On Tuesday evening, Sept. 13th, goodly number of the members and friends of the Townline M. E. church, met at the parsonage with the Rev. and Mrs. Gilroy to express their appreciation and gratefullness to the pastor and his wife for their faithful services rendered. Rev. Gilroy came here two years ago, and found the church in a broken up condition, but by his persevering efforts, it may well be said, at the close of this year that the church, is a faithful united people. During the past year several additions have been made, who are promising, consistent, church workers. Many kind words were spoken, and with numerous gifts, and a hope for the pastor's return for another year. Mother.

The maternal parent—the best gift | ter. in the world-a good mother.

Why should a child be blamed or chastised for wrong-doing if she has not had the example of a good mother? If a good woman is the under- Curry. study of an angel, the model, it seems to me, must be a good mother. For example: If wrong is made to appear right by a mother to her W. Frasier. child, is that child to receive censure or puishment for obeying the dictates of that mother?

Do not think that wrong is not to be punished, far from it; punish the wrong-doer, but do not let the transgressor alone suffer; look at the incentive power.

My mother taught thus: "Speech is silence; Silence is golden."

"If you can say nothing to one's credit, remain silent."

"Harm no living thing by word or deed.'

After prayers had been said at night, mother would ask what we Simpson. had done or said that day to make some one happy, and oh! the buoyant, joyous feeling if we could say we felt that we had made the day a wee bit brighter for a fellow-being by a kind word or deed or pleasant smile.

I once heard two people talking of a young man. Said one of them, "He speaks so nicely of his mother." The other answered, 'Well 1 think it would be more to his credit if he spoke nicely to his mother.'

Environment is three-fourths of an education. What is the child' right environment? The good example of a loving mother.-Fay E. Weaver.

The Vote Compared

Two years ago there were cast in th republican primaries for governor 200, 911 votes, as follows: For Warner, 87, 719; Bradley, 87, 440; Earle, 26, 752. This total was within 27,056 of the total number of votes cast for governor on election day, 1906, and the vote for governor that year was fairly well up to the average for all of the republican candidates. At last week's primaries, according to the last compilation made, which was on Thursday, the total number of votes cast for governor was 174,668. Complete re- inac Ry. Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, ike strains on machinery, cause oreak-downs. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowles or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." EXAMINATION AT LONG RANGE

Now Possible for a Physician Miles Distant to Test the Heart Action of His Patient.

The feeble sounds made by our body engine at work have much sigbeen given to them by the telephonestethoscope, which the other day enabled a number of physicians in the cared little for society anyway, was Isle of Wight to listen to the heart beats of a woman in London.

In ordinary practise, tapping over the region and other near at hand observations are depended upon in stethoscope. The intensified sounds are made distinctly audible in the telephone, however, so that any irregularities are easily detected, and medical men have empressed the be- pealed to his sister. lief that with proper training of the traneous noises. FUSSED AT GOOD SAMARITAN

The Depot Matron's Effort to Help a Small Traveler Resented by the Mother.

And now Mrs. Ollie Everingham, matron of the union depot, is wondering if kindness to little girl travelers with heavy suitcases isn't, after all, a mistake, says the Kansas City Star. At any rate, it's risky, Mrs. Everingham has decided.

The other morning came to the depot from out in Kansas a small girl did not enjoy playing schoolboy again. and two large suitcases, also a sizable basket of preserves. The proprietor of the luggage had been visiting "grandma," which accounted for the goodies. Mrs. Everingham considered the tiny girl and the preserves and the suitcases. Then she suggested that the child leave the heavier suit case with her at the depot for her nother to call for later.

Which accounts for Mrs. Everingham's doubts as to the wisdom of it."

Origin of the Safety-Pin.

An historian of invention tells us that to the wails of a long-suffering nfant we owe the boon of the safetypin. Here is the story: A little boy, named Harrison, an English blacksmith's son, had to look after his baby brother. The baby often cried, and its tears were usually traced to pin punctures. The boy nurse tried a long time to bend the pins in such a form that they could be used with safety to his brother's flesh. In this he failed; but his father, the blacksmith, perceiving the utility of the idea that the lad had been at work on, took it up on his own account and eventually turned out the safety-pin the verge of nervous prostration. that is in use today all over the world. Whether the safety-pin would have still remained in oblivion but for the tormenting of one little English baby no one knows, of course.

Public Speaking Explained. The Japanese visitor to the city was asked to make an after-dinner speech. He arose and began quaintly:

"I often wonder," he said, "why it is you Americans will hinder your digestion by making these after-dinner speeches. We Japanese rest after our meals. It is much better. I know that traveled with a Japanese legation ver the United States, and everywhere the Americans would make us dine, then ask us for speeches afterward. We would much rather have dined at our hotels and retired afterward to rest for the following day. I asked some one why it was, this uniafter-dinner speechmaking among the American men at public dinners, and they replied that the American man never had a chance to say anything at home, and that was

Miss Morton was a girl he greatly admired; so he was, for once, anxious addition to the indications of the to accept the invitation, but there was one part of it that made him hesitate. Down in the corner was written "cinch," and Dan knew as little of cinch as he did of Choctaw. He ap-

"Regrets nothing!" he exclaimed. 'I've accepted." "Accepted! Why, how can you? You can't play cinch."

"I could learn." "Oh, I see," she said. "All right.

Go get the cards."

Phillip had never considered himself particularly dense before, but he surely felt stupid when the lessons began. His sister was nationt, but it was annoying to be laughed at, and he Besides, his sister beat him with alarming ease.

The Universal BEAN HARVESTER

This machine has been manufactured for several seasons and its success has been phenomenal. To say that it does the work to perfection and has given "Universal" satisfaction wherever used only attests to its merits and that it was properly named. For the harvesting of beans and cow peas under all conditions it has no rival. The "proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof." Give the "Universal" a trial.

It is the best constructed, simplest and strongest machine

A long evener and neckyoke with each machine. We guarantee the Harvester in every respect. Be sure and get our prices before you buy.
