Here are some ways by which men may succeed in life. 1. Have a definite aim and go straight for it. 2. Master all details and always know more than you are expected to know. 3. Do not be daunted by difficulties; they are made to be overcome. 4. Do not be disheartened by failures, but make them steppingstones to further effort. 5. Never put out your hand further than you can draw it back. 6. Use other men's brains as well as your own. 7. Listen well, answer cautiously, decide promptly. 8. Never engage in a questionable or dishonorable transaction.

Public School Sanitation.

Fifty thousand American school children are annually removed from school on account of physical inability to continue work. Careful investigation in this and other countries has shown this effect to be due largely to conditions existing in many of our school houses, such as poor ventilation, improper lighting, uneven temperature, unsuitable seats, etc. That these conditions have been the cause and are today causing the indispotion of general depression, lassitude, headache, dizziness, lowering of resistance of disease, and a consequent contraction of the more serious maladies, as pneumonia, tuberculosis, bronchitis, influenza, curvature of the spine, nearsightedness, etc., is an admitted fact; and the knowledge that thirty per cent of all school children are suffering from diseases of the eye should be sufficient to direct the inquiry of every parent, to say nothing of every school official, into the conditions surrounding his child. In as much as the years of early school life are the formative period of the tissues of the eye, it is imperative that money and attention be given to the end of proper lighting in our schools. Frequent absence from school due to colds, and other sicknesses could be eliminated, were ventilation more effectual, were reliable systems of ventilating installed, instead of the common dependence upon open windows.

The experience of the Michigan State Board of Health in investigating the schoolhouses of this state shows that, while during vacation time, some improvements are made to overcome the worst conditions, yet these improvements are only too apt to be make-shift and inadequate. The health of school children demands a more lively recognition of their needs: pure air, supplied at the rate of not less than thirty cubic feet per minute for each occupant of the room; adequate lighting, from the left side, or left side and rear, of the room; adjustable seats to suit the needs peculiar to each pupil; clean, well-ventilated toilets.

The immense sums of money invested in school property, the economic value of every school child, urge the best management of the schooling business and the maintenance of the most effectual means not only of preserving but of building up a healthy and strong generation of children.—Robert L. Dixon, M. D., Secretary of State Board of Health.

The Follette Farm.

Tuesday afternoon the Herald editor, in company with Prof. McDowell, of the U. S. department of Agriculture, and Field Manager Johnston, of the Northeastern Michigan Development bureau, visited the experimental farm of E. B. Follette, in Plainfield. Mr. Follette came here from Indiana two years ago and purchased about a thousand acres of jack pine plains land northwest of Hale, with the firm determination of making a thorough test as to their value as farming lands. During the past two years he has been there he has broken up about eighty acres, and has been experimenting along certain lines which he believes will be successful on these light lands.

Vetch is one of the crops which he has been trying out. This with rye is proving very successful. He has two very good catches of clover and alfalfa, the clover being exceptionally good. His potato crop is better than the average found on the heavy lands.

He also has a fair piece of flax and a half acre of sun flowers. Six hundred hills of fine watermelons was one of the surprises that met the eyes of the visitors. Mr. Follette informed us that last year he had a nice melon patch and that every melon ripened. He has several acres of good corn.

Mr. Follette is making a careful study of the soil conditions and as to the crops best adapted to them, and is most enthusiastic as to the future of these lands. He and his father-in-law, Mr. Stowe, are purchasing additional lands of this class and are thoroughly convinced that they are the best possible land investments.

In his study of conditions here Mr. Follette has made several interesting and valuable discoveries, one of which is that the sweet fern, which grows profusely over the plains, is a nitrogen bearing plant. Nitrogen is the one great need of the light lands. There are some others of the wild plants belonging to the same class.

The U. S. department of agriculture has become much interested in the work of Mr. Follette, and several representatives of the department visit his farm each year.

Manila Got News.

A smile will spread over the features of readers of the following, which was copied by the Bay City Times from a Manila paper, when they observe the ridiculousness of the geographical description and the exaggerated report of the fire damage. And yet, 'it is not a particle more ridiculous than nine-tenths of the rot sent from here by the special correspondents of the daily press of Detroit during the few days following the fire.

The Times has been given a clipping from the Cablenews-American, of Manila, Philippine Islands, of July 14, in which is a double column scarehead item as follows, covering the great fires in Michigan:

FLAMES CUT PATH DOWN TO BAY CITY.

Towns of AuSable and Oscoda and Many Settlements Are Totally Destroyed.

(Special to the Cablenews.)

Detroit, July 13.—Terrible forest fires are raging along the border between Canada and the state of Michigan, and have already swept through the state to Bay City, a city of 75,000, which is also ablaze and may be a total loss.

Hundreds have already perished in the flames, which are devastating a great area on both sides of the line. Brisk winds which sprang up last night are aiding the fire in its course through the dry timber and over the parched land.

The towns of AuSable and Oscoda have been totally destroyed. Most of the inhabitants escaped when the raging blaze swept through with fearful intensity, but many were too late. A number of small settlements are known to have been wiped out.

The full force of federal rangers in this territory is using every known method of fire fighting, assisted by hundreds of volunteers. The governor of the state has ordered the militia to be in readiness. Graves, the federal chief forester, is receiving telegrams from Washington every hour and may go to the afflicted district today.

Using Time.

It is always easier to wish that we had more time than to use the time that we have. So, by wasting time in wishing, we still further reduce the precious asset of the actual and only time that is really ours. The person who is not capitalizing all the time he has at the rate of sixty seconds to the minute would not be much better off with forty-eight hours in his day. Those who turn out what is, to the rest of us, a discouragingly large amount of work, have simply learned the art of using all their time—particularly the nooks and corners, the five and ends, of their time. They utilize a five or ten-minute scrap of time as eagerly as they do a half-day. And so things get done, and their year's output seems stupendous. With the average man, unless he can see several hours clear for a piece of work, he will attempt little out of the ordinary; and that is why he remains an average man.—Sunday School Times.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., Aug. 25, 1911

If the time spent in useless controversies was spent in actual working and observation how much ill feeling would be avoided and how much more good would be accomplished.

No man is what he ought to be nor what he can be. There is always room for advance and if to advance means struggle so much the better as it is that way life is made stronger.

Steadily the world has been emerging from darkness into light and the process is still going on. While there is always need for alertness, caution and effort, there is no room for pessimism.

The man who advertises wants the best return for his money. He gets this when in attractive and generous manner he informs the public through the columns of his home paper what he has in stock and the bargains he has to offer.

It is said that there is a tribe in Africa that will not allow a speaker in tribal councils to speak for a longer time than he can stand upon one foot. If the custom were adopted in congress and state legislatures there would probably be less talk and more work.

A man safeguards his own independence who lays up for the proverbial rainy day. The man who at the first blast of adversity, whether of sickness or non-employment, is dependent upon charity has usually himself to blame for his dependent condition.

Sixteen men stood in front of a window to watch a man paint a sign on the glass. Evidently time was no object to them yet more than likely if they had been home and their wives wanted them to do some work about the house they would have had urgent calls down town.

The public official who takes his office too seriously, and proceeds to perform his duty according to law, is bound to get into trouble. Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert, is one of these. He is making it hot for the adulterators of foods, and the government politicians are making it hot for him.

The very general and unfavorable comments made upon the approaching marriage of two prominent members of New York and Newport smart society are significant as showing the high regard most people have for the sanctity of marriage and of home life. Ordinarily it is nobody's business except those immediately concerned when two people join their lives. But when the circumstances are notorious and offensive to public sentiment it is a different matter.

Even in America one occasionally comes across a man who regards woman as an inferior animal and a sort of beast of burden. Such was the man in Missouri who harnessed his wife to his team, and the man in Wisconsin who brutally beat his wife to make her love him. But these are but sporadic cases. Old world and dark ages ideas as to the nature and position of women have no place in American social and domestic life. The lamentable instances referred to but serve to emphasize this truth.

The passage of the veto bill through the British parliament is a great triumph for democracy. It means the emancipation of the masses from the feudal rule of an irresponsible aristocracy and is the most radical legislative reform since the passing of the reform bill of 1832. The victory of the government insures the passing in the near future of several greatly needed measures which hitherto have been blocked by the lords. Among them are Irish home rule, non-sectarian education, the disestablishment of the church in Wales, and the abolition of plural voting.

Attack Like Tigers.
 In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack the disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and J. E. Dillon.

 I wish to notify all those indebted to me that same must be paid to me before Sept. 1, next, as all accounts not settled at that date will be turned over to the J. I. Case Co. for collection.

Cats and Hoboes.

This is a practical age and everything that is must give a satisfactory reason for its existence or suffer the consequences. In truth the age is so iconoclastic that sentiment and antiquity count but little.

Take cats as an example. One might naturally suppose that whatever else passed away pussy would continue to live on unthreatened and unscathed. That it has nine lives is in its favor. Then too, the cat was an object of worship among the ancient Egyptians and that gives it an odor of sanctity. Cats also have enjoyed popularity, especially with little children and maiden ladies. Cat shows have been numerous and the blue ribbon has adorned the neck of many an aristocratic Maltese, Angora and Persian cat and even the plebeian tabby.

But cats have their failings. Many a brush, slipper, shoe or other convenient missile has been hurled at them by irate individuals who have been robbed of their sleep by the nocturnal serenades of amorous Thomases. Which experience makes one sympathize with the poet who says:
 Confound the cats! all cats—always—
 Cats of all colors, black, white, gray;
 By night a nuisance and by day—
 Confound the cats.

True, cats have been of some benefit in catching mice, yet this, perhaps, has been offset by their destruction of birds, including pet canaries.

But it takes the Kansas state board of health to bring the strongest indictment against the cat and strike its death knell. All unconsciously it puts them in the same class with hoboos, and verily there is much in common between pussy and Weary Willie. Both shun work as they would the plague. Whoever heard of a tramp or a cat earning a living? Again, their wandering and pilfering habits are notorious. Then, too, neither cats nor tramps contribute to the finances of the community or of the state. The self-respecting citizen pays for himself and pays for his dog, but tramps and cats go scot free.

But the worst of all is the fact that cats and tramps have an implacable hatred for water. Never has one been known to voluntarily take a bath. And it is in that fact the health of every family, and community is menaced. Eight kinds of deadly germs have been found clinging to the whiskers of a cat and its long hairs fairly teem with them. How many are found on the whiskers and unshorn locks of the hobo no one knows but they must be legion. Evidently cats and tramps must be shaved and washed or cease to be.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance to a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it for forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and J. E. Dillon.

COLE'S HOT BLAST

Wonderful Heater and Fuel Saver

For Soft Coal, Lignite or Hard Coal

Cost of Stove Saved in Fuel

As you know one-half of soft coal is gas—the entire gas supply for many cities and towns being made from the same kind of soft coal you are using. The extent of unburned gases in hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of a base burner when the extra oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas. Other stoves allow this gas, which is the best part of the coal, also a large part of the heat, to pass up the chimney. This waste will average from $10.00 to $50.00 a year for every family and millions of dollars in fuel are thus wasted annually.

The Original Cole's Hot Blast Stove

Saves All Wasted with Other Stoves

Cole's Original Hot Blast, by means of the Patented Hot Blast draft used in connection with other patented devices, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal.

On account of the patented air tight and gas tight construction giving perfect control over the drafts, it also saves the heat usually wasted up the chimney. $5.00 worth of hard coal, soft coal or lignite, or a $1.50 ton of slack or coal siftings is thus made to do the work of twice the amount of fuel in other stoves and the cost of the stove is more than saved in fuel each winter. $7.50 worth of slack will heat your house all winter, five tons at $1.50 a ton does the work.

Build only One Fire a Winter

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire keeps all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the hard coal or soft coal put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, kindling fires is dispensed with, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time.

Read the Guarantee. We are the exclusive agents for Cole's Original Hot Blast and sell it on the accompanying guarantee which cannot be made on any other heating stove in the world. If you want to save half your fuel bill and would enjoy the luxury of getting up in a warm house on cold winter mornings without kindling fires, buy Cole's Original Hot Blast now.

Avoid Imitations

Imitations of this Original Hot Blast are many. None of them has the absolutely air-tight and gas-tight construction throughout which Cole's Hot Blast has by reason of its numerous patents. A Patented Steel Collar connects the elbow draft to the stove body and cannot open by action of the fiercest heat. The Patented Compound Hinge on the lower draft cannot warp, and the draft door closes air-tight by its own weight. The guaranteed Smoke-proof Feed Door prevents smoke, dust or gas escaping when fuel is put in the stove.

Imitations soon open seams and cracks which spoil them for keeping fire and cause the gas half of the coal and much of the heat to escape up the chimney. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door of our stove. None genuine without it. Ask to see the patented dustless ash cover for removing ashes. Our method is the only clean way.

VETERINARY SCHOOL IS OLD

To Celebrate 150th Anniversary in Lyons, France, in May 1912.

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the erection in Lyons, France, of a veterinary school will be celebrated in that city about the middle of May, 1912. Preparations are now forming to commemorate the event in a fitting manner, and invitations are being issued to all veterinary schools in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of having delegates in as large a number as possible.

It is authentically recorded in the annals of veterinary science that the world's first veterinary school was founded in Lyons in 1761, since which time similar institutions have been inaugurated in many countries, the last being reported from Abyssinia.

In connection with this anniversary it is planned to establish a local museum, the exhibits of which in archives, illustrations, instruments and appliances will give a complete view of the evolution of instruction in veterinary medicine and surgery. Particular attention will be paid to the development of the pioneer school in Lyons.

Power From Tides and Winds.

At the recent meeting of the British association the question of economical production of power from tides and winds was again under discussion, and it has been taken up widely by scientific journals in Europe. La Revue Scientifique calls attention to a system of utilizing the power of sea waves to actuate a dynamo which has been employed during the last six months at the mouth of the River Gironde. An air chamber is connected with a well, which communicates with the sea at a depth below the level of the lowest tides. By the advance and recession of the waves changes of pressure are produced in the air chamber, and a system of valves enables the resulting air currents to be applied to rotating a kind turbine. It is said that the apparatus works equally well in calm and in stormy weather.

Dead Buildings Into Tombstones.

"I was much surprised," said a New Yorker recently, "to learn that the granite fronts of old buildings that are being torn down are used for tombstones. I was watching some workers at work on an old business building, and, being curious, asked the foreman what was to become of the row of big columns that was holding up the front of the building."

"Well," said he, "I can't tell you exactly, but it would not surprise me a bit to see them broken shafts decorating some big man's grave next year. A good deal of the granite that comes out of old buildings, he continued, goes to the tombstone carver."

No Sign of Greatness.
Don't get the idea under your hat that a man is great because he happens to be in the limelight.

Discrimination Disliked.
Women frequenters of the British museum refuse to make use of desks which are marked "For ladies only."

They Classify Travelers.
Travelers in Wyoming are classified as "dudes," "sage brushers" or "rough necks." Anyone who travels or hunts with a guide is a "dude," no matter how rough or unkempt his personal appearance.

One of Nature's Wonders.
A bee can carry twice its own weight in honey.

A Cool Beverage.
Take rhubarb, one pound to a little more than a gallon of water, boil until soft, wash through a colander, then boil up again with one gallon of cold water, three lemons sliced and bruised, with half pound of sugar or little more.

A mixture of red currants and raspberries bruised with half a pound of sugar well strained into gallon of water will make an excellent drink and allay thirst. To render them more cooling a little cream of tartar or citric acid may be added.

Canned Strawberries.
For each pound of berries allow $\frac{1}{2}$ pound of sugar. Make a syrup by adding 1 tablespoon of water to a pound of sugar. Let it boil up a minute or two and skim; then add enough berries to cover the top, boil up once and skim off into hot jars. Repeat until all the berries are used. Boil the syrup away until there is just enough to fill the jars full, then seal.

Poor Man's Stew.
Slice thin three or four pieces of salt pork, fry until brown, then quarter, several (or as few as desired) onions, place them with pork, cut up a few carrots (or one according to size) and turnips, cover with water and boil one hour. Place potatoes in one-half hour before the other vegetables are done. This is a good economy dish.
