"For Charity Suffereth Long."

Mrs. Laura C. Phoenix, Milwaukee, Wis.

"Matron of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The inmates had the 'La Grippe,' and I was one of the first. Resuming duty too soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drafts made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 2 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food, as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me." June 6, 1894. MRS. LAURA C. PHOENIX.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

A SUCCESS!

The 21st Annual Fair the Best for Several Years.

The 21st Annual Fair of the Iosco County Agricultural Society, which was held last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, was the most successful held by the Society in several years. The attendance on the second and third days was large, and the number of family tickets sold exceeded that of previous years.

The display in Floral hall was exceptional large in the grain, vegetables, and fancy work department, while that of fruits was small, owing to the exceedingly poor year. The stock display was good, excepting in the swine and sheep departments, there being only about twenty animals shown in these two departments.

The races were much better than last year. The farmers race, on Thursday, was won by M. Miner's "Silverside," while Burebe, of Au Sable, won the three-minute race, with Minnie B. On Friday, Burebe won the colt race with a bay three-year-old, and the free-for-all with Minnie B. A "shake" purse was made up for a running race, which was won by Sam'l Anker's brown mare.

NOTES.

No accidents reported.

The gate receipts were over $500, being the largest in years.

Geo. W. Mount, of Tawas City, had a fine display of shoes.

The display of root crops was the largest and best ever had.

The display of ornaments and artistic work was far larger than usual.

Willard Robinson, of Baldwin, had on exhibition a 34 pound mangle wruzel.

Excellent music was furnished Thursday and Friday, by the Oscoda and Tawas City bands.

The Association have made many improvements on the grounds, including several new stalls.

E. L. King, of East Tawas, occupied his usual corner with a handsome display of furniture.

Among the displays that attracted special attention was some carved work from gypsum, by Rudolph Starks, of this city.

C. D. Bates, of AuSable, had a very fine display of poultry, as did E. L. King, of East Tawas. The display in this department was the best ever had.

Kindness to Animals.

Many people who would never dream of being cruel to human beings have no pangs of conscience when it comes to mistreating dumb animals. It is because they are unable to defend themselves by speed, or it is because we have never taken notice of the imploring and intelligent expression in their eyes? The negligence and even abuse shown to animals is surprising. One would almost believe that every spark of feeling and mercy had departed from the human heart. How can it be expected that they should show the best that in them when no care and affection are given them?

How hard it must be for the poor house dog or cat to sit by and wait for the family to finish their meal before it will get a bite, and then, perhaps, hardly enough to support life. It is a great mistake to permit these animals to hunt for nearly all their food, in most cases they will starve. To be put out on a cold winter's night, with no place of refuge, must be, if we could but put ourselves in their place, horrible. If we could do it we would treat them differently.

We cannot, of course, all be fond of animals, but there is no excuse for not treating them well. "Only a cat," or "only a dog," seems to be the excuse for all sorts of abuse and neglect. If there is any animal about the premises that is not wanted, the most humane thing would be to kill it in some quick and painless manner. To torture an animal in any way is brutal. One who would do such a thing, is, and deserve to be thought, heartless and unkind.

Teach the children to be merciful and kind to all animals, and they will be gentle men and women for it.—Prarie Farmer.

A Shooting Affair.

About 11 o'clock last Friday night as Chris Goedecke, and his sister, of Tawas township, were driving home from a dance in East Tawas and when near the stave mill some one shot at them, the ball striking Chris on the side of the head and making a scalp wound, but fortunately doing no more serious damage. Suspicion pointed to Alfred Johnson, until a few days ago turnkey at the county jail, as the guilty party, and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. His examination was held Tuesday, and he was bound over to next term of circuit court, in the sum of $2,000. Being unable to secure bail, he is now in jail awaiting trial.

Profit in the Skillful Dairying.

Prof. Robertson says that "in producing a pound of butter there are 66 times more skill than in producing one pound of potatoes."

Commenting on this statement Hoard's Dairyman gets at the meat of things in the following paragraphs. It says, let us see for a moment just what that means.

It means that it requires 66 times more skill to make a pound of fine butter than a pound of potatoes. That explains why you will see 66 times more people growing potatoes than making fine butter.

It means also that if you have the brains and will use them, that there is 66 times more profit in a pound of fine butter than in a pound of potatoes.

It means that skill is entirely founded on the use of brains, and good, intelligent brains at that.

It means there is but little difference in the price paid for potatoes grown by ignorance or intelligence, but there is a big difference in the price of the butter of intelligence or ignorance.

It means that in the domains of dairy farming there is a splendid chance for the brainy farmer to exercise his brains to good profit. The young man who is thinking of leaving the farm because he cannot find a wide enough field for the brains he thinks he has can find in the cow and product a field for all the brains he can muster.

Because it is a brainy business where skill plays a great part, is the reason why there are so many failures in it.

Good brains are required along the whole road from breeding the cow, managing and feeding her, managing the farm that shall produce her food, taking skillful care of her milk, skillfully making up the product, and skillfully selling it in the end.

Everywhere it is a place for brains and a good use for them. The man who engages in this business and thinks he can get along with cheap brains and a cheap use of them, had better grow potatoes or most anything else rather than cows.

A Growing Demand for Family Cows.

"Of late years the tendency of the more wealthy class of our city population is to seek suburban residences, owing to purer air in the country and the demand of the city proper for factories, shops and business houses," says Mr. Bailly in National Stockman. "The extension of the electric car lines has made it possible for the business man to live in the country where he and his family can have all the luxuries of the farm, yet to do business in the city. No suburban residence is complete without one or more Jersey cows, not merely for lawn ornaments but more properly to supply the table with healthful food, both luxuries and substantial. And by the way, in all the cuisine calendar there is no other source from which you can get so many palatable dishes as from the cow products: Professional men, mechanics and laborers, when situated so that they can keep them, want family cows. The demand from all these sources is constantly increasing and the supply is not equal to the demand. I know of no brighter opening in the farm or animal industry to the farmer than the raising of a class of cows suitable for this trade. It would not require a large capital, neither would thoroughbred stock be necessary, yet the nearer to this—the type of the animal being more firmly fixed and reproduction more certain—the better the chances for success would be. At least one would hardly expect to succeed by using anything short of a thoroughbred sire. It would require neat and convenient stables, yet not necessarily expensive ones. A few cows of the desired type for foundation. The milk products from these should pay all cost of keep and care and a good dividend on the investment besides. The offspring would be clear gain. These should be kindly treated, trained to be perfectly gentle to milk at cow-hood, neat in appearance, kind and loving to ladies and children. Such cows at from three to five years old would find a ready market at prices more than double those for ordinary stock, and where one went it would make a demand for more.

"The business of raising cows for sale is capable of unlimited extension. Those which were not up to the more aesthetic taste in appearance would find ready sale to the milk and butter dairies."

It is Worry, that Kills.

It is not the work, but the worry, which kills. There is no tonic for the body like regular work of the mind, though this is unfortunately not often appreciated, or not allowed by the physicians to whom anxious mothers take their growing daughters. There is nothing so sure to steady the nerves of the fretful and excitable child, as regular school work in the hands of a real teacher. Many a child who is celebrated for dangerous fits of temper, at home, becomes entirely transformed under the influence of such a school, till her nearest relations would not recognize her, if they should ever take the time and the trouble to visit the school-room. I do not mean a school-room full of competitive examination, of "marks," and of irrelevant inducements to make the child commit to memory a mass of unrelated and undigested facts. I mean one where, without any inducement but the natural desire for knowledge, which is all-sufficient with any American child, if it be rightly directed, you will find steady and well-ordered labor, without haste, though not without rest, and honest, thorough and pleasurable work. We may learn a lesson from this fact—for it is no theory—of the effect of regular work on our tired nerves, and wise shall we be if we apply it. Even the most inconsistent physician could not object to this kind of tonic, though he would tell you, and truly, that tonics are worse than of no use for overworked nerves.—Ladies' Every Saturday.

Grading About Buildings.

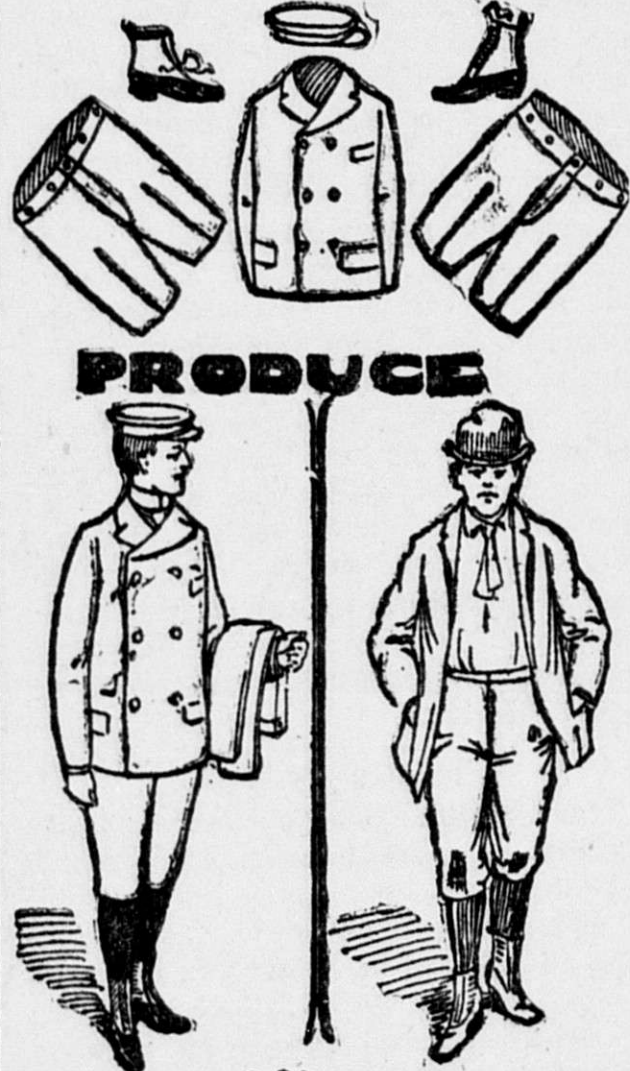

There is no better time to do this work than in the fall, and there are few buildings that would not be the better for more or less work of this kind. At some points, perhaps only a wheelbarrow load or two may be needed, while at others several wagon loads may be required. For the benefit of the foundation walls, the grade should be at least three inches to the foot for at least five or six feet, especially if there is a cellar located under the structure. It not only looks better, but makes the cellar walls firmer, prevents water from soaking into the cellar, and renders it warmer in winter and cooler in summer. The earth used for the surface of the grade should be well enriched, and either sodded over now or grass seed sown and well raked in. About the doors of the barn building, use stiff clay or gravel, and stones two or three inches in diameter, should be placed on the surface and driven into the soil with a sledge and covered with two inches of soil. Every year again cover the stones that become exposed.—Orange Judd Farmer.

How to Can Grapes.

Wash them carefully and put them in the can. The latter must be well warmed and standing in hot water. From the tea kettle pour boiling water over the grapes as they stand in the can, a little at first so as not to break the glass. Let it stand a while and pour the water off, then repeat this again. Pour off, and the grapes will be well scalded, but not mashed. Then fill up the can with rich boiling syrup and put on the lid. When you open them for use, just throw me a kiss, please.—Michigan Farmer.

A contemporary says that newspaper subscriptions are infallible tests of men's honesty. They will sooner or later discover the man. If he is dishonest he will cheat the printer in some way—say he has paid what he has not—declare he has a receipt somewhere—or sent the money and it was lost in the mail—or take the paper and not pay for it on the ground that he did not subscribe for it—or move of, leaving it come to the office he left.

About 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, our citizens were started by the sound of the fire bell, and it was soon discovered that the Bayside House barn was on fire. The fire company was on the grounds promptly, and by hard work succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading to the adjoining store buildings, although not being able to save the barn. When discovered, the flames were bursting through the roof, the fire evidently having started in the hay loft, but from what cause is a mystery. The stock, buggies, etc., on the first floor were all saved. Mr. VanWey, the proprietor, is at Mt. Clements, and it is not known whether or not there is any insurance on the building. The value of the property destroyed is not far from $1,000. Fortunately what wind was blowing came from a favorably quarter, or a large part of the lower portion of our city would now have been in ashes. Much credit is due our fire company, and those citizens who aided them, for the work done.

Rudyard Kipling makes his last appearance as a teller of Jungle Stories in The Cosmopolitan for October. "Mowgli leaves the Jungle Forever," and the curtain is drawn over one of the most charming conceits in literature. In the same number in which Mowgli makes his final adieux, appears for the first time before an American audience, the now famed Richard Le Gallienne in a plea for religion under the title of "The Greatness of Man." A very important paper on "State Universities" is contributed to this number by Professor Ely. And among the story-tellers are Hopkinson Smith and Boyesen. No more beautiful work has ever appeared in any magazine than the marvelous illustrations of Cabrinety used as a frontispiece and accompanying the prose poem by Mrs. Cardozo. Drake—who is said to be Kipling's favorite artist for his Jungle Stories—Carter Beard, Osterlind, Denman, and Kemble, are among those who contribute a wealth of illustration to this number. The Cosmopolitan announces that it will begin the publication in January of The Agriculturist's Illustrated Magazine, to be fully the equal of the Cosmopolitan, but containing from sixteen to twenty pages by the ablest agricultural writers of the world, upon subjects of importance to the agriculturist, horticulturist, and stock-growing interests.

The Tenth District W. C. T. U. convention meets at the M. E. church in this city, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. A good program has been arranged and a large attendance is expected.

Dr. Botz has made arrangements with Dr. F. G. Olp, to have charge of his office in this city. Dr. Olp comes to us well recommended, after several years practice in Toledo, O., and Grand Rapids, and is prepared to do all kinds of dental work, on short notice.

Rev. Woolley started last Friday, with his wife and family, to drive from Wilber to his new appointment at McKinley, expecting to make about 20 miles of the distance before night, but fortune failed to smile on the elder on this occasion, and for some reason he got lost. After driving all night in the rain, and the largest portion of the next day, the wanderers again found themselves at their place of starting. The experience is one that but few people would care to have.
