The P. O. department has issued a circular requesting all rural mail route patrons to paint their boxes and the posts to which they are attached a pure white. This course, if pursued, will not only result in benefit to the patrons in serving to protect the box and post from damage by the weather, but will give all boxes a uniform color and serve to fix their identity as United States mail boxes, and will give them a much neater and sightlier appearance than they now possess. It is also desired that patrons be induced to imprint their names and box numbers on the box in black box letters and figures about two inches high.

The officers of the County Agricultural Society are confronted with the problem of making considerable repairs on the fair grounds this season, and in order to do so and also to have some assurance that the fair this fall will receive a liberal patronage and thus warrant the expense of securing good attractions, they are going after a big advance sale of membership tickets. The tickets will be out this week and every resident of the county that can be reached will be solicited to purchase a membership for this year. The people of the county should give the officers their hearty support in this matter, and if they do this year will see the best fair ever held in the county.

Secretary Marston, of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, announces that the counties throughout the territory are coming to the front with their membership fee in a very satisfactory manner. Bay county was the first, the supervisors of that county appropriating an additional $100, making it $300 instead of $200. Iosco was among the several counties to contribute their money last week. The board of supervisors in a couple of counties refused to make the appropriation, but in each case public spirited men have come to the front with the required amount. The secretary is receiving inquiries from all parts of the country and last week a party of Ohio men were to see him who were looking for a large tract of land for a colony of Ohio people who wish to come to this section of Michigan. While the Bureau has not as yet commenced any system of advertising, Northeastern Michigan has already begun to feel the benefits of its organization.

High School Base Ball.

The Tawas City and Oscoda high schools opened the county school base ball league season at AuSable last Saturday, and when the smoke had cleared away the score board showed the score to be 8 to 0 in favor of Tawas City. Don Garber pitched an excellent game, holding the Oscoda boys to four hits, and was ably supported by the entire team. The score by innings was:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Tawas City	4	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	8	9

AuSable was unable to get a team together to play East Tawas, and that game was forfeited to East Tawas. There is talk of arranging a game for Saturday by using an alumni team to carry out the schedule. These games of course would not count in the league standing, but would keep a game in each end of the county each week and keep up the interest.

For County Clerk.

Yours very truly,
JNO. A. MARK.

Conservation of Natural Resources.

In view of the fact that the conservation of natural resources is a matter of continual discussion, the effort of eastern railways to reclaim barren lands in New England, New York and Pennsylvania is of interest. W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central railroad, makes this comment:

"Ninety years ago the richness and fertility of the soil of New York state and the production of her farms awakened the wonder and admiration of European travellers. In 1860 this was among the first of the great agricultural states of the union. Today 63,432 acres of improved land are offered for sale in New York state at an average of $17.78 per acre."

In most cases these farms have been abandoned because cultivated to death. The owners in addition to other abuses of the soil have been continually taking from, but adding nothing to its fertility. With this practical illustration before their eyes, farmers of new lands should avoid this danger, and should keep up their farms by the addition of proper fertilizer each year to their land.

The soil is the farmer's bank. He can continually take from, add nothing thereto, and exhaust it. The time will then come when it will fail to respond to its demands upon it. Or he can, more wisely, by good farming and the addition of proper fertilizer, increase its fertility and value.

The national government is today spending vast sums for the reclamation of the arid lands of the west. It is just as essential to keep what we have. To maintain the fertility of our lands is a conservation of natural resources of great importance to the millions of people depending upon them each year for their daily bread.—Gladwin Record.

Woman Has No Occupation.

One of the funny things about the census is that a woman of the house who takes care of a grumbling husband and the hired man, cooks, washes and keeps in order the household, gets 9 children ready for school every morning, darns, patches and sews for the whole family, milks 17 cows, churns and takes care of the milk, feeds the chickens and gathers the eggs, slops the pigs, builds the fires, chops most of the wood and kindling, "cleans house" twice a year, gets up and runs 19 church festivals a year, sees that the parson's salary is paid, re-models, paints and papers the church, attends the aid society, does more work than six hired men and generally bosses the universe, is put down as having "no occupation."—Exchange.

Wanamaker's Advice.

"If there is one business on earth that a quitter should leave severely alone, and that is advertising," says John Wanamaker. To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick to it like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. He should know before he begins that he must spend money, considerable of it. Somebody must tell him that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditure early in the game.

Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power. It is likened to a team pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic, jerky pulls will not budge the load, while one-half the power exerted in steady effort will start and keep it moving. There are three ways to make advertising pay, and there only three ways. There are no others.

"First, is to keep at it; second, is to keep at it; third, is to keep at it."

The Demon of the Air

is the germ of lagrippe, that, breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., and Jas. E. Dillon.

Profit Per Acre.

After reading an item in the Detroit Free Press as to the earnings of an acre of western apples, the Presque Isle County News remarks:

"When you consider that Northern Michigan raises apples far superior in color and flavor to those of the west, and when you think that we are a thousand miles nearer market than they are, it seems strange that so little attention has been devoted to fruit raising. It is true that there are a number of paying, prosperous, good sized orchards in this section, but nothing which will begin to compare with what there should be. We offer superior inducements to any place on earth. Yet the lure of the west attracts, and our section goes by unnoticed.

"But the day is at hand when the true value of Northern Michigan from a horticultural standpoint will be realized. We confidently predict within the next few years that many people will settle upon the lands now uncultivated, and that they will reap bountifully of the profits, which careful, scientific methods will produce.

"The attention of men with money to properly handle big projects is already turned this way, and several orchards, ranches and farms are now being developed which will compare favorably with those of any state."

We have no exact figures as to the value of an acre of Michigan apples, but do know that Michigan apples are unsurpassed in flavor. With this point to their advantage it is only necessary that they should be marketed properly to realize a much larger return per acre than now received. Western apples are usually, if not always, packed and sold in boxes. Our apples usually in barrels. Let the Michigan grower adopt a distinct form of package, say a box wider and with less depth than the western box, this would display the fruit better, and then let the grower pack the best grade only in such boxes and they will be surprised at the returns. Mr. J. M. Owen, of Annapolis, Nova Scotia, states that the average value per acre of fully matured apple orchards is $800.00, profit per acre 8 per cent.

As the land can be made to pay expenses from the first year, the increase in value per acre for a young orchard as it grows older means a wonderful profit on the original investment, and when the orchard comes into full bearing the returns from fruit are marvelous.

Now remember that there are thousands of acres in Northeastern Michigan unsurpassed for fruit growing, acres that can be bought at a nominal price, cheaper, in fact, than anywhere else, and do not forget that Prof. Taft in his letter states that Northeastern Michigan can and does raise fruit as good as any land in the state.

Saved From the Grave.

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn. "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I could not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. Its best medicine made for the throat and lungs." Obsolete coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, lagrippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis and hemorrhages hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine. Try it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and James E. Dillon.

The Call of the Blood

for purification, finds voice in pimples, boils, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin,—all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills make rich red blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, fine complexion, health. Try them. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

Gumption on the Farm.

'Be prompt at meals.
Is the mower ready?
Cold wet May—barn full of hay.
Don't slight the corn—corn is King.
A field is not fenced when the bars are down.

Don't put away steel tools, wet; dry them first, then oil them.
Lift up your eyes occasionally. All good things aren't in the furrows.

If you think nobody cares for you, have a carbuncle on the back of your neck!

The boy smokes cigarettes behind the barn because dad smokes cigars in the open.

Never lead a colt at the end of a long strap. Men have been killed in this way.

Cut your clover while it is in the bloom. Dead-ripe clover is just spoiled so far as feed is concerned.

Wood ashes or lime should not be applied mixed with, or in direct contact with, stable or hen manure.

Don't throw out apples, potatoes or turnips where stock can get them, and choke. Either bury or slice them.

After all it is the producing power of the farm that determines the boy in his going or staying. Show him that there's money in it, and he will stick to the old farm like a sand-bur to a sheep's tail.

Don't let the back step be unsightly with swill pails, cat dishes and hen food, thus strewing food and attracting flies and disease. Cart away all the old cans, broken dishes, old coats and boots, from back places and yards.

On some soils it does dot pay to plow too deep. For instance, take it where the plow-point strikes hard-pan; no use to pull the horses to death and tire ourselves all out to bring that to the surface. It is not worth while after we have done it.

Here is the most approved method of treating seed potatoes to prevent a scabby crop: Soak the whole seed for two hours in a mixture of one-half pint of formalin (often called formaldehyde) and fifteen gallons of cold water; dry the seed, cut, and plant in ground that has not recently grown potatoes.

Must the horse go? is the anxious query of the Illinois farmer. To be sure he must go, and the faster the better. Who wants a horse that does not go? In these automobile speed days the faster a horse can go the better we like him, and soon nobody will be satisfied with less than a two-minute clip.

Probably not one farmer in a thousand ever took his mowing machine guards out and ground them on the cutting edge. Look at them and see how dull they are. Some day before haying, when you have a little time, just take them all out and sharpen them. You have no idea how much better they will work. The machine will cut almost like a new one.

Tarring corn: In coating seed corn with coal-tar as a protection against crows and blackbirds, put the grain into a pail and pour on enough warm water to cover it. Add a tea-spoonful of tar to a peck, and stir well. Throw the corn out on a sieve or in a basket to drain, and then stir in a few handfuls of land plaster (gypsum). Do not pour the tar on the dry seed.

Sometimes folks get a good many irons in the fire at the same time in spite of themselves. Jobs come thick and fast, some days. The best way to do, then, is to keep calm and go straight ahead,—doing all the little things that lie in one part of the farm when you are in that locality, and then go on to something else. Finish what you have on hand. Time brings all out right to the man who works this way.—From May Farm Journal.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema. L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with forty years. "But Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for sores, ulcers, boils, burns, cuts, wounds, bruises and piles. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

SHERWIN WILLIAMS
PAINTS & VARNISHES

An appeal to the pride of the owner of a home

Everyone who owns a home is anxious that that home shall make the best appearance possible. Two things are necessary to produce satisfactory results in painting and varnishing a home:

First—A satisfactory color scheme.
Second—Paints, varnishes, stains and enamels of such good quality that they not only give the exact color effect required, but are sufficiently durable to keep up the attractive appearance of the house in spite of the wear and tear of living in it.

These are offered by the Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes. The Sherwin-Williams Co. not only make every kind of paint and varnish used for a house and the best quality of that kind, but they make suggestions for the selection of colors, varnishes, stains and enamels, so that any given idea can be carried out, and carried out with the best materials.

You should see to it that when you buy paints and varnishes for your house, or any part of it, or when you give an order to your painter for any painting and varnishing you want done, that Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes are purchased.

In large work it is always best to have a practical painter; but there are many little things about the house that you can readily finish yourself by using Sherwin-Williams ready-to-apply paints.

Come in and have a little paint talk with us. Now is the time to "brighten up" your home for the long winter months. We can tell you the best product to use for any purpose you may have in mind and secure complete finishing specifications for you from The Sherwin-Williams Co., if you desire them, for special work. Our line of Sherwin-Williams Products is complete and we are in a position to take the best care of your paint and varnish requirements.

Educational Convention.

Last Thursday and Friday about 150 superintendents and members of school boards met in Lansing to discuss topics of vital interest to all interested in our public schools. The medical examination of teachers and pupils was considered as one of the changes soon to come in our system. Little Creek did not close school for contagious disease but had the pupils examined every day during an outbreak of disease. Thus a close tab was kept on the children and they were kept off the street and away from the infected locality. It was suggested that the day is not far distant when a teacher must have certificate of health in order to be legally contracted with.

Since many schools of the state have primary money enough to pay their teachers for several years, it was thought best that the law be changed or the constitution so amended that when any school district had primary money enough on hand to pay, at present wages, their teacher or teachers for two years, then no money should be apportioned to that district until their surplus was reduced to the two year pay roll. The opinion was unanimous that the primary school fund should be kept as it is now for teachers' wages and should not be diverted for any other use.

State uniformity of text books received a full share of the convention's time. The department of Public Instruction favors county uniformity. A resolution was passed sanctioning the State Grange plan of free text books. It was also thought that the township Unit System is desirable and should be compulsory.

Whittemore Schools.

"April showers bring forth May flowers."

Our school was quite small Monday owing to the storm.

The eighth grade are working review problems in arithmetic.

Several are absent from the primary room on account of sickness.

The orthography class have taken up spelling for the remainder of the term.

The chart class is coloring pictures and sewing cards this week for busy work.

The third and fourth grades are reviewing the multiplication tables and combinations.

The first and second grades have finished memorizing the poem, "A Summer Shower."

A runaway and buggy on fire passed the school house Monday. Some of the pupils tried to stop it but got there too late.

The following pupils from the primary were perfect in attendance during the last school month ending April 22: Henry Gorsuch, Gradson Bruce, Julia Doerr, Chester Wyckoff, Glen Cataline, Judson Rowley, Alfred Morin, Romanzo Hall, Annie Morin, and Esther Rowley.

Taft Schools.

Reviews are the order of the day. Report cards were given out this week.

Examinations were held last Thursday and Friday.

The fifth grade have about completed decimal fractions.

We all regret seeing Vesta Williams leave our school.

The eighth grade have about finished "The Lady of the Lake."

The second grade have memorized "The Seasons" from their reader.

The fourth grade drew outline maps of the South Atlantic, Friday.

The first grade certainly "take the banner" when it comes to spelling.

We are sorry to lose Willard Williams of the fourth grade from our school, but he goes with his parents this week to South Branch.

Those perfect in attendance in the grammar room for the month of April are: Grace White, Myrtle Robinson and Beulah Johnston. The next best in attendance are: Eliza McDonald, Vesta Williams, Eva and Floyd Walterhouse and Margaret Sibley.

Those in the primary room who were present every day during the school month of April are: Violet and Ellen Frockens, Verne and Lester DeBoit, Eveylyn and Luella Johnston, Golah West, Ethel McDougald, Gola Charters and Mae Johnson. ### Ads. are interesting.

No newspaper would be complete without its advertising announcements, for the simple reason that advertising is really news—store news, business news—and the people of any community are naturally interested in the efforts and achievements of their fellow-townsmen in business lines as well as in their social and artistic accomplishments. "All news is advertising," so it is stated, "and all advertising that ever counts for anything must be news." Whether people realize the educational value of advertising or not the fact remains that the newspaper reading public does read the advertisements: and to a large part of the reading public the advertising columns are quite as interesting as any other section of the paper.—Afton, Ok., American.

Two Work Horses Earn $13,500.
Among recent stories of work horses, that told of two belonging to a New York contractor is especially interesting, the animals being 26 and 25 years old respectively, their present owner having had them both for over twenty years and neither one having cost him a penny for "repairs."
Deciding that after years of service they were entitled to live for ever after in the country, he sent them to his stock farm, but to his surprise they lost flesh and gave other indications of sadly missing the old routine, so that he had them brought back to easy routine work on aqueduct and subway. It is estimated that the humane and intelligent treatment given these animals up to the beginning of this year has netted their owner in service the equivalent of $13,500, and this is certainly a telling economic argument for kindness.—Vogue.

The Brute.
"Love," cooed Mrs. Slimper, "I bought a necktie for you this morning on a bargain sale."
"Did you really?"
"Yes. And—boo! boo—you don't seem to appreciate my thoughtfulness a bit!"
"Oh, yes I do, but I'd appreciate the gift more if it were a cross-tie. We need kindling."

WRONG IN THEIR JUDGMENT
Youthful Physiognomists In Fault at Placing Object of Their Admiration.
They were youthful enthusiasts in physiognomy. On the seat opposite in the train was a man of commanding figure, massive brow and serious expression. "Splendid face!" one of them exclaimed. "What do you suppose his lifework has been?"
"A lawyer?" suggested the other.
"No; there's too much benevolence in that face for a lawyer."
"Maybe a banker?"
"Oh, no. A man with an expression like that couldn't have spent his life in merely turning over money."
"He might be an editor."
"An editor! Cutting and slashing his enemies at every turn, and even his friends occasionally, for the sake of a smart paragraph? You can't read faces. That man's a philanthropist, or engaged in some sort of public-spirited work. Why, there isn't a line that doesn't indicate strength of purpose and nobility. Look at that curve there on the left!"
At the next station an old countryman took his seat beside the man with massive brow and soon entered into a conversation with him, in the course of which he asked the latter "what was his line."
The two opposite held their breath in the intensity of their interest.
"Oh, I've got a little tavern and butcher shop back in the country a bit," was the proud reply. "My wife tends to the meals, and I do my own killing."—Youth's Companion.

THE SECRET OF JOURNALISM
Office Boy Discovered It and Met the Usual Reward That Awaits the Pioneer.
They have an office boy on a New York newspaper—or, they had one, rather, as the tenure of office boys on newspapers average about two weeks—who was the staff's despair. Not that this is distinguishing or definite; but this boy's literalness and stupidity were the last words in those office boy arts.
It was Eddie's duty to empty the exchanges from the two large mail bags every morning, spread them, and carry them upstairs to the exchange editor's room. Invariably he would lay them upside down, so the scissors and paste man would have to turn them himself.
"Why do you do that, Eddie?" asked the exchange editor one day, his patience gone. "I can't read the papers that way. Do you know why you have to bring these newspapers up here?"
"Yes, sir," answered truthful Eddie.
"Well?"
"Cause Mr. Jones tells me to."
"No, no! Good heavens! Do you know what newspapers are for? Do you know why they're printed?"
"Yes, sir. To sell."
They don't argue any more with Eddie. They just fired him, although the literary editor, who shared the room with the exchange editor, maintains that Eddie's answer was the best of many possible ones.—Sunday Magazine.
