The executive committee of the North-eastern Michigan Press Association met at Bay City Tuesday and set the date for their annual outing at Cheboygan for July 27th and 28th. It is being planned to have a boat ride over the beautiful Inland Route and to Mackinac Island, and in fact it will be two days of pleasure for the pencil pushers and their wives.

Harrisville is preparing to give the Huron Shore Sunday School Association, which holds its annual outing in that city on Thursday, July 14, a royal time. The program will be elaborate, and a special effort is being made to make this the best meeting yet held. All Sunday schools in the "Shore" territory are urged to make arrangements to attend.

The annual meeting of the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association of the D. & M. Ry., was held at Alpena last Sunday. A special train was run from this city and a large number of the employees attended the meeting. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, C. L. Bonney, East Tawas; secretary, H. H. Funk, East Tawas; T. J. Hopper, Alpena; sick committee, Thomas Kennedy and T. J. Hopper, of Alpena.

Beginning Friday evening, April 29, and continuing all day Saturday, the 30th, the Iosco County Teachers' Association will meet at AuSable. Great pains have been taken by the program committee and the local teachers to make this meeting an enjoyable and profitable one. The expenses of the trip will be comparatively small and no active, wide-awake teacher can afford to miss it. The teacher who fails to attend these meetings will soon fall into a rut and be left behind in the educational race.

The Call of the Blood

for purification, finds voice in pimples, boils, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin,—all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills make rich red blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, fine complexion, health. Try them. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

News has been received by the Chippewa Indians of Alvin, an Indian village north of Oscoda, from Joseph Bradley, commissioner in charge of the apportionment of the money due from the United States to the several tribes of the Algonquin nation for the sale of lands and accrued interest on same, that each Chippewa is to receive the sum of $1,000.

To further the work of protecting fruit trees, bushes and vines against disease and insect pests, the Michigan experiment station of the Agricultural college has issued a special bulletin on spraying. The different mixtures used, how they are made, and how to apply them is all given in a way easy to understand. The bulletin, which is No. 51, will be sent free upon request to R. S. Shaw, director, East Lansing.

Rural Carriers association of Northern Michigan, will meet at Sterling on May 30, Decoration Day, and a good time is promised. Among the speakers will be Postmaster George L. Lusk of Bay City. All postmasters and carriers in Northern Michigan are expected. Every carrier is expected also to join the association and help along the work of securing better salaries and the betterment of the service generally.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema. L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with, forty years. "But Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for sores, ulcers, boils, burns, cuts, wounds, bruises and piles. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

For County Clerk.

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF IOSCO COUNTY:

I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of county clerk, and respectfully solicit your vote for me at the coming primary election, to be held in September 1910.

I have been a resident of Iosco county thirty-six years and have been a tax payer in Baldwin township for fifteen years, and if nominated by you for the office of county clerk and am elected, I promise you a careful, painstaking administration.

GUSTAVE C. KARUS.

Do Your Best or Get Off the Job.

Do your best or get off the job. Don't sulk. It is like putting a boiler out of business; you become cold and useless. If you think a proper value has not been placed on your efforts, fight harder. The moment you let that miserable little sneak, "What's the use?" come into your mind, you're lost. Never conclude that it isn't worth trying. If you make up your mind it's no use, you will not do your best; you will become worthless.

The average man in this world says the Detroit News, gets just about what he deserves—if not in one place, then in another. Somebody will find him out and put a proper price on his services. If you sulk and prove a quitter, the firm will lose a little, but you will lose all—position, reputation and opportunities to catch on elsewhere.

A boy came in from the country, learned the wholesale trade, and in a few years was on the road. He was clever, avoided getting the swelled head, and worked hard all the time. He soon had a big trade. His firm felt that they had "made him," and chuckled as they figured on the small percentage of expense on which they were disposing of their goods. Occasionally the thought would enter his head that perhaps he should have a raise, but it would lead him to work only the harder to win it.

But while his firm, through him was winning the trade, their competitor was losing proportionately, and Mr. Competitor went out to learn the reason. His search led him straight to this man. A few weeks later he sent for the young salesman to make him a proposition. "But you don't know anything about me," protested the salesman. "I know all about you," said the competitor. "I am looking for a manager of salesmen. I have had you watched for several weeks. I know your habits, your methods of handling trades, the discouragements you have overcome, your fighting spirit. I want someone to inspire my salesmen to go after trade the way you do. Whatever your salary may be now, I will double it." He went and made good again. But would he have had the second job if he had sulked on the first? If he had said, "What's the use? My efforts aren't appreciated anyhow; I'll take it easy," the reports of the men who watched him for opportunity No. 2 wouldn't have done him much good, would they? The men in firm No. 1 don't chuckle any more when they have a good salesman, but try to hold him by paying a fair salary before other firms get to him. But the average firm these days isn't like Number 1 was. Quick understanding and substantial recognition of men of special merit is considered one of the essentials of every well conducted business and is in general practice.

When a farmer goes to town with a load of potatoes he doesn't have to put the big ones on top. He drives over the rough road, and the shaking of the wagon box brings the large ones to the top and send the small ones to the bottom. This old world is continually shaking and struggling mass of humanity to size up individuals. If you are a big potato—big enough and gritty enough to do your best under discouraging circumstances—you will come to the top. But if you are a small potato; if you whimper and whine about not having a chance and not being appreciated, if you prove a quitter when you should be hitting your besticks, you will go to the bottom. Do your best or get off the job and make room for someone else.

Indolent Men Most Critical.

The busy, industrious man has little time to contemplate and criticize the methods and efforts put forth by his competitors. The man who has the time to point out how and where his competitor is daily making mistakes, had better take an inventory of his own processes and see if they could not be improved upon. In nine cases out of ten he will find his business slipping away from him. A man whose business is steadily increasing has his hands full with his own affairs and has little time to devote to talking about and criticizing his fellow citizens. A lame attempt is far better than none and the critic generally uses so much energy in crying down his successful competitor he has little opportunity to boost his own affairs.

Mother.

The maternal parent—the best gift in the world—a good mother.

Why should a child be blamed or chastised for wrong-doing if she has not the example of a good mother? If a good woman is the understudy of an angel, the model, it seems to me, must be a good mother. For example: If wrong is made to appear right by a mother to her child, is that child to receive censure or punishment for obeying the dictates of that mother?

Do not think that wrong is not to be punished, far from it; punish the wrongdoer, but do not let transgressor alone suffer; look to the incentive power.

My mother taught thus: "Speech is silver, Silence is golden."

"If you can say nothing to one's credit, remain silent."

"Harm no living thing by word or deed."

After prayers had been said at night, mother would ask what we had done or said that day to make some one happy, and oh! the buoyant, joyous feeling if we could say we felt that we had made the day a wee bit brighter for a fellow-being by a kind word or deed or pleasant smile.

I once heard two people talking of a young man. Said one of them, "He speaks so nicely of his mother." The other answered, "Well I think it would be more to his credit if he spoke nicely to his mother."

Environment is three-fourths of an education. What is the child's right environment? The good example of a loving mother.—Fay E. Weaver.

Saved From the Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn. "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. Its the best medicine made for the throat and lungs."

Obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, lagrippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis and hemorrhages hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and James E. Dillon.

Advertising is Insurance.

Advertising is the insurance which a merchant carries to prevent the disturbance of his business by the sudden appearance of a competitor in his field. By his advertising he has led the people to form the habit of buying at his store. Habits are not so easily broken up as some may imagine. By his advertising he has also expanded the volume of his business, so that the appearance of a competitor has less effect than it otherwise might have. A new competitor may be able to get few of the merchant's customers, but he cannot reach that great mass of them who have been his patrons through years as a result of his wide advertising.—Springfield (Ill.) Register.

The Demon of the Air

is the germ of lagrippe, that, breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., and Jas. E. Dillon.

Teachers' Examinations.

Notice is hereby given that teachers' examinations for Isoco county for the year 1910 will be held at Tawas City on the following dates:
June 16, 17 and 18.
August 11, 12 and 13.
October 20 and 21.

The examinations in June, August and October will be based on Reading in Public Schools by Briggs and Coffman, one of the Reading Circle Books. Eighth Grade examinations will be held May 5th and 6th, in the following places: Alabaster, AuSable, East Tawas, Hale, Grant and Whittemore. Reading will be based on Scott's "Lady of the Lake."

JNO. A. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner of Schools.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by Red Cross Pharmacy.

Hale Schools.

Lillian Harris was absent Monday. Anna Pearlman was absent Monday.

Will Curtis was to visit our school Thursday.

The eighth grade is reviewing for examination.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were to visit our school Thursday.

The seventh grade is reviewing geography and physiology.

Bernice Deland is unable to attend school on account of illness.

The ninth grade algebra class is studying radical quantities.

The ninth grade general history class is studying the French Revolution.

The entertainment given last Friday evening under the auspices of the Boy's Athletic Association was well attended and the proceeds which amounted to $10.52 will be used for a good purpose. Much credit is due the boys and girls for their earnest effort to please the public; and we also appreciate the work of our superintendent, Mr. Brown, who did his best to make the evening an enjoyable one.

Whittemore Schools.

The advanced algebra have completed their book.

General history class is taking up the French revolution.

"Well begun is half done." is a maxim that means much.

"It is not how much, but how well" that counts in learning.

The third grade language class is now reviewing "The Barefoot Boy."

The fourth grade arithmetic class is reviewing multiplication this week.

The first and second grades are memorizing the poem, "A Summer Shower."

"It is better to bend than to break" or we had better give in that we do not know sometimes.

The fourth grade geography class is studying the principal physical features of Africa. Maps locating the mountains and owners were drawn Monday.

CONVERTING THE OLD MAN

Cogent Reason Advanced That Had the Effect of Bringing "Paw" to the Penitent Bench.

They say that once down in a Kentucky county, which shall be anonymous, one of the young rough-necks was converted at a revival held in the little building which served a double purpose as schoolhouse and church. He had been a wild lad, but his conversion was sincere, and by the force of his example or possibly of his hard flat he succeeded in getting the rest of his following to join, too.

His father had never been to church, and said, further, that he never intended to go. His son, however, following his change of front, greatly desired that his sire should join him in that stand. He got the preacher, who was conducting the services, to go and wrestle with the old fellow. The two adjured him to attend church. He was finally persuaded to do so, and once there the son and the evangelist directed their efforts to getting him on the mourners' bench. The old man wavered, but finally stood firm. He reckoned it was powerful good, but he kinder believed he'd let things be as they were.

"Look, here, paw," said the recent proselyte, "you come on in. I'm in, and I can tell you it's so d— good you ought to take a little of it just for luck!"

That was an unconventional way of putting it, but it had its effect, and the old man joined.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Choosing a Career.

"What are you going to do when you grow up?" This is the favorite conundrum which the kind aunts and uncles put to the boys when they come home from school; and of late they are beginning to put it to the girls also, since it has been reluctantly admitted that a girl may rightly have something to say about what she would like to do in the world. But how is it possible to make anything more than a blind guess at the answer, unless the boy or girl has some idea of the practical which is to be worked for. To choose a trade, a business, a profession, without knowing what kind of a result you want to get out of your labor, is to set sail in the dark. It is to have a course, but no haven; an employment, but no vocation.—Henry Van Dyke.

How to Clean Plaster.

When plaster casts become soiled with either dust or finger marks make a creamy solution of dry starch and cold water and apply it with a soft brush, carefully wetting all crevices and depressions. Set the cast aside to dry, then remove the starch with a stiff brush, and it will look as if fresh from the studio.—Harper's Bazar.

Council Proceedings.

Pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, the common council of the city of Tawas City met in the council rooms Monday evening, April 11, 1910, for the purpose of considering application for liquor license.

Called to order by Mayor Wuggazer. Present—Aldermen Babcock, Murchison, Lorenz, Stark, Armstrong, Davison and Clerk King. Absent—Attorney Hartingh. Quorum present.

Application of J. Corrigan presented.

By Armstrong and Stark: Resolved, that application of J. Corrigan be accepted. Carried, yeas—Babcock, Murchison, Stark, Lorenz, Armstrong, Davison. Nays none.

Application of A. O. McInerney presented and read.

By Armstrong and Lorenz: Resolved, that application of A. O. McInerney be accepted. Carried, yeas—Babcock, Murchison, Stark, Armstrong, Lorenz, Davison. Nays none.

Application of C. J. McDonald presented and read.

By Davison and Armstrong: Resolved, that application of C. J. McDonald be laid on table. Carried, yeas—Babcock, Murchison, Stark, Lorenz, Armstrong, Davison. Nays none.

On motion council then adjourned. J. M. WUGGAZER, Mayor. JNO. B. KING, Clerk.

The Call of the Blood

for purification, finds voice in pimples, boils, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin,—all signs of liver trouble. ## Leaves it to Her Judgment.

"Am I the first girl you ever kissed?" asks the fair young thing from the refuge of his shoulder.

"Well," he replies, "after the way my arm just naturally slipped around your waist as you unconsciously leaned toward me, and my fingers tilted your chin as you unconsciously lifted your head, and I bent forward where your lips were waiting, and didn't get the kiss either on your nose or your chin, but where it belonged—after that, and with the knowledge of the subject which you have displayed, I shall say nothing, except that I leave the question to your own judgment."—Life.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets assist nature in driving all impurities out of the system, insuring a free and regular condition and restoring the organs of the body to health and strength. Sold by Red Cross Pharmacy.

Woman Educators.

Intelligent women should be consulted in matters of education generally and in the treatment and discipline of children especially. But more particularly are they the best judges of the education of girls and the subjects they should be taught. The great majority of public school teachers are women and it might be well to have women on the governing board, with whom these teachers can confer more freely than they can with men.—Baltimore Sun.

The Board of Supervisors.

The new board of supervisors met Monday and organized by again electing Mayor George Sutherland permanent chairman for the ensuing year, and G. C. Karus, of Baldwin, chairman pro tem. Action was taken authorizing the superintendent of the poor to make extensive repairs on the county farm.

The sum of $200.00 was voted to pay Iosco County's membership fee in the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau.

The board also adopted a new set of rules for the government of their meetings for the ensuing year.

Prize Essays.

Last January N. C. Hartingh, of this city, offered $5.00, to be divided in two prizes, for the best essays on "The Care of and Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." These essays were to be written by pupils of the public schools of Iosco county, and several were sent in by pupils in District No. 2, of Burleigh township. The prizes were awarded to Orvie Ostrander and Annie Riley.

Mr. Hartingh has repeated his offer for the same amount for this year. The essays to be written on the same subject, and forwarded to School Commissioner Campbell no later than January 15, 1911. It is hoped that the schools throughout the county will take an interest in this matter and make an effort to win the liberal prizes offered by Mr. Hartingh.

A Tale of the Comet.

Since the recent publication of divers newspaper stories of the yellow variety prophesying that on May 18th next strange and dire things will happen to this mundane spheroid of ours, in connection with Halley's comet, life has been a burden to Professor Hussey at the University of Michigan observatory. The telephone bell has been overworked and so has Professor Hussey. He has, however, allayed the fears of the anxious ones.

Halley's comet at present is many millions of miles beyond the sun and is only visible as a morning object, rising about an hour before the sun. It will however, in a few days reach perihelion, or where it is closest to the sun. Its tail now, it is estimated, is about fifteen millions of miles in length and probably will be longer after passing around the sun.

Many people have been led to believe that on May 18th the comet will be visible in all its splendor. This is not true. On May 18th the comet will be directly between the sun and the earth and therefore will not be visible at all. This is easily understood when it is remembered that the orbits of both comet and earth about the sun are elliptical, but that the movement is in opposite directions. On May 20th the earth and the comet will be closest together, there being some fourteen millions of miles between them. After that date the earth and the comet will pass each other, the earth coming in towards the sun and the comet moving away from it. After the comet has passed the earth then it will be seen as an evening object, and its journey across the sky will be quite rapid, similar to that of the moon from new to first quarter.

A collision between the earth and the comet is a physical impossibility as the planes of their orbits are utterly unlike. This year as the earth comes in towards the sun the comet is passing its node which accounts for the proximity. As the distance between the earth and comet will be some fourteen millions of miles and as the tail of the comet is over fifteen millions of miles in length it is easy to see that the earth will pass through the tail of the comet, but there is no danger of suffocation from poisonous gases on that score; for, as Professor Hussey says, a person can probably get more prussic acid out of a peach pit than he will get out of the cyanogen gas which he inhales as a result of the comet's visit to the earth.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema. L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with, forty years. "But Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for sores, ulcers, boils, burns, cuts, wounds, bruises and piles. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

Herculean.

What a hero one can be without moving a finger! The world is not a field worthy of us, nor can we be satisfied with the plains of Troy. A glorious strife seems waging within us, yet so noiselessly that we but just catch the sound of the clarion ringing of victory, borne to us on the breeze. There are in each the seeds of an heroic ardor, which need only to be stirred in with the soil where they lie, by an inspired voice or pen, to bear fruit of a divine flavor.—Thoreau.

The Training of Children.

In his sermon at the Tabernacle church, Detroit, last Sunday, Rev. H. G. Pearce, formerly of East Tawas, offered the following excellent advice:

"Children have a right to be told the truth," he said. "They should be told the truth about Santa Claus. Why should they be deceived with this nice character connected with Christmas? Teach them to distinguish between fact and fiction and it will be a great help in leading them to accept the religious truths.

"Our children should never be deceived. Often parents resort to deception to secure obedience. Children are frightened with dire things to make them behave. This is wrong.

"Our children have a right to correct training and teaching. Discipline is a lost art. Discipline does not mean merely making the child do what you want, but what is right.

"The child should not be punished because its parent is angry. It has a sense of its own value as an individual and demands the protection of its rights. The child should be told why it is punished."

REALLY A MOONLIGHT SONATA

Beethoven's Beautiful Music Composed Under the Rays of the Queen of Night.

The story runs that Beethoven's Moonlight sonata—always so called, though he so rarely gave a descriptive name to any of his works—was composed on an occasion when he had been playing to some stranger folk by chance. Walking with a friend he overheard in a humble house some one playing with much feeling a bit of one of his sonatas. He paused to listen. In a moment the music ceased and a girl spoke longingly of her wish to hear some really good concert. The voice was so appealing that the composer stepped without hesitation to the door and knocked. Admitted to the wondering host, he said: "I will play for you," and played wonderfully till the lamp burned out. Then with the moonlight filling the room he began to improvise—the mysterious delicate breathings of the beginning of that wonderful sonata, then the tricky elf-like second part and the glory of the close.

Power of the President.

The constitution of the United States grants to the president the power to veto any bill passed by congress if he holds that it is adverse to the public interests. To make sure, however, that no president shall for selfish reasons defeat wise legislation, it is provided that such bills may be passed over his veto and become laws by a two-thirds vote of the members present in each house of congress.

It is provided also that the president may not allow a bill passed by congress to die by keeping it in his hands and failing to affix his signature. If he fails to return a bill to congress within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it has been presented to him, it becomes a law automatically, the same as if he had signed it, unless congress by its adjournment prevents a return of it, in which case it is suspended.

Woman's Body Petrified.

Death from gradual petrification, the body slowly hardening for a year until the flesh became as adamant as marble and proof against incisions, was the report made in the case of Mrs. Catherine Barrow, 46 years old, of Resedale, La., who succumbed in the Charity hospital.

REASON FOR LIKING BARBER REGAIN YOUR NERVE FORCE FREE

Customer's Remark That Might Be Called Considerably More Than a Hint.

The barber was a trifle more talkative than usual, and the customer, having come directly from the dentist's chair, was perhaps hardly in an affable mood. The knight of the razor opened fire in blissful ignorance of this, however, and passing glibly from the weather to foreign politics, the rival barber opposite, the practical value of religion, was just beginning to explain in detail his views on current educational topics, when the customer suddenly growled: "Look here, where's that assistant of yours—the boy with the red hair?"

"Why, he's left me, sir. We parted Saturday night—on friendly terms and all that, you know, sir—but—"

"Umph!" growled the other. "I liked that fellow. He was one of the most sensible talkers I ever met. I was going to ask to have him shave me always. We've had so many pleasant conversations—"

"Excuse me, sir," interrupted the barber, in amazement, "but—you mistake, sir, surely! If you'll remember, sir, poor Jim was deaf and dumb—"

"Umph! He was, was he? Well, perhaps that explains it."—Youth's Companion.

School of Brothers and Sisters.

The doting father and mother of an only child lavish money like water upon it, and would not wish to be told that they are only half educating the little life that they cherish with such devoted care. Nevertheless, the only child can never be but half educated, because it misses the better half of the precious early school—brother and sister playmates. The teachers in that school are the youngsters themselves, and the lessons they teach one another are not written in books, but are none the less indispensable. Also, what is there learned is last forgotten.

CAME AS PLEASANT CHANGE

Hand-Written Business Letter Appealed to the Man of Old-Fashioned Ideas.

"Yesterday," said an old-fashioned man, "I received a handwritten letter, the first I had received in a long time, and do you know I was much impressed by it? Much.

"You know that for a long time now almost all business letters have been typewritten, dictated. With the vast multiplicity of letters to be written, we could no longer find time to write our letters by hand.

"There was a man who in answer to mine had sat down and actually written me a letter, and there was a sense of personal attention in that that pleased me very much, and I think there might still be found profit in the handwritten letter. Many such letters that we used to get we couldn't read, or we deciphered only with much labor; certainly the typewritten letter is a great convenience and comfort, and still I do think that it would pay a business man occasionally to write a letter with his own hand.

As You Like It.

The aged, worn, and guileless-looking individual sauntered up to the desk of the clerk in a southern hotel, and quavered, as he drew from his wallet a yellow bill, "Friend, will you kindly give me five silver dollars in exchange for this memento of the good old confederate days?"

The clerk glanced quickly at the proffered bill, smiled to himself, tossed it into the drawer, and counted out the five dollars. When the guileless-looking individual had gone, the clerk examined the bill he had just taken in. He found that it was, or was not, a good U. S. bill. Either way you take it, it makes a story. It has never been decided which is the better way. —Puck

THE DIFFERENCE IN RANK

Policeman on Foot Did the Work While Mounted Patriot Looked On.

On the other afternoon a horse and truck became stuck in the soft earth thrown aside by the workmen repaving the street, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The truckman swore at the horse and the policeman swore at the truckman.

A mounted policeman of the traffic squad rode up and sat on his well-groomed horse—himself a well-groomed rider—while he leisurely took in the situation. When the policeman on foot had exhausted his vocabulary and had also failed to coax the horse by the rein, he turned an appealing eye to the brother of the more distinguished service on the horse.

"Say Flannery," said the mounted policeman, raising an immaculate white-gloved hand to his well-trimmed moustache and gently stroking the birsute adornment, "you're handier to fit than me. Lay hold o' the wheel and give it a yank."

Two minutes later the horse and truck were on their way, the policeman on foot was ruefully regarding the mud on his big hands, and the brother of the equestrian service was trotting down the street among the automobiles, still stroking his carefully trimmed moustache with his immaculate white-gloved digits!

CAN'T MAKE POLICE BELIEVE

New York Youngster Who Wishes Guardians of the Peace Were Not So Official.

There is a very small girl in this town who believes in police persecution; that is to say, she believes that it exists, though she is anything but in favor of it, says the New York Sun. Her home is downtown on the East side and she goes to one of the kindergartens on the upper West side.

The young lady's mother has to work and so the four-year-old goes to kindergarten alone. She starts out with two nickels tightly held in a small palm and she's just tall enough to reach up to the elevated ticket office to secure her transportation. The ticket chopper is kind enough to deposit her ticket for her. Everything goes well on the uptown trip because in the crowd she isn't noticed.

But when she starts home shortly after noon there is trouble. Every policeman that sees her insists that she's lost. It is useless for her to explain that she knows perfectly well where she's going; she's too small to be believed, that's all. Two or three times a week she is bundled off to the station house in spite of her tearful protestations. There she produces a much-fingered card on which is the phone number of a saloon near her home. The saloonkeeper tells the police that it's all right, explains the circumstances, and she is permitted to go her way. But she is getting mighty tired of it, just the same.

Pine Stronger Than Steel.

Calculation confirmed by experiment has shown that, weight for weight, pine wood is stronger than steel in both transverse and tensile strength. It is regarded as doubtful if any metal could be made into a hollow rod equaling a bamboo rod in stiffness without exceeding it in weight. In structures of wood the weak points are always at the joints.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Profitable Glass Eye.

"Nobody is going to poke out a good eye just for the sake of getting a glass eye," said the city salesman, "but I know a man who makes money on his glass eye. He goes to Europe three times a year on business. While there he does a little trading in jewels as a side line. It is on the homeward trip that he turns his glass eye to good account. In the cavity back of it he carries two or three small but valuable diamonds. Half the duty saved is his commission on these ones alone. The customs inspectors never get on to him. Naturally they can't go around jabbing their fingers into people's eyes."—New York Sun

Fred and Thomas Scarlett left last Monday for Detroit. From there Fred goes to Sauk, Washington, and Thomas to Saskatchewan.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Joseph Watts came to us as a shock, barbed with pain and sorrow. A few short weeks ago deceased was about greeting friends in her happy way. Today all that is mortal is at peaceful rest in the silent city. Ethel Belle Papple was born at Brant, Ont., December 6, 1881, and died April 10, 1910. She moved to Michigan with her parents some twelve years ago, and was married in December, 1902, to Joseph Watts. Her cheerful, helpful life, her devotion to her husband and family, and kindness to every body will long linger as a fragrant memory in the home which her presence brightened and which death has now darkened. The funeral services were held from the Baptist church at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Brown officiating. Besides the sorrowing husband and children, her parents, two brothers and one sister, and a host of other relatives and friends are left to mourn her death. We can only remind these that she is not dead, she is only sleeping.

The bodies that have suffered here shall there his glorious image bear; No pain in that bright land of day, And God shall wipe all tears away.

What thou if earthly hopes must fade, Eternal things more clear we read; We toil for other worlds than this, And "we shall see Him as He is."
