My sister (Miss Cyrella), is teaching in Pasco, Wash., and she says they have had no snow there this winter.
 We were surprised to learn of a Cheboygan farmer giving a mortgage on his place this week to a traveling clothing salesman for goods. The traveling salesman who has been selling goods all over the country would not accept the man's I. O. U. like the home merchants have always done, and the farmer did not hesitate to take the steps he did take in order to get the goods, but let a local merchant ask the same security of him and his feelings would be seriously wounded, and besides he would not think of doing such a thing. This is but another illustration of the inconsistencies that the merchant is up against every day in the year. Suppose if that farmer wants any aid in the future the local merchants will be anxious to help him, or will he appeal to the traveler.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Attacks School Principal.
 A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at J. M. Waggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

Alex. Gordon Dead.
 Alexander Gordon, one of the earliest and most highly respected residents of East Tawas died Tuesday after an illness of considerable duration.
 The deceased was born in Scotland June 12, 1831, and at an early age came to Canada with his parents. He came to East Tawas 43 years ago and since that time has been a resident of the block on which the present family home is situated. A man of rugged character he was universally respected, and a consistent christian having united with the Presbyterian church at an early age, becoming an elder at the age of 28 years, and having served in such capacity almost continuously since. He is survived by the widow and one son, Herbert, of Curtisville, and a large circle of friends.
 The funeral was held from the East Tawas Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Hugh McCarroll officiating.

Run off With Child.
 A case which has the appearances of an attempt to kidnap, took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John McInerney, of 1518 Rose avenue was picked up off the street, placed in a buggy and driven away.
 Rose avenue is a short street running from Nebbish to Woodside, two blocks west of Park avenue. Mr. McInerney is employed in the Pere Marquette freight depot.
 Saturday, it will be recalled, was a warm, springlike day. The McInerney children, among them Harry, aged three years, were out for a play and were on Woodside near Rose, Harry being about a block from the other children. Turning around the children in advance noticed that Harry was missing and at the same time a buggy went past in which a woman and a girl were riding. Harry was with them. An eight-year-old son of Mr. McInerney, the eldest of the children, ran out after the buggy, and told the women to stop and let his brother out, or let him get in. The boy says they told him there was no room and they were just going to take the little fellow for a ride around the block. But the eight-year-old was not satisfied and kept following the women on the run. He says he reached the limits of the city on Woodside avenue, a mile away, where he met a delivery boy with a horse whom he stopped and told the circumstances and the two, whipping up their horse, pursued the women beyond the sugar factory and there caught up to them and compelled them to surrender Harry.
 Harry was without hat or overcoat and did not appear in any way perturbed. He is a smiling little fellow with curly hair and is an attractive child.
 Mrs. McInerney is convinced that the women intended stealing the child. She says they were not recognized. They had a common buggy and a black horse.—Bay City Times.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that it often leads to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia and consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can? For sale by all dealers.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Baking Machine That Forms Dough Into Biscuits.

A machine for dividing and rounding dough has been invented by an Ohio man. The base of the machine has a number of revolving spiral packers mounted on it, and hinged to the back is a plate with an equal number of cells which fit down over the packers. When the cells are lowered on the base the dough is poured into them, and by the turning of a handle the spiral cutters are revolved. They may be turned sufficiently to bore out the core of the dough ball in the cell and thus make a round biscuit and a pastry cup at one time, or they may be turned only enough to give a fancy effect to the muffins or whatever it is that is being baked.

Apples and Rice.
 Eight good sized apples, three ounces of butter, the rind of half a lemon minced very fine, six ounces of rice, one and one-half pints of milk, sugar to taste, half a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, six tablespoonfuls of apricot jam. Peel the apples, halve them and take out the cores; put them into a stewpan with the butter and stew sufficient sifted sugar over to sweeten them nicely and add the minced lemon peel. Stew the apples very gently until tender, taking care they do not break. Boil the rice with the milk, sugar and nutmeg until soft, and when thoroughly done dish it piled high in the center, arrange the apples on it, warm the apricot jam, pour it over the whole and serve hot.

Mother's Mince-meat.
 Select six pounds of fresh beef (neck piece), boil until tender and salt to taste (save liquor for wetting), let it cool, then chop. Add one peck of chopped apples (russets preferred), one pint of sugar, one pint of molasses, one pound of raisins, one pound of currants, one cupful of vinegar, three teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of mace. Grate in a little nutmeg. Let it boil an hour or longer. Remove from the stove and stir in one-quarter of a pound of candied fruits, shaved thin, lemon peel, orange peel and citron. Core but do not peel the apples.

Cranberry Pie.
 Chop fine one cupful of seeded raisins, halve two cupfuls of cranberries, mix with one-half cupful of cold water and one cupful of sugar. Stir one teaspoonful of flour into the sugar before adding the water. It will prevent the berries from settling to the bottom of the mixture in baking. Line pie plates with the combination and lay strips of pastry crisscross upon the surface. Bake in a brisk, steady oven.

To Make Library Paste.
 The best kind of paste for library use is made from rice flour. Wet a spoonful with cold water, adding it drop by drop. Then stir it into a quart of boiling water. Keep it boiling twenty minutes, stirring the most of the time. Take it from the fire and add a lump of alum, stirring until it dissolves. Use it hot or cold. If kept in a dry place the paste will keep for weeks.

Baked Beets.
 Wash beets, put into oven in a little water to keep from sticking to bottom, bake three hours or until tender, then remove skin and cut in thin slices into serving dish with following dressing: One-quarter pound of butter, dessert-spoonful vinegar, salt, pepper. Melt and while hot pour over beets and set in oven a few moments. Serve hot.

To Freshen Salt Soup.
 If the soup is too salty grate a raw potato into it and the salt taste will be greatly lessened after cooking a few minutes. If the pea or bean soup is too thin add a spoonful of vinegar just before serving. Perhaps your jelly won't jell—try adding the juice of a lemon or some gelatin.

The steam and electric railroads of the state killed 253 persons during the year of 1910 and injured 3,285. Of this number but 33 were passengers, and 21 of these are credited to the electric lines, while the steam roads killed 12. These figures are taken from the records in the office of the state railroad commission.

A Fierce Night Alarm.
 is the hoarse, startling cough of a child suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., [R. R. No. 2], for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever la grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by J. M. Waggazer & Co. and Jas. E. Dillon.

The man who has a bad temper makes it decidedly unpleasant for others, yet after all he is the worst sufferer.

Good resolutions are of no effect unless they are reduced to practice. Proposing and doing are two very different things.

The beauty of a good deed is spoiled like the beauty of a soiled flower when the main consideration in doing it is selfishness.

With many people life would be more of a success than it now as if they would learn to rely more upon their own efforts and less upon those of others.

Poets are said to be going in for farming as being more profitable than writing poetry. If this is true and one may judge from the amount of spring poetry that comes upon the market, the ranks of the farmers will receive a great accession.

Those young women in one of our northern cities who had a dinner at which a monkey was the guest of honor have a great deal to learn in the matter of social propriety and self respect.

Judge Ben Lindsey, the Denver reformer, says, "Beware of the eminently respectable citizen with the immaculate personal habits. Beware of the man who has no small vices. Beware of the person in public life who neither smokes, chews or drinks."

Every now and again some learned professor or scientist raises the question whether it was an apple, orange or some other fruit that Eve handed Adam. The question can never be settled but there is no uncertainty as to the fact that Adam was willing to take the fruit and that Eve got and still gets the blame.

It takes sorrow and adversity to bind people together and give practical expression to sympathy. This is true of all nations, whether the scene be local, national or international. The famine in China and the destitution caused by the plague cause civilized nations to respond with financial aid and medical assistance.

When money leads a man to commit suicide it is generally because he has no title of. But occasionally someone ends his life because he feels himself burdened with a superabundance of wealth. It is a very foolish and unnecessary thing to do for if a man feels that he has too much money there are plenty of people willing to relieve him of it.

It will be a good thing if closer and more extensive trade relations between this country and the nations to the south of us result from the recent Pan-American commercial conference. There is certainly great need of it for while Germany and Great Britain are rapidly developing their South American trade and their ships are found in every port, the United States commerce with the Latin republics is small and her ships are few and far between.

When you plant, this spring, sow a few seeds of kindness. They will flourish so and produce such an abundant crop of good cheer that you will be encouraged to plant largely of this crop another year.

In a certain French play a member of fashionable society is asked how he spends his time. His reply is, "I am busy myself."

The more a man goes around, the less he is apt to develop into a crank. Don't complain if you lose some of your grain sacks at the mill—if you have not marked them. Have every bag plainly marked.

It is unwise to work soil when it is soggy and very wet. Wait until it dries into crumbly, workable condition. Now mind this: Make two sowings of clover seed, one now and one early in April. Use half red, other half white. Do not miss the alkali.

The more corn the more stock; the more stock the richer the land; the more corn—and there you have the secret of a rotation that is sure to bring success.

The statement made in the British parliament by Premier Asquith relative to self-government for Ireland, has given great satisfaction to the Irish Nationalists and brings the goal of home rule well in sight.

Just as thoughtlessness of speech and action is reprehensible for a good deal of evil so carelessness in the handling of firearms, tools and other things is responsible for the injury or death every year of very many people.

It is a very easy thing to prophesy, especially if one takes the precaution to place the fulfillment of the prophecy some centuries hence, because in that case no one now living will be on earth to show the truth or falsity of the prediction.

America's Permanent Government.

Few people are conscious that the government or constitution of the United States is well-nigh the oldest in the world.

A glance at the history of other nations will show that their governments or constitutions have undergone radical changes since this country started on its career as an independent nation.

Turning to the supposedly unchanging Asia one is struck with the transitions made during the last century. India, once under the control of the East India company, is now a crown colony.

Japan has made a change revolutionary in its character. Korea, the "hermit" nation, has been absorbed by Japan as part of the spoils of war.

All these facts go to show that in spite of the prevailing idea Americans are a conservative people, and that they possess a strength of character and firmness of conviction that ensures an unbroken continuity of government.

Gumption on the Farm.

When you plant, this spring, sow a few seeds of kindness. They will flourish so and produce such an abundant crop of good cheer that you will be encouraged to plant largely of this crop another year.

The more a man goes around, the less he is apt to develop into a crank. Don't complain if you lose some of your grain sacks at the mill—if you have not marked them.

The more corn the more stock; the more stock the richer the land; the more corn—and there you have the secret of a rotation that is sure to bring success.

Entirely too many people in this world are making themselves cross-eyed looking for the street of easy money. This is as vain and foolish as hunting for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Just as soon as the frost is out of the ground it will do to sow onion seed and peas. Beets, early potatoes, spinach, radishes and lettuce may be planted early, too.

It is a mistake to plant the same types of vegetables in the same spot year after year; keep them moving to prevent insects and diseases from getting a foothold.

What Has The Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau Done.

FOR THE COUNTIES It has brought about a better understanding between the counties as to the soils, climate, objects and aims of their people, removing a great deal of misconception formerly existing.

It has inspired a feeling of confidence among the people of the counties farther south of the ultimate worth of these northern counties.

It has printed their story in 50,000 booklets which have been distributed to all parts of the United States.

It has told nearly three million stories of these counties in newspapers.

It has brought home to them a realization of the necessity of keeping step in the great campaign of publicity which is being carried on if they are to get what is coming to this section of Michigan.

FOR THE CITIES AND TOWNS:—It has increased civic pride.

It has encouraged trade organizations which are wide awake and alert in the procuring new industries and seeing that old ones do not get away.

FOR THE BUSINESS MAN:—It has put the wholesaler and retailer on a common ground in helping populate and develop a country which will enlarge their future sales.

It has made brighter the future of every kind of property, causing a stiffening in values along the line.

It has turned the attention of investors to this district to the extent of at least one hundred thousand dollars, the effects of which is bound to be beneficial to the business man.

FOR THE FARMER AND FRUIT GROWER:—It has called his attention to the fact that he had as good things at home as in some of the highly advertised sections he had read about with more or less envy.

It has shown him in many cases where his methods are wrong, with our Agricultural College and Experiment Station in trying for improvements in the same.

It has raised the price of his farm by calling attention of the public to his success.

FOR THE LANDMAN:—It has furnished him all the names of about 1,500 bona-fide land and home-seekers, which if supplied with literature properly followed up by correspondence, will not fail to bring results the coming season.

It has placed his lands in Northeastern Michigan in a position by thousands of persons contemplating a chance of location who hitherto had never heard of this section and by whom for the lack of knowledge it would never have even consideration.

It gave him right of representation at the State Fair and Land Show, which, when availed, brought him in direct touch with the thousands of eager inquirers.

FOR THE HOME-SEEKER:—It has by frowning on deceptive advertising and standing for Truth protected him from unscrupulous persons.

It has furnished him lists of honorable men on whom he could rely for fair dealing in their quest for a home.

It has aided in securing him better rates and privileges for examining this district.

It has accomplished a great deal in a short time, and its activities are only begun. As Hon. J. J. McCarthy says, it has changed Michigan's State song: "From Saginaw's tall whispering Pines To Lake Superior's farthest mines Michigan My Michigan!"

To read, "From Saginaw's pile of sugar beets To Cheboygan's billowy fields of wheat Michigan My Michigan."

A Fierce Night Alarm.

is the hoarse, startling cough of a child suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., [R. R. No. 2], for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, the grippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by J. M. Wiggazzer & Co. and Jas. E. Dillon.

Balked at the Altar.
A young man named Wahl, who was about to be married at Regensburg, Germany, had entered the church and taken his place beside the bride when he was suddenly seized with terror, and, rushing out, took a cab to the station and jumped into a moving train. Commotion reigned in the church, and the deserted bride fell in a swoon.

Silos for Small Farms.

Would it pay the owner of a small farm—say forty acres or less—to put up a silo for the disposal of his limited corn crop? Mr. Abram Phillips, Angola, Indiana, has figured out that the silo is a profitable investment even on the small farm. Here is his interesting letter:

Many owners of large farms in this county (Stauben, Indiana) are building silos preparatory to feeding dairy cows or fattening steers for market. Those who built last year made a success feeding silage, and some have even added a second silo this year. This seems to give other big farm-owners the silo fever, and silos and silage feeding are the leading topics among them to day.

But why do we so seldom see the silo recommended for the small twenty, thirty or forty acre farm? For our own benefit we have made a thorough investigation of silage feeding and have reached this conclusion, that it will pay the owner of a small farm to build a silo, the size, of course, corresponding to the number of cattle he wishes to feed.

We own forty acres of good tillable land, all under cultivation except eight acres of new ground which is free from stumps, but has been kept in sod for pasture, as it never freezes out like clover pasture and can always be depended upon when other pasture fails.

Now if this eight acres is planted to corn next spring and we get a good yield, we can sell the corn and fodder from four acres, which will pay for the silo and have the other four with which to fill it; and that corn as silage will feed farther than the whole eight acres harvested in the usual way.

Four acres of good corn, I figure, will fill a silo ten feet in diameter by eighteen feet deep holding about twenty-four tons, which will run about seventy bushels per ton, or sixteen hundred and eighty bushels in all. An ordinary cow or steer cannot eat more than one bushel at a feeding, two bushels per day, seven hundred and thirty bushels in a year. Hence sixteen hundred and thirty bushels will feed two dairy cows, or steers, a year and there will be some left; or, if supplemented by clover-hay, that amount of silage may be made to feed three head of cattle. Of course, these cattle would get some grain besides the silage, or silage plus hay.

The cattle can be kept in a lot for exercise and fed from the silo while all the rest of the farm is under cultivation. A few shotes, with their noses rung, allowed the run of the lot and feeding-barn, will work over the droppings and clean up all bits of silage scattered by the cattle or feeder. The shotes will need other feed only once a day and will go ahead very well on this diet.

A silo of this size can be filled in half a day providing the corn is cut the day before, so there will be no delay in getting it to the machine. The cost of filling a small silo is ten dollars for the silage cutter, while fifteen dollars ought to pay for the cutting of the corn and hauling it to the machine, which is about as cheap as the crop could be cared for in the ordinary way or by shredding.

Even if a farmer owned only fifteen or twenty acres he could make a silo pay, for if he wished to practice crop rotation he might rent land of some neighbor to plant to corn.—Farm and Fireside.

Kills A Murderer.

A merciless murderer is appendicitis with many victims, but Dr. King's New Discovery kills it by preventing its progress, and by stimulating stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing constipation, headache, biliousness, chills, 25c at J. A Dose of Her Own Medicine.
The wit of Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck, the daughter of Maturin Livingston, amused Newport during the summer. Newport laughed with special enjoyment over Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck's reply to a professional palmist who said to her: "Tell me, madam, do you think I'd succeed if I went to London and opened a parlor in Old Bond street?" "Ah, my friend, as to that," Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck replied, "you'd better look at your own palm and find out!"

Has Millions of Friends.
How would you like to number your friends by millions as Bucklin's Arnica Salve does? Its astounding success in the past forty years made this the best salve in the world for sores, ulcers, eczema, burns, boil, scalds, cuts, corns, sore eyes, sprains, swellings, bruises, cold sores. Has no equal for piles. 25c at J. M. Wiggazzer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Horse Race.

Each man or boy in the room is given a calico bag containing a hundred beans and a penny bank book for registering. Each woman or girl is given a length of tape twelve yards long and three-fourths of an inch wide. At the same time she adopts the name of some racing horse famous in the past or present.

Six pairs of good cutting scissors are produced. Six strips of the tape are fastened at one end, at that side of the room farthest away from where the fair racers are to begin. All attached ends are on one and the same line, and the loose ends are held by the girls who have the scissors.

Now the men have to bet their beans on the outcome of the race. At a given signal each girl begins to split the tape through the middle, the one to reach her end of the strand quickest being winner.

The narrowness of the tape obliges the cutter to work with extreme care, as well as rapidly, for if the strand is cut off before reaching the end the "horse" is disqualified.

When the first six entries have raced six more come forward, and so on until all have competed. The man who wins most beans in all the races wins a prize, and each of the girls who comes out ahead receives some flowers, sweets or what not for skillfulness.

Butting the Wall.

Place a stool on the ground against a wall. Now stand from the wall with your feet twice the width of the stool away. Stoop down and seize the stool by the top in both hands and place the top of your head against the wall, your back almost horizontal.

Now lift the stool from the ground without assistance, or try, at any rate. Do not make this laughable experiment in gravity on a stone floor, but rather on a soft carpet, so that a fall may not be quite so disagreeable.

Your nonsuccess is due to a curious effect of the displacement of your center of gravity, which makes it almost impossible to raise yourself again to the perpendicular without dropping the stool to the ground and giving an acrobatic push to your support.

Attracted the Pussy.

There was an illuminated advertising plant in Hartford, Conn., not long ago, and while a crowd of people were watching the pictures, attention was drawn to a cat which almost nightly took up a position on the street where she could see the flashing signs. So intent had she been in watching the display that she had been nearly run over by passing teams several times, the kindness of the drivers, rather than her own fears, saving her from being killed. Finally a kind shopkeeper placed the cat in his window, where she could see without danger to herself.

Kills a Murderer.

A merciless murderer is appended with many victims, but Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing constipation, headache, biliousness, chills. 25c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

One of our exchanges recently printed this: A lady of our city has found a sure cure for broken dishes. If the dish to be mended can be tied together with a stout string, then placed in boiling milk and left one hour, you could never tell the dish had been broken, and it can afterwards be put in boiling water without the pieces coming apart. This experiment has been tried and proven and many are the broken dishes which are now as good as new.

We are always glad to get local items, just such as you, reader, would like yourself, and if you have any on hand at any time send them along Don't sandwich an advertisement into them, for they belong to the cashiers department, and if they are not worth paying for in a legitimate way they are no good to us. If you have any friends visiting you or you expect to go away just say so, and we will do the rest.
