The Herald, in common with the other publishers and printers, has received within the past week notice of an increase in the price of all paper stock of from 20 to 30 per cent. Of course there is nothing for us to do but to accept, and in order to continue business it will be necessary that our prices be increased accordingly. Of course this is not pleasant to the consumer, but under the present rule of trust control there is no alternative.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSES and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

We have heard some criticism from several in this city because the Tawas City-PreScott ball game was taken to Tawas Beach yesterday. No one is to be blamed for this except the people of this town. If they want ball games they should show enough interest to furnish the funds to build a proper place for holding such games. Get busy or quit kicking.

The bereaved parents have a host of friends here who unite in extending them sympathy in their hour of sorrow.

The body of an unknown man was found beside the D. & M. tracks about three miles south of Emery Junction Wednesday morning by the section men. Justice G. W. Mount, of this city, was summoned and conducted a coroner's inquest. Nothing was found to identify the man except a couple of addresses and the authorities have wired these. Apparently the unfortunate man had fell from the night freight. The body was quite badly mutilated, one leg and one arm being cut off. The body was taken to King's undertaking rooms and will be held for a few days while an attempt is being made to identify it. If unsuccessful it will be buried by the county authorities.

Banner Feeding Record.

Monday noon C. C. Gaige received a telegram from Buffalo stating that his bunch of 220 clipped lambs had sold on the market for $9.50 per hundred. This sale finishes up the 1,528 lambs that Mr. Gaige has had on feed the past season, all of which averaged 97 pounds in Buffalo. One load sold at $10 per hundred, five at $9.50 and one at $9.25, all clipped stuff. The wool sold for $2,400 and the lambs brought nearly $16,000. When first put on feed in the fall this stuff averaged sixty pounds weight and cost Mr. Gaige $4.75 per hundred. Taking the increase and the difference in cost and selling price the figures show that he has received for feed about $12,000, the cost of which can only be estimated, as he raised his own grain and feed. This splendid showing of big profits is extremely gratifying to Mr. Gaige, and is a banner record considering the large number of feeders handled.—Jonesville Gazette.

In a batfest Tawas City won from Alabaster last Sunday on the Alabaster grounds. Swartz, A. Mark and Murphy furnished the hitting streaks each getting four hits. A peculiar feature was the fact that no Tawas City player was left on base and no Alabaster player stole a base. The wet broken ground was the cause of numerous errors on both sides.

International Press Bible Study Club.

We again call attention to our club in connection with the I. P. B. Q. We are safe in saying that nothing in the line of bible study has so profoundly impressed the people of this locality as the "Suggestive Questions," which we print today for the ninth week. If any of our readers have not read these questions they had better commence, or they will soon begin to feel lonesome.

If you are already a subscriber to the Herald, can you spend $1.50 cents better than by ordering this paper for 57 weeks or to the end of this contest, for some worthy young person, that he or she may take up the course of reading and compete for the prizes. Only one person can use one paper, as but one coupon will appear in each, and that is sufficient only for one person to certify that the reading has been done. Now is the time to put the Herald into the hands of all who should take up the study of these "Suggestive Questions," so as to be in good trim to start when the contest commences in five weeks from now. If you can induce any person, young or old, to take up this easy course of study, you will do more good than you can ever estimate. Now is the time to come into line yourself and to induce others to do so. Remember, $1.50 will secure the Herald for you to the end of the contest, or 57 weeks.

State Fair Model Farms.

Another innovation has been introduced to make the 63rd annual state fair noteworthy as a fair of real features. A model farm will be promoted and 50 boys of Detroit, 25 of them Boy Scouts and the other organizations which have applied including the Ford Republic, will farm plots of ground 75x100 feet, starting as soon as the plot of ground adjoining the automobile building on the east has been prepared for the young farmers. This plot of 400 feet frontage by 1000 feet depth will be divided into 50 farms. The model farms will be an exclusive feature of the state fair, as will be the Boys State Fair School, Michigan being leader in many novel features later adopted by other states. Like the state fair school, the model farm was an idea projected by Secretary and Manager J. E. Hannon and adopted. The boy farmers will all be from Wayne county and competent men will instruct them in every manner possible to work out their plans profitably to themselves and to the fair which will provide prizes in gold, $100 to the boy who shows the best developed farm, $50 in gold to the second and $25 to the third. Many supplementary prizes will be offered by the business men of Detroit. The state fair management makes but one condition, 25 farms must be actively worked at the time of the fair, when the young farmers will exhibit their crops and at the close of the fair receive that which they have raised as an additional profit for their hard work.

The young tillers of the soil will be allowed to beautify their farms with flowers. The farm management plans in this farming project to provide an answer to the question oftentimes asked but seldom answered, "what shall we do to improve the young city chap between the ages of 14 and 16 years."

The small beginning of 1912 will grow from year to year until the miniature farms of Michigan's great annual fair will be the leading features. The model farm idea which is in keeping with the boys state fair school, the former arousing the interest of the city lad and the latter that of the country boy, brings the lads of the state into close touch and the youngsters will be brought close together during the week of the fair and profit greatly thereby.

IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY WM. A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 178 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

The plan this time is for a little five-room cottage for $1,000; that is, it should be built for $1,000 in towns and smaller cities where labor and material have not gone entirely out of reach. In these days of prosperity, it seems to be necessary to jump a little higher every time you reach for something. There is a limit, no doubt, and we may reach it some day. In the meantime we shall get as much as we can for our own productions, and buy in the cheapest markets possible.

It is difficult these times to build a house for $1,000; but it can be done if we hold our ambition sufficiently in check. You can have a good deal of comfort in a $1,000 house if you plant it on the right lot and arrange it with care to get the most for the money. It is more difficult to plan a satisfactory cheap house than a good house twice as large, because we are hampered every time we undertake to make a move. We have not room enough to turn without bumping into some new problem.

You cannot run a hall down through the middle of a small house without wasting a whole lot of room. You must have the house wider if you do, and this means a great deal more expense in the roof. When you get above 28 feet in width, you have quite a roof problem to deal with. This house is 28 feet wide and 40 feet long, which is a very good proportion. The roof is plain and straight, being just slightly relieved in one or two places for looks, which makes a straight roof that any carpenter can go ahead with and work right along until it is done. When there is no stairway, a hall is not necessary. By leaving out the

of this size are enough at any time, and they are easily taken care of.

There are no built-on porches in this plan. It is cheaper to include the porches under one roof, and there is no objection to doing so when building a cottage house. There is no room overhead where you will suffer from a cold floor.

What is all right and proper for one style of house often is all wrong for another. It makes a great deal of difference in building, whether a man can go right along on one straight job. If you can start on a plan and work right around it without any breaks, the work moves along quickly from start to finish; but if the men have to knock off now and then to start some projection, this appears to the contractor like commencing another job.

Modern plans are intended to utilize all the space within the four walls to the best possible advantage, and to design the exterior that is worth the money it costs and is as pleasing in appearance as possible; but first of all, the house must be comfortable.

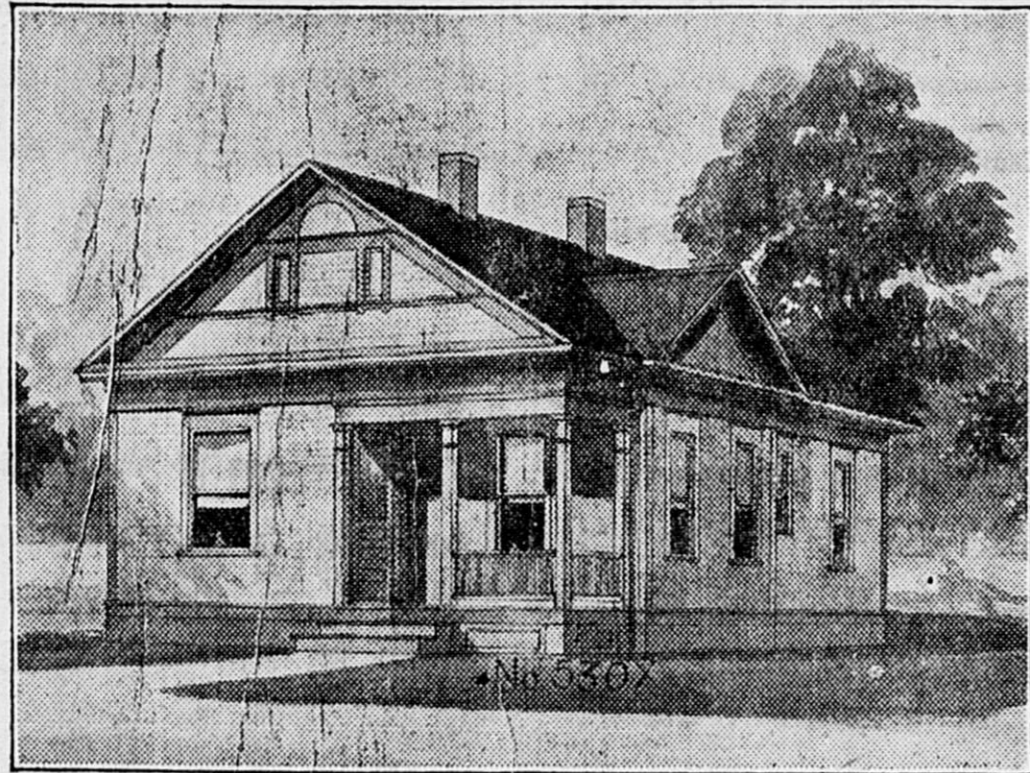

SECRETIVE MEN OF ACTION

World's Most Able Soldiers and Statesmen Averse to Sharing Thoughts With Others.

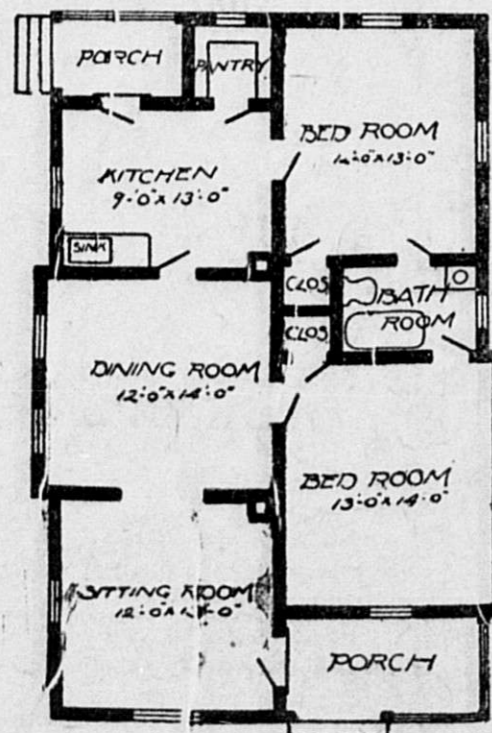

Washington's reserve made him stiff, formal and ill at ease in company, but it also prevented his plans from being betrayed to the enemy and the country from being deceived by his promises.

William the Silent was frugal of words, because a reserve that concealed his designs, even from those acting with him, was necessary to the independence of the Netherlands.

The most dramatic of silent men was Wallenstein, the antagonist of Gustavus Adolphus and the commander of the emperor's armies in the Thirty Years' War. He insisted that the deepest silence should reign around him. His officers took care that no loud conversation should disturb their general. They knew a chamberlain had been hanged for waking him with orders and an officer who would wear clanking spurs in the commander's presence had been secretly put to death. In the rooms of Wallenstein's palace the servants gilded as if phantoms and a dozen sentinels moved around his tent charged to secure the silence the general demanded. Chains were stretched across the streets and roads in order to guard him against the disturbance of sounds. Wallenstein's taciturnity and love of silence that caused him to be irritated at the slightest noise were due to his constitutional temperament. He never smiled, he never asked advice from anyone, and he could not endure to be gazed at, even when giving an order. The soldiers when he crossed the camp pretended not to see him, knowing that a serious look would bring them punishment.

plan to keep food in a room where people spend a great deal of time. Some kinds of food are very susceptible of contamination from the air.

The sitting room may be made as warm as necessary with a good coal or wood stove, and, by placing a drum in the bedroom, these two rooms will be comfortable in any kind of weather. The pipe from the kitchen range may be made to warm the back bedroom in the same way. This makes a very economical way of heating the house. The kitchen fire is needed anyway, and is sufficient in rapid weather. Two fires in a house

The Prisoner's Plate.

A restaurant near the Tombs which frequently supplies the city prisoners with meals sent in dinner the other day to a man awaiting trial for burglary. When the dishes came back a message was found on the plate: "Please cut bread thick; I am a poor man." The letters had been cut out of a newspaper and pasted on the china with wet bread. The good-natured restaurant keeper made the slices of bread extra thick and threw in a large piece of apple pie with the next order. When the dishes were returned a grateful "Thanks" was pasted on the plate. No more messages were received for a week, though the restaurant man saw that the prisoner always got something extra. Then one day the empty plate came back bearing the prisoner's farewell: "Good-by and God bless you. I got seven years."

IN DECIDING ON A SILO

It is important that you secure the longest possible service and value for your money. Every dollar you invest should represent a definite, safe purpose that will not require spending additional dollars for repairs and rebuilding. THE IMPERISHABLE SILO is permanent and enduring because it is built of vitrified clay blocks which can never decay. This silo is storm-proof, acid-proof, moisture-proof and the walls are fire-proof. Better than concrete, which is porous and unsatisfactory in preserving silage. Our silos possess incalculable strength. Patent channel blocks in which steel bars are buried in mortar, concealed from view and not exposed to air and chemical influences, contribute so much strength that the silo could be filled with wheat and stand the test perfectly. THE IMPERISHABLE SILO IS WARRANTED! Buyer cannot lose in such an investment.

Few mothers consider the real importance of having their children's perfect confidence when they are young. It means to them that they can feel perfect trust in their sons and daughters when they are grown. It means that the mother need not worry about where Tom is if he is absent from the home for a few hours, because he will tell her all about it to morrow.

The fact that a boy knows that his father expects his confidence and that she places her trust in him will be his greatest incentive toward an upright, honorable manhood.

SWEET SOUNDS A MYSTERY

Remarkable Hindu Musical Instrument Puzzles Those Who Hear It for the First Time.

The Hindus have a number of musical instruments for which great antiquity is claimed. Of these there is one that is very curious, not so much by reason of its form or structure, but because of the fact that it is played in a very peculiar manner. It is not a stringed instrument, it is not a wind instrument, and it is not an instrument of percussion. It consists of two small silver trumpets with a very delicate apparatus within.

When the natives play upon this instrument they invariably excite the greatest wonder in the foreigner, who is perplexed to determine how the player produces the sounds, for he does not place the instrument to his lips, but adjusts it to his neck. Foreigners have thought that a player of such an instrument must be a ventriloquist, employing the trumpets to convey a false impression.

It appears, however, that the variations of tone are produced by the variation in the quantity of air propelled through the instrument by the pulsations of the neck.

Nothing could be more curious, it is said, than to witness a performance upon this instrument and to hear the soft, sweet, musical sounds that emanate from the silver trumpets.—Harper's Weekly.

Death of Builder Deprived English Village of Contemplated House of Worship.

There is a curious history regarding an unfinished church which stands at Hassall, near Sandbach, England. A former resident at the local hall, Mr. Lowndes, painfully conscious of the lack of provision for the spiritual wants of the people in the neighborhood determined to build a church at his own expense. After carefully choosing a site, he gave instructions for the erection of a structure in the modern style capable of seating 400 or 500 persons. Work on it was begun in the summer of 1836, and was pushed on steadily till the day on which Queen Victoria was crowned, by which time the building was well advanced. The crypts, about ten in number, had been put in, the walls and roofs were complete, and the scantlings for the floor were fixed. Indeed, partly in consequence of the national rejoicings, and partly to celebrate the progress which had been made, the building was smothered in flags and decorations, and was the center of the local festivities. Next day Mr. Lowndes was seized with an illness which quickly proved fatal, and with his passing all work on the church ceased. Though the building could have been finished at comparatively small cost, it was abandoned; and it has not been used since, except by tourists, whose names "hallow and adorn it," as Mark Twain said of those on the ruins of Cain's Altar, by the thousand.—Wide World Magazine.

Sympathize With the Child.

Never laugh at your little one's confidences. Sympathize with his plans, no matter how wild they may seem. If you think his imagination is carrying him too far, administer a slight check by asking if such and such a plan seems the best thing to do.

It is to a gentle mother of this kind that the son will carry his hopes and fears when he is a man full grown.

It means to them that they can feel perfect trust in their sons and daughters when they are grown. It means that the mother need not worry about where Tom is if he is absent from the home for a few hours, because he will tell her all about it to morrow.

Hypocrisy and Sincerity. Matt. vi: 1-18.

Golden Text—Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them, else ye have no reward of your Father who is in heaven. Matt. vi: 1.

(1) Verses 1-4—Is it or not, and why, always wrong to let people know the fact and the amount of our givings to benevolence?

(2) If we give to the cause of God gladly and to the extent of our ability, should we seek to hide the fact or be willing to have it known, and why?

(3) If we give more to a good cause when our givings are made public than when they are not, are we or not, and why, necessarily hypocritical?

(4) If we give secretly or otherwise with the expectation of being rewarded by God, is our motive noble or ignoble, and why? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(5) Verses 5-6—If a person prays in public for the sake of being heard, what sort of man is he?

(6) If a person prays longer and with more fervor in public than he does in private; what sort of man is he?

(7) If Jesus here does not condemn praying in public, what does he condemn?

(8) What are the benefits of private prayer?

(9) Why is it impossible for a person to be a Christian who does not have private communion with God?

(10) Verses 7-8—What benefit is a form of words in prayer, even if appropriate, if the heart and mind are not in the prayer?

(11) How do you reconcile the fact that Jesus prayed all night long with the instructions he here gives concerning prayer?

(12) If the Heavenly Father knows what we have need of before we ask him, what is the need or benefit of praying?

(13) Verse 9—Does Jesus give what we call the Lord's prayer as an example of brevity or as a form to be used, or both?

(14) Verses 9-13—What and how many petitions does the Lord's Prayer include?

(15) What things are we to pray for and in what order of importance according to this model prayer?

(16) Verses 14-15—May we take it as literally true and without exception that if we forgive all those who have injured us God forgives us? Give your reasons.

(17) If we do not forgive others, but pray earnestly to God to forgive us, what will be the result?

(18) Verses 16-18—Why is it that fasting is very rarely taught in these days?

(19) What is the benefit of fasting?

(20) Is fasting in the way Jesus here directs obligatory upon Christians?

NEVER WILL BEAR REPETITION

Business Man Has Found That He Cannot Repeat Verbal Castigation Over Phone.

When the telephone bell rang the senior partner said to the junior partner: "If that is that man Bailey, just you tell him what you think of him, even if you lay yourself liable to a fine for violent language."

The junior partner relieved himself of a few abusive epithets, but presently, after a brief pause, he expressed the same sentiments couched in much milder terms. Said the junior partner: "There you go, crawling again. Why can't you stick to what you said in the first place?"

The junior partner dropped the receiver. "Supposing you come and say it yourself," he said.

The senior partner did so, but after a little he, too, repeated his harangue with all the backbone left out. "It's no use," he said. "You can't curse a man twice over the phone who answers your first outburst with 'I beg your pardon. I didn't quite catch that. Say it again, please.' That is Bailey's way. You try to say it again, but the second time it sounds pretty rank even in your own ears and your temper of rage moderates into a tranquil breeze."

Misdirected Books.

The post office sale of misdirected books, which formed no inconsiderable part of the $10,000 worth of miscellaneous articles disposed of by auction in last year's clearance sale of postal matter of unascertainable ownership, amounted to 1,222 packages.

Nearly every language spoken in our broad land was represented in the collection, which included, as a special curiosity, a Choctaw version of the Book of Psalms. In the entire lot Bibles and books on religious topics predominated.

If more than 1,000 books were misdirected, how many thousands, or perhaps hundreds of thousands, must have been carried by the mails? And how many times that number would be thus carried every year if we had what many another country has, a thorough-going parcels post system.—Dial.

BOOBY BIRD IS WELL NAMED

Most Stupid of All Feathered Creatures, Though Its Eggs Are Pronounced Good.

Doubtless the term "booby," signifying a stupid creature, has been misapplied in some cases, but it correctly describes several varieties of birds of the gannet species common to certain islands of the Caribbean sea.

The booby is a small water fowl, and in spring and summer millions of its kind flock to seven little islands some thirty-five miles southeast of Jamaica. The booby bird is so called because of its stupidity, since it has absolutely no fear of man. The islands frequented by these birds are leased to private individuals who derive a large income from the collection and sale of booby eggs. Nearly 60,000 dozen booby eggs were taken from the seven little islands to Jamaica last year, where they were sold at the rate of about $3.25 for a case containing 500.

An American consular officer familiar with the subject states that while booby eggs are only about two-thirds as large as hen's eggs they are but little inferior in quality. There might be a market in this country for the booby product.

Cautious Through Experience.

"Come over and play with my little boy, sonnie," called the pleasant-faced new neighbor to the solemn-faced urchin on the fence between the two lots.

"Is your little boy sick of anything?" came the child's earnest question.

"No, indeed, sonny. Why?"

"Cause I've had my tonsils taken out, an' my adenoids removed, an' my appendix cut out, an' I've been vaccinated an' serumized for typhoid an' spinal meningitis, an' I've had anti-toxin injected, an' I do hope I won't have to have anything done to me this year, so's for a little while I can have a bit of fun!"

Reno Rumbings.

James DeBow, a well-to-do farmer of Reno township was instantly killed by a dynamite explosion last Friday afternoon while blasting stumps on his farm half a mile south of Taft. Mr. and Mrs. DeBow purchased the George Charters farm a year ago and moved here from southern Michigan. Mr. DeBow was a respected citizen and a good neighbor and had made many friends during his residence among us. The funeral service was held at the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. F. D. Voller assisted by Rev. Snyder, of Hale, conducted the service which was largely attended.

The remains were taken to Calhoun county for burial. Notwithstanding the heavy down-pour of rain on the morning of departure, a large company of sorrowing friends were at the train to say good bye. The widow started on her sad journey Monday morning accompanied by her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Self, of Hale.

The rainy season continues.

CARD OF THANKS.

MRS. JAMES DEBOW

DESCENDED FROM OLD ADAM

Blue-Eyed, Innocent-Looking Youngster by No Means the Saint He Seemed to Be.

A little incident came up in discussing boys at the Y. M. C. A. the other night that brought forth a story from a man who had once been a director of the Boys' club.

"I was standing in the door of the Boys' club," said he, "extolling the perfect disposition of a little blue-eyed youngster who was sitting in a window a few feet away from us. The woman member of the board of directors to whom I was doing the extolling had remarked how nice the little boy seemed, such a placid face, such pretty blue eyes. She was sure he had a lovely disposition. I agreed with her perfectly. And I might have thought so yet, but for a rude awakening. A small boy leaned out of the window above the model youngster. He had a medicine ball—one of those big leather bags, much like a round football, except that it was stuffed with cotton. The ball had lost most of its filling. Little Algenou or Jimmie, or whatever his name happened to be, leaned out the window, and taking deadly aim, he dropped the dilapidated ball square on little Blue Eyes' head. The effect was volcanic. Little Boy Blue poured out a string of street English that would have shamed a professional."

"Say, you mutt, I'm after you! When I get up there I'll tear your bloomin' block off!" Then followed a stream of undiluted profanity. I turned sadly to the board member. Both of us were disappointed."—Indianapolis News.

Burglars Aid Collections.

"Being a moral member of the community, naturally I deplore burglaries," said the church treasurer. "If I studied the welfare of the church alone I should encourage them, for next to the burglars themselves, the people who profit most from an epidemic of small robberies are the churches."

"With peace and safety reigning in a neighborhood, householders leave most of their money at home when they go to church, consequently they contribute in dribslets, but just let that same locality become infested with burglars and everybody takes his money to church and increases his contributions proportionately."

Barred From Hamburg Bourse.

Their use is definitely forbidden "to all female persons," to individuals who have been deprived of their civic rights, who are under some form of judicial restraint, who have been adjudged guilty of fraudulent bankruptcy, persons adjudged to be in simple bankruptcy, those unable to meet their obligations, and such as are forbidden the use of the bourse through the decision of the court of honor.
