was engaged in the barber-business here for several years. He leaves a and 244 against. Burleigh township

dates for circuit judges there were 1249

Not Legal Citizens.

During the past few months many cases have been found where men have been voting and holding office for years who were not full citizens of the United States, but we believe Wilber township holds a record. At the recent election
John McMullen was elected supervisor, Alex Corner clerk and Robert A. Brooks highway commissioner, and it now develops that none of the three are full citizens. Mr. McMullen has been treasurer and held other office for years,
Mr. Corner has been postmaster of Wilber postoffice and township clerk for about 15 years, and Mr. Brooks has also held many offices all believing themselves to be legal voters and qualified officials. The discovery of the mistake at this time, through no fault of their own, has placed them in this peculiar position. We understand that a special election is to be called to fill the vacancies.

It behooves all foreign born citizens to look carefully to their standing in this respect. Many cases have developed recently in this county where men who had exercised the elective franchise for years had done so without the legal right, and are now taking the necessary steps to have their error corrected.

Are you frequently hoarse? Do you have that annoying tickling in your throat? Does your cough annoy you at night, and do you raise mucus in the morning? Do you want relief? If so, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you will be pleased. Sold by Red Cross Pharmacy.

Lady Maccabee Delegates.

Mesdames. Rebecca Baguley, Agnes Kelly and Dora Mark, of this city, attended the county convention of the L. O. T. M.M., at Oscoda, Tuesday.
The following delegates were chosen to attend the biennial review of the Great Hive at Kalamazoo next June:
Anna Mathews, Oscoda.
Ella Wood, East Tawas.
Amy R. Hurford, Whittemore.

The following alternates were elected:
Matilda Davey, East Tawas.
Elizabeth White, Alabaster.
Mary Eaton, AuSable.

Mrs. Baguley was re-elected county commander for the ensuing two years.
The next county convention will be held at East Tawas.

Pistols and Politeness.

Much of the politeness of the old-time southern gentlemen came, and still comes, from the same handness with the pocket pistol. The same type of politeness existed in England
before the Puritan reformation. Now, that reformation regarded superb manners as an invention of the devil, and this belief strongly affected New England, but had little effect on the south,
which was less affected in manners and customs by the reformation than was France, far less than England. It would have been a good thing for the south and France if each had got more of it. None can deny that Washington and Stonewall seemed more Puritanical than Cavalier or Gaulois in severe and sober discipline of life.—

To Clarify Rainwater.

To clarify the cloudy rainwater and render it fit for washing and household purposes, measure two ounces of powdered alum and two ounces of borax, for each barrel, and add it to the water. In a few hours the sediment will settle, and the water will be clar-ified and fit for use.

Pasture For 1910.

I have some first-class pasture land for rent for the season of 1910. For particulars inquire at the Gates Drug Store, East Tawas, or at the Gates Farm,

Who and What is a Republican?

Thirty thousand citizens of this town enrolled on Monday as members of their respective parties. Presumably by this act they are entitled to vote at the party primaries the first day of September. But on Saturday

"It shall be competent for any enrolled voter or primary election inspector present to challenge the right of any one offering to vote, on the ground * * * that he belongs to a political party other than that represented by the ballot for which he has asked.

"Whereupon he is to be put to the oath, and before receiving the ballot for which he has asked must swear 'that he believes in the principles of the political party represented by the ballot for which he has asked.'

What principles? Not those laid down in the platform of the republican or democratic parties in this state on the issues of this year, for those parties cannot under the law hold their conventions until after the primaries. Not those principles laid down in the state republican platform of 1908; for there weren't any. Shall it be the principles of the national platforms of 1908? If so what becomes of those republicans who agree with their Indiana bretheran that the national republican administration does not represent those principles? Or what becomes of those 75,000 Michigan republicans who voted for Hemans for governor? What, in short, is a republican? And how is a man to know he is one?—Detroit Saturday night.

Look Into the Back Yard.

It is all very nice to have a nice front yard of course. It may lead the passer-by to believe almost anything about you. But, as a matter of fact, it is the back yard that counts—it is the back yard by which your real character may be judged and your health estimated.

Two men once built homes upon a certain street, side by side. One of them enclosed his back yard with a high board fence. He said he did not care to have the neighbors gazing at his rubbish. He would make of his front yard a gem of greenness, and decorate it with radiant flowers, so the world might enjoy the beauty of the thing.

The other said he would not build a fence about his back yard, because he did not propose to have any rubbish in it, and that the best way to prevent the accumulation of trash was to expose the premises to the public view. His front yard was not nearly so pretty as his neighbor's, but his back yard was the admiration of the neighborhood, and fevers shunned it, and contaminations did not tarry in it, and noxious odors knew it not, nor was it a breeding place for flies and mosquitoes. It ought not require much of a philosopher to determine which of these two men was the wiser.

All of which is rather a cumbersome way, perhaps, to call attention to the fact that it is really the back yard that pays a dividend or creates a liability—especially along about this time of the year. Certainly it is the back yard that causes the trouble—that breeds disease and death. And, by the way, what have you done for your back yard this spring?—Bay City Times.

Can't Collect Bills.

Charlotte, Mich., April 9.—A decision was handed down by Judge Smith, of the circuit court, Thursday, sustaining an order in the case of the International Harvester Co. of America against Fayette DePuy and John Holmes, implement dealers, that the harvester company produce its books in court to determine whether or not it is a trust.

The company brought suit against DePuy and Holmes for $200 for merchandise and $1,200 damage. The defendants entered the plea that the plaintiff was a trust and therefore, had no standing in the Michigan courts.

When the order was made for the company to produce its books in court it filed a motion that the order be vacated. This motion was denied by Judge Smith, who said in part:

"It seems to be the policy of the state to restrict combinations in restraint of trade and commerce and if possible to prohibit them from doing business in the state.

"On the argument of the motion it was strenuously urged that plaintiff could not be compelled to produce books, papers or documents because it might tend to incriminate, and subject it to punishment. If the claim of the plaintiff as to its character is the truth, it cannot be endangered. More than that, this is a civil cause and a criminal action such as is suggested could not be based upon any discovery made on the trial of this cause.

"Plaintiff's position, in effect, is that while it is true it had violated the laws of the state, which were made to protect its citizens, and while the state had said that combinations in restraint of trade and commerce are against public policy and void, yet it has a statute, and obtained contrary to a law passed by the state intending to prohibit it, yet it asks that the court open its doors and permit violators of its statutes to come in and enforce contracts which could not be made were it paying proper respect to its law."

Wants an Audit.

At the annual township meeting in AuSable township the following resolution was passed. An audit of the county treasurer's books might be all right, but in this case it looks as if there was "something behind" the demand. In 1897 the books of the county treasurer were audited for a number of years previous to that date, by A. J. Dresser, and expert accountant, of Detroit. At that time a new and simplified system of book-keeping was installed. The question now arises, why go seven years back of that audit? The only apparent reason is that AuSable township is owing the county in the neighborhood of $2,000, and they wish this account audited and are in hopes that the expense of this audit may be paid by the county. The board of supervisors will do well to consider it carefully.

Resolved, that the Supervisors elected today be hereby directed to act in behalf of this Township and request the Honorable Board of Supervisors at their next meeting to order an audit of the County Treasurer's accounts from the year 1890 to date, said audit to be made by a responsible Public Accountant, or firm of Public Accountants.

Arbor Day Notices.

SCHOOL OFFICERS AND PATRONS OF IOSCO COUNTY: Arbor day is again near at hand. Let us make an effort to beautify and render more attractive our school grounds. The Spring Hill Nurseries of Tippecanoe City, Miami county, Ohio, offer the following cheap prices to the schools of Michigan:

Cherry trees, three four foot at 12 cents; of the following varieties: Montmorency, Dyehouse, and Early Richmond Rose of Sharon, two three foot at 10 cents; Black Locust, two three foot at 1 cent; Catalpa Speciosa, 18 to 24 inches, 1 cent.

They further agree to allow a discount of forty percent on above prices providing the discount is used to create a fund to procure what is needed by them.

These trees are not culls, but first class in every way.

Respectfully
J. A. CAMPBELL.

FALLS IN WITH THE IDEA
Mr. Glimkintog Sees Great Possibility in the Scheme of Building Things Over.
"We had the piano tuner yesterday tuning the piano," said Mr. Glimkintog, "and he says it will do for a few years yet, but that really it's getting pretty well worn out and it ought to be made over."
"We've had that piano now 22 years; two children have learned to play on it, and have pounded on it continuously ever since with naturally steadily increasing strength and impact, and the wonder to me is that it has lasted so long. It still preserves its sweetness of tone, but the tuner says that in a few years now it ought to be rebuilt."
"The case is all right, he says, and the sounding board; all it needs is just new works. You put new works in that piano, he says, and refinish the case, and at a cost of maybe $150 or $200 you'd have a piano worth $500, absolutely as good as new."
"I don't doubt that that is so; I only wish that men could be made over in the same way. I know of one somewhat oldish man who has all his life been subjected to more or less wear, and who, though he may still show some sweetness of tone, is at the same time, beyond all doubt, somewhat worn. Now suppose you could send this old man to some place where they make over men, where they would put new works in him and refinish his case to give him the appearance of youth. What a fine thing it would be if there was a factory like that to which men could be sent! This man I speak of would be willing to give considerable more than $200 to be thus rebuilt."
"But we're going to have the old piano made over, anyway."
Grub Street's Pawnshop.
If the Avant is not the oldest and best known pawnshop in the world it deserves to be. It has been in existence ever since the days of Shakespeare and Ben Johnson. It is in Fleet street—Grub street—and has been the poor writer's uncle for all these centuries and years. It has an old legend something like this: "Old Literary Friends Never Forgotten." There are many souvenirs, sayings and traditions of the greatest men on earth, who, going broke, had to patronize it. Outside of its own name it is well known as the "Grub Street Pawnshop."—London Mail.

TACKLING ON WALL PAPER
Sometimes That Method is Preferable to Paste—How It is Accomplished.
"You never heard of tacking on wall paper? Oh, dear! yes," said Mr. Flatdewler, "we often do that. We don't put the paper on with tacks originally, but we tack it on in making repairs."
"You know how the paper curls away from the wall sometimes, stiff and hard with the paste on it? Sometimes if it's left that way pieces of the hard paper may be broken off. Well, you couldn't very well paste that paper down again, because you couldn't make any paste strong enough to take out the curl and make the paper hold; and then with paste, even if it would hold, you might not make a nice job of it around the joints, might get on too much paste and so get some of it on the outside of the paper. So we just tack down the curled up paper and tack on the pieces that may have fallen off."
"But don't the tack heads show in the paper? No, not at all, not—ahem!—as we do the tacking. That's where the fine art of tacking on paper, as we practice it, comes in. There's a pattern on the paper and sure to be here and there more or less dark places in the coloring and we simply drive the tacks in the dark spots, where they don't show."
