Declaring that to hire boys under the age of 16, even after school, without first securing permission of school superintendents, is against the Michigan law, State Labor Commissioner Perry F. Powers is sending out a request to all school superintendents of the state to pay more attention to their power as regulators of child labor in their communities.

Last Friday evening, Warren, the young son of Charles E. Phillips of East Tawas, was pushed from the Methodist church steps and sustained a bad fracture of his left wrist. Failing to secure the desired relief here, his aunt, Mrs. Hattie Grant, and Dr. Stealy, accompanied him to Mercy hospital, Bay City, Sunday evening, where the fracture was properly reduced.

The Northeastern Michigan Fair at Bay City last week was a big success in every department. The officers are to be congratulated on their first effort. The exhibits were so large that it was with difficulty that accommodations were found for them. The attendance was most satisfactory, and nothing but words of praise was heard for the show.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter C. Jacobs, of Alabaster, at high noon Wednesday, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Effie, to Michael H. Oates, Rev. W. A. Gregory officiating. Miss Maude Budd, of Bay City, was bridesmaid, while Thomas Sheldon acted as groomsmen. The Herald joins with the many friends of these popular young people in extending congratulations.

Writing to Rev. Blachford, Miss Noma Richards, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, says that her father, R. A. Richards, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis, is improving and is able to take a few auto rides. Miss Noma is still a loyal Michigander, as she writes: "It has been very hot here. I hope you have not had it so in Michigan, as I tell everyone Michigan is the only place—never too hot there. It would be a joke on me if it had been and some of these people should learn of it, for then my wonderful story would no longer be true. But no matter what the weather may be, I assure you I will talk for Michigan every time."

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Carlson, of Baldwin, have issued invitations announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen, to Andrew B. Christeson, of East Tawas, which will occur on the 18th inst.

A Colt Race.

At the request of a number of owners of colts and others, the fair management has put up a special prize of $35.00 for three-year-old colts. The race will be held on the last day of the fair, and promises to be the best card of the fair. A number have already signified their intentions of making entries, and considering the number of good three-year-olds there are in the county, there should be at least a dozen to face the starter.

To the Republican Electors of Isosco County.

I wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the republican electors of Isosco county for the loyal support accorded me in the primary election for the nomination of county drain commissioner, and if I am re-elected in November, I will try and manage the duties of the office in such a manner that my friends will not regret the trust they placed in me.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., Sept. 13, 1912

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, head of the pure food movement in America, has come out for Woodrow Wilson, and still later, has made a vigorous attack on Col. Roosevelt for his attitude on the pure food question. While Dr. Wiley has been generally known as progressive in tendencies and is much admired by many of the people who is supporting the colonel, it is interesting to note that he has expressed himself in more friendly terms toward President Taft than toward the latter's predecessor in the White House. Concerning the latter, he is quoted by the New York Herald as saying:

"Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly claimed credit for the enactment and enforcement of the food and drugs act of June 30, 1906—the pure food law, so called. I have in my possession a printed letter of his, under date of August 3, 1912, in which he makes the claim that it was due to his activity that the bill became a law. In the letter Mr. Roosevelt says that Dr. Wiley and a few other impractical visionaries had been trying for years to secure the passage of a pure food law, but had simply played into the hands of the foes of such a measure. He says that, with the assistance of Mr. Garfield, then secretary of the interior, and others, the law was forced thru congress. Mr. Roosevelt says, further, 'I forced the law thru congress; I enforced it well.'

"Now, the fact is nobody ever heard of Mr. Garfield in connection with the passage of the food and drugs act. Further, that act became a law June 30, 1906. Mr. Garfield became secretary of the interior March 4, 1907, according to the records and to his autobiography, as published in Who's Who in America. "Still further, Mr. Roosevelt did not support the bill until he became aware that a tremendous public sentiment existed in its favor. Then he took it up, as a popular move, and as soon as it became operative and it was seen to hamper the operations of food adulterators, he proceeded to cut the strength out of the law by appointing the Remsen board.

"The Remsen board, as everyone knows who is acquainted with the facts, completely emasculated the pure food and drugs law, just as it was intended it should. The Remsen board is wholly unauthorized by the law and with no legal standing whatever, as is shown by the report of the Moss investigating committee and by decision of the United States supreme court. It was appointed by Mr. Roosevelt for the sole purpose of rendering ineffective the pure food and drugs law, and it did its work nobly."

Freedom or Monopoly?

Governor Wilson told the workmen of Buffalo on Labor Day that if a minimum wage were established by law in this country the great majority of employers would probably "bring their wage scale as nearly as might be down to the level of that minimum," and that the workmen who did not like that process would find it "dangerous to strike against the authority of the federal government." Governor Wilson also explained that under the plan to legalize monopoly "the chief employers will have this tremendous authority behind them"—the authority of the federal government exercised through a commission. This plan, he adds, "is the identical program suggested to committees of congress by Mr. Gary and Mr. Perkins." Of the prospects under such a scheme of things the Jersey man says:

"Perhaps this new and all-conquering combination of money and government would be benevolent to us, perhaps it would carry out the noble program of social betterment which so many credulously expect of it, but who can assure us of that? Who will give bond that it will be general and gracious and pitiful and righteous? What man or set of men can make us secure under it by their empty promises and assurance that it will take care of us and be good?"

This, and the alternative proposal for "the restoration of freedom," is the democratic answer to the bull moose platform on "social and industrial justice." This restoration is to be accomplished, the democratic candidate argues, "by the regulation of competition and the prosecution of what has created monopoly." And the first objective point of the prosecution, as Governor Wilson intimated in his speech of acceptance, is the tariff and the trust. The Wilson argument will appeal to many voters who are not inclined to admit that monopoly has already become an essential ingredient in our national life, and that we must therefore take the first steps toward state socialism.—Detroit Saturday Night.

WOMEN WANT BALLOT

Not Only to Better Conditions, but to Perfect Their Citizenship.

Having been active in many good works of a public character, there is none who realizes the real value the ballot would be to women more fully than does Mrs. Clara B. Arthur, president of the Equal Suffrage association of Michigan.

She is a charter member of the best known club in Detroit, the Twentieth Century, and she has served as president of the Detroit Federation of Clubs and as director in the State Federation of Clubs.

Mrs. Arthur is secretary of the Detroit Anti-tuberculosis society, is a director of the Detroit Tuberculosis sanitarium and has served on numerous committees which have helped to better conditions for women and children, such as those for juvenile court probation officers, securing appointment of women factory inspectors, women on boards of control in institutions where women were detained and has many times appeared before the legislature in behalf of altruistic causes.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Arthur feels keenly the need of the ballot for women in their effort to improve conditions, she yet says that it is not for this purpose she demands citizenship. She says, "I want the ballot because without it I am classed with aliens and am a perpetual minor; because an unfranchised person is not a citizen in deed and in truth; because it is humiliating to be in the eyes of the law incapable of expressing an opinion as to whom I want for mayor or governor or president or if as a patriotic citizen I want peace or war. I want the ballot because it is my right and should be my privilege."

REMINGTON UMC

The Remington Club pick the only one single loader

AUTOLOADING SHOTGUN

For singles-trap or field—just toss in a shell, press the button and—"PULL." The side bolt makes it easy. You don't have to tug at the barrel or watch an on-and-off device. The action stays open after each single shot is fired.—It always stays open when the magazine is empty. Five shots—three to get the cripples—each under absolute control of the trigger finger. The recoil reloads for you—kicks another shell in; takes the strain off the gun—the discomfort out of the kick—all without diminishing the drive behind the shot.

Simple take-down—a few turns of the readily handled magazine screw-cap makes cleaning, carrying and interchange of barrels quick and easy.

Send for a motion picture booklet telling how the kick is used—how a friction device found only on the Remington-UMC AutoLoading Shotgun takes the punishment out of heavy loads.

The Secret of Success in Home Pickling.

Fruits and Vegetables contain a large proportion of water. To preserve them require a vinegar of sufficient preserving strength to neutralize the water and prevent decay.

It has often been the experience of the housewife after carefully selecting her vegetables, using a vinegar in which she had the utmost confidence, to find them spoiled and totally unfit for use.

She is at a loss to understand her failure but will usually call at her grocer's saying to him that the vinegar she purchased of him was "too strong" and "ate up" her pickles.

But the trouble was, the vinegar was not strong enough. It did not contain sufficient preserving strength or qualities to keep the vegetables after the water in them had been neutralized, consequently they spoiled.

It is advisable to buy the best vinegar that you can for pickling and preserving. If an inferior vinegar fails to keep the fruit and vegetables, you lose not only its cost but their value and your labor.

The flavor and quality which has made Heinz Pickles successful for over 42 years has been due largely to the making of good Vinegar in which to preserve them.

HEINZ WHITE PICKLING VINEGAR

is an absolutely pure and beautiful white vinegar made from sound, wholesome grains by the process of distillation (not an acid vinegar) which we recommend for all pickling purposes. It has ample strength and a fine, delicate flavor and aroma which it imparts to all fruits and vegetables preserved in it.

It is also very desirable for table use, and especially for mayonnaise dressing and salads.

For pickling purposes it requires no heating and only one-usage, which makes it more economical than the ordinary kind.

We carry a fine line of Heinz Famous 57 Varieties. They always give satisfaction.

Many Driven From Home.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there, with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief, and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping-cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, of East Tawas.

Sheriff's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a writ of execution issued out of the circuit court for the county of Iosco in favor of Joseph Scharboneau against the goods and chattles and real estate of Charles E. Tichenor, in said county to me directed and delivered, I did, on the 2nd day of July last, levy upon and take all the right, title and interest of the said Charles E. Tichenor in and to the following described real estate, that is to say: all that certain piece of land described as the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section twenty-two, of town twenty-four north, range five east, Iosco county, Michigan; all of which I shall expose for sale at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder therefor, at the front door of the court house in Tawas City, that being the place of holding the circuit court for said county, on the 21st day of September, 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Dated this 5th day August, A. D. 1912.

GEORGE H. HADWIN,
Sheriff of Iosco County.

Order for Publication.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, the probate court for the county of Iosco.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Tawas City, in said county, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1912.

Present: Hon. Alfred R. Weir, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Isaac E. Buckwalter, deceased, John K. Minton having filed in said court a petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to the day of hearing in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

ALFRED R. WEIR, Judge of Probate.
A true copy.

DOCTOR FEELS HIS HANDICAP

Recognizes Distinct Limitations When Called On to Cope With Modern "Scientific" Babe.

Because the doctor did not put on his seven-league boots and start the minute he heard there was a sick child in the neighborhood, the woman who had summoned him accused him of inhumanity. But the doctor protested that he was not inhuman.

"I am not anxious to respond," he said, "because the parents will not do anything I tell them to and will get a doctor more to their liking later in the day. How do I know? You as good as told me so yourself. You said the youngster was a scientifically reared baby; never knew a kiss or a cuddle or a germ or a tummyache until the present attack. Scientific babies are the despair of old-fashioned practitioners. The kinds of babies he is used to are those that depend mostly upon mothering to make them well. If an old-fashioned baby bumps his head or stubs his toe or mashes his thumb, just let mother kiss the bruise and it will stop hurting. Having been brought up on such nonsensical notions and believing in them still to a certain extent, there is no denying that in treating the new-style baby the old doctor is not a great success."

Concerning the Mole.

Naturalists aver that among common animals few have been less studied in their life history than the mole. Accordingly a British scientist has turned his attention to the mole, with the result that some interesting data concerning this queer creature have been collected.

Under the edifice which the mole constructs above the surface of the ground will always be found a series of tunnels. A curious feature, almost invariably found, is a perpendicular run penetrating about a foot below the bottom of the nest and then turning upward to meet another run. A mole is never, one authority contends, found in his nest, although it may be yet warm from his body when opened. Guided by smell and hearing, a mole frequently locates the nest of a partridge or pheasant above his run and, penetrating it from below, eats the eggs. The adult mole is practically blind, but there are embryonic indications that the power of sight in the race has deteriorated.—Harper's Weekly.

Most Popular Character.

Charles Dickens once received an invitation to a "Walter Scott" party, each guest being expected to attend in the character of one or another of Scott's heroes. On the eventful night, however, greatly to the astonishment of the assembled Rob Roys and Waverleys, Dickens turned up in ordinary evening dress and apparently quite unconcerned. At length the host, who was feeling uneasy, came up to the novelist and inquired: "Pray, Mr. Dickens, what character of Scott's can you possibly be supposed to represent?" "Character?" said Dickens. "Why, sir, a character you will find in every one of Scott's novels. I," he went on, smilingly, "am the 'gentle reader.'"
