RUSBICUS.

A Lively Burg.

A representative of the HERALD visited the town of Twining, Arenac county, Monday, and found it one of the liveliest little places imaginable, with very bright prospects for the future. Gardner & Peterman, of Saginaw, are erecting a large stove and heading mill there, which will add much to the village. John McCready, proprietor of the saw mill informs us that he is running his mill to its full capacity and is unable to supply the demand for the lumber required for new buildings. The town has a good hotel, two general stores, etc. It is surrounded by fine farming lands, which are rapidly being settled up.

State Land Commissioner French, has just commenced the erection of buildings on an 800 acre stock farm three miles east of the village, and Messrs Swartz & Pollack are also going into stock raising on an extensive scale.

"Good Roads" are receiving attention from the residents and everything possible is being done to bring people there. Among other industries that will probably be located there soon is a flouring mill. The D. & M. Ry. are now making arrangements to build a new depot. Twining promises to be the metropolis of Arenac county.

The Money Question in a Nut Shell.

During the presidential campaign a year or more ago, a group of men were discussing the question as to whether the demonetization of silver had seriously lowered the prices of farm products by the appreciations of gold, and thereby brought disaster on the country. One of the party finally turned to an old gray-headed farmer who stood silently near and listened, but had said nothing.

"Uncle John, what is your opinion on the subject?"

"I don't know much about politics and finance as our men at Washington discuss them," replied Uncle John, "but I know this: If I had a million bushels of wheat bought at Chicago on a margin for delivery next December at 50 cents a bushel I would rejoice to wake up some morning soon and learn that one-half the surplus wheat in the world was destroyed. I would know that my Chicago wheat would go to one dollar a bushel. If I had a million bales of cotton bought on futures at New York at six cents a pound, I would be glad to hear some day soon after that one half of the supply of cotton was destroyed. My cotton would sell for twelve cents and no mistake. Any fool ought to know this is true. Now isn't it just as plain that if silver is demonetized, and one half the coin of the country is destroyed that the other half—gold—will become doubly as valuable for the purchase of anything the farmer has to sell; that wheat and corn and oats and cotton will sell at one-half the prices they brought us before 1873. and one-half the prices we should get now?"

The old farmer reached the end of his argument, and there is simply no answering his conclusions. The present condition of the grain and produce market are but object lessons, demonstrative of the old man's conclusive reasoning. There has come to pass the present season just the case supposed by the old farmer—one-half the surplus crop of wheat is cut off in Europe and other foreign countries. The United States fortunately holds the other half of the surplus for sale. Yet, with this enormous advantage of a half surplus in our favor, under the murderous gold standard fraudulently forced upon this country, the farmer-victims are getting from 85 to 90 cents, at best, for their wheat: If the same conditions now had existed before 1873, they would be getting $1.50 to $2 per bushel, more readily. Corn and oats, now selling at 28 and 19 cents respectively, should as readily be selling for 40 and 35 cents. Cotton now selling at 6 cents, should be worth 10 cents per pound. The gold bugs thieves and bandits will this year rob the people of the United States of more than $500,000,000 of honest profits, which they should receive under the honest basis of bimetalism, toward paying their debts and relieving them of the distress incident to the misrule of Cleveland and Carlisle, and now continued under the McKinley administration.

For two seasons before this, wheat, under the killing gold standard, brought the farmers 50 to 60 cents per bushel, and corn 15 to 20 cents. This season the farmers will probably realize an average of 75 to 85 cents for wheat, and 30 cents for corn. Such prices before we were trapped into the single gold standard in 1873 were almost unheard of, and yet the gold standard organs and orators are insulting the intelligence of the farmers by flaunting before them the fine prices they are getting for their products. Could shameless infamy and impudence go farther? Since the act of 1873, foisting the gold standard on this country, the people have been robbed of $300,000,000 yearly, or $7,200,000,000 in all, in lowering the prices of farm products—enough to

WASHINGTON LETTER.

OCTOBER, 25th, 1897.

"Help! help! help!!!" That is the sum and substance of the tale of woe poured into Mr. McKinley's ear by Boss Platt, who made a flying trip to Washington to tell Mr. McKinley that everything was going against the Platt-McKinley candidate for Mayor of New York, and that there was also great danger that the republicans would also lose control of the legislature. He tried to persuade Mr. McKinley to write a personal letter for publication, favoring Tracy, and almost, but not quite, succeeded. Mr. McKinley has the matter under advisement and is rather inclined to do what Platt wants him to do, but several of the shrewdest members of his cabinet are trying to show him that it would be unwise for him to do so. They tell him that everybody in New York knows him to be in favor of Tracy, and that a letter signed by him, making that declaration, would not get Tracy a single vote that he would not get anyway, while it would be a bar to the administration denying after Tracey's defeat that it had sought to force Boss Platt's man on the people of New York.

Hypocrisy is the most contemptible of vices. Only last week it was announced with a great flourish of trumpets that the Cabinet had decided to enforce Mr. McKinley's civil service order, that no government employe should be discharged except upon written charges and after being given an opportunity to answer the charges, notwithstanding the decision of a court that the order was not binding in law; and now those Ohio republicans employed by the government in Washington, who had declined to go home to vote to help get Boss Hanna back in the senate have been notified that Mr. Sidney A. Perkins who is known as Boss Hanna's personal representative in Washington, has put their names upon a black list which is to be turned over to Boss Hanna when he comes back to Washington, after the Ohio election. Of course Mr. Perkins hasn't told any of those put upon the black list that Boss Hanna intended to have them discharged if they do not go to Ohio and vote for him, but that is what he wishes them to suppose and some of them regard the hint as being sufficiently strong to cause them to change their minds and decide to go home and vote. They know that no matter how much the cabinet may pirate in public about protecting the civil service employes of the government, that a nod from Boss Hanna is sufficient to bring about the dismissal of an employe in any branch of the government. All the news that comes to Washington indicates that Boss Hanna is a very badly frightened man over the prospects of his defeat, and the latest blast from Col. Conger, ex-member of the republican national committee and a member of Gov. Bushnell's staff, against him and his methods is not calculated to allay his fright. If the democrats of Ohio had not been heavily handicapped in their campaign, there would have been little doubt of their carrying the state, owing to the extent of the secret opposition of republicans to Boss Hanna. They may do so yet, especially if the visit of Mr. Bryan results in arousing the amount of democratic enthusiasm and courage that it is confidently expected it will.

Some of Mr. McKinley's friends may get him into serious trouble if they continue to add to their gloating over the failure of Senator Wolcott's international bimetallic commission talk about Mr. McKinley having lived up to the promise made by the republican platform, by trying to secure international bimetalism through senator Wolcott's commission. They may discover before the coming session of congress very old that there are silver men among the republicans as well as among the democrats and populists who have the courage to question the good faith of Mr. McKinley in promising senator Wolcott that the efforts of the comments to the holding of an international bimetallic convention for the purpose of bringing the international bimetallicism would be officially backed by him and his administration. A demand may be made upon the administration from the floor of congress for an official explanation of the stories alleging that while the Wolcott commission was asking England's cooperation, in the name of the United States, to secure international bimetallicism, the government of the U. S. gave the government of England to understand that no cooperation was really desired. Everything considered, the wise friends of Mr. McKinley ought to be able to see that the less they say about silver promises having been kept, the better for their friend's good name.

By special arrangements we are able to make, for a short time only, the very liberal offer of the HERALD, with the Farm News, Womankind, and three fine premium books at the low price of $1.35. This is the best offer ever made to secure three first-class papers.

Vinnie Ream's statue of Lincoln greets the eye on opening the November Midland (Des Moines), preparing the reader for a fine sketch of Vinnie Ream Hoxie, by Isador Baker. "Homes of Lady Henry Somerset," by Alice R. Willard, beautifully pictured, takes the reader through Eastnor Castle and the Priory. Mrs. Frederick Schwatka contributes her second article, "A New Route to Alaska's Eldorado," with nine illustrations. Col. Emerson's "Grant" brings out new portraits and facsimiles. The fiction department includes "Cuba Libre," the prize story; "The Print of a hand," a detective story, and a Kansas love story, entitled "A Jerusalem Idyl." This beautiful number, with its new and artistic cover, gives abundant promise for the future of "the representative magazine of the Middle-West.

Last Saturday evening at about 6 o'clock, James Hinton was run over by the Prescott accomodation, at the Lake street crossing in East Tawas, and as a result lost his left leg above the knee. It appears that Mr. Hinton was coming from East Tawas to this city, and attempted to pass in front of the train which was running very slow, and as he stepped upon the track the engine caught his left foot cutting it entirely off and injured the leg so badly as to require amputation above the knee. He was removed to the home of his brother, Charles Hinton, in this city, and Drs. Darling and Howell called and performed the operation. There seems to be no satisfactory explanation as to the cause of the accident. Mr. Hinton and family have been residing on John Arn's farm in Sherman this summer.

An article by Mark Twain written in the style of "The Innocents Abroad" and illustrated by A. B. Frost and Peter Newell, is a promise that magazine readers do not have held out to them every day. It is in the November number of McClure's Magazine that this rare feast of humor is to be served. One might expect much more than ordinary entertainment from any one of the three items of pictures by Frost, pictures by Newell, and an "Innocents Abroad" article by Mark Twain; but the editors of McClure's, in their profusion, engage to serve all three at once. The Mark Twain article will consist of chapters from the forthcoming book on his recent journey around the world, and is the only part that will be published in advance of the book itself. It follows, those that have read it say, the earlier Mark Twain manner, which is undoubtedly the most popular: on a thread of pleasant travel are strung no end of wise and witty reflections, quaint and quizzical observations, comic adventures, and plausible impossible tales.

Cleanings.

In marketing butter, color is subservient to flavor; taste decides the merits.

When it can be done the milk should be exposed to air until it is as cool as the air.

Mixing the milk of fresh cows with those long in milk makes the butter long in coming.

Heifers kept for the dairy should be bred early to direct their development on dairy lines, but should breed to mature bulls.

It is a mistake not to manure old trees. Very often this is the reason why they fail to give satisfaction when they reach full growth.

It has been found to be about 30 per cent more profitable to fatten and dispose of steers 2 years old than to keep them up to 3 years of age.

The temperature of the stable, as well as the degree of succulency of the food, has a marked influence upon the amount of water which an animal will drink.

More good cows are spoiled every year by careless milking than any other way. A very little milk left in the udder at each milking will cause the best cow to decrease.

A gain of one pound daily for hogs until a year old indicates good feeding, but a hog weighing 200 or 300 pounds in a thrifty condition and not fat will readily gain two pounds daily.

Milking should not only be done thoroughly, but quickly; and there should be no noise whatever, unless a quiet singing. It is said that a singing milker is paid an extra price in Switzerland.

According to experiments made, it has been found that as between cottonseed meal and linseed meal the former is superior for feeding farm animals, but the difference between these cattle foods is not of special importance.

Bugs and crickets have found their way into many wells, where they are decomposing and will be the cause of many cases of sickness. Farm wells everywhere should be examined and if contaminated should be cleaned without delay.

The quality and size of fruit on old bushes is much improved by severe pruning, or thinning of fruit, and this applies equally well to all tree fruits. The demand of the times is for quality in everything, rather than quantity, and this certainly applies to fruit growing.

The season of the year has again rolled around when farmers will begin to feed new corn to swine, and if they die with cholera it is attributed to the green corn. Many believe that this is a fruitful cause of disease. If it is fed judiciously there is no need of complaint. This latter belief is based on the fact that bacterial diseases prevail most during these months.

The farmer who buys his seed wheat and is not careful to have it clean will stock his farm with weeds. The labor of picking over the seed is tedious, but it is a small matter compared with the damage that may result from weeds. It is also an advantage to pick out the inferior grains. Use only the peanut and plump seeds and they will not only surely germinate, but will produce better grain at harvesting time.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed July 30th, 1895, by Sophronia Lindsay to Bertha Mills, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Iosco county, in fiber 9 of mortgages, on page 550, on which said mortgage there is now claimed to be due, for principal and interest, the sum of $277.13, and no suit having been instituted to recover the same, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage the undersigned will, on the 24th day of December, 1897, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Iosco county court house, in the city of Tawas City, (that being the place of holding the circuit court for Iosco county), sell, at public auction to the highest bidder, the mortgaged premises, or sufficient part thereof to pay the principal and interest, expenses of sale, and an attorney fee of fifteen dollars, provided for in said mortgage. The said mortgaged premises being described as follows, to-wit: The east half of the southwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve (12) in town twenty-two (22) north of range five (5) east.
