Mrs. Frank Wood and little son, of Laidlawville, had a very narrow escape from death last Saturday afternoon, by being run down by the E. & M. train at the Dease crossing in East Tawas. As it was, one wheel was knocked off the buggy and Mrs. Wood and child thrown out, but fortunately escaped with slight bruises. A number of cars had been set on the siding known as the "old main line" and shut off the view of the approaching train until it was right on the crossing. It is a most dangerous custom of placing cars at this point and should be stopped.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., JAN. 3, 1908

Our Birthday.

With this issue the Herald starts on the twenty-fifth year of its existence, and it is but fitting that we at this time take the opportunity of extending to our hundreds of patrons our sincere appreciation for the liberal patronage extended. The year just closed is the best in the history of the Herald's existence. Our subscription list shows a steady increase, the job printing has exceeded that of any previous year by a considerable and the advertising patronage has been most liberal.

These conditions encourage us to greater efforts for the future. The only promise made, however, is that the Herald will be just what the merchants and people of the county make it. A continuation of your liberal patronage means a continuation of improvement of the paper, and we have every confidence that we will continue to improve.

Again thanking one and all for past support, and wishing all a prosperous and happy New Year, we are

Faithfully yours,

THE PUBLISHER.

The Ohio democrats have started a boom for Judge Harmon, of Cincinnati for the presidential nomination next July.

During the year just closed reports show that 161 persons were killed and 321 injured by the steam and electric railroads of this state.

Judge Sharpe, of West Branch, and E. B. Foss, of Bay City, are being put forward as the delegates from the tenth congressional district, the republican national convention at Chicago next June.

Mrs. Letitia Tyler Semple is dead at Washington, aged 84 years. She was the daughter of John Tyler, president of the United States from 1841 to 1845, and during a greater part of her father's term was mistress of the White House, her mother dying soon after Tyler became president.

Twenty-two thousand women are employed on the 25 state railroads in Russia as gatekeepers, clerks, telegraphers, etc. The average wages of these women are from $60 to $70 a year. The highest wages are received by the clerks, who get about $230 a year, while the attendants at the stations get less than $20 a year in addition to free lodgings.—New York Sun.

Aluminum is regarded as probably the most available substitute for tin in the great majority of uses to which that metal is put, owing to the diminution in the price of aluminum, the practically limitless supply of the raw material, and the favorable physical properties of the metal. As the production of aluminum is cheapened so will the uses for its increase. The demand steadily keeps ahead of the supply.

The Bay City Tribune is authority for the statement that Frank L. Edinborough, of that city, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for congress from this district against Congressman Lord, and that his formal announcement will be made in a short time. Mr. Edinborough is at present state senator for the Bay-Midland district and was formerly Col. Lord's private secretary. He is a hard campaigner and the fight will undoubtedly be a warm one.

The advertiser who has any doubt as to whether advertising pays has not studied the subject as deeply as he should. There is no question about its paying if you have the goods, call attention to them in the right way, get people interested and get them into your place of business. Tell the truth about your goods, convince the people that they need them, give a right price on them and have them for sale when they call for them and your advertising is going to make money for you.

No doubt the great fleet of battleships, now off for the Pacific, will be well manned and managed; but it had best not attempt to round Cape Horn by resolving that it is the finest fleet on the world's high seas. The laws of wind and water call for captains and crews who will stand at their posts. Not only is this true of men and ships on the stormy seas, but everyday life is strewn with wrecks of those who will not face the duties and dangers of life's open deck. We wish the battleships well, but we wish humanity better. God help us all to man life's ropes and stand to life's guns!—Word and Works.

The Needless Bulk of Periodical Publications.

He would be a bold reformer indeed who instructs the path of seeming progress by deliberately advocating reduction in the size of American newspapers and periodicals, but if the figures and assertions of the foremost experts of the federal government are correct, and if no other satisfactory raw material for paper is discovered, the near future will compel the paper and publishing industries, willing or unwilling, to adjust themselves to entirely new conditions.

Whatever the present opinion of publishers may be concerning the necessity or wisdom of a great number of pages per issue, thoughtful and intelligent persons generally find the bulk of modern publications, especially of Sunday newspapers, a source of continual annoyance. The huge comic picture supplements are often so puerile that they induce a sense of melancholy; yet merely to divert thoughtless men and women for a brief Sunday morning hour with impossible and extravagant pictures printed in loud colors, thousands of stately spruce and hemlock trees upon the northern hills, which have raised their graceful branches to the sunshine and rain of many changing seasons, have lived.—From "The Newspaper and the Forest,"—Review of Reviews for January.

Bargain Peas.

The Woman's Home Companion is making a campaign for clean groceries that is attracting attention all over the country. Many grocers are now placing advertisements in their local newspapers calling attention to the fact that they are clean grocers.

Here is the result of one of the hundreds of interesting experiments that have been conducted by the editors of the Woman's Home Companion. It shows that a "bargain" is not always a bargain:

"A store whose untidy appearance is often overlooked because of its 'sales', advertised a special in peas, two cans of A 1 peas for twenty-five cents. The labels on these cans were non-committal as to the fame of the canning agents—a point on which you cannot be too careful to make sure that you have the guarantee of a standard firm. At a tidy store a can of the same size prepared by a well-known house was bought at the standard price for that brand, fourteen cents, and the two cans were compared. The 'bargain peas' smelled almost rancid when the can was opened, so the juice was poured off and the peas carefully rinsed. Then the cause of the strong flavor was discovered. The peas were of various sizes, a full dozen of very large, hard yellow peas were discovered. The peas from the clean store were subjected to the same rinsing process, and were found to be of uniform size, a trifle larger than the French pea."

How to Get Poor Quick.

Do not try to save your loose change. It is too small an amount to put in the savings bank. It would not amount to much anyway, and there is great comfort in spending it. Just wait until you get sufficient worth while before you deposit it.

Do not try to economize. It is an infernal nuisance to always try to save a few cents here and there. Besides, you will get the reputation of being mean and stingy. You want everybody to think you are generous.

Just look out for today. Have a good time as you go along. Just use your money yourself. Don't deprive yourself for the sake of laying up something for other people to fight over. Besides, you are sure of today. You might not be alive tomorrow.—Success Magazine.

Legislative Botch is Costly To State.

Lansing, Dec. 31.—By its action in amending the corporation laws of the state, the legislature at the regular session defeated the action commenced by Attorney-General Bird against the Crucible Steel Company of America to recover $61,000 in penalties for the company's failure to file articles of incorporation in Michigan while doing business in the state.

A decision sustaining the company's demurrers was filed by the supreme court Monday afternoon.

The defendant company is allied with the United States steel corporation, and has large warehouses in Detroit.

In amending the law, providing for the payment of a penalty of $1,000 per month for any company doing business in the state without having filed its articles of incorporation, the legislature, after the commencement of the suit, so altered the sections that the penalty clause cannot be made to apply to the failure of the company to file its articles of incorporation. As a consequence, the suit fails and it cannot be recommenced.

Several other cases against corporations previously commenced by the attorney-general must be discontinued in consequence of the action of the legislature in making a jumble of the law.

Notice to Discontinue Street.

Notice is hereby given that by action of the common council of the city of Tawas City, that that part of Court street between Wheeler and First streets will be discontinued.

Notice is hereby given that council will hear objections thereto at council rooms at the regular meeting thereof on Friday, February 7th, 1908, at 8 o'clock p. m.

An' they'll dump us in the wagon
An' we're off to find a squire,
For they're laying for the bach'lor
In the mornin'."

The big bet for this month will be Taft. The Atlantic fleet will approach the Horn with a bent spiglass, looking around for Japs. "O, Hell," whispered in uncle Joe Cannon's ear, will be the pass-word to get anything before congress. Japan will take a sleek month at the Nagasaki navy yards, and will build only twenty seven more war ships. The guess on Roosevelt's future for this month will be that he will become a congressman after he leaves the White House, and will go into the ring with Williams and DeArmond. Mr. Bryon will walk around the democratic nomination with a hammer, to see if there is any place where he could nail it down. Money will continue shy, raising out of range and flying eight miles. Mr. Lawson will put his mask on and go back into the game, jobs will continue to run when they see you coming, and some time during the month Mr. Morgau will decide whether he has all the money he wants now, or if he will continue the panic.

After the 20th we shall be under the influence of Aquarius the water carrier, the eleventh sign of the Zodiac. Under this favorable sign, prohibition will establish about eighty more storm centers, booze will run another mile in nothing south of the Mason & Dixon line, and Carrie Nation will work with a hatchet in each hand. To quote an Omar of the Oklahoma desert.

Hush little bar-room,
Don't you cry—
You'll be a drug-store
By and by.

January was named after Janus Bifrons, known as "Two-faced Janus." He was the originator of what is known as "the politician's life-saver." A wave of prohibition was sweeping home, and Bifrons, a candidate for the senate, had to declare himself one way or the other to every third man he met. But he was a foxy Dago, and when he was asked, "Do you drink, Bifrons?" he would slyly ask in return, "Is this an invitation, or do you just want to know?"

Rome had a gate named for Janus. It lead from the Palestine to the Quirinal Hill, and was closed only when Rome was at peace with the world. This occurred but four times—under Numa, Augustus Caesar and Vespasian, and after the first Punic War. Julius Caesar kept the gate open wider than anybody. Just to satisfy himself that no other Roman had ever had anything on him in this respect, he once drove twenty loads of hay through the gate abreast, as against a record of fourteen loads. Caesar was a great joker, and his favorite pun was made at this gate. Riding through when the sun was setting, he pointed at the sunset with one hand and at the passing railroad construction crew with the other, and exclaimed to his lieutenants, "Behold the day goes!"

Another year (mark well with rhyme)
Has joined the Host of Father Time.
A few more solid banks will burst
Too many trusting one's disgust.
The window recently bereft
Will pop the question right and left,
And luckless man, of New Year
butt,
Will scramble for the tail uncut.

The sport in congress will consist of battles with the horny fist, the gentle man Missouri bred will sell some one a noodle head; they'll clinch and bite each other's cheek, the frightened galleries will shriek, the speaker will get out a gun, the man from Arkansas will run, the sergeant will bolt through the door, the fight will spread upon the floor, the clerk will climb the chaplain's back, and the air will sound with biff and wiaack, the war department will turn out, the senate will get in the boat, and Fairbanks with triumphant eye, will black Ben Tillman's other eye, the president will go his hat, his boxing gloves and rusty bat, and will exclaim on coming back, "All's quiet on the Po-to-mack!"

After that we shall have very pleasant weather. The moon will be full on the 18th, the persons we never heard of will be mentioned for vice president. The Fish-Harriman fight will go into the tenth round, and Mr. Fish will complain to the Hague tribunal that Mr. Harahan sings in knucks. General Funston on guard at Goldfield, will appeal to Secretary Menealf to transfer him to Washington where the fighting was going on; Christmas presents will be exchanged for something you want, and Japan, hearing that the fleet is to keep right on across the Pacific, will move over on the mainland and dig eyelone oelars.

Persons born in January have cold feet, and do not play poker. They are born under the influence of Aquarius the weather carrier, they will vote dry. They are very ingenious, and know how to turn the gas meter back. They have large families and small incomes. They are good at figures and can tell you whether a woman's shape is real or excelstor. They are slow to marry, but can get a divorce as quickly as anybody. They are very shrewd in money matters and never give their wives the money.

Don't answer the door bell this month. It's a book agent. Keep the silverware under the coal pile. If you come home late at night, look out for highwaymen, and walk in the middle of the street, as the policeman does. Don't write love letters. She will save them.

The trusts will continue to show us where to head in, and congress will vote our money like it was theirs. The fashionable wintering places for the month will be Southern California and the Florida coast, and all trains bound to those points will be loaded with plasterers and bricklayers, with their families.

And then the short lived month of Feb, when woman will complete her web, and foolish man will ouzz about until the spider dashes out and nails him neatly to the mast for so long as his life shall last.

But notwithstanding Leap Year's tricks.
And maids' and widows' weeds,
And though our hard luck comes along
Just like a string of beads,
Cheer up, cheer up! it's not so bad
With us as 'tis with 'led,
Who had to come to it and kneok
His third term in the head.

HOW CAN I FORGET?

I remember, I remember,
When I was but a lad,
Down on the old plantation,
What jolly joys I had!

I used to milk the seven cows,
And swell the sixteen motherly sows,
And give the eighteen horses oats,
And shuck the corn for thirty shoats,
And fork the hay for fifty head
Of cattle black and brown and red,
And fodder seven hundred sheep
Each night before I went to sleep.

Ah, those were happy seasons
When I was but a lad!
I had so many reasons
For being gay and glad!

I used to rise at three o'clock
And feed the seven sorts of stock
And chop eleven cords of wood
Before my appetite was good,
For after breakfast dig a ditch
Till all my muscles got the twitch,
And hoe the cotton afternoons
Along with six or seven coons.

Oh, what a sweet existence,
How jammed with daily joy,
Away off in the distance,
When I was but a boy!

For even after supper time
Up in the loft I used to climb
And fork down forty tons of hay
To feed the animals next day,
And after that—ah, chiefest joy,
For any happy hearted boy—
I jumped the grindstone (such repose)
To sharp'n forty-seven hoes.

I remember, I remember,
Those boyhood pleasures yet,
Down on the old plantation!
Ah, how can I forget?
—Robertus Love in Judge.

His Absent Ducal Mind.
The Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, who is the next heir of Queen Wilhelmine, is a wealthy young prince, twenty-eight years of age, unmarried and has in Germany a reputation for perpetrating "bulls." Once while visiting a public school he noticed two boys of striking similarity in appearance.

"Why, what a remarkable likeness!" he exclaimed. "These lads must surely be twins!"

"Yes, your royal highness," remarked the principal, and he beckoned the two frightened youngsters to him.
"Ah," said the prince, placing his hand on the head of one of them, "what is your name?"
"Heinrich."
"And how old are you?"
"Six," answered the boy.
"And you?" he said, turning to the other lad.—Harper's Weekly.

We are mailing out a large number of statements this week to those indebted to the Herald and we expect a prompt response, as we need the money at once. We are adding considerable new material to our office and it takes money to pay for it. Many of the bills sent out at this time are a year or more past due. The amounts to the various individuals are small but the aggregate means a considerable to us. Please favor us with your remittance at once.

The January Woman's Home Companion.

The Woman's Home Companion for January begins well with a handsome and showy cover design by James Montgomery Flagg. It is a notable number from the standpoint of illustrations. In addition to Flagg's striking cover design, there is a full-page reproduction of W. Balfour Ker's painting, 'Forgotten.' It represents a winter farm scene, the house and barn in the distance, and the old family horse standing cheerily by the pasture bars, ankle deep in the falling snow—forgotten.

Dr. Hale's monthly talk is on the subject of "New Year's Wishes." Jack London contributes the first letter of his important series of first-hand impressions for which the Woman's Home Companion sent him around the world; it is the record of a marvelous adventure among the lepers of Molokai. In the January number begins a series of programs and selections of the music of to-day of the great music loving nations. The January programs, which is American, is supplemented by the music and words of two songs by Clayton Johns, hints as to the making of a program, by Madame Nordica, and instructions as to the rendering of each piece on the program by the composers themselves.

Among the fiction is an important instalment of Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps' great novel, "Though Life Us Do Part"; "The Adjusted Honey-moon," by Anne Warner; "A Lesson in Consequence," by Mary Wilhelmina Hastings; "Rose Mary," a Quaker love story by Carrie Hunt Latta, and "The Lamps of Psyche," by Zona Gale, author of the new popular novel, "The Loves of Peleas and Ettarre."

An interesting feature of this issue of the companion is a new department entitled "Teens and Twenties," conducted by Lucy Norman. The horticultural authority, Samuel Armstrong Hamilton, contributes a valuable article on "Plants for the Winter Window." Anna Steese Richardson's department for "The Girl Who Earns Her Own Living" is as valuable as ever, as is Mrs. Sangsters home page.

A new department is a study of three important successful plays, by Anne Peacock.

Waiting Bait.

"George," she said, "before we were married you were always giving me presents. Why don't you ever bring me anything now?"

"My dear," replied George, "did you ever hear of a fisherman giving bait to a fish he had caught?" Then the kettle boiled over.—Tit-Bits.

His Mark.

Mrs. Soaker—We're too late, Johnnie. Your father's left the public house and gone home.—Pick-Me-Up.

Baby Up to Now.
"Oh, for a pair of scales," he said, "the baby must be weighed!"
Yet none around the place were found, and all were sore dismayed.
For babies must be weighed at once; the neighbors must be told.
Yet who would take an infant out, the weather being cold?

Then rose its aged grandpa and got into the game.
He had a scheme to tip the beam with baby on the same.
No plan was his that flickers up and in
His weakness fails—
He'd listen for that rasping screech and get the iceman's scales.

The iceman in his flannel shirt protested, but in vain;
They weighed that infant on his scales and hefted it again.
And, lo, even of the greatest freak that on the earth abounds,
That baby tilted off the scales at forty-seven pounds!

To the People of Tawas and Vicinity

On the night of December 26th, fire broke out in our Clothing and Furnishing Goods store, one of the largest and best equipped clothing stores in the state, and while the damage by fire and water was confined to the basement, the entire stock is somewhat smoked up. Our settlement with the insurance companies enables us to resume business at once, and we are determined to close out this entire stock with the

Most Gigantic Fire Sale Ever Held in the Entire State

If you need anything in men's, boys' or children's Clothing, Suits, Overcoats, Hats, Trunks, Valises, Furnishing Goods, Shirts, Neckwear, Hosiery, Etc., Etc., it will pay you to make up your list and come to this store.

Our stock inventories at over $50,000.00. It's a clean high grade stock of new winter goods, a big line of heavy working and out door clothing, fur coats, etc. is included.

Remember these goods are practically uninjured and will be sold away below their cost to us. The insurance companies stand the loss and all we want to do is to close out the stock for what it will bring.
