Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Graham and family wish to extend through these columns, their heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors who gave their aid and sympathy during their recent sad bereavement in the death and burial of their son Charles.

Where the common stiff broom is used for the general carpet sweeping, sawdust slightly damp, Indian meal damp, well-washed tea-leaves, even bits of newspaper slightly damp may be torn up and scattered over the carpet and will help in keeping down the dust.

The true standing of the editor is appreciated after his death, if not while he is alive. A lawyer sent the following letter of condolence to the widow of an editor: "I cannot tell you how pained I was to hear that your husband has gone to heaven. We were bosom friends, but now we can never meet again." The above from the Press and Printer would seem to intimate that the lawyer was of the same opinion as Morgan Wood of Detroit, who said in a recent sermon, there was no place in heaven for lawyers.

About 12 o'clock last Friday night our citizens were awakened by the cry of fire, which was soon located in the Keating house in the first ward. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. The house had been vacant for some time and a family from near Bay City had moved in only a day or so previous. They were awakened by the smoke and escaped in their night clothes, saving only a trunk, baby carriage and a few other articles. The fire is supposed to have started from a defective flue. We were unable to learn the losses. The people who occupied the house returned to Bay City, Monday

A Bay City dispatch to the Detroit Free Press says: "Chief engineer Casey says he will submit the profiles of the route to be followed by the Detroit & Mackinac railroad in coming from Omer to Bay City, to the contractors Monnay. The proposed road will be built in a straight line from Omer to Pinconning, where there is a slight curve to the east. From the village to Lengsville there is a straight line, and from Lengsville to Bay City only one curve, making two on the entire line from Emery Junction to Bay City. Standish is left off the road, while Pinconning, Saganin, Lingsville and Linwood are on it. The road will run along the bay shore from the Kaw-kawliu river north, and will open up a number of fine beaches."

Next Wednesday evening will doubtless be an auspicious one for the theatre of this city. It will prove to be the greatest "record breaker" in farce comedy, Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown." It is needless to speak of this comedy's success in New York City, but when we say it ran for 658 nights, it speaks volumes as an entertainer. "The Trip" of today and the "Trip" of a year ago are two very different entertainments. This season, in the first place, it is served to introduce two clever comedians, Miss Laura Biggar and Mr. Burt Haverly who have played the parts of the "widow" and "welland strong" respectively, many thousands of times. This time they come as stars, surrounded by a clever company, all of whom have achieved signal successes in different walks of stage life. Then again Mr. Hoyt has added every year to this comedy new and bright material keeping up with the spirit of the times, in words, as well as music; therefore the embellishment will prove to be entertaining, even to those who have seen this skit before. The cast is very strong, containing most all of the principals who have scored hits from time to time in this, the most successful farce comedy of the age. At opera house, East Tawas, April 28th.

Burleigh Sued for $25,000.

Henry & Pugh yesterday filed declarations in the circuit court in suits against the township of Burleigh, in favor of C. F. Gordon, for $10,000, and Mrs. Helen Gordon, for $15,000 damages. On April 19th, 1894, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were driving across a bridge over Johnson Creek, in that township. The bridge broke through and the team, wagon and people were thrown into the river, 21 feet below. It is claimed that Mrs. Gordon was permanently injured by the fall.—Oscoda Press.

County School Exhibit.

At a recent meeting of the Iosco county teachers it was decided unaminously to make a public exhibit of our schools' work and progress this year. It was also decided to hold it at the county fair this fall if sufficient encouragement and sufficient space in the exhibit hall might be given us by the fair authorities, otherwise to hold it in connection with the Teachers' Institute. Two circulars have been sent out from the Commissioners office, outlining the work in language, history, science, mathematics, etc., that may be prepared for the exhibit, paper on which to prepare this work has been distributed among the schools and most of our teachers are now preserving test exercises, reviews, maps, examination papers, etc., prepared by their pupils and find it a powerful incentive for their best work without the objection that our best educators make against the prize system of the old time school.

Our Teachers' Association which meets at AuSable, May 1 and 2, will make a preliminary exhibit and devote an hour to the discussion of the manner and merits of the exhibit and its relative value in education.

In the State Superintendent's report of '94, the latest, it is found that 28 counties in Michigan made or were preparing to make school exhibits. It is worthy of notice, that like vertical penmanship it is highly commended by every teacher who tries it.

The modern school exhibit has nothing in common with the old-time school exhibition. It is a faithful representation of the written work of a school from day to day. Instead of consigning to the waste basket the test exercises that were very well regulated and well taught school purposes, they are preserved. A pupil thus learn to do all his work carefully and thoroughly.

It is moreover an exhibit of the teacher and his methods. And those teachers only who are afraid to have their work come to the light make any objection to this style of exhibit.

School officers will find the exhibit a valuable aid to them in selecting a teacher and will do well not only to encourage this work, but to carefully inspect the results when the exhibit is made. J. K. OSGERBY,
Co. Com.

The Supervisors.

The new board of Supervisors held a special session Wednesday. They organized by electing C. E. Wilcox, of this city, chairman, and Chris Yockey, of Oscoda, chairman pro tem.

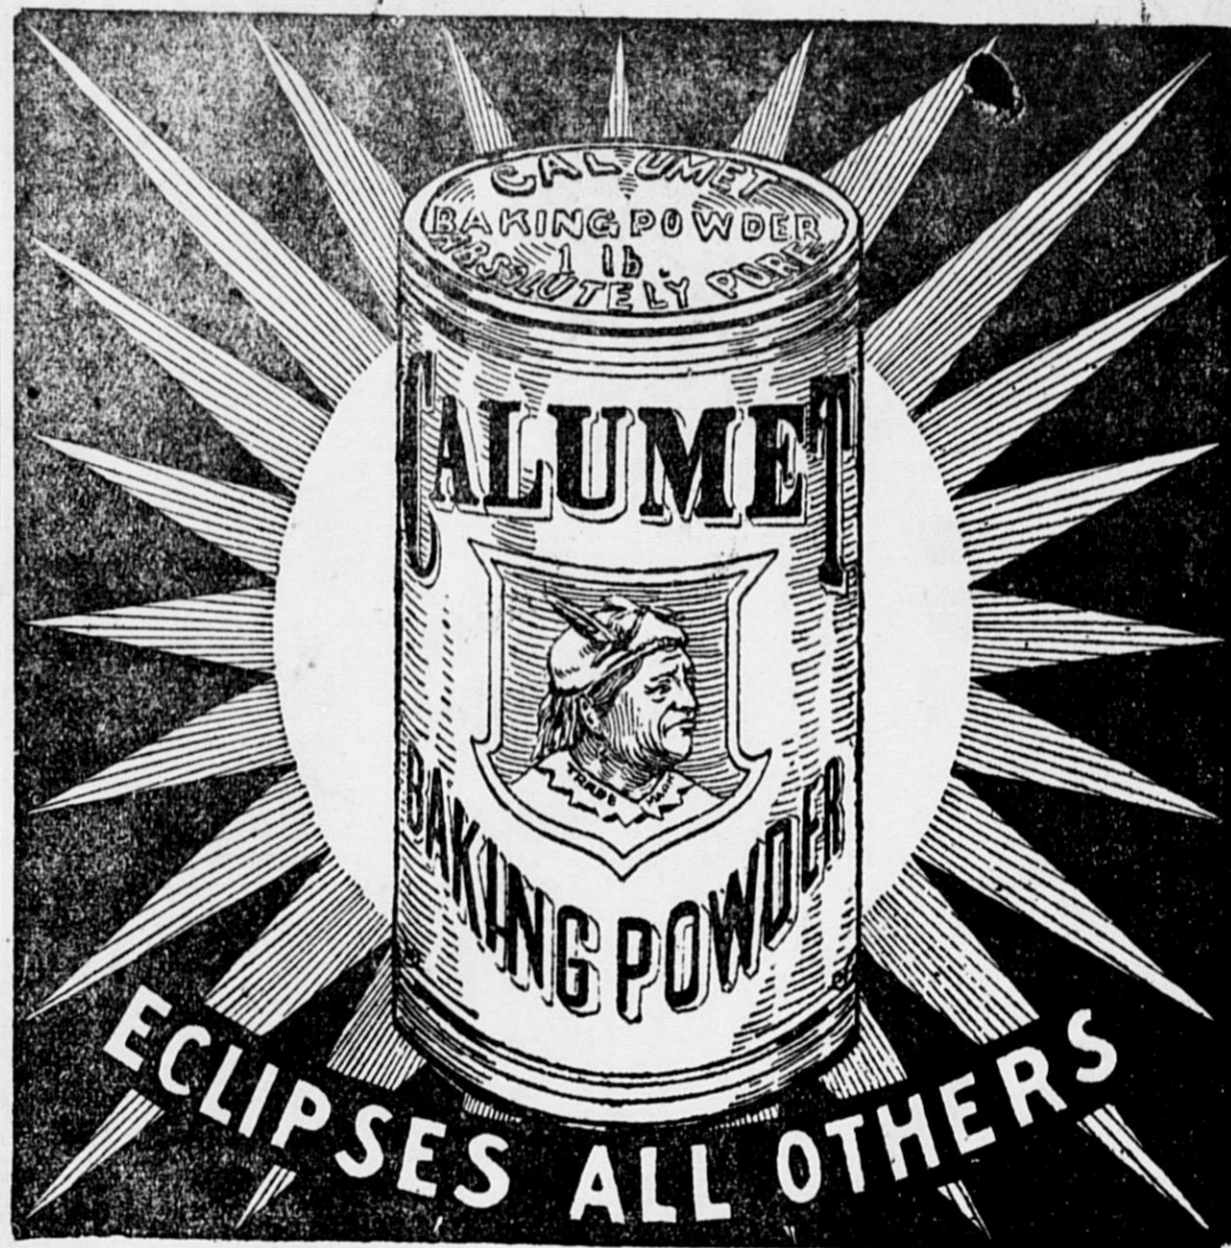

Among the other business transacted they instructed the chairman and clerk to draw county warrants to the amount of $5,000, to be discounted in order to meet the contingent county expenses.

The board then allowed a few bills and received the report of the superintendents of the poor and adjourned to meet Monday, June 22.

Meeting Of The Democratic Press Association.

There will be a meeting of the Association Democratic Press of Michigan, at the Wayne Hotel, Detroit, on Tuesday, April 28th, at 1 p. m. for the purpose of electing officers and transacting such other business as may properly come before the meeting. All members are urgently requested to be present, and all editors of Michigan democratic papers are cordially invited to meet with us.

Against the Farmers.

If this country is about to strike another blow at the commerce of the world, as is threatened by a gold standard and high tariff triumph this year, other nations will retaliate by striking at our agricultural interests, because this is the point of attack where they can do us the most harm. Farmers should consider the situation.

A majority of the people of this country are vitally interested in foreign commerce. Our farmers would be utterly impoverished were it not for European markets. About eighty per cent of our exports are agricultural products. This alone saves us from financial bankruptcy. Nearly one quarter of our wheat goes abroad. Two-thirds of our cotton supplies foreign factories. Provisions, corn, animals and other farm outputs make up the bulk of commodities sent abroad to prevent a drain of gold and harden times. Check this outflow and everybody in this country, except the bondholders, will be poorer.

If we go to legislating again against trade the concerted action of European powers will beto cripple our farm. Discriminating and even prohibitory taxes against our agricultural products are already threatened. The colonial policy of European nations has this in view. It is apparent in the great increase of cotton-growing in Egypt, and is further demonstrated in the advance of wheat production in India, Russia and Argentine, where there has been no change of money standard and prices are double what they are in Mississippi states.

Plainly, if Europe shall discriminate against our farmers as is contemplated, in retaliation for proposed tariff legislation in case of a McKinley triumph this year, the result must be dire distress. Between the upper and neither millstones—gold standardism and high tariffism—the last vestige of prosperity will be ground out of them.—Jackson Patriot.

A Common Delusion.

The farmers of this country are realizing that everything they own and everything they sell is declining from the prices realized years ago. The first impression is that there is some cause for it in the article or commodity, and not in the money which measures the value of these commodities. That impression has become so prevalent that they do not stop to study the financial conditions that lie at the foundation of all transactions by which the product of the farm changes hands. They do not realize that the value of money is measured by the price of the product, the same as the value of the product is measured by the price of money. That the same influence that change one, change the other. Value is relative. If the amount of money was increased from time to time to a degree proportionate with the increase of population, and business exchanges to be met, we would have more uniform prices for product, for the reason that the value of money would be uniform, and its relations to the value of products would not be subject to the disturbance from which the agricultural industry is now suffering. If this disturbance was the result of overproduction, or caused by an increase of products over the legitimate demand, then it would be regulated by the natural laws of trade and the period of its duration would be short.

But this disturbance is the result of vicious legislation solely in the interest of the money speculators. It is in the interest of a small, but influential class to have dear money, and so they deliberately undertake to manipulate the financial policy of this country to accomplish their own purposes. Congress, unfortunately for the farmers, is controlled by that class who can contribute most to corrupt the foundations of our laws. The change is the unit of value from silver to gold under the plausible pretense of securing a more stable standard of value, thus limiting the quantity and enabling the money changers, by combining, to so control the prices of everything that the farmer possesses or that is the product of his soil.

Daniel Webster, whose statesmanship was fashioned in the better mould of an earlier day, in a speech delivered in New York in 1837, condemns such disturbance of the standard of value in the following characteristic language:

"I hold that any disturbance of the standard of value and the means of payment and exchange to be one of the most unpardonable of political faults. He who tampers with the currency, robs labor of its bread. He panders indeed, to greedy capitol, which is keen sighted and may shift for itself; but it beggars labor, which is honest, unsuspecting, and too busy with the present to calculate for the future. The prosperity of the working classes lives, moves, and has its being in established credit and a steady medium of payment. All sudden changes destroy it. Honest labor never comes in for any part of the spoils, in the scramble that takes place when the currency of a country is disordered. Did financial schemes ever benefit the industrious? Did violent changes in the standard of value ever do good to him who depends on his daily labor for his daily bread? Certainly never. All these things may gratify greediness for sudden gain or the rashness of daring speculation; but they can bring nothing but injury to the homes of patient industry and honest labor. Who are they that profit by such a state of things? They are not the many, but the few. They are speculators, brokers, dealers in money, and lenders of money at exorbitant rates of interest. The exercise of that power of discriminating between one man's debts, is a thing not to be endured in a free country."

But in the face of such testimony, Congress, in 1873, committed the great crime of the century, by placing the unit of value within the power of human avarice to control the value of life and land and even liberty, in a once happy and prosperous country.—Pennsylvania Farmer.

Cost of Bad Roads.

According to the statistics collected by the office of Road Inquiry of the Department of Agriculture, the amount of loss each year by bad roads of the country is almost beyond belief. Some 10,000 letters of inquiry were sent to intelligent and reliable farmers throughout the country, and returns were obtained from about 1,200 counties, giving the average length of haul in miles from farms to markets and shipping points, the average weight of load hauled and the average length per ton for the whole length of haul. Summarized, it appears that the general average length of haul is twelve miles, the weight of load for two horses is 2,000 pounds, and the average cost per ton per mile 25 cents, or $3 for the entire load.

Allowing conservative estimates for tonnage of all kinds carried over public roads, the aggregate expense of this transpiration is figured at $946,414,600 per annum. Those in a position to judge calculate that two-thirds of this, or nearly $631,000,000, could be saved if the roads were in reasonably good condition. At $4,000 per mile a very good road can be constructed, and if an amount equaling the savings of one year were applied to improving highways, 157,000 miles of road in this country could be put in condition. The effect of this would be a permanent improvement, and not only would the farmer be astonished in the sudden reduction of his road tax, but he would also wonder at the remarkable falling of in the cost of transportation. He would also find that he required fewer horses and less feed for them. He could make two trips to market a day instead of one, when ability to his goods there at a time when high price are ruling is a matter of great consequence. Farmers are beginning to apply a little simple arithmetic to some of these matters, and it is not too much to expect that in the near future we shall see a decided revolution in the condition of our rural highways.—New York Recorder.

Kunze, Applin & Co., of East Tawas, are now located in the opera house block. Their new quarters are the largest and best arranged grocery store to be found in Iosco county. This firm has, by honest dealing and low prices, built up one of the largest and best trades of any firm on the shore. Success to them.

If a person has anything to say against his neighbor they should come out square toed and say it, but in the name of decency do not sneak around like a thief in the night, like a snake in the grass, and whisper scandalous stories about your neighbor in every ear willing to listen. Do not attempt to ruin a man or woman's character by any such cowardly acts.—Ex.

School commissioner Osgerby has an article in this issue to which we wish to call the attention of the officers of the county agricultural society. This is a matter that will interest the parents of every scholar in Iosco county, and the fair association should take such steps as are necessary at once. We will probably have more to say on this subject at some future time.

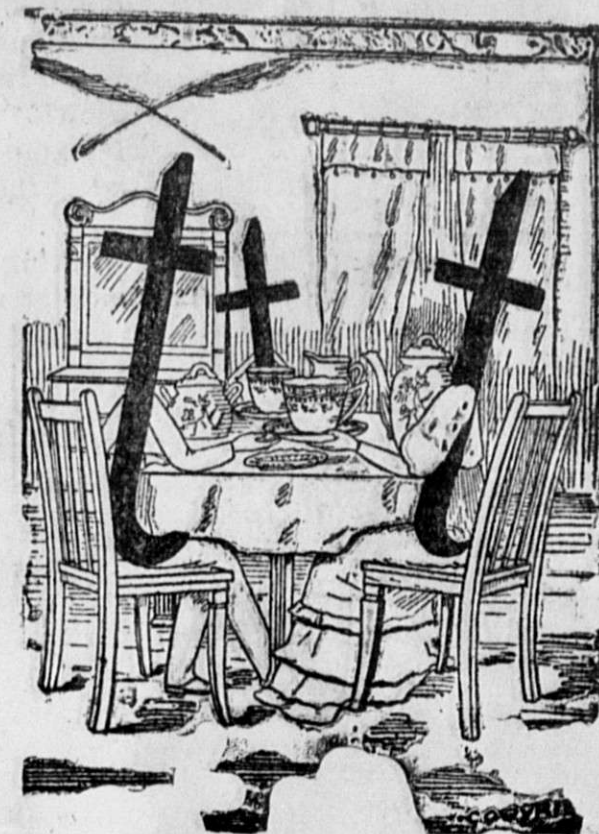

The piles for one pier on the West side of the river are driven for the bridge to be erected for the D. & M. Railroad company, and the stone for the bridge is on the east side approach to the bridge; all cut and ready to be put in place by the masons. There is a pile driver and force of men at work, making all the necessary preparations for the erection of the bridge.—Bay City Independent.

A dyspeptic-looking man called for a drink of whisky in a Bay City saloon. He took a sip, then exclaimed, patronizingly: "This touches a responsive chord. Down at the small-pox hospital in Saginaw I—." But the bartender had fled to the back yard. The dyspeptic man coolly finished his drink, walked out without paying a cent and remarked: "Wall, some folks are dead easy this time of year."

The father who is "chummy" with his boy, gets down to that eager, inquiring, restless little soul and explains and encourages, does not need to cut a birch gad in order to maintain discipline; and the mother who sympathizes, cuddles and plays with her children can keep her slippers on her feet and her hair-brush on the dressing-table. Children need love and sympathy as much as flowers need air and sunshine.

The king of all farce-comedies, Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown" will be seen at the opera house, East Tawas, Wednesday, April 29th, with the beautiful Miss Laura Biggar as the "widow" and the inimitable comedian Mr. Burt Haverly as "Weland Strong," the management has surrounded the brilliant stars with a cast of exceptional excellence, who will render the songs, dances, etc., which appear in the play, on the same scale of excellence that has always characterized Mr. Hoyt's plays. A first-class performance can be looked for.

American Women.

Mr. Hall Caine, who was recently in the United States, says of American women:

"They are superior intellectually to the men. This has come about as a consequence of the American man's putting the American woman on a pedestal and worshipping her. He has stayed below the pedestal and worked for her, not having time to cultivate his mind and manners while he so worked. But she has had plenty of time, and she has made the best use of it. I consider that the reverse is the case in England. The average Englishman is superior to the average English woman in intelligence and education. In American, the women have known their own value, and see it rather high for a couple of generations at least." All of which is not only interesting but true. But do not the women weary of being "pedestaled?" Don't they like to get down from their attitude and cut up monkey-shines just to show us that they are common clay? In the answer to this query is to be found the solution of the mystery as to the cause of the New Woman.—Ladies' Every Saturday.

Eggs on the farm.

No farm can be considered complete without fowls and eggs. Eggs are almost an absolute necessity, for they are used on the table in various ways and also in the composition of pastory of all kinds. But while there are few farmers without fowls there are hundreds that have but few eggs at all seasons. The reason is that farmers do not secure the breed that answers their purpose best. So he has hens; that is all he seems to care for, but there is as much difference in hens as in animals. Some cows give a small quantity of milk; others yield larger; so is the case with hens. It is the duty of the farmer, then, to get the best, for it costs very little to do so. A good hen is worth two poor ones, and if a small number of fowls can be kept for laying a sufficiency that may be needed, a great number is an encumbrance. The room is too valuable to be monopolized by unprofitable or unproductive fowls and in no other way can this be treated as a matter of economy than the increasing the number of eggs by using good stock. Blood is potent and poultry is no exception to the rule.

YEARS OF INTENSE PAIN.

Dr. J. H. Watts, druggist and physician, Humboldt, Neb., who suffered with heart disease for four years, trying every remedy and all treatments known to himself and fellow-practitioners; believes that heart disease is curable. He writes: "I wish to tell what your valuable medicine has done for me. For four years I had heart disease of the very worst kind. Several physicians I consulted, said it was Rheumatism of the Heart. It was almost unendurable; with shortness of breath, palpitations severe pains, unable to sleep, especially on the left side. No pen can describe my sufferings, particularly during the last months of those four weary years. I finally tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and was surprised at the result. It put new life into and made a new man of me. I have not had a symptom of trouble since and I am satisfied your medicine has cured me for I have now enjoyed, since taking it Three Years of Splendid Health. I might add that I am a druggist and have sold and recommended your Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me and only wish I could state more clearly my suffering then and the good health I now enjoy. Your Nervine and other remedies also give excellent satisfaction." J. H. WATTS, Humboldt, Neb., May 9, '94.
