To the Asylum Again.

Barnhart Blust, the well-known Mead road farmer, was adjudged mentally incompetent by the probate court Wednesday, and was consigned to the asylum at Traverse City by Judge Wier. For a number of years, Mr. Blust, who is of a very nervous temperament, and a hard worker, has had attacks of mental disorder which have landed him in the asylum on four previous occasions. During these attacks, Mr. Blust transacts imaginary business deals of vast magnitude. He has been "on the go" now for three or four weeks, and last week he went to Bay City. About 10:30, he went into a drugstore and wanted a physician, stating he wanted a physician because he had been poisoned. A physician was called, but could find no trace of poison. He was then locked up, and Sheriff Hadwin went down and brought him home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duggan, of Harbor Beach, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kane, of hotel losco. The young people were united in marriage on Wednesday of last week, the bride being Miss Nellie Gillem.

Development Bureau Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau was held at Bay City Wednesday, and 34 out of the 43 directors elected, were present. The reports of the secretary, treasurer, and field manager were received all of which were most encouraging and enthusiastic. The people throughout the territory are becoming thoroughly aroused and enthusiastic over the work accomplished during the past two years and the financial condition of the bureau has never been so good. All expenses of the past years have been taken care of, and $9,000 remains for the present year, besides $1,500 worth of permanent equipment.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:
President—J. R. Snody, Onaway.
Vice-Pres.—George Harting, Pinconning.

Treasurer—O. F. Barns, Crawford.
Members of the Executive Committee—W. F. Johnston, Roscommon; C. S. Bliss, Gladwin; H. A. Savage, Saginaw; H. K. Gustin, Alpena; W. G. MacEdward, Bay; Cephas Buttes, Montmorency.

The executive committee retain the services of T. F. Marston, who has been the efficient secretary of the bureau since its organization.

The coming year promises to be the most satisfactory and successful in the history of the bureau, and every citizen in Northeastern Michigan should loose their "little hammer" and get into the boosting game with their whole heart.

The term, "pernicious activity in politics," is an elastic one and in the past has worked on other classes of federal employes as an effectual bar from politics.

Renovating in His Home.
Reno township was the scene of a tragedy last Thursday night when Geo. Manning, a farmer about 35 years of age, was burned to death. Mr. and Mrs. Manning resided on the farm owned by Hiram Sheppard. Between 11 and 12 o'clock last Thursday night they were awakened to find the house in flames. Mrs. Manning succeeded in escaping through the window with their little son and made her way to a neighbor's. Mr. Manning was caught in the burning building and burned to death. His charred remains were found, and the funeral was held Saturday. The widow is left in the most destitute circumstances, as the fire destroyed not only her husband but all the family property.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

"It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds. Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wiggazzer & Co., Tawas City, and James E. Dillon of East Tawas.

Work.

Work never killed anyone. You need not be afraid, says the Kalamazoo Gazette, that you may overwork yourself. People may die because they work all day and drink or dissipate or gamble most of the night, but do not die of work.

Work is good for you. Good, honest, healthful labor will make you sleep soundly, eat heartily and digest easily. It will make Sunday a welcome day and a holiday worth while.

Work makes men. Did you ever think that the men who least need to work are the men who work the hardest? Why? Because it is a pleasure to work. One is happiest when employed. To be compelled to loaf is to a real man a heavy punishment.

If you would be a man, work. You cannot find anywhere a lazy boy or man whom anybody respects or who amounts to anything.

Work. Find out what you best like to do and then roll up your sleeves and work at it with all your might and main. It doesn't matter much what the work may be so it is honest and suits you.

Work at your work. Whether you use a pen to write or a shovel to throw yellow clay out of a ditch, whether you preach and pray or paint a house or paddle a boat or run a peanut stand, you must work.

Work hard. The busier you are about your work the less mischief you will do, the happier you will be, the more dollars you will make and the more good you will do in the world.

Do not shirk. When you play you should work at your play, but you should never play at your work. Work while you work; play while you play.

All manly men work. Look about you. Note the men whom you respect. Note those the world is proud of. What sort of men are they?

Workers—every one! There is nothing finer in all the world than the joy a man may find in the work of his hands or of his brain. He is doing what he was intended to do. Work!

Democratic Statesmanship.

A Washington correspondent says there was a time when the republican press enjoyed poking fun at democratic statesmanship. There is little opportunity to do this now. Some of the greatest men in the country are now, as they were in the past, enrolled under the banner of democracy. This is very evident in Congress, but all the great democrats are not in Congress, neither are they sitting in editorial sanctuaries; and "if this be treachery, make the most of it," although we do confess to a great admiration for the eminent gentlemen who cut up copy, sometimes, in rather an amazing way.

Editors who should have known better watched expectantly last year to see what the democratic majority in the House would do with unlimited power in his hands. It didn't do so much that could be criticized, although some individuals, as might be expected, did not come up to the mark their associates wanted to maintain for the party. The fact is that the democrat party has always been rich in statesmen, and there promises to be a fine exhibition of their ability this winter in both the senate and the house.

Primary Enrollment.

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with act No. 281, Public Acts of 1909, as amended by act No. 279, Public Acts of 1911, the board of enrollment of the city of Tawas City, state of Michigan, will be in session on SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1912, at the city hall (the above location being the place of holding the enrollment for the several wards of said city) for the purpose of enrolling the names of all persons, members of whatever political party, who make personal application for such enrollment.

HOW ELECTORS MAY SECURE ENROLLMENT

The following is a brief statement of the different ways in which enrollment can be secured:

1. By personal application on enrollment days—Jan'y 27 and April 1.
2. By a written request accompanied by affidavit, an elector can enroll any day, but cannot vote at any primary held within two months. This affidavit and application must be delivered to the city clerk or other officer in charge of the enrollment book.
3. An elector who was sick or unavoidably absent on enrollment day or who became 21 years of age or an elector after enrollment day can have his name enrolled on primary election day and vote at that election by taking the necessary oath.
4. If an elector who has been duly enrolled as above changes his residence from one precinct in the state another he can be enrolled in the new precinct by obtaining a proper certificate from a member of the enrollment board of the precinct where he formerly resided stating that he is duly enrolled in the precinct from which he has moved and is entitled to enrollment in the new precinct, or by taking oath.

No person can vote at any primary in Michigan unless his name has been enrolled under act 279. All enrollment prior to August 2, 1911, is void. An entirely new enrollment is required. An elector who neglects or refuses to give the name of his political party cannot have his name enrolled. Said board of enrollment will be in session from 7 o'clock a. m. until 5 o'clock p. m. of said day of enrollment. Dated this 9th day of January A. D. 1912.

That Bay City is less careful in its supervision of children than any other city in the state, and in that city more children roam the streets with out any attention as to company, has been repeated by Miss Burton, deputy state factory inspector. The statement has given the city some unenviable notoriety and it is the work of cleaning up these conditions that is now occupying the attention of Mrs. John Howard, recently appointed probation officer in that city.

According to a letter received from K. D. Bailey, says the Otsego County Advance, there is every probability that the Department of Agriculture at Washington will assign several field men to the state of Michigan. These men will be agricultural experts and will meet with and advise the farmers of the county or counties to which they are sent. There will be three or four men assigned to this state and the counties that ask for them in the strongest manner will get them.

Good Roads and Farm Values.

There is one very important factor that people are apt to overlook and that is, the influence of good roads on the value of farm property. There is no fact that is better established or of which there is more abundant proof than that a good hard road leading from the farm to the market will increase the selling value of the farm far more than the amount of taxes required to be paid by the farmer to build the road. Hence when the matter is analyzed it will be found that the building of good roads is not a matter of expense but an investment that pays a larger and surer return than anything else can name.

A progressive farmer will expend money on building good fences, tile his land, erect wind mills, barns, sheds, covers for machinery, plant trees, and do many things to make his farm more attractive, more useful and more valuable. When a man has spent several hundred dollars on some of these improvements, he figures that the farm is worth more than the amount that is expended over what it was before. He is willing to expend money inside his boundary fences, but when asked to go out beyond this to the public highway he is apt to feel that the amount of money spent is an expense that yields him no direct return. Every community that has had the experience of building hard roads, using them and paying for them, has continued to build more and more from year to year. They found that while it called for the expenditure of money to meet the bills it lightened their burdens in many other ways, that it made life better worth living, that there was more social life in the community, the children were better satisfied to stay on the farm, and could go to market any day in the year they liked and thus take advantage of the market instead of the market taking advantage of them.

It is within the experience of millions of farmers that they had grain or live stock on hand to sell; the price was right, but the roads were so bad that they could not reach the market. A few weeks later when the roads improved, perhaps there was a drop in the market.

The secretary of agriculture, and there is no higher authority, says that good roads, usable every day in the year, so the farmers can take advantage of market conditions, are worth two or three cents on every bushel of grain, and ten to thirty cents a hundred on cattle and hogs. Hence, with good roads the farm will produce a large revenue, it is a more desirable place to live and it is worth more money.—Caro Advertiser.

MANY a farmer will tell you he never knew how much bigger crops he could raise until FARM JOURNAL put it into his head to work more with his BRAINS.

This great little paper is always nudging farmers up to make more money. Pleasant but persistent, it works at you year after year to raise larger crops, finer horses and cows, heavier hogs, bigger apples and potatoes, and shows you just HOW to do it.

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim-milk") is 34 years old, and has over 750,000 subscribers, more than any other farm paper published. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people in the world, and are always saying FARM JOURNAL helped to make them so. It is clean, brief, "boiled down," full of practical wisdom, gumption, fun and sunshine. It helps in order, thrift, kindness, comfort, and peace, and it has old Peter Tumbledown always ready to show how NOT to run a farm.

"Our Folks" have comfortable homes, modern buildings and machinery, tight roofs and fences, gates that swing free, sound horses, well-dressed and happy wives and children, and money in bank. Their potatoes are the largest, their milk tests the highest, their hogs weigh most, their fruit brings the best prices. Live farmers everywhere find this out, and they want the FARM JOURNAL.

Money-making Secrets.

These great illustrated booklets are all stories of success in farming, and they tell you the METHODS that won it.

Poultry Secrets is a unique collection of the secret methods Feltch's famous mating chart, tips on raising 4 or 5 year old Curtis method of securing 50 per cent more pullets, a "Coke's" Boy's method of insuring fertility, with priceless secrets of mating, breeding, feeding and how to produce winter eggs, and many others of great value long and carefully guarded, now first published.

Horse Secrets exposes the methods of "bishoping," tricks of "types" and "land-ners," it tells you how to tell an unsound horse. It also gives many valuable secrets, ranging from breeding and veterinary secrets.

Corn Secrets is the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King." It tells how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn that is rich in protein and other valuable stock-feeding elements. Vastly illustrated pictures make every process plain.

The MILLION EGG-FARM tells how J. M. Foster, in the New Jersey pine-elt, makes over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. If you keep chickens, read about the "Famous Unit" and learn how Foster FEEDS his hens.

THE "BETTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced half a ton of butter each per year (40 pounds is the average). An eye-opener for dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn your good ones into record-bearers.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your back-yard supply you with fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, and get cash for your "spare" produce. It tells when and how to plant, cultivate, harvest and market every kind.

DUCK DOLLARS tells of the great Webster duck-farm near Boston. Every year they sell over 40,000 ducklings at a net profit of 50 cents each. Tells why ducks pay the big price for chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

Any one of these splendid booklets, both for $1.00 with Farm Journal FOUR full years, both for $1.00

SHREDDED CORN FOR FODDER

Run Through Ensilage Cutter into Silo and Kept Well Wet is Appreciated by Cows.

(By W. M. KELLY.)

My experience with handling corn fodder during the past ten years has convinced me that the husker and shredder is a very valuable tool on all dairy farms where more corn fodder is raised than can be preserved in the silo, or on farms where there is no silo. The value of good shredded stover will compare favorably with timothy hay and the various experimental farms report very satisfactory results while feeding it to young stock, beef cattle, sheep and horses.

Many farmers have made a failure of keeping the shredded fodder in good condition for feeding, while others seem to have no difficulty in keeping it for weeks when they can feed it out. Some claim that it will keep nicely by running it in the mow with a layer of straw and then a layer of fodder, gradually filling the mow with the mixture.

We have found it rather an uncertain feed to keep and after trying every method that we could think of we now make a practice of shredding the fodder and then running it through the ensilage cutter into the silo and keep well wet down and packed and find that the cows like it about as well as they do the ensilage put up in the ordinary manner. We save a number of hundred bushels of ears in this manner and believe that it pays, especially in a country where corn is worth 75 to 80 cents per bushel.

When this method is to be practiced it is best to leave some of the best eared corn in the shock until the silos have settled and the top ensilage fed off and then refill them later on with the shredded stover.

BREEDING HORSES FOR ARMY

Government Has Plan Whereby Owners of Mares May Obtain Services of Noted Stallions.

The public generally knows that the government has outlined a plan to encourage the breeding of horses for the army whereby mare owners in suitable sections will have the command of service to first-class stallions free, in return for which they agree to give the United States options on resulting foals at a fair price. The plan was taken up as a means to provide a good supply of horses such as the army needs, which, strange as it may seem, is rapidly becoming more and more limited. An appropriation was suggested at the last session of the Sixty-first congress, but no action was taken, one objection being that the plan would not enter into such agreements with the government.

Fortunately, funds were available to make an experiment to determine this point. Mr. August Belmont of New York presented to the government two of his best-known stallions, Henry of Navarre and Octagon, and the department of agriculture placed them at the command of farmers in the vicinity of Front Royal, Va., on exactly the terms outlined in the government plan.

By the approval of the war department, the price to be paid for the resulting foals at three years of age was $150, and no difficulty whatever was experienced in getting farmers to breed their mares under these terms. About 50 mares were bred, the stallions reaching Virginia somewhat late in the season and Octagon's usefulness being curtailed by a severe attack of distemper.

The interest of the Virginia farmers is keen, and already 50 additional mares have been offered for the season of 1912, and the services of more stallions could easily be utilized if available.

Circular 178 of the bureau of animal industry explains the department's breeding plan and may be obtained on application to the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The Silo for Dairymen.

This is the time of the year when the dairymen or dairy farmer who owns a silo likes to talk about silage. Good silage comes as near being June pasture in January as any feed with which the dairyman is familiar. Its succulent or juicy nature especially fits it for stimulating the milk flow and keeping the cow in vigorous health.

Probably the most important rule in the profitable dairy is to keep the cow's milk flowing freely as possible after the flow has once been started by parturition or calf birth. To do this demands right feeding and good care. Silage is a cheap feed to cut up, and valuable to use. It is grown on the farm. This is a fact of importance in this day of high-priced mill feeds.

SAVING MUCH LABOR

SEQUENCE OF WORK HELPS IN GETTING MEALS.

Unless Thoughtful Arrangements Are Made, Cook May Find She Has to Do Two Things at the Same Time.

Going into the kitchen to make one dish, or getting supper for which much of the food has been previously prepared, gives no idea of one of the chief difficulties in getting meals--the sequence of work. Unless the thoughtful and orderly arrangements are made the cook may find she is required to perform two pieces of work at once, and the last moments before the meal will be crowded with more things than can possibly be done, according to a contributor to the Deineator.

The time required to cook different articles of food often furnishes a sort of schedule for getting the meal. Time must be allowed for preparation before cooking and for finishing touches after cooking.

Except when a gas range is used, the fire is the first thing to attend to. The other things to be arranged for naturally fall into three groups, to the first of which belong the things which take a long time to cook. Baked and boiled meats, oatmeal, certain puddings and vegetables which are cooked slowly are among those which may be prepared and put on the fire as soon as it is ready for them.

Between this and the second group is an interval which may be used for preparing the dishes of the second group and for setting the table, arranging salad, putting dishes to warm, etc.

The second group contains vegetables and desserts, which cook in from 20 to 45 minutes, or anything which is needed in the concluding preparations of the other foods.

Now comes another interval, in which cold food, such as bread, butter and milk, may be put on the table. Preparations must also be made for the cooking necessary to the third group, and collecting on the kitchen table seasonings, butter and milk for the cooked vegetables and meat.

The third group contains things which must be done in a very brief time before the meal. These are broiling meat, preparing cooked vegetables for the table, making sauces and gravy, putting beaten egg or vermicelli in soup and getting everything arranged in dishes.

Then there are three last things for the housewife to do before the meal: To see that the fire is in condition to leave; that soiled pots and pans are filled with water, and last of all to take an instant to wash her hands, remove her apron and make herself presentable.

AUTOMATIC CREAM SEPARATOR

The Old Way.

The AUTOMATIC consists of a 4 cycle, 2-3 H. P. gasoline engine, built like a watch, and a 700 pound capacity separator bowl of an improved disc construction with our patented underfeed, which insures a thorough clarification of the milk before it passes into the separating chamber, thus preventing clogging and leaving the bowl easily cleaned as there is no dirt or slime sticking to the discs after the separation.

The engine is fitted with two size pulleys so that it can be used for many other purposes besides running a separator. We make this AUTOMATIC separator in only one size, for the reason that as it will skim as fast as ten men can milk, it is suitable for any size dairy. The farmer operating the machine starts it when he starts milking, and as fast as he fills a pail, he pours it into the receiving tank with the result that when he is through milking he is through skimming, as the AUTOMATIC bowl is the only bowl that can be run partly filled with milk without a fresh inflow of same for ten or fifteen minutes, and then when the flow is turned on, produce as good skimming results as before.
