Attention is called to Act 117, of the Public Acts of 1909, which provides that township officers are ineligible to serve as members of school boards, and prohibits any school officer from acting as agent for firm selling school supplies. Act No. 215 makes the same provisions for city officials. These are new provisions made by the last legislature and effects many school officers in this county.

An effort is being made by certain persons to secure the necessary signatures to petition asking to have the question of the county road system submitted to the people with a view of discontinuing it. That there are those who are so much opposed to the building of good roads is something of a surprise, and especially among the farmers, who receive the major portion of the benefits and pay the smaller portion of the taxes. It appears doubtful if there is enough of the non-progressive element to secure the required number of signatures.

Judge Sharpe has received reply to a letter addressed to the department of attorney general at Washington advising him that petitions for naturalization may be heard at the March term of court in this county, contrary to the holding of the naturalization examiner at Detroit. The attorney general's department rules that a general election shall be construed to mean a state election, hence the March term of court coming within thirty days of the April election will not prevent those who have filled their petitions 90 days prior to said term of court from completing their naturalization.—West Branch Herald-Times.

Wanted:—Position as camp cook or assistant. Thomas J. Wheeler, East Tawas.

On Wednesday evening, Irene Rebecca Lodge, No. 137, of East Tawas, entertained ten members of the Oscoda Lodge. Two new members were introduced into the mysteries of the order and a most enjoyable social and fraternal evening was had. The regular work of the evening was followed by a banquet which lasted until the train north at 10 o'clock a. m., when the visitors returned to their homes.

A case of extreme poverty from Reno township was investigated by the county poor officials last week. Marshal Norton, his wife and four children were residing in a shack on a state homestead and were practically without food or clothing sufficient to keep body and soul together. The mother and baby were taken to the county house, and the three older boys, aged five, seven and nine, were taken to the state school at Coldwater by County Agent J. M. Walker.

Rev. J. Brainard Brown, who has been pastor of the East Tawas Baptist church for almost four years has resigned and preached his farewell sermon last Sunday. Wednesday evening his congregation gave him a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. King, which was largely attended by the pastor's many friends. He was presented with a handsome Masonic emblem and an umbrella as tokens of the high esteem in which he is held. Mr. Brown has not fully decided on his future plans, but for the present will look after affairs on the Braddock-Brown ranch and continue services on the Hemlock Road. The East Tawas church will be looked after by Rev. O. E. Moffet, of this city.

Frederick W. Marzinski, was found dead in his bed Tuesday morning, having passed away sometime during the night. The old gentleman, while not feeling well for a few days, had been around town as usual the day before and his death came as a shock. The deceased was born in Germany, and would have been 75 years old November 9, next. He came from Germany to this city in 1872, and has been a resident here since that time. His wife died in 1896, and most of the time since he has made his home with his son Fred. He is survived by three sons, Fred and Edward of this city, and Rev. Emil, of St. Louis, Mo., besides a large circle of friends. The funeral will be held from the Zion Lutheran church this, Friday, afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Last Monday Harry Brown, sexton of the city cemetery, dropped dead while preparing to dig a grave. Mr. Brown assisted by Herman Kempert, had gone to another part of the cemetery to fetch the plank used in the work, and the deceased had returned first. When Mr. Kempert returned he found him lying on the ground dead. The deceased was born in Germany and would have been 76 years of age had he lived until next June. He was a member of the Grand Army, having served through the rebellion a sergeant of Battery H, 5th Rhode Island heavy artillery. He has been a resident of this city most of the time for nearly 40 years. Besides the widow, he is survived by five children, August C., of this city, Mrs. C. H. Compton, of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. E. F. Wendt and Miss Gussie, of Chicago, and Mrs. O. Simonson, of Detroit. The funeral was held from the home yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Grand Army, with the sermon by Rev. O. E. Moffet.

Better Even Than Eels.
Many African tribes count snake flesh among the delicacies, and John Ward says that with the Australian natives "a dish of snakes is a much esteemed luxury." Many kinds of birds eat snakes. Pigs are particularly fond of them, as also are some deer; but in the old days it was understood that deer only ate snakes in summer, for which reason their venison was at that time poisonous, a sagacious fiction which it was doubtless well to make widely known in times when there was abundant temptation to deer stealing and regulations concerning closed seasons would have been treated with indifferent respect.

In the Middle.
"The thief always suffers in the end." "Not always. My little boy stole some green apples the other day and that is not where he suffered."—Houston Post.

Hate and Love.
We hate each other because we are ignorant of each other. Mutual understanding tends to mutual good will and peace. Our steamships, railroads, automobiles, telegraphs and telephones, by annihilating the distance between men and by means of the interchange of thought and knowledge that they afford, are fast creating the dominion of a large human confidence and love.—Rev. Thomas B. Gregory.

Card of Thanks.
We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors for help and sympathy received during the recent illness and death of our little son, Charles L. Thomas.
GEO. THOMAS and Family.

How Good News Spreads.
"I am 70 years old and travel most of the time," writes B. F. Tolson, of Elizabethtown, Ky. "Everywhere I go I recommend Electric Bitters, because I owe my excellent health and vitality to them. They effect a cure every time." They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak, run-down men and women, restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is positively guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., and Jas. E. Dillon.

A town is judged by its newspapers much as a man is sized up by his clothes. The whole community is thus a partner in its journalistic enterprises. If you want your city to put its best foot forward, give your home paper the support it needs to keep on expanding and growing more attractive.—Jackson Citizen Press.

The price of brooms, which has been ascending for a year or so, is said to be likely to reach a dollar each before many months. The cause is a shortage in the supply of broom corn, and it is stated that the total output is only sufficient to supply each family with two brooms. We may yet all have to invest in vacuum cleaners.

The supreme court in an opinion handed down Tuesday afternoon affirmed the decision of the Saginaw county court the effect that voting machines can be used at an election at which a bonding proposition for the city of Saginaw is to be submitted. The decision upholds the constitutionality of the voting machine act of 1909.

Now is a right good time for the farmer and gardener to be making preparations for spraying fruit trees and bushes next spring. If you don't do it this winter you will be too busy next spring, and the result will be that the insect pests will get most of your fruit, and what they don't get they will make so imperfect that it will be unsaleable.

We presume that nearly all the newspapers have received from the managers of the local telegraph officers a circular requesting a couple of dollars worth of free advertising of a new service. So far as we are concerned, we believe the Western Union is making sufficient profit to pay for their advertising and if they get it here they will have to pay. We have to pay for such use as we wish to make of their lines.

Almost two million dollars a day is destroyed by men in the employ of the treasury department at Washington. This comes about by the redemption of worn-out paper money. The government encourages the tendency of people to demand crisp and clean bills for those soiled and torn, and the average life of a one-dollar bill is now about fourteen months, where it used to be three or four years. The larger bills, for obvious reasons, have a much longer lease of life. The large increase of late in the volume of bills of all kinds sent in for redemption is taken as a reliable indication of brisker business and better times.

One Hundred Years Ago.

Here are a few facts which show how much more life is today than in "the good old days" about which we hear.

Not until February of 1812 did the people of Kentucky know that Madison was elected president in the previous November.

In 1834 one of the leading railroads of the United States printed on its timetable. "The locomotive will leave the depot every day at 10 o'clock if the weather is fair."

The first typewriter was received by the public with suspicion. "It seemed subversive of existing conditions. A reporter who took one into a court room first proved its real worth."

In England some centuries ago, if an ordinary workman, without permission, moved from one parish to another, in search of work or better wages, he was branded with a hot iron.

One hundred years ago the fastest travel in the world was the Great North road in England, after it had been put into its best condition. There the York mail coach tore along at the rate of 90 miles a day, and many persons confidently predicted divine vengeance on such unseemly haste.

When Benjamin Franklin first thought of starting a newspaper in Philadelphia, many of his friends advised against it because there was a paper published in Boston. Some of them doubted that the country could support two newspapers.—Household Journal.

Stubborn as Mules

are liver and bowels sometimes seem to balk without cause. Then there's trouble—loss of appetite—indigestion, nervousness, despondency, and headache. But such troubles fly before Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best stomach and liver remedy. So easy. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

Civic Religion.

A civic religion, that shall be worth while, cannot come to pass until men place the public welfare above every private interest. The rich and the well-to-do, who seek privileges and protection and immunities, are the mainstay of the political bosses. It is just as base to be purchased by the bribe of a nomination or a franchise as to be bought or sold by a bribe of money. The public service corporations in our municipalities will be dealt with fairly as long as they are ready to deal squarely with the people. Let them not urge in defense of bribe-giving that they "must have peace." The citizenship of a community will always sustain men, who base their appeal to it upon the highest possible grounds.

No machinery will do the work of civic reform or supply the want of civic religion. Cities can be cleaned and kept clean by men and women. Before and beyond all nomination and election reforms, important though these in truth are, is needed the ceaseless and unwearying consecration to the civic weal of the citizen and the patriot. There are voting machines of two kinds, human and metal, the human that don't count and the metal that do count. The American must vote, not as a partisan, but as an American, not with his lead pencil, but with an enlightened conscience, casting his ballot, that is making his citizenship felt, in the spirit of the Freeman's Oath of 1634, taken by every voter during the early days of the Colony of Massachusetts:

"I do solemnly bind myself that I will give my vote and suffrage as I shall judge in mine own conscience may best conduce to the public weal, so help me God." As go the cities, so will go the American republic.—Dr. Stephen S. Wise in March Pacific Monthly.

Woman's Home Companion for March.

At the very moment when every woman in the country is thinking of "spring clothes" the Woman's Home Companion appears as a big fashion number and contains a remarkable lot of information as to what will be worn, and why. Every important item connected with the latest thing in dress is treated in a careful and instructive manner. Articles on French hats and French novelties are only a small part of the general scheme.

But the helpfulness of this magazine is not confined to the question of clothes. Etched metal work, a new fad; the making of bead bags; the building and furnishing of houses, and the many sciences that go to make up a well-ordered home are all considered in the usual excellent departments.

A feature of the March number is the double page devoted to photographs of popular actresses and opera singers who are model mothers. One of the largest pictures of Ethel Barrymore forms part of this collection. Hypnotism, is always a fascinating subject, is ably handled by H. Addington Bruce, and Marion Harland tells the famous story of "The Ladies of Llangollen."

The fiction attains a high standard. Myra Kelly contributes a vivid Settlement House story. Fannie Heaps Lea, James Oppenheim and Mary Heaton Vorse each have an excellent tale to tell, and "The House of Healing," by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, promises to prove one of the best serials of the year.

The humor and verse are quaint and charming, and the "Campaign of Hope" is still encouraging good work in stimulating vigilance against the spread of the White Plague.

NO ESCAPE FROM THE TUNAS

Flying Fish and Sardines Rounded Up in Schools and Devoured by Hundreds.

I have observed some curious scenes at sea, but never have I seen fear so forcibly expressed as by a school of flying fishes exhausted and at the mercy of the voracious tunas, declares a correspondent of the Outing Magazine. I have had them gather about my boat and cling to its keel as closely as they could, while the air was full of leaping tunas and soaring flying fish. At such times when a school of sardines is rounded up the fishes are so terrified that men have rowed up to them and scooped them in by the pailful.

I have stood in a boat when the air seemed literally full of fish, the tunas coming up with a rush from below, and endeavoring to catch the flying fishes with tremendous leaps. Sometimes they take them in midair; again they strike and knock them higher, bleeding or dead, or miss them altogether. But whatever the result, the tuna is never displaced; it makes the same spectacular jump, utterly unlike that of the swordfish, shark, or tarpon, returning to the sea head first with a graceful curve.

Saved a Soldier's Life.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough and lung trouble, its supreme. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., and Jas. E. Origin of the Word "Bloodhound."

The bloodhound was first known in England as the sleuth hound, later as the English bloodhound; not on account of his thirst for blood, but because of his pure breeding, the same as one speaks of a pure-bred, pure-blooded or blooded horse. He was first introduced in England by that good sportsman, William the Conqueror. Later he was known in France as the St. Hubert, and in the eight century as the Flemish hound. There were no real English bloodhound in America before those sent by Edwin Brough to the New York dog show in 1888. The registration of the American Kennel club shows that they were the first imported and the first ever registered.—Recreation.

Cure for Chewing Gum Habit.

In one of the West Philadelphia public schools is a little mite of a teacher who has a mighty way of preserving discipline. Her pupils bring unkindly of all injunctions barring the use of chewing gum during school hours, the instructress determined to make a horrible example of a couple of the most willful boys. She accordingly announced that she would decorate the school room a little, and thereupon stationed the boys on one corner of the platform where they would be conspicuous. Then she gave each lad a roll of clean white paper and told them to chew it.

The boys, with their cheeks bulging out with paper pulp, were compelled to chew steadily for 15 minutes. There is a slump in the chewing gum market.

NEVER THROW UP YOUR HANDS

If a man ever feels like throwing up his hands, it is when his bowels are all tied up and his liver fails to act. Miller's just one little harmless pleasant-tasting tablet, will act like a charm on the bowels and in a few hours the world will look 100% better to you. "It serves you right." At your druggists.

An Awful Eruption

of a volcano excites brief interest, and your interest in skin eruptions will be as short, if you use Bucklen's Arnica Salve, their quickest cure. Even the worst boils, ulcers, or fever sores are soon healed by it. Best for burns, cuts, bruises, sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains and piles. It gives instant relief. 25c at J. M. People Who Argue.

There are some people who are never contented. They will argue a subject over and over hours at a stretch, and be forever a solution that they were at the start.

It is hard to try to convince such a person on any subject. The truth is, it gives them pleasure to argue, and the more you disagree with them the better they are pleased. If you find yourself dropping into the habit, try to drop out again as soon as possible.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and shallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend Ganderbone's Forecast for March.

Copyrighted 1910 by C. H. Rieth.
O, have you heard about the hog Since it is worth its weight in gold?
They keep a heater in its pen
And give it quinine for a cold.
You wouldn't know the lucky brute
Since pork went up to thirty cents,
They pet it so and keep it in Such unheard-of magnificence.

The farmer always tastes the food
To see if it will make him ill,
And rich and appetizing soups
Are given it instead of swill.

The best and most expensive foods
Are set before it without stint,
And indigestion is forestalled
By capping them with creme de mint.

You wouldn't know it for a styed
The hog is quartered in today.
It has a ventilating fan,
A roof, a skylight and a spray;

And how it sleeps, eats, drinks and feels,
And how to safe guard it from harm,
Is all they think and talk about
These piping days upon the farm.

The farmers lie awake o' nights
Devising prophylactic troughs.
The dators fly from farm to farm
Examining hiccups and coughs;

And nowadays when farmers meet
Each other upon a jog?
Their inquisit and most solicitous
Inquiry is, "How is your hog?"

March was the favorite month of the old Romans and the beginning of their year. It was named for Mars, their god of war, and continued to rank the other months until 44 B. C., when with the peace party in the Senate allied with the insurgents and reduced it to third place on the calendar. Brutus and some of the others thought the empire ought to make less of war and more of business, so they made January, named for the Two-Faced Janus, the beginning of the year, and the month of Februus, who typified the dark and evil ways of business, to immediately follow.

Cesar, who was speaker of the Senate, stood pat on the old calendar upon the ground that while war, as someone had said, is hell, business, when it reaches the trust stage, is a good deal heller. A few regulars of the war party supported him, but the allies were irresistible, and he was finally stabbed.

Revising the calendar was as great an issue in Roman politics as revising the tariff has become in our own, and more than one brave leader laid down his life for the division of time as he thought it ought to be or his party had pledged. The Romans discovered very early in their history that it is in the nature of man to revise something, and they finally agreed upon the calendar as the thing over which the politicians could fight with the least damage to the peace and prosperity of the people as a whole.

The melancholy days will pass, and spring will come again to freshen up the faded grass and wake the hearts of men. The groundhog will awake again, borne out upon the whole, and the geese will march across the sky to see about the pole. The thrill of spring will run along the backbone of the calf.
He'll buck and dance upon the mead and hoist his hinder half. He'll dream of blooming clover fields and waving curly dock, and gambol with his rigid tail stuck up at 6 o'clock.

The blithesome meadowlark will sing the glories of the dawn, and the robin will turn somersets upon the greening lawn. The spring-intoxicated colt will do-si-do about, the festive frog will wax to help the Weather Bureau out, the poor consumer will rejoice and hope for better luck, and the trusts will sit around and dam the coming garden truck.

On the 4th Mr. Taft will celebrate his first anniversary in the White House with a masquerade. There has never been a masquerade there, but Mr. Taft is very anxious to have everybody come, and in view of the unsettled political conditions, the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy and some other things, he feels that as long as nobody can determine positively who else is present, there will be no occasion for anyone staying away.
Pink tea will be served, and there will be a picture of Mr. Roosevelt under the coal pile in the basement. Take-off on the consumer, allusions to June 15, costume caricatures of Speaker Cannon and other cussedness that Democrats, insurgents or Pinchot men may be up to will be censored at the door.

And then the ideas will come around
In sorrowful progression,
And all the peanut carts will form
In annual procession.

They'll whistle up and down the street
Their shrilly admonition,
And bid us think upon the price
Of temporal ambition.

It's terrible the way we are disheartened by example. It matters not which way we turn, we always see a sample of someone like us who aspired at unaccustomed angles, and always got it in the end where Cora wore the bangles.

You know the Romans understood our metes and limitations, and what fools are we that aspire above our lowly stations. They used to have a man to meet the victor home from battle and mount behind his chariot, amid the din and rattle, and while his vanity was roused with great acclaim to chortle and keep repeating in his ear, "Remember, you are mortal!"

They kept a lot of Romans straight
That otherwise had strayed;
But, anyway, the seventeenth
The Irish will parade
In memory of him who did
For Irish snakes the same
As Roosevelt is doing now
To Ruvenzori game.

Mr. Morgan will continue his flight from Halley's Comet, passing through Paris about the 5th. Mr. Rockefeller, emboldened by his escape from Judge Landis, will not run. It is likely, however, that his benefactions will discreetly increase as the comet continues to approach. Mr. Carnegie will also give away money on a larger scale now.

The moon will be on the celestial equator on the 11. This will be a fortunate combination for Pinchot, and he may be able to make a point that some of the rest of us can see. The Spring Equinox will come on the 21st. The storm will be central around Ballinger's job, and will continue until the 25th, when the moon will be full. If the sky is clear we will be able to see if he is still on the job, and, if so, what is probably holding him up.

And then the April wind will blow
From Araby afar,
And on the 1st we shall recall
What fools we mortals are.

INCREASE IN LIFE'S DURATION

Sanitary Science Has Done Much to Prolong the Stay of Man
Upon the Earth.

National efficiency depends partly on natural resources, partly on the integrity of social institutions, partly on human vitality, and is a reaction against the old fatalistic creed that deaths inevitably occur at a constant rate. The new motto is Pasteur's,
"It is within the power of man to rid himself of every parasitic disease."
Longevity varies in different times and places. The average length of life in Denmark and Sweden exceeds 50 years; in India it falls short of 25.
In Europe it has increased in 350 years from less than 20 to over 40 years. In Massachusetts, in less than half a century, it has increased five years. As longevity increases, mortality decreases.

The death rate in the "registration area" of the United States is 16.5 per thousand; in India it is about 42 per thousand. In European cities it varies from 16 to 40. The death rate has been decreasing during several centuries. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries it was 40 to 50, and during the past periods rose as high as 80. It is now 15. In Havana the death rate after American occupation fell from over 50 to about 30.
The greatest reductions have been effected among children. The mortality beyond the age of 80 years has remained stationary. Special diseases have decreased, such as tuberculosis, which is now one-third as prevalent as two generations ago;
typhoid fever, which in Munich, after the elimination of cesspools, decreased 97 per cent, and in Lawrence, Mass., after the introduction of a public water filter, decreased over 80 per cent. Smallpox has practically disappeared since vaccination was employed and yellow fever since its mosquito origin has been known.—

ONE LAW THAT REACHES ALL

No Evasion or Compromise Possible
When One is Dealing with the Rule of Karma.

Put in everyday English, Karma is the law that whatever you have coming to you is bound to catch up with you sooner or later, and you can't sidestep it. It may be good, or it may be bad, or it may be a little of both, but it will find you, no matter how many times you have moved away without leaving your new address.
And whatever it is it will be exactly what your own actions have made you deserve. Not an ounce more, nor an ounce less, nor a fraction thereof.

Some people call this law Nemesis.
Some call it by other names. Some don't call it at all, but they don't need to. It comes without calling.
Some people say they don't believe in it, and some scoff at it. But the law goes right on minding its own business and saying very little.

Probably the majority of thinking people agree on this much—that somehow or other things are to be evened up in the long run; that we are all going to get our just deserts before the final gong sounds, if there is any.
So suppose we let the word Karma stand for that idea and go ahead to see how the thing works out in the realm of modern business.

The principle that we are punished by our sins, not for them, is pretty evident anywhere, but if you want to see it working hard and fast and all the time just take a look into the average commercial concern. For quick returns in this Karma business, commend me to the marts of trade.—
