The U. S. Postoffice Department has again reminded us that we must not send the Herald to subscribers who are more than one year in arrears if we desire to retain our second-class mailing privileges. Fortunately the Herald has but very few of that kind of subscribers, but of necessity those few we have must go, and this is the last issue they will receive unless they renew.

However there are a few more who are getting dangerously near that point, and we hope they will be prompt in sending in their renewals. Do not delay, but attend to this matter today.

An acre of land that can produce $75 in one season is worth that amount for selling purposes. That's what much of our land will do in the growth of alfalfa, and even higher. Mr. Chandler says it he had had to buy all the alfalfa fed last winter at the regular market price it would have made his alfalfa land worth at least $100 per acre for the season. As a rule he gets three crops per season and is exceedingly satisfied with the returns and believes the time will come when this section will be known for its quality and abundance of this most splendid crop.—Onaway Inter-Lake.

Obituary.

August Kassischke was born in Germany, Dec. 26, 1844, and died at his home in this city, July 11, 1912, from stomach trouble, from which he has been a great sufferer for the past two and a half years.

The deceased was married to Miss Bertha Gaul, in their native land in 1875. Of this union eight children were born, two dying in childhood. The family came from Germany to Tawas City in 1888. Mrs. Kassischke passed to the great beyond soon after their arrival here. Some years later Mr. Kassischke was united in marriage Mrs. Melotte, who survives him. His surviving children are, Charles of East Tawas; Otto, of Indianapolis; Emil and Ernest, of this city, and Mrs. Otto Look, of Tawas township. Eight grandchildren and a large circle of friends are also left to mourn his death.

The funeral was held from the Zion Lutheran church last Sunday, Rev. Carl C. Henning officiating. The remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of friends.

Allen Withdraws.

William Allen, who has been in the race for the republican nomination for sheriff announces his withdrawal and requests his supporters to vote for Louis Pringle, of Grant, at the primaries August 27. There has been a feeling among the farmers of the county for some time that they might land the nomination for sheriff if their forces could be united on one man, and as a result the matter has been adjusted and Mr. Allen has withdrawn. This narrows the race down to Mr. Pringle, Ex-sheriff Johnson and Deputy Sheriff McMurray.

Alabaster Wins

Alabaster still keeps up the good work. Last Sunday she took East Tawas etc., into camp to the tune of 6 to 5. McCausland, who started for Alabaster, was wild and ineffective but Baker could hardly be touched, only 17 men facing him in 5 innings. Dillon pitched a good game except in 6th, when with three on bases he passed one and hit another. Koffman of East Tawas started in the hitting, he getting 4 hits out of 4 time up, stealing home once.

Score by Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E
Alabaster 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 0 2-5 7 9
E Tawas 0 3 2 0 0 0 0 0 0-5 7 9

A Plain Statement by the Sheriff of Iosco County.

I have heard from various sources of a misstatement that is being circulated among the people of Iosco county relative to the case of people vs. Crosby Brown, who was arrested in this county for violation local-option law. I have also understood that certain parties are using this case in political matters against Mr. Black, the present prosecuting attorney. For the benefit of all those who wish to know the facts, they are as follows:

On January 20th a complaint was made by me before William B. Kelly, Justice of the Peace, against Crosby Brown for a violation of the local-option law, and was based upon the evidence I had in my possession at that time and upon his (Crosby Brown's) statement to me that he had given away whiskey in Iosco county. A warrant was duly issued on the same day by the justice and properly served by me and Crosby Brown was placed in jail. On January 22nd Crosby Brown was arraigned before the Justice and the examination set for the following Saturday. Bail was placed at the amount of $200.00, which he was unable to furnish and therefore remained in the county jail until the Saturday. On the day set for the examination, January 27th, the prosecuting attorney ingoing over the evidence I had secured, decided that as Crosby Brown was a witness for the people in the case then pending in court against Oliver T. Peters for violation of the local-option law and for the purpose of securing further evidence on the trial of the Peters case relative to the guilt of Crosby Brown, requested the Justice to dismiss the case against Crosby Brown for the present, and he was accordingly discharged by the justice.

Every action of myself and the prosecuting attorney was regular and the case was handled with the same usual care and attention that has surrounded every other case tried during the administration of Mr. Black as prosecuting attorney, and both Mr Black and myself were thoroughly convinced on Crosby Brown's own statements regarding the giving away of whiskey in Iosco county that he was guilty as charged.

After the disposal of the above matters a suit for damages was started in Saginaw county by Crosby Brown against myself as sheriff, which was later dismissed and costs taxed against Crosby Brown. Later a case was started in Iosco county against me on the same grounds which is pending at the present time, and I ask all of the citizens to hold their opinion in this matter until this case against me is heard, which will undoubtedly be tried at the September term of this court.

I may add that I fully expect to show that I acted in the case, the same as in other matters, entirely within the law and only in my line of duty as sheriff. Mr. Black, the present prosecuting attorney, has been thorough and painstaking in the investigation of every complaint laid before him relative to the violation of any law and the record of his cases in which convictions have been had, thirty-five in number as against three acquittals, shows that he has understood his business and has brought into court only such cases as were proper to bring in.

In addition this the expenses attached to the prosecuting attorney's office have been materially decreased during the past two years, and the sheriff's fees have been considerably less.

This statement is made by me personally and not at the request of Mr. Black, but only with a desire to place the truth before the people of Iosco county in relation to the above matter.

Very respectfully,
GEORGE H. HADWIN,
Sheriff of Iosco County.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSES and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

Quit Yer Knocking

Every community has its good citizens who will put themselves out to help a neighbor, boost for the locality and who do countless little things that insure to the good of the general public. Likewise every community has its bunch of knockers, who are really dissatisfied with themselves and therefore ready to make it equally unpleasant for their neighbors. They don't like Jones' way of business, are displeased because Smith has attained some degree of popularity in the community, and regard it a sacred duty to butt in whenever there is an opportunity to upset the plans that Brown has long been making to better himself.

The idea of bettering his own condition by so doing has never occurred to him. Indeed, he has no desire to profit by such acts except in the satisfaction he acquires by upsetting the plans or hopes of the other fellow. He will talk with his neighbor and agree that the particular community he lives in is prospering and conditions are satisfactory, but when his neighbor is about to sell a horse or his farm he will call the prospective buyer around the corner and tell him "confidentially," to look out or he may be cheated. He will acclaim the great importance of securing more labor employing enterprises in the community, but will see positively where every such industry as may be suggested is "not what we want." He will supplicate long and loud at the weekly prayer meeting for the blessings of Providence to descend upon the church, and spend his spare time the next week criticizing the preacher.

He has soured. He finds fault with the coffee is weak at the breakfast, and grows when requested by his wife to buy another package of coffee. He gets no comfort in attending to his own business, because as a rule he doesn't have much to require his attention. His mind is intent therefore upon trying to put as many as possible in the same frame of mind because he knows misery likes company.

Whether there is any hope of reform for him is a question, but there should be constant effort to keep the coming of generations from falling into such a condition. Save your grousches and fire them at the dog in the back yard; bestow the smiles upon the children at the family fireside. It will pay.—Selected.

A Tariff for Revenue Only.

It is evident that the great fight of the coming campaign will be made on the Democratic declaration for "A Tariff for Revenue Only" and an attempt to stamper the people on this issue.

"A Tariff for Revenue Only" is deceptive, as it is not fully understood by the people. "A Tariff for Revenue Only," means that there will be no tariff so high that trusts like the steel trust, the cotton and wool trusts, etc., can keep out foreign goods while selling abroad for prices much lower than they will sell at home, while paying the lowest wages paid in this country, but that the tariff will be placed at such rate to really protect them against legitimate competition, but when the interests get together and put up prices beyond all reason, foreigners can send in their goods and pay government tax upon them and bring down the price of home manufactures. Thus protecting the people, and bringing in a revenue to the government. As it is now, the government gets no revenue out of the duty on many things, as they can't be paid by foreigners. A lower tariff will bring a higher revenue, lower the cost of what people must have, and at the same time amply protect all who do need or deserve it.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Democratic Politics

This week has seen a general activity in democratic politics throughout the state. Candidate petitions are being circulated for state, congressional, legislative and county officials generally. For state officials, there will be but one candidate for the nomination of governor and lieutenant governor. Edwin O. Wood, of Flint, will be nominated for governor without opposition, as will Francis T. McDonald of the Soo, for lieutenant governor. For United States senator the names of Alfred Lucking, of Detroit, and George P. Hummer, of Grand Rapids, will appear, while John T. Winship, of Saginaw, and Edward Frensdorf, of Hudson, will contest for the nomination of congressman-at-large.

Thus far, Lewis P. Coumans, of Bay City, is the only candidate for the nomination of congressman from the tenth district. For state senator no name has yet appeared. In the Isosco legislative district James Hull, of Oscoda, is being urged by his friends to make the run, and it is more than likely that petitions will be circulated within a few days.

Petitions are being circulated for a full ticket in Isosco county, with two candidates for sheriff, and prospects that other contests will develop within a day or two. Thus far the candidates are as follows: Judge of probate, James LeBerge, East Tawas; sheriff, W. P. Vaughn, Oscoda, and John Jordan, of Sherman; clerk, Alfred J. Noel, East Tawas; treasurer, Joseph W. Minor, Tawas City; register of deeds, Albert L. Bleau, of Alabaster; prosecuting attorney, Albert Widdis, East Tawas; drain commissioner, Grover Lomason, Burleigh; surveyor, C. H. Anschuetz, Tawas; coroners, Levi Hennigar, Oscoda, and Ferdinand Market, of Reno.

The state convention to nominate state officers will be held at Grand Rapids September 26th. The county convention will occur Sept. 9. Delegates to the county convention will be elected at the primaries on August 27.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Sound Argument Advanced for Buell.

Republicans of Bay county and the Tenth congressional district are in somewhat of a quandary as to the development at Chicago two weeks ago. The politicians, who have been jumping back and forth, in and out of the band wagon that they think drives down the road of expediency, are now resting and studying.

It is laughable, too, to see this condition, since the people know and are marking time to get the wisecracks. This is especially true of the congressional race, where the line of thought naturally points first in such consideration. An admirer of Frank Buell, contender for the republican nomination put out some pretty sound argument in the following interview with a representative of this paper:

"Mr. Buell didn't have to do any bandwagon climbing as a result of the Chicago meeting. He is a fair believer in republican principles as applied to interests of the people. He is progressive in every certain sense of the word—a true progressive who desires to serve the people that such service may aid in the progress of the farmer and the worker as well as the business man and the manufacturers.

Two years ago when the question of reciprocity was agitating the minds of the people of this nation and Canada, Mr. Buell did not have to be Taft or Roosevelt where the best interest of the Tenth district lay. At a time when even the press hesitated to make a stand, Mr. Buell as a member of the Bay county convention held February 17, 1911, insisted on a resolution condemning reciprocity. He then claimed that reciprocity was not for the best interests of our farmer and the resolution was adopted.

He is no band wagon rider; he is one of the wheel horses that help to move the wagon and carry the load.

Mr. Buell's whole life record in the district proves him to be progressive in national ideas and ideals. Two years ago his published platform was progressive in every particular and feature.

If Frank Buell is elected to congress he will represent all the people and no special interests. The farmers of the district are with him, almost to a man, and labor is strong for Buell. He has a life record that he can point to with pride and he doesn't need to four-flush or get into any band wagon. He is a man of the people, for the people and the people will elect him.

Mr. Buell has long been an extensive employer of labor and he has always been fair and honorable in his dealings with those on his pay roll. He is a big factor in the business and industrial life of the district. At the present he is shipping six cars of logs daily to the mills here to be manufactured into lumber.—Bay City Industrial Herald.

For County Clerk

To the Republican Electors of the County of Isosco.

Gentlemen—I am a candidate for re-nomination for the office of County Clerk. If you are satisfied with my conduct of the office, and treatment of the patrons of the same, I would very much appreciate your votes at the August primary.

One-Man Structure.

The biggest one-man structure in England is Stivalch church, near Coventry. James Green, a native of that city, not only worked the stones used in it, but with the help of a single laborer, placed them all in position, and, in fact, constructed the whole of it, from foundation to turrets. How long it took him to accomplish this feat is not clear. He is said to have been engaged on the task for 40 years, but the interval which elapsed between the demolition of the old church and the opening of the present one was only seven years. At all events, Green's "record," like many others in connection with building, will, we may be sure, stand for generations.—Wide World Magazine.

The Growth of the Kingdom. Mark 1:26-32; Matt. xiii:33.

Golden Text—Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as in heaven. Matt. vi:10.

(1.) Verse 26—What does "the kingdom of God" here stand for?

(2.) What seed is here referred to and what is the ground in which it is sown?

(3.) Whom does the "Man" represent which sows the seed and how is the seed sown?

(4.) Verse 27—After a minister or teacher or any other Christian has sown the seed of the gospel ought he to be restless or anxious concerning his growth? Give your reasons.

(5.) What is the proof that the seed of the gospel will when sown always bring forth its proper fruit?

(6.) Verse 28—The earth produces a great variety of things by self propagation, without human instrumentality. Would you say, or not, and why, that Christianity is in any measure analogous to this? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(7.) In preaching the gospel, in heaven lands what are generally the first results and what the various stages in the process toward the ripe fruit of Christianity?

(8.) What is the meaning of the "full corn in the ear" as applied to the fruit of Christianity.

(9.) Verse 29—When the seed of the gospel is sown in the human heart or in a country does it ever die without germinating even if years intervene without visible fruit? Give your reasons.

(10.) What is the earthly fruit of Christianity?

(11.) Who are they that reap the harvest and enjoy the fruit of the gospel?

(12.) When will the final harvest of Christianity be reaped and what will it be?

(13.) Verse 30—What would you compare the kingdom of God to and what are some of the other comparisons which Jesus makes elsewhere?

(14.) Verses 31-32—What are some things like the mustard seed, exceedingly small, upon which vast issues depend? (15.) What evidence or incidents can you give to illustrate the fact that the small mustard seed becomes a very large bush?

notes Thoughtfulness to the Observer, as Well as Some of the New Virtues.

There is no doubt that the expression of the hand in higher civilized races has changed, in a hundred years, said an observant woman the other day, quite as much as that of the face. "The perfect hand of the painters," says Richard Pryce in his novel "Christopher," "the Hand Beautiful of convention, lacked subtleties." Now these subtleties may be perceived any night at any dinner table where Superior Persons are gathered together. The modern hand is a thoughtful hand, and makes use of gestures which denote the new virtues of pity and altruism, as well as an extraordinary feeling for the arts, especially that of music. If you took an audience at one of the classical concerts and examined their hands, you would hardly find one of the old, blunt, square-fingered, brutal type among them. Sir Henry Irving had beautiful and essentially "modern hands," and he used them with extraordinary effect in his acting. How often one would look at his hands instead of his face in some great scene—so expressive were they of his emotions. In medieval times only saints and martyrs possessed the kind of a hand which you see nowadays belonging to a high school teacher or a celebrated physician. Yet Mr. Pryce's heroine believes her intellectual hands. She is an ardent coquette, and, in spite of her superfine and modern emotions, contrives to treat the hero very shabbily. These modern hands, with all their subtleties, are therefore not to be trusted. Indeed, their very complexities are a snare to the unwariness observer.

If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day, and crawling into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. For sale by all dealers.

WOULDN'T TAKE HIS WORK Health Bulletin Given Out From Public Only Arouses Skepticism in One Mind.

"The new preacher in our town was progressive enough to enliven even that humdrum performance of reading the notices of the day," said the suburbanite. "After mumbling over the services for the coming week, the dates of two approaching marriages and the purpose of the day's collection, he said in perfectly distinct tones: "I am glad to announce that Mrs. Hollis was able to sit up a while last evening, that a very favorable report was telephoned in this morning from the sick room of Mr. Grant, and that the temperature of Mr. Williams has been reduced to 98."

"Then he preached a sermon, but nobody knew what about, for all the congregation was revolving in their minds the physical condition of our sick parishioners. Many, like myself, went away believing that the minister's innovation would be of inestimable value to sick folk, who are pestered to death by people inquiring how they are; of inestimable value, that is, unless too many of the congregation shall share the skepticism of the woman who walked down the aisle ahead of me. Said she: "I don't believe that Sarah Hollis was able to sit up last night. I was there at noon and she couldn't lift a finger then. I'm going right up to see about it."

HAVE ALMOST HUMAN BRAIN Intelligence of the Elephant Proved to Be Developed to a Marked Degree.

The elephant looks stupid enough, but his intelligence is developed to a marked degree. Dr. Romanes tells several interesting stories of these animals. A man was one day feeding a tame elephant with potatoes which the elephant took from his hand. A small round potato fell on the ground just out of reach.

After several unsuccessful attempts to get it the animal blew so strong a blast of breath against it that it was dashed against a wall, from which it rebounded so far that he easily reached it. It is said that the elephant will often blow just beyond small objects out of reach so that the reflected current of air will drive them toward him.

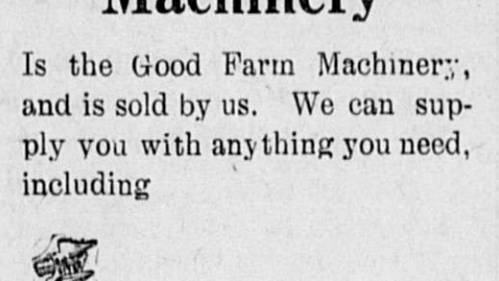

Dr. Romanes repeats the story of an elephant that was chained to a tree near a little oven in which his driver had just baked some rice cakes. When the driver went away, leaving his cakes to cool, the elephant unfastened the chain from his leg, uncovered the oven, opened it, ate the cakes, and covered the oven with earth and stones as he had found it. He then returned to his place, and wound the chain about his leg as it was before, although he could not fasten it. The driver, on his return, found the elephant with his back toward the oven, and looking innocent, but the cakes had completely disappeared.—Youth's Companion.

TO COOK VEGETABLES

SUGGESTIONS THAT MAY BE HELPFUL TO HOUSEWIFE.

Properly Cooked and Dished Up Vegetables Should Take More Prominent Place on Table—Few Do the Work Right.

One of the greatest drawbacks to the success of vegetarianism is that so few people know how to cook vegetables. Sudden boiling is not in any sense of the word right cooking even if the vegetables are half-strained afterwards and sent to table with streaks of well-watered butter through them, masquerading as sauce. When vegetables are boiled the water should be saved for stock, for it has nourishing qualities that have been given out in the process of cooking; to prevent this cooking by steam is the best method that can be recommended. Properly cooked and dished up vegetables might be promoted to a much more important position at our tables; on occasion they might very well take the place of meat even among those who do not profess vegetarian principles.

When steaming is resorted to, the steam should be brought directly into contact with the green food that is being cooked, if possible. A home-made steamer may, of course, be contrived, and a milk can may be made to serve this purpose if a muslin cloth is tied across the top. Carrots, peas, sprouts, cauliflower or spinach may be set in this inner can and steamed while potatoes are boiling in the water outside. Place a little butter in the improvised bain marie if cabbage, spinach, sprouts, French beans or cauliflower should be the vegetable course, and add a little water (or in some cases milk), then allow the vegetables to steam slowly, the water in the outside vessel being kept boiling, but not too fast.

While boiling the pan should be well filled with water, which should always be kept boiling, and the lid of the pan should not be quite closed. Here it may be said that the method of pouring off the water preparatory to adding a little butter is a barbarous one; the vegetables should be thoroughly drained and then returned into a pan in which the butter is already melted.

Potatoes are best cooked by steam and new potatoes are particularly nice when prepared in this fashion, quite dry with a little butter added before they are sent to table.

It is because vegetables that have been cooked by steam have not so good a color as when boiled that objection is sometimes taken to this method and the perforated steamer preferred. When, however, boiling is the method chosen the vegetables should be carefully prepared and outside green leaves should all be removed while steeping in salt gives firmness and will destroy and remove any lurking insects. If the vegetable is then put for five minutes into boiling water and afterwards again into cold the color will be improved and a little sugar in the cooking water also helps the color.

Cauliflower is a vegetable which appeals to all tastes, and it is also one of the most nourishing of our vegetables, and in price practically within the reach of all. Like all vegetables for boiling, it requires care in cooking. First soak the cauliflower in salted water for an hour, drain and leave it whole or break it into sprigs if preferred, removing the outer leaves. Then put it into a large pan full of boiling salted water and boil till the green parts are soft.

Root vegetables, among which are included sea kale, celery, artichokes, turnips and carrots, are best boiled in unsalted water and the heat must not be too fast and furious, or the vegetable will become tough. Parsnip is one of the many vegetables which are unappreciated, because it is rarely cooked in a fashion which makes the most of its flavor. It should not be watery when served, but sent to table thoroughly dry with butter sauce.

Beef Rolls.

The remains of cold roast or boiled beef, seasoning to taste of salt, pepper and minced herbs; puff paste. Mince the beef tolerably fine, with a small amount of its own fat; add a seasoning of pepper, salt and chopped herbs; put the whole into a roll of puff paste and bake for half an hour or rather longer should the roll be very large. Beef patties may be made of cold meat by mincing and seasoning beef as directed above and baking in a rich puff paste in patty tins.

Sauce for Plum Pudding.

Cream together a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of butter. When light and creamy add the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. Stir into this one wineglass of wine or brandy, a pinch of salt and one large cupful of hot cream or rich milk. Beat this mixture well, place it in a saucepan over the fire, stir it until it cooks sufficiently to thicken like cream. Be sure and not let it boil.

Apple Butter.

Pare and quarter apples and cook them in just enough water to keep them from burning; about a pint of water to four quarts of apples; cook until very soft, then run them through a sieve and add half as much sugar as pulp. To four quarts of apples use half a teaspoon of whole cloves and cinnamon tied in a bag. Cook until good and thick.
