nishings are found at James LaBerge's, dealer, has his new line of Ralston and Pingree shoes for spring. When you buy either of these make you know you have the best for the money.

The closing number of this season's entertainment course will be Albert E.

until the last, so do not miss attending.

ladies Presbyterial organization.

ment is 35 cents.
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Syme, of East Tawas, on Wednesday evening, of last week, occurred the marriage of Miss Katherine Syme, and Frank Brown, Rev. Frazee officiating.
The Herald unites with the many friends of the young people in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Mrs. Archie Colby has opened a millinery store at East Tawas. She is located one-half block east of the postoffice and invites the ladies of the Tawas to call on her. Mrs. Colby's artistic ability as a trimmer is well known to the wearers of stylish millinery in these cities and we bespeak for her a liberal patronage.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 2nd, 3rd and 4th are the dates of Dr. W. N. Yeager's next visit to his office in this city. Arrange to have him do your dental work if you want it done right. Special attention given to crown and bridge work and all work guaranteed, and prices reasonable. Painless extraction.

We were much surprised to hear that certain men made the statement that they and others had agreed among themselves not to patronize any one who had voted for local option at the recent election, and that they were going to do their trading outside of the county. We are greatly surprised that men of ordinary intelligence should be so short sighted as they will soon learn that boycott methods will be to their loss. If we are able to secure them, we shall next week publish the list of these men so that all may know who they are.

Just A Word.

It is not our desire to "rub it in" to anyone, but there is this we wish to say to certain liquor dealers and their supporters. The Herald has endeavored to be fair with them on the question of local option, allowing them the same use of our columns as we did the anti-saloon league and on the same terms. We did this notwithstanding that we did not agree with them on the matter. Some of the matter furnished by them last week was so false and misleading that their own henchmen failed to understand its meaning, and have seen fit to charge the editor with maligning citizens of foreign birth, a charge without a shadow of truth.

These same liquor men, after having been treated fairly by us, are now endeavoring to injure us in a business way.
"Personal liberty" has been the big talk of the liquor interests, and yet as soon as some one else takes the "personal liberty" to even express an opinion they become angry. We fail to see the consistency of their stand. So far as the few narrow minded bigots who see fit to discontinue the Herald because of our personal views on the open saloon we care but little, but to the men who do so because of a misconception of a paid whiskey advertisement we regret—not for the few dollars subscription but because of the breaking of friendships of years standing.

There has never been any reason to doubt where the editor of the Herald stood on the question of the open saloon.
We have taken no active part in the campaign aside from expressing our opinion in the last issue. We claim this right on any question, and accord the same right to all others, whether they agree with us or not.

Had the liquor interests been successful last Monday no attention would have been paid by them to what appeared in these columns, but because of their defeat they must have revenge on some one and we happen to be the most convenient. It matters not to us, and we can only say that in the future we shall use our energies wholly on the side of decency and a strict enforcement of law.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Losco County Reverses Decision of Two Years Ago and Gives a Dry Majority.

The principle interest manifested in the election in this county last Monday was the vote on the local option question.
The campaign on both sides had been most active and few people could be found who would hazard a guess on the result. There were surprises in a number of precincts, but probably none greater than that furnished by this city where the wet majority of 55 two years ago was this year turned into a dry majority of seven. As nearly as we have been able to learn the majorities from the various townships and cities are

Presbyterian Notes.

Rev. E. B. Bradfield, of Lapeer, general missionary for the Flint and Saginaw Presbyteries, acted as moderator at the annual meeting of the Presbyterian church of this city Monday evening.
M. E. Valentine, James E. Ballard and James H. Nisbet were elected elders.
The annual reports of the different departments were read and accepted, and steps taken to incorporate. A unanimous call was made for Rev. Hugh Mc-Carroll to become the pastor. An excellent meeting was held and everything seems favorable for building up the work. Tuesday evening Mr. Bradfield acted as moderator at the annual meeting of the East Tawas church, at which Messrs. Grant, Bannon and North were elected as elders. Steps were taken to develop the organization and amend its its charter.

Creamery Stockholders.

journed meeting of the stockholders in the Tawas City Creamery building which was to have been held Monday, April 10, time to get a full report ready.

D. & M. Constructs Fine Dock at Aloha on Mullet Lake.

The Detroit & Mackinac Ry. has just completed a fine dock at Aloha, on Mullet Lake, in connection with its picnic grounds; this structure is immediately back of the picturesque log station. The dock is 300 feet long and 8 feet wide, the flooring being of heavy planed planks; tight rows of deep-driven piles used, the inside being filled with heavy rocks and stones and it is believed the dock is sufficiently strong to withstand the heavy movements of ice during the winter and spring seasons. The water at the end of the dock is about 6½ feet deep. The Inland Route Steamers will use this dock.

A FLAME OF PAIN.

The Shock That Comes With the Bite of the Electric Ant.

When you happen to sit down to rest or take notes near a colony of electric ants some wandering hunter is sure to find you and come cautiously forward to discover the nature of the intruder and what ought to be done. If you are not too near the ant town and keep perfectly still he may run across your feet a few times, over your legs and hands and face, up your trousers, as if taking your measure and getting comprehensive views, then go in peace without raising an alarm.
If, however, a tempting spot is offered or some suspicious movement excites him a bite follows. And such a bite!
I fancy that a bear or a wolf bite is not to be compared with it. A quick electric flame of pain flashes along the outraged nerves, and you discover for the first time how great is the capacity for sensation you are possessed of. A shriek, a grab for the animal and a bewildered stare follow this bite of bites as one comes back to consciousness from sudden eclipse.

This wonderful electric ant is about three-fourths of an inch long. Bears are fond of it and tear and gnaw its home logs to pieces and roughly devour the eggs, larvae, parent ants and the rotten or sound wood of the cells, all in one spicy acid wash. The Digger Indians also are fond of the larvae and even of the perfect ants, so I have been told by old mountaineers.
They bite off and reject the head and eat the tickly acid body with keen relish. Thus are the poor biters bitten, like every other biter, big or little.
In the world's great family.—John Muir in Atlantic.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., April 7, 1911

Some of the meat packers are to stand trial, which begins to look as if the evil days of immunity baths are passing away—the sooner the better.

He who fails to help his town is usually the first man to complain if it makes no progress. He stands on the street corner and with kindred spirits bemoans the deadness of the place, which deadness he has helped to create.

If some men would put their abilities to work in right ways instead of perverting them to wrong uses, they would in the long run be much better off financially, besides having the great boon of a clear conscience.

The man who thinks he is called upon to run the universe is twin brother to the man who believes she is indispensable to any movement or business. Both men usually live long enough to realize their mistake.

Some people live too long, or rather they hold office too long. If Diaz had quit the presidency a few years ago his name would have gone down the ages as the great benefactor of Mexico. Now it appears as if the lust of power had converted him into a harsh dictator unwilling or unable to keep pace with the march of events, and deaf to the just cries for reform.

Some young men want to get on in the world and some, evidently, do not. The man who has ambition, who puts his conscience into his work and does his best will ultimately get to the front. But the man who is always watching the clock to see when leaving off time comes, who takes no pride in his work, and who is not interested in his employer's welfare, will make no progress; he will end his career pretty much as he began it. It is impossible to find in the ranks of highly successful men a single one who gained his success by dilatory and slipshod methods.

Several weeks have passed since a foreign nobleman has married a rich American girl. Has the supply of impecunious peers and barons run short or are American heiresses becoming less fascinated with empty titles?

The decision of the post office department to give, as far as possible, all its employees the Sunday rest day will doubtless meet with the approval of most people. Sometimes there is a good deal of unconscious selfishness, and it may be seen in the keeping of well nigh every post office open on Sundays and its clerks at work distributing mail. People do not think how those employees would welcome Sunday as a day off from labor that they may spend with their families.

All unconsciously some children acquire the habits of falsehood and equivocation because they learn these things from their parents. Not that parents intentionally lie or deceive—nothing is farther from their thoughts. But too often parents do not hesitate to break promises and to get dangerously near the edge of a falsehood, and it just as quickly realizes, that a promise unkept which might have been kept is nothing less than falsehood, and as bad habits are so easily acquired the example is oftentimes fruitful of harm.

The time is coming when the principle which applies in private life that the disputes between individuals must be legally settled and not by violence, will be applied to nations in their disputes with each other. It is a large blot upon our civilization that nations are armed to the teeth to protect themselves against the encroachment of their neighbors, or to serve their own purpose in taking a favorable time to coerce weaker powers. Fortunately the signs are multiplying that the masses, who have to bear the great burden of taxation, are growing restless and that unless retrenchment of armaments speedily comes, "internal revolution," as Sir Edward Gray predicts, will be the order of the day and after much tribulation and bloodshed settle the question for all time to come.

Lame shoulder is nearly always due to rheumatism of the muscles, and quickly yields to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

There seems to be a lot of public money wasted in putting defeated congressmen on commissions for which there is little use, and for which, if they are of use, very few of the appointees have useful qualifications. It is getting so that for almost every conceivable thing there is a commission, and apparently they are created mainly for the above named purpose. If a congressman on the dominant side, or any side, is defeated for renomination or re-election it is always open to him to follow his previous calling or take up some vocation. That, certainly would be more manly than to be cared for by the government at the expense of the public.

Some people seem to take a sort of fiendish delight in trying to upset cherished ideals and in smashing historic beliefs into smithereens. Quite recently a distinguished Frenchman sought to prove that Columbus was a fake of the worst kind and that the credit of being first to cross the Atlantic is wrongly accorded him. And now an American is digging up at low tide the mud bottom of the river Wye in England to find records to prove that Lord Bacon wrote the plays for which Shakespeare has the credit. Notwithstanding the zeal and assertions of these men the world will continue to honor Columbus as the great discoverer, and sing the praise of the "Immortal William."

The dreadful disaster in New York, resulting in the death of 150 helpless creatures, would probably have been evaded if proper fire escapes and means of egress had been provided. That they were not was due either to gross negligence on the part of the civic authorities in not enforcing the law involved, or to the cupidity of property owners who were willing to risk the lives of their fellow creatures rather than install safety appliances. Not unlikely the blame should be distributed, but nothing can bring to life those who suffered so horrible a death or remove the anguish of mind from those who are bereaved. Evidently in all such buildings insufficiently supplied with fire escapes and used as the building was used where the disaster happened, the thousands of employees take their lives in their hands when they go to work.

Are Young People Deteriorating? Whether the moral stamina of young people is or is not declining is a question being freely discussed in some quarters. It is one of those questions upon which there may be a wide yet honest difference of opinion. Many people enamored of the past and recalling the days of their own childhood, will probably say that the children of a former generation led healthier lives and possessed a stronger moral fiber than do the young people of today. In line with that they will glorify the virtues of their forefathers and laud the Spartan simplicity of their lives.

On the other hand there are those who are just as strongly convinced that in almost every way the young people of the present age are superior to those of bygone generations, and that in moral standard and capacity, and in willingness to endure and work far better. They ground their argument on the belief that the young people of today lead more natural lives and are in closer and more intimate touch with actual conditions of life, and that those conditions demand and produce greater moral stamina. Probably the truth lies midway between the two extremes. Those who assert that the young people of today are deteriorating morally, that they are mentally flabby, and shirk hard things may point with much effect to the young men and women in so-called society. And in truth it must be confessed that great material success is sadly enervating to many people. But it is also true that the incentive to work and that the capacity to withstand temptations and take unflinchingly the hard knocks of business and other life was never greater than it is today.

Notice Regarding D. & M. Train 9. D. & M. train 9 due to leave Bay City at 10:40 p. m. will hereafter leave on time, except that once in a great while it may be held as late as 11:00 p. m. (twenty minutes) for connections and then only when there are a number of passengers to be received from such connections. This arrangement will admit of the train leaving Bay City on time every night with possibly one or two exceptions per month and then it will probably be not more than 20 minutes late.

Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau.

One of the intangible results of the Bureau work came to light in the following incident: Mr. F. W. Hart of Elkhart, Ind., visited the Bureau headquarters in Bay City last week and said, "I have been in the immigration and colonization business for years. A year ago last fall I operated at Fostoria, Ohio, representing Montana lands. I found quite a strong Michigan sentiment then, but all my education on Michigan consisted in that I had been led to believe it was of small account and that its wild lands were worthless. So I conscientiously went to work and knocked Michigan with the result that about fifty families were diverted to Montana from that section of Ohio. Last fall at the land show, I saw the Bureau exhibit and was much surprised and impressed, so much so in fact that I am here looking over Michigan with a view of operating in this state. I find things a great deal different than I was formerly led to believe."

Joseph Tracey, the new Secretary of Saginaw Board of Trade in speaking of how he came to Michigan says, "I was on my way to Seattle and stopped in Chicago to see the Land Show, while there I became interested in the exhibit on display by the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau. I stopped over a few days investigating with the result that I turned back and took up the proposition of the secretaryship of the Saginaw Board of Trade and am well pleased with the country believing that it is on the threshold of the greatest development of any section of the United States. The Bureau is a great institution and is doing a world of good for this section of Michigan."

D. & M. Will Have Industrial Man.

J. W. McGraw, long prominent in business and social life in Bay City, has been appointed industrial commissioner for the Detroit & Mackinac railway, with headquarters in Bay City. His duties will include locating industrial, commercial and manufacturing plants at points along the line of the Detroit & Mackinac railway, and he is expected to use his utmost efforts to interest farmers in southern Michigan and in other states in the fertile lands located on and adjacent to the line of the Detroit & Mackinac railway and its branches. Every possible effort will be put forth by the commissioner to attract the attention of settlers, laborers, business men, capitalists—everyone, to the remarkable progress, possibilities and resources of Northeastern Michigan.

Mr. McGraw has had much experience in the manufacturing and land business, and is peculiarly well fitted for the position to which he has been named. In this connection assurance is given by the officials of the Detroit & Mackinac railway that it will continue to aid, support and use its influence and effort in promoting the word and plans of the Northern Michigan Development Bureau. Mr. J. D. Hawks, vice-president and general manager, has always had sublime faith in the possibilities of Northeastern Michigan, and has used his influence in promoting its material development.

The territory traversed by this railway line is making great progress, and yet it is but in the infancy of development. The climate is salubrious, there is abundance of fuel and the finest lakes, springs and streams in the world. The land is adapted to farming and stock raising, and the cities and towns are capable of unlimited industrial development. The resources of this great region are almost without number. It is developing into a great fruit region, producing the finest apples in the world. It is at the door of the best markets in the country, and offers unrivalled advantages for homes for the farmer, the fruit-grower, truck gardener, stock raiser, and manufacturer.—Bay City Tribune.

Kicked By A Mad Horse

Samuel Birch, of Beetown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. It's the greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it, 25c. at J. M. Wuggazer and Co.'s and Jas. E. Dillon's.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

Boys and Girls.

Can you raise corn? A prize of at least $10 is going to be awarded to the boy or girl in Iosco county who raises the best 12 ears of corn this year. The plan is by the Iosco Co. Farmers' Institute society, and at least $50 is expected to be raised to be distributed in prizes for the best corn grown by a boy or girl (age limited 16 years), during the present year. The first prize will be at least $10.00.

The terms of competition are that each competitor must plant at least one-eighth of an acre, must prepare the ground, except plowing, plant and do all the caring for the corn while growing. Some good don't corn must be used as seed.

Just So.

An old bachelor bought a pair of socks and found attached to one a paper with these words: "I am a young lady of twenty, and would like to correspond with a bachelor with a view to matrimony."

The name and address were given. The bachelor wrote, and in a few days got this reply:

"Mamma was married twenty years ago. Evidently the merchant of whom you bought those socks did not advertise, or he would have sold them long ago. My mother handed me your letter and said possibly I might suit. I am eighteen."

Teachers Attention.

A teachers' institute for Iosco county will be held at Tawas City, Friday and Saturday, April 14th and 15th 1911. The institute will open at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and on Friday evening, Prof. S. B. Laird, an old Iosco county teacher will lecture at the Congregational church.

Prof. Laird will be conductor, and Prof. C. S. Larzelere instructor. Every teacher should and is expected to be present.

The railway company wishes to direct the attention of prospective settlers to Michigan lands and its purpose in compiling a list of reliable real estate agents and owners of land is for the convenience and guidance of such settlers. Interested parties are requested to kindly send their names and addresses at the earliest possible moment to W. G. MacEdward, G. P. A., D. & M. Ry., Bay City, Mich.

and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." For all lung diseases, coughs, colds, the grippe, asthma, croup, whooping-cough, hay fever, hemorrhages, hoarseness or quinsy, its the best known remedy. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. AS TO OUR SENSE OF HUMOR

Life Would Be Dull Without It, But Its Manifestations Are Beyond Estimation.

A dignified, retired judge in the east was brought near to death lately through a fit of laughter caused by a comparison of a woman in a hobbie skirt to a giraffe with its feet tied together. The possessor of a keen sense of humor would hardly find this amusing, but it nearly killed the judge. So, too, a man in Lawrenceburg, Ind., laughed for 12 hours over the idea of trading a mule for a shaved-tail horse.

A sense of humor is often a safety valve to human beings. Life would be a dull thing without it, but its manifestations are beyond estimation. A recent writer speaks of the frequency with which it spools the most pathetic scenes at the theater; of how that which should incite pity is mistaken by the thoughtless for a subject of mirth. The criticism is deserved, but it is to be doubted if it will correct a misplaced sense of humor which seems to be inherent in a considerable portion of the human race.

There is no accounting for taste, even in matters of this sort, and there is no way to prevent grave and reverend jurists or mule traders from becoming victims of an undeveloped or a too greatly developed sense of humor.

Bicycles in Slam.

One of the most popular modes of locomotion in Bangkok is the bicycle; the city covers a very large area, the public offices are far from the residential portion of the town and the roads are excellent. The customs report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1910, shows that 708 machines were imported during that year, an increase of 240 over the previous year, amounting to $18,613, an average of $26 a bicycle. Machines may be bought locally from $15 upward, the English makes ranging from about $30 to $75. Parts of bicycles were imported during the last fiscal year amounting to $2,940. Of all the bicycles imported during the last year 587 are credited to the United Kingdom, 34 to Denmark, 23 to Germany, 31 to Singapore, 16 to Belgium, 3 to France, 1 to Italy and 3 to the United States.

"Wireless" Among Indians.

A curious system of "wireless telegraphy" has been found among the Indians of the Putumayo, a chief tributary of the upper Amazon. As described by W. E. Hardenburg, the apparatus consists of two logs of hard wood, with small holes burnt through lengthwise by heated stones. The thicker of the two logs gives out two grave notes when struck, the thinner two acute notes. Hanging from roof timbers, the logs are beaten with rubber tipped clubs, and signals are sent by a code based on the difference of tone and the length and number of blows in this way messages are exchanged at distances of seven to ten miles.

Balked at the Altar.

A young man named Wahl, who was about to be married at Regensburg, Germany, had entered the church and taken his place beside the bride when he was suddenly seized with terror, and, rushing out, took a cab to the station and jumped into a moving train. Commotion reigned in the church, and the deserted bride fell in a swoon.

HEARD IN JUVENILE COURT

Judge Is No Match for Colored Mammy, Who Outwits Him at Every Turn.

The judge of the juvenile court, leaning forward in his chair, looked searchingly from the discreet and very ragged pickaninny before his desk to the ample and solicitous form of the culprit's mother, says the Youth's Companion. "Why do you send him to the railroad yards to pick up coal?" demanded his honor. "You know it is against the law to send your child where he will be in jeopardy of his life."

"Deed, jedge, I doesn't send 'im; I nubber has sent 'im, deed—" "Doesn't he bring home the coal?" Interrupted the judge, impatiently. "But, jedge, I whips 'im, jedge, every time he brings it, I whips de little rapsallion till he can't set, deed, I does."

The careful disciplinarian turned her broad, shiny countenance reprovingly upon her undisturbed offspring, but kept a conciliatory eye for the judge.

"You burn the coal he brings, do you not?" persisted the judge. "Burns it—burns it—cose I burns it W'y, jedge, I has to git it out ob de way."

"Why don't you send him back with it?" His honor smiled insinuatingly as he rasped out the question. "Send 'im back, jedge!" exclaimed the woman, throwing up her hands in a gesture of astonishment. "Send 'im back! W'y, jedge, ain't yo' jest done been told me I didn't oughter send my chile to no sech dange'some and jeapardous place?"

If any one chances to lose his way any dark night, Newman Colvin is the fellow who can show him the right road home no matter how dark or muddy, and he won't charge anything either. Well, that was a friendly act anyway, and because it chanced to happen just before election its a mean fellow who says he was looking for votes. Some men are always to be depended upon. A Reno farmer said he would land a load of potatoes in Whittemore last Monday if weather would permit. So with Monday came Wm. Latter with his three horse team (that he tells us about at the Farmers Institute) and when his load was disposed of it had weighed up 103 bushels. William often does things that way! We're proud of the voters of Burleigh and Whittemore too;—do you know when they cast their votes last Monday They said "The saloon must go!" We send the news forth with gladness! ### Product of a Miniature Garden.

This little piece of ground is 16.5 ft. wide and 33 ft. long, comprising exactly two square rods, or one-eighth of an acre. The garden was established chiefly through curiosity to find out how much vegetable material could be produced from a small area under an intensive system of cultivation, but in addition to this, it soon became a source of pleasure and satisfaction as a pastime at which to spend the few leisure moments after the day's work. The produce was carefully weighed on an accurate pair of spring balances, as gathered for use. The various articles were weighed in the form in which they would be prepared for sale on the market. The following is a list of the products of the garden during the summer of 1907, viz: Cabbage, 149.25 lbs.; tomatoes, (both ripe and pickling), 95.75 lbs.; squash, 87 lbs.; carrots, 67.5 lbs.; parsnips, 64 lbs.; beets, 45 lbs.; cucumbers, 41 lbs.; beans, 30.5 lbs.; vegetable oysters, 27 lbs.; early radish, 23.75 lbs.; corn, 12.5 lbs.; lettuce, 12 lbs.; winter radish, 6.5 lbs.; peas, 6 lbs.; and seed onions, 1.75 lbs., making a total of 669.5 lbs. The area of the garden being one-eighth acre and the yield of edible material 669.5 lbs., the rate of yield per acre would be 5,356 tons. This year the planting was done between May 18th and June 6th. No water was applied artificially. The first year's conditions for rapid growth throughout the season were phenomenal. Best Varieties of Apples For Market. If contemplating raising apples for market, the following varieties are suggested: Yellow Transparent Duchesse, Gravenstein, Wealthy, McIntosh, Fameuse, Hubbardston, King, Grimes, Jonathan, Spy, Baldwin, Greening, Red Canada.

Preparation of Soil For an Orchard.

By Professor O. K. White, Field Agent in Horticulture, M. A. C.

THE preparation of soil previous to the planting of an orchard will depend entirely upon its nature, its texture and its condition of fertility. It is generally agreed that a field should be brought into the best possible state of cultivation before it is planted to fruit trees. If young trees are planted in a soil that is not in a condition to induce a strong, vigorous, healthy growth, throughout the first few years of their lives, the orchard will never be as healthy, productive, or bring as good returns as it would have done if the trees had been given a good start, and the lack of clean and thorough cultivation previous to planting the trees makes it much more difficult and expensive after the trees are planted. Not only should the preparation of soil be clean and thorough, but it should be deep. The soil should be loosened up as deeply as possible with the plow. On some soils it is highly desirable to use the sub-soil plow, running it to a depth of from sixteen to twenty inches. Soils which are naturally loose and subject to leaching, would be possible exceptions, and should be treated in a way to avoid leaching. While it is not desirable to select for an orchard soils which need artificial drainage, yet if such is chosen it should be undrained with tile. Since trees are intended to occupy the land for a longer period of time than ordinary crops, the grower can afford to give the soil better preparation than for ordinary annual crops. In most cases it will be a decided advantage to devote the land to hoed crops, such as potatoes, corn or beans for one or two years, before planting the orchard, so that all weeds can be subdued and the soil worked into a good condition. At the same time, any poor portions of the field can be easily located and improved. If the soil is badly depleted, it would be advisable to seed it to clover and turn under the sod before planting. If the trees are to be planted in the spring, it is better to plow the soil in the fall, unless the slope is such as to wash badly. The alternate freezing and thawing during the winter will assist greatly in pulverizing and mellowing the soil.
