of short duration.

"The Merchant of Venice" was presented at the opera house last evening by Alpena amateurs, in a highly pleasing manner, under the management of Prof. A. E. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barranger took their departure on the steamer Michigan, Sunday evening, for Ely, Minn., where Mr. B. goes to look after the mining interest of his brother Isaac, of Saginaw.

The steamer Ossifrage arrived here on her first trip, on the Bay City-Alpena route, Wednesday evening. While not so large as the Lora, she is handsome, substantial craft and will beyond doubt give good satisfaction and become very popular.

Complaints of inferiority of the postal cards now in use have reached the postoffice department during the last few weeks. The number is declared to be small compared to the number received during former periods of similar length. This dissatisfaction is caused by the alleged excessively smooth quality of the cards, frequently resulting in illegible handwriting.

Many good items are lost to news papers by the modesty of the people, who hesitate to tell matters concerning themselves, not that they object to the item, but they are afraid they would be pushing themselves forward. The man who informs them that he is going to Chicago, or that his wife's mother is visiting him, is the kind we are looking for. If you know any good news to tell us, we will turn our back while you blush. If you have done anything mean it will not be necessary to tell us, we will find it out anyhow.

SHE IS A WOMAN, AFTER ALL.

This is one of the most deliciously feminine expressions with which I have ever met. A friend of mine took his wife to the opera the other night, and after the second act the lady became suddenly ill—so ill, in fact, as to make it necessary for her husband to take her into the air, fine a drug store and apply restoratives. She felt too badly to go back for the rest of the performance, and they went home and had something to eat. Then madame felt better. In fact, she felt so much better that she wondered how it was that she had been ill at all. After a long silence she said to her husband:

"I have a confession to make. I want to get it off my mind, and I hope you won't think I am silly. But do you know why I didn't faint in the opera house, and haven't done so since?"

"Why, my dear," said he gently, "I suppose it was because you had strength of mind enough to resist the feeling."

"Well, I did resist it," said the lady, laughing. "But the real reason was that I knew there was a hole in the toe of my black silk stocking."

Her husband chuckled as he told me this story, and said that he couldn't imagine why the mere fact that his wife might have fainted justified her in thinking that anybody would take her shoes off, particularly when he was on the spot. I don't tell this story as an encouragement to young married women to avoid the habit of knitting stockings, but really the longer you consider this incident the funnier it seems. And this particular woman, mark you, is a well-known novelist, an accomplished musician and a progressive woman generally. —New York Press.

Advertisements Never Lose Their Value.

The value of an advertisement, no matter how old, if once it has been committed to type, is very peculiarly shown in the experience of Mr. Frank Howe, son of the late historian. For many years the historian was a resident of Cincinnati, engaged in the publishing business on Main street. He was at that time a very liberal advertiser in the newspaper of the state and received a very large mail. Thirty years have passed since then, and yet, occasionally, to this day letters addressed to Henry Howe, at his Cincinnati street and number, are received by his son in this city, after having been forwarded from Cincinnati. In one of these letters the writer explained that he had just come across an old paper containing the advertisement of a book in which he was interested and wrote at a venture to see if a copy could be secured. The newspaper had been packed away in some corner and had, after long disuse, found an interested eye. This and other instances of the kind show that it is impossible to tell how and when an advertiser will get returns. It is made equally apparent that the good offices of an advertisement in a newspaper are never ended till the paper is destroyed.—Columbus Dispatch.

National Educational Association.

The National Educational Association of U. S. A., will hold its 1894 meeting at Asbury Park, N. J., July 6th to 13th, inclusive.

Asbury Park is one of the most beautiful seaside resorts on the Atlantic Coast, about 40 miles from New York City and two hours ride from Philadelphia. It has most spacious and magnificent hotel accommodations, and all members of the Association will be granted half rates at hotels on presentation of their Membership Certificates, during the meeting.

The Trunk Line Railway Association, including all Eastern Railways, has granted a half-rate, plus $2.00, N. E. A. Membership fee from all points in the territory of the Association, (except from points within one hundred miles from Asbury Park, where a cheap summer excursion rate is available.) The tickets will be good to return until Sept. 1st, if deposited with the Railway Joint Agent at Asbury Park during the meeting.

The Western roads have all been asked to grant the same rates and are now acting through other associations on the question, and without doubt will make the same rate as the Trunk Line Association. There will be the very finest facilities for sea bathing, boat riding and coastwise excursions, on the ocean, as well as the most quiet retreat.

The local committee are planning to make the teacher's visit at Asbury Park one of the most pleasant events of their lives. The program of the Association Meeting will be made up of addresses and lectures by men and women of national renown as educators and orators.

For Official Bulletin, containing full information and official program regarding hotel and railroad rates and routes, and for further particulars address, S. Sherin, Sec's Local Executive Committee, Asbury Park, N. J.

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

From Our Special Correspondents and Clippings from our Exchanges.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Burglars are doing a thriving business at West Bay City.

W. J. Parker has been appointed village attorney for Oscoda.

A land looker is reported to have accidentally discovered a large whiskey distillery in the wilds of Presque Isle county. He claims to have sampled the goods and say it was first-class.

Cheboygan voted to bond the city for $33,700 last Monday on a small vote to improve the waterworks. This makes over $100,000 in municipal improvements to be completed this summer.

Frank R. Sweet, the inhuman wretch of Five Lake, who was convicted of immoral relations with his 14-year-old daughter, was sentenced by Judge Corbett to fifteen years at hard labor at Jackson.

The man who called sarsaparilla a fraud, had good reason; for he got hold of a worthless mixture at "reduced rates." He changed his opinion, however, when he began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It pays to be careful, when buying medicines.

Samuel Rosenthal of AuSable, well known here, will return to town and open a first-class dye house, about May 5th. This is an institution that is greatly needed here, and with such a hustler as Mr. Rosenthal should prove a great success.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Capt. C. A. Richardson, formerly of Alpena, but now of Chicago, has commenced suit against the Messrs. Churchill and Comstock, of that city, in the sum of $10,000. The debt is claimed to be due Capt. Richardson as commission on the sale of the steamer Niko and barge Churchill, some two years ago.

Arrangements have been made whereby C. E. Marvin will reopen the National hotel, at AuSable. The work of repapering and putting the house in shape has commenced, and it is expected that it will be open about June 1. This will again give AuSable a first-class hotel under the management of one of the best hotel men in this part of the state.

Hon. S. O. Fisher was at Ottawa, Ont., last week where he purchased 12,000,000 feet of choice pine. This, with his recent purchase of 5,000,000 feet, makes him owner of 17,000,000 feet. He is now negotiating for the purchase of 1,000,000 feet more. These logs will come from the Spanish river district, and will be sawed by Bay City and West Bay City mills.

Wm. Mowatt, supervisor of AuSable Township, was seriously injured last Saturday at the Penoyar mill by having a log jack fall on him. The jack did not rest squarely on him; if it had the accident would have proved fatal. As it was it is very serious. It has been reported during the last day or two that Mr. Mowatt's recovery was doubtful, but at Penoyar Bros' office yesterday, it was stated that he was getting along all right, though his recovery would be a matter of some time.—Oscoda Press.

All the men in the Thompson, Smith & Son's mill at Cheboygan refused to go to work Monday morning. The mill started up a couple of weeks ago and all the men were given last year's pay for eleven hour's work. This scheme was not satisfactory from the start and the men have been quietly at work organizing for the strike. The firm refuse the demand of the men and say they will close the mill. The men hold that the lumber is being sawed on contract at last years prices and that the same scale of wages should be paid.

The county seat war in Montmorency county has finally reached the supreme court and that tribunal on Friday last granted an order requiring the board of supervisors of the county to show cause on June 5, why they should not reconvene and recanvass the vote cast upon the proposition to remove the county seat from Atlanta to Lewiston. It is alleged that the vote of Albert township, which gave a majority of about 250 in favor of removal, was illegally and arbitrarily thrown out by the supervisors, and the proposition thereby defeated by 100 votes.

A queer state of affairs exists in regard to the National Hotel at AuSable. It seems that the hotel was mortgaged by its owner, Selig Solomon, to the Schloss Bros., but the mortgage only covered a portion of the ground on which the building stands. The mortgage was recently foreclosed by the Schloss Bros., but when they tried to rent the building Solomon stepped up and showed that he owned the rear six feet of the main building, the kitchen, sample room, and also the barn. The case will go into the courts, and will probably cost more than the hotel is worth.

A Bay City young man who enjoys a little joke now and then, recently inserted an advertisement in a matrimonial paper in which he represented himself as a pretty typewriter with a romantic longing for a husband. He has received 155 answers, a raft of photographs, and over $4 worth of postage stamps. One of the correspondents is so smitten with the letters he has received that in his last communication he announced his intention of coming to Bay City to see the fair typewriter. The fair typewriter is accordingly making preparations to take to the woods.—Tribune.

There is a growing impression among the people of Rogers City and Presque Isle county generally that the corner's jury acted very hastily in holding Mrs. Frank Crawford guilty poisoning her husband. Very little, if any, evidence has been thought out to show a motive for the act, and the woman's high reputation has been in her favor. In fact, she was more generally respected than her husband, who was a hard drinker, and is known to have expressed a belief that his end might come suddenly. Crawford's relatives are ardent defenders of the woman. It is believed to be significant that Mrs. Crawford, instead of being sent back to jail after her arraignment, was released on her recognizance.

The following fish story is going the rounds of our exchanges: The other day down at Standish, a small town between here and Bay City, a few local sports started out on a fishing expedition. They were bent on doing wholesale business, as they went well supplied with dynamite. The party had with them a spaniel dog which proposed to take a hand in the sport. A cartridge with lighted fuse was no sooner cast in the water for the wholesale slaughter of fish, when the dog plunged in after it, and to the horror of the party the dog brought it ashore in his mouth. This was signal for a scattering of the party, they took to their heels closely pursued by the dog when the cartridge exploded. After the members of the party got over their scare they looked around for the dog, but there was nothing left of the poor animal, he had been blown to fragments.
