State Libraries.

The following circular has been issued by the State Librarian:

The State Board of Library Commissioners desiring to come into closest and most sympathetic relations with the libraries in the state, have unanimously agreed upon the following plan, which they respectfully submit for the consideration of cities and villages where libraries already exist, or in which the establishment of a free public library is contemplated.

Free public libraries, township and public school libraries in the state of Michigan may become registered with the State Board of Library Commissioners by complying with the following rules, formulated by the board:

(1) All registered libraries must be free to the public.

(2) The libraries must have a suitable custodian and be placed in a room property provided with book shelves and tables. It must be open to the public at least part of two days in the week.

(3) A township library applying for registration must agree to use the fines as provided in article 13 section 12, Constitution of Michigan, exclusively for library purpose.

The above named section reads as follows:

Sec. 12. The legislature shall also provide for the establishment of at least one public library in each township and city, and all fines assessed and collected in the several counties and townships for any branch of the penal laws shall be exclusively applied to the use of such libraries, unless otherwise ordered by the township board of any township or the board of education of any city: Provided, That in no case shall such fines be used for other than library or school purposes.

(4) A yearly report must be made to the State Board of Commissioners by the officers of the registered libraries. Blanks for the report will be furnished by the board.

The rules having been accepted a certificate of registration will be issued by the board to the applying library, which by the transaction, will receive the following advantages:

(1) Registered libraries shall be entitled to receive from the Board of Library Commissioners advice and aid regarding the purchase, classifying and cataloguing of books, and information on all subjects relating to the care and management of libraries. Instruction in library work will also be given in the Michigan State Library to the librarians of registered libraries.

(2) Catalogues of the Michigan State Library will be placed in all registered libraries, and a book or books may be borrowed from the State Library for a limited time by patrons of the registered library. These loans will be made on request of the local librarian and transportation expenses must be paid by the borrower.

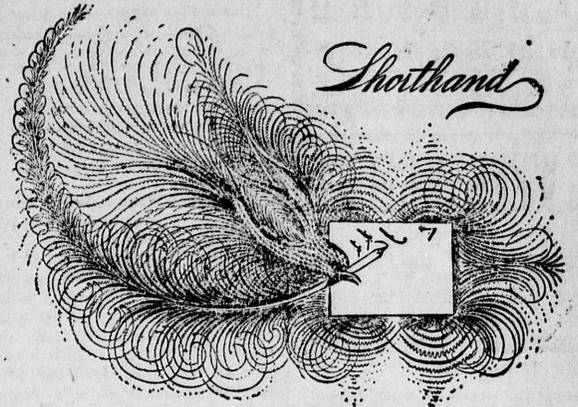

(3) Registered libraries may procure copies of state documents upon request made to the secretary of the Board of Library Commissioners.

(4) Free public libraries incorporated under Act 164 of the Public Acts of 1877, and organizing after the establishment of the Board of Library Commissioners, upon notification to the Board that they have an established library of at least one hundred volumes, other than state or government documents, and upon furnishing a list of said books to the board, may receive from the state a loan of one hundred volumes to be selected from the lists furnished by the board. Said books to be returned within six months unless an extension of time is granted by the board.

Eugene Keily, of Roscommon, was nominated last Tuesday, as the democratic candidate for state senator from this the 28th senatorial district.

The next apportionment of primary school money will be a big one. The heavy railroad taxes this year have left a big lump of money in the treasury and $1,170,000 will be distributed in the November apportionment. The rate per capita will be $165, making a total of $2.15 per capita for the year.

The American Steel and Wire Co. a big trust, has not only been taking the money out of the consumer, by fancy prices, but it now turns and goes for the workingman. Last week a reduction of wages has gone into effect, with an attendant increase of hours, and the wage reduction, in some cases, amounts to as much as 23 percent. Thus the trust waxes fat at the expense of both the producer and the consumer.

The democratic legislative convention at West Branch last Monday, was adjourned until next Tuesday. This action was taken because the delegates believe that a good nomination should be made, and as the man whom they intended to nominate could not accept, they desired a week in which to secure a desirable candidate. All counties of the district except Alcona were represented.

One of the greatest labor strikes in the history of the country is now on in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. A conservative estimate is that 140,000 miners are idle. The miners demand an increase of pay which the mine owners refuse to concede. The mining operations are at a standstill and there is no doubt but what the effect of the strike will be far reaching. The price of coal will undoubtedly take a big advance.

It is of interest to learn that the attempt to use power from the Niagara Falls, has proved so successful that a second pit is being dug, in which eleven turbines will be placed, generating 55,000 horse power. The present supply produces 50,000. The power from the Niagara is secured by conducting water from the high level of the upper river, to a deep shaft down which it plunges on a set of turbine wheels. The turbines transmit their power into electricity and it is thus distributed to a distance.

One of the most bitter newspaper fights ever waged in Michigan is now on at Caro. The Caro Journal, owned by Klump & Morningstar is proving a success in spite of the efforts of the Slocums who own the two opposition papers. Fred Slocum the Caro postmaster and owner of the Caro Courier, refuses to admit the Journal to the postoffice as second class matter and for nine weeks the Journal publishers have been forced to pay full postage. It is the most unjust and ridiculous procedure we have ever known, and should prove the undoing of postmaster Slocum. The Journal is one of the best exchanges on our list and is worthy of the support of Tuscola county.

Crop Report.

U. S. Department of Agriculture Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Michigan Section for the week ending Sept. 17, 1900. says:

The mean temperature of the week ending September 15 was 66.3 degrees, or 4.9 degrees above the normal; the average total precipitation was 1.01 inches, or 0.41 of an inch above the normal, sunshine averaged 87 per cent of the possible amount.

The temperature and rainfall of the past week have, with exceptions, been favorable to outstanding crops and farm field work. Too much rain has fallen in the Upper Peninsula for outstanding grain, while a lack of moisture is reported in the extreme southeastern counties. The high wind of Tuesday and Wednesday did great damage in blowing down apples late peaches and corn. The apple prospect, which was already poor, has very materially lessened by the wind. Considerable corn, both cut and uncut, has been blown down, while many fruit trees were damaged more or less.

Corn is now generally safe from frost, most of it being in sheck. Late potatoes are still growing, but are so far advanced toward maturity that most correspondents consider them beyond danger.

Considerable buckwheat has been cut; early sown buckwheat is poorly filled, but the late seeding is turning out much better.

The ground for winter wheat and rye is nearly all prepared and considerable seeding has been accomplished; generally the ground is in fine condition.

This will be the last bulletin of the season of 1900.

The Nursery.

A magazine has been started to promote the physical interests of the American baby. It is addressed, of course, to the mother of the baby, and it gives her a lot of information calculated to enable her to so raise it that it will grow into a splendid man or woman.

"The Nursery" is the name of the publication. It is issued by the Van Publishing Company, of No. 254 West Fiftyfourth street, New York, at ten cents a copy, or $1 a year, and is well illustrated and well printed. A very sedate looking stork is the appropriate picture on the cover.

The first number, that for July, contains an article giving explicit instructions from the pen of Dr. Egbert H. Grandin on "The care of New Born Babe." There is an article on teething, with interesting pictures showing the mouth with its proper exudiment of teeth at different ages of the child.

The August number, the contents of which are announced, will be even more interesting.

"The Nursery" is made attractive with half-tone reproductions of famous paintings with babies for their theme.

Amusing Sick Children.

It will pay educators and families to preserve a set of the interesting articles contributed to the Delineator by Lina Beard, sister of Dan Beard, the famous cartoonist. These articles written and illustrated by Miss Beard, deal with amusements for sick children, showing how fun and pleasure for the little ones can be obtained by providing them with cones, thorns, thistle-down, etc. These articles are really exceedingly clever. The October number of the Delineator, in addition to Miss Beard's article and the eighty or more sketches of present day styles, which are prominent features of the magazine, contains twenty other valuable contributions. For thirty years it has been trusted by American women for guidance in home dressmaking and home management.

M. E. APPOINTMENTS.

The Detroit conference of the M. E. church closed its annual meeting at Pontiac Tuesday and announced the appointments of ministers for the coming year. THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment. The case against George Thompson on the charge of resisting an officer was called and the defendant failing to appear his bonds were forfeited. In the case of the people vs. Arthur McMullen for attempted train wrecking, a nolle prosee was entered. The embezzlement case against Fredrick W. Latham was continued until next term.

The case of N. J. Foley vs. Andrew W. Comstock et al, which was transferred from the Alpena circuit was commenced Wednesday morning with a jury and will take the balance of the week. This is a case wherein Foley sues to recover damages for lumber spoiled in sawing in the defendant's mill. The case was tried in the Alpena circuit and a judgement for over $8000 rendered for the complainant, the case was then taken to the supreme court and the judgement reversed and a new trial ordered. It was transferred to this county on change of venue and is now on trial.

Culham—Laidlaw. A very pretty wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Culham, of Vine, when their daughter, May, was united in marriage to Walter E. Laidlaw, Rev. A. Waterbury officiating.

The bride was tastefully attired in cream serge handsomely trimmed with lace and satin and carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Misses Pearl Laidlaw, sister of the groom, as first bridesmaid and Rae Chambers as second. The groom was attend by Messrs Geo. Culham and Pete Latham. Miss Ruby Laidlaw acted as ring bearer. The home was tastefully decorated with flowers and evergreens.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served to about 100 guests, and then the young couple attended by about twenty of their friends drove to Tawas where they took the train for Detroit and other points of interest. The presents were numerous costly and beautiful. The young people are well and favorably known and the best wishes and congratulations of a host of friends follow them as they start on their journey through life.

CANE AND SUGAR BEETS.

The sugar crop statistics published by the Sugar Trade Journal suggests the question of what is to be the future of the tropics and of cane sugar. The total production for the year is estimated to be 329,871 tons more than last year, but the cane sugar is estimated at a decrease of more than half a million tons. The Louisiana crop is put in at but little more than half of what it was last year, the Porto Rico crop is charged with a like ratio of decline, and the Cuban crop is set down for 45,000 tons less than a third of what it was in each of the two years next preceding the revolution. In Queensland and New South Wales the crop is estimated at very much below last year's figures, the decrease in the former colony being 40,000 tons, or nearly a quarter, and in the latter at 12,500, or not much less than one-half. The beet sugar production in this country was 40,000 tons two years ago, but the production this year is 73,000 tons. The beet sugar production of Europe this year is over five and a half millions tons, while in one of the past three years has it reached five million tons.

There is no reason to suppose that the reduction in Louisiana is other than temporary; Cuba which produced over two million tons in the two years before the revolution, and over 800,000 tons in the year before those two, has not permanently gone down to 300,000. It may take some time to repair the damages of the war, but there is little else for the Cubans to do and the conditions are probably more favorable for sugar in Cuba than anywhere else in the world. Only recently have modern science and modern business methods taken hold of cane sugar; it is they that have brought the beet sugar industry to the front; they are now turning to cane, which has been suffering from the system of slave labor, a supposed monopoly and the indisposition to exertion which a tropical climate cultivates. We have already drawn attention to the better results from the use of free labor, and especially intelligent labor, as good labor as in employed in the production of sugar beet or of wheat, and the progress made in developing canes of increased richness, and processes more effective in the extraction of sugar. Much of Louisiana and a good part of the West Indies are still equipped with primitive appliances for sugar extraction and the work of increasing the productivity, which has done so much for beets, has been in operation on cane but a few years. It has not yet been demonstrated that beet sugar can be produced more economically than cane sugar; there are reasons for believing that under similar industrial conditions cane sugar is cheaper. At any rate, the tropical regions have a smaller range of industries to choose from than the temperate zone, and in the struggle for existence the cost of labor can be reduced in the tropics below that of labor which needs a meal diet and woolen clothes and substantial shelter.

Dr. Passche, who has been investigating the subject for the German government, thinks that if Cuba were annexed to the United States, American capital would go into the sugar business but he is sanguine that under all circumstances Germany can maintain the foremost place which it has now gained. New York Journal of commerce.

ORCHARD FERTILITY

The notion prevails in the mind of many apple growers that apple trees do not require as much plant food proportionately as tance between the trees thirty five feet, in twenty years at an average production of ten bushels to the tree, requires plant food in the form of potash nitrogen and phosphoric acid in value amounting to $207.45.

This twenty years begin when the trees are thirteen years old, continuing until they are thirty-three years old. This does not take into account the enormous amount of fertility which was required to reduce the great amount of wood represented by thirty-five trees to the acre.

Compare this with the amount of fertility removed by a wheat crop. In twenty years cropping with an average yield of fifteen bushels to the acre and seven pounds of straw to three pounds of grain, the total value is $129.23 removed in the shape of nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid, or $79.22 less than the amount necessary to supply the waste of fruit and leaves of the apple orchard.

No intelligent farmer would expect to grow wheat for twenty years without the best cultivation and fertilizing; and yet everywhere we find apple growers asking their soil to support a much greater drain than wheat would cause. It is known that some fruit growers are asking their land to support apples for forty years in addition to an annual secondary crop, and this, too, without giving manures or even cultivation.

The question of fertility for the soil of the orchard has received but little attention from Illinois fruit growers. This is largely because of the fact that a large area of the state is exceedingly rich in plant food. In fact a considerable area, especially the central portion is so rich in the elements of plant food that the tree often make an excessive growth to the detriment of fruit production. On this account few fruit growers in the belt section of the state ever think of fertilizing their orchards. This is no reason why the fruit growers of the southern third of the state or of parts of the northern portion should not use fertilizers.

There is no doubt that hundreds of orchards actually starving to death. In other words these orchards are on soil whose fertility has been exhausted or made unvaluable by injudicious management.

The orchard must have nitrogen to induce early growth and rapid development, phosphoric acid to give the trees strength and firmness and potash is of first importance to trees that bears fruit.

Clover, cow peas and soy beans grown on land and plowed under will keep it fertile and productive. Nitrogen in the form of soda, phosphoric acid in the form of ground bone or acidulated rock and potash as muriate of potash may be used to add to the plant food of the soil.

A mixture of 100 pounds each of ground bone, acid phosphate and muriate of potash with 125 pounds of nitrate of soda applied every year and worked into the soil will be sufficient for a bearing orchard where the land is exhausted. It is best, however, to supplement this by green manuring and good cultivation. This treatment will apply as well to other states as to Illinois. These facts are from Bulletin 69 Illinois experiment station.

LONG HOOF—HOW TO TREAT THEM

Every one who has been accustomed to caring for a flock of sheep knows that sheep's hoofs are apt to overgrow their proper length. This is thought to be the fact often with the fine wool breeds than with the large English sheep. If properly cared for the hoofs overgrowths are never extreme. It is a thing to be looked after. "As a rule," says there is occasionally one that never needs any trimming. Shropshires occasionally need a little trimming, but comparatively little compared with some others.

Overgrown hoofs can be readily trimmed with mallet and chisel, but the most convenient thing is a pair of regular trimmers. There are one or two makes on the market that are very good for that purpose. A pair of common hand pruning shears will do the business satisfactorily. The two kinds are made on the same principle, with the possibility of better workmanship and cutting features in favor of the pruners.

Hoofs should be trimmed not only for the convenience of the sheep in traveling, but to insure the health of the hoofs. Hoof growth is stimulated by low ground and the moisture that forces the hoof has a striking tendency to promote hoof disorders.

Irregular shaped hoof have a tendency to collect filth and retain it indefinitely. A sheep that is at all inclined toward foot rot will have the trouble greatly aggravated by this collection."
