SOME IOSCO CO. FARMS.

Records that will Average with any in Michigan.

Under this head we propose, from week to week, to give a number of reports from various farmers throughout the county. The object of doing so is to show the agricultural resources and developments of our county. We earnestly request our farmers to aid us in this matter by furnishing us with the necessary statistics. We wish to give all an equal chance.

Thomas Davidson, owns 245 acres in the township of Tawas and Grant, situated on the Hemlock road. Of this 150 acres is improved. This season Mr. Davidson, raised six and half acres of wheat which yielded 130 bushels; five acres of corn yielded 430 bushels. He also harvested 555 bushels of oats; 210 bushels of peas; 30 tons of hay, and 84 bushels of sorted potatoes. He has 30 head of stock. Mr. Davidson last year built a large barn and is making many other improvements. He put in eight acres of wheat this fall.

Two years ago Dr. G. S. Darling purchased 160 acres in the townships of Baldwin and Wilber. He has cleared and now has under cultivation 95 acres; has built a large new barn this season and made many other improvements. This seasons crops are reported as follows: Wheat, 525 bushels; oats 390 bushels; potatoes 250 bushels; peas 100; corn 100 bushels; buck wheat 50 bushels.

Joseph Blust, owns 80 acres on the Meadow road, in Tawas township, 55 acres of which is improved, good buildings and orchard. This season he harvested 400 bushels of corn; 400 bushels of potatoes; 1000 bushels of other root crops; 192 bushels of oats; 20 tons of hay; 41 bushels of wheat, and 75 bushels of peas. He has 20 head of stock.

August Zimmit, owns 100 acres on the Plank road, in Tawas township with 60 acres improved good buildings one and a quarter acres of orchard. He has harvested this year 50 tons of hay; 700 bushels of root crops; including 300 bushels of potatoes; 450 bushels of corn; 84 bushels of barley 155 bushels of peas; 40 bushels of oats and 52 bushels of wheat. He had about 50 bushels of apples. Mr. Zimmit keeps 15 head of stock.

ALABASTER.

Louie Benson and Bessie McDonell visited friends in Wilber Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Chilson, of East Tawas spent Sunday with friends in Alabaster.

Mrs. John McDonell, and daughter Effie are spending a few days with friends in Oscoda.

Claude McCausland arrived home Wednesday night to spend Thanksgiving with his parents at Alabaster.

Mrs. Robert Taylor of Mikido who has been spending a few days with her brother B. W. Shuglerland returned home Monday.

Robert Barron, who had the misfortune to get one of his thumbs crushed so badly that amputation was necessary, says his hand is improving as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

For Sale.

I have several young mares from three to six years of age which I will sell on easy terms, and will take stock in part payment for the same.

THOMAS CURRY.

Bids Wanted.

Sealed proposals will be received until Nov. 30th 1897, by the undersigned for one hundred cords of body beach and maple wood to be delivered at the Tawas City Schools. Wood must be full eighteen inches long, and sound. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. By order of the Board of Education of Tawas City Schools,

G. S. DARLING
Director.

Two Millions a Year.

When people buy, try, and buy again, it means they're satisfied. The people of the United States, are now buying Cascarets Candy Cathartic at the rate of two million boxes a year and it will be three million before New Year's. It means merit proved that Cascarets are the most delightful bowel regulator for everybody the year round. All druggists 10c, 25c, 50c boxes, cure guaranteed.

THE only condition by which the "gold" democrats can again be received into national organization is that they endorse the Chicago platform.

THE "decoy duck" and the republican party may make new issues, but the campaign of 1900 must be fought on the Chicago platform, with W. J. Bryan as the standard bearer. The cause of silver is not dead, neither is it sleeping. It is making rapid gains in all parts of the country.

MARK HANNA suddenly turned up in New York one day last week and when approached by a press reporter for an interview, declined to talk. Mark's time for talking will come after he "sees" the Railroad thieves, and the Sugar Trust and returns to Columbus when the legislature meets to elect a senator. It is Mark's money and not Mark that talks.

JUST a week ago the United States Court of Appeals at St. Louis held that a boycott by labor against capital is a criminal conspiracy. Now an Illinois State Court at Chicago has decided that a "blacklisting" by capital against labor is equally unlawful, and has awarded a "blacklisted" laborer $21,666.33 damages. If the boycott were sound in law, then the blacklist would also be sound. But these courts, dealing out even justice, have declared the truth that blacklist and boycott are equally odious, equally hostile to democratic institutions and ideas. It is fortunate that these two decisions came so closely together. The object-lesson they present will not be lost upon either labor or capital.—N. Y. World.

THE Lods, of AuSable, are making a mighty bowl because the board of supervisors saw fit to apportion to the upper end of the county its just share of the taxes. While we believe the equalization of one or two townships is too low, that of AuSable is no worse than of the majority. In years passed AuSable and Oscoda, by reason of a large representation on the board, have escaped their just share of taxation, but have always succeeded in securing a lion's share of the public funds. Now that for once they have been assessed their just share a howl goes up, and this company threatens to move out. For years they have elected men as supervisors for the express purpose of securing low assessments and saddling the taxes onto others. Yet when given a just proportion they kick. Such is life—with corporations.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

NOVEMBER, 22, 1897.

Czar Reed is in the field for the republican nomination for president in 1900, and his candidacy may play an important part in the legislation of the house at this session of congress. A Reed machine is already organized, and in addition to all the original Reed men, it will attract, it is expected, all of the large number of republicans who worked for Mr. McKinley's nomination last year and have become disgruntled because of their failure to get what they wanted for themselves or their friends. Senator Foraker is understood to be looking after the Ohio end of the Reed machine, and the fight on the election of Boss Hanna to the senate is being used as a means of weakening Mr. McKinley in his own state, with a view to preventing his being able to control the Ohio delegation to the next republican national convention. The rivalry between the Reed and McKinley factions, now secret, is likely to be open and spirited in the near future.

The democrats do not have to even go to the trouble of fighting Secretary Gage's gold bond scheme; it is having the little life it had thumped out of it by republicans. About one half of the prominent republican senators and representatives who have been in Washington since the gold bond scheme was made public, have taken occasion to publicly condemn it. As Mr. McKinley has always been known as a follower, not a leader, of the opinions of his party, it will be interesting to see what effect this republican condemnation of the issuing of gold bonds will have upon his treatment of the subject in his annual message to congress.

Some amusement has been created in Washington by a long printed statement given out by the self-constituted monetary conference, as to its intentions concerning the financial scheme it is engaged in hatching out. These gentlemen say their report will be withheld from the public until the annual message of the president has been sent to congress. The country would survive if it were permanently withheld. The statement acknowledges that they "recognize the fact that they have no holiday task before them in securing the adoption of the report by congress," which is an entirely unnecessary acknowledgement; everybody knew it all the time. But here is about the most amusing sentence in the statement: "Sometime will be allowed to pass after the publication of the report before any attempt is made to force it to a vote in either house of congress ("force" is good). This time will be employed in a campaign of education by means of thorough discussion in the press and in the popular magazines of the merits of the proposed financial reforms." The most of the "merit" side of the discussion will be paid matter, but the untrammelled press will make no charge for showing up its demerits.

WHITTEMORE.

Mrs. J. W. Curtis is ill.

J. R. Snody is leaving town for a few days.

Rev. E. G. Johnson was in Tawas Monday.

Messrs. Warner and Steffler were in Tawas last week.

The Herald is fast becoming the popular paper in Whittemore.

Mr. Goidie, of Verona, Huron Co., has opened a wagon shop in town.

Some very fine sugar beets have been raised in the vicinity of Whittemore this season.

Arthur Burton, of Manistique, is visiting relatives in this place. Glad to see you Art.

E. E. Smith, who has been visiting his cousin G. L. Wakeman for the past week, returned to his home in Bay City Tuesday.

Our literary society discussed "Tharaptosis," also the life of Bryant Saturday evening. Verily Whittemore is keeping near the band wagon.

But few drones can be found in the Whittemore educational hive. We have the best bookkeeping class in Iosco county. Next week they take up commercial law. Enthusiasm is stamped on the brow of each pupil. They are going to win if hard work counts for anything.

Whittemore is becoming quite poetical. The following verses were found on the street Monday. The writer has probably gone to Singapore:

A gentle maiden went a roaming
In a field of ripening grain,
When the summers sun was sinking,
And the day began to wane.
Weary grew this wondering maiden,
Sank beneath an old oak tree,
Fell asleep and dreamed of honey
Far across the raging sea.
In her dream she saw a vision,
Wondrous bright and fair to see
Floating down from heavens glory,
Over city, stream and lea.
Saw her gallant lover sleeping,
Saw this wondrous scraph fair,
Kneel beside her sleeping hero,
Saw her stroke his nut brown hair
Heard her whisper gently to him
Write the things I now do tell,
Send them to the Omer Progress
To be published clear and well.
Tell about your village doings,
Tell about her ousiness men,
Do not miss that correspondent
That for the Hera'd wields his pen.
Then the vision floated upward
And the maiden did awake
From her couch beneath the oak tree
And the homeward path did take.

Mr. Anthony Hope Hawkins, the author of "The Prisoner of Zenda," proves, on the closer acquaintance which his visit to this country is now yielding, no less attractive as a man than as a writer. His public readings from his own works seem to give his large audiences the highest satisfaction; and in the busy course of friendly dining through which he has been put since he landed he has shown himself the kindest and most unassuming of guests of honor.

Mr. Hawkins is now thirty-four years old. He began life as a lawyer, and in 1892 he made a vigorous but unsuccessful canvass for a Liberal seat in Parliament. While waiting for clients he began to write stories. He made his way but slowly at first; he had been writing four or five years before he achieved a pronounced success in "The Prisoner of Zenda."

"The Dolly Dialogues" followed and confirmed his popularity. It is an interesting fact that while he is visiting in this country an American magazine will begin publication of a sequel to the story which was his great success. McClure's for December contain the opening chapters of "Rupert of Hentzau" a new Zenda novel which continues the history of the love and adventures of Rudolf Rasendyll and Princess Flavia. They were extremely engaging people as they presented themselves in "The Prisoner of Zenda;" but those who have had the privilege of reading the new story say that they are more engaging in it, and that the series of adventures through which it carries them is one to keep readers sitting up the night. The story has been illustrated for McClure's by the author's personal friend, Charles Dana Gibson.

The steamer Pilgrim bound down with full load of freight last Friday broke her shaft when near St. Clair flats. She was towed to Detroit and unloaded, when a new shaft was put in. The Pilgrim was then taken to St. Clair and laid up for the winter. The steamer Douglass will continue trips until close of navigation.

The International Business College, of Saginaw, opened a branch in the Myer's building, East Tawas, last Tuesday. Prof. C. E. Winey, assisted by Miss Hattie A. Putnam, has charge of the school. The school gives a course in penmanship, shorthand, type writing and general business method. A night class has also been organized.

Common sense philosophy by Bob Burdette: "Good things in the world are always the cheapest. Spring water costs less than whiskey, a box of cigars will buy two or three bibles; a state election costs more than a revival of religion; you sleep in a church every Sabbath morning for nothing, but a nap in a Pullman car costs you $2 every time; the circus 50 cts. and theater $1, but the missionary box is grateful for a penny; the race horse scoops in $2,000 the first day, while the church bazaar lasts a week, works twenty-five or thirty of the best women in America nearly to death and comes out with $10 to $100.

Mrs. John Brown died very suddenly last Wednesday evening, of heart failure, at her home in this city. She was around during the day and ate a hearty supper, soon after which she was taken ill and died before medical aid could be secured. The deceased was about 51 years of age and has been a resident of this city for many years. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon and the remains were interred in the G. A. R. cemetery in East Tawas.

It's a question which contribution to the December Midland Monthly, (Des Moines) has the strongest drawing power. All who are keeping an eye on Alaska will turn to Forrest Crissey's "Yukon Gold Fields—Their output and promise," finding it full of information and pictures. Others will be drawn to Miss Giltner's "Kentucky in recent literature," with its splendid portrait of James Lane Allen. The life of Grant describes the thwarted conspiracy to make Missouri out of the Union. In January will begin the story of Grant's campaign in the West. Col. F. D. Grant in a letter to the editor pronounces the Midland life of his father, "intensely interesting" and "valuable" and the "most accurate" that has yet appeared. A prize poem, club notes, and the first two of a series of "The World's Greatest Paintings" also help to make this last number of the Midland's fourth year a brilliant promise for 1898.
