He was united in marriage to Miss Amelia Bishoff in 1909, who with his parents, three brothers and four sisters survive him. The funeral was held from the Emanuel Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Carl C. Henning officiating. The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends.

A wisely conducted newspaper is like a banquet, says an exchange. Everything is served with a view to variety. Help yourself to what you want and do not condemn the entire spread because pickles and onions may be inclined. If you do not relish them some one else may find them palatable. Be generous and broad enough to select gracefully reading matter from the newspaper that will be agreeable to your mental taste. You, as an individual, are not compelled to swallow everything. We don't all see things alike on all subjects, and it's a good thing, as it makes more variety, and variety is the spice of existence.

It is not infrequent that newspapers find themselves unappreciated by the men whom they have favored by their support, column after column being published in their favor, and yet such favors, when the test comes, are unappreciated. When you find your home paper taking no interest in you or your success, when you see it keeping aggravatingly silent when you think the editor should be tearing his linen in your behalf, do not work yourself into a fever of anxiety as to the cause, just ask yourself wherein you have placed the paper and its editor under obligations to use space and energy for you.—Exchange.

The School, a Social Center.

A New Baptist Church.

The dedication of the foundation of the new Baptist church of Sherman township was solemnized Sunday, Sept. 29. More than 400 persons attended the various sessions held during the day and evening. One of the pleasing events of the day was the baptism of eight persons in the AuGres river by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. B. Brown.

The church, which promises to be a handsome, substantial structure, is situated two miles from Melvor, on the northwest corner of the Norris homestead. Too much praise cannot be given to the pastor and people of Sherman, whose self-sacrificing has made it possible to secure this inestimable privilege.

Shippy--Wright.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Shippy, on the Plank Road, was the scene of a pretty wedding at high noon, Tuesday, Oct. 1, when their daughter, Miss Maude, was united in marriage to Alvin S. Wright, Rev. O. E. Moffet, of this city, officiating.

The bride is one of the best known and most successful teachers in this county, and is most highly respected by a large circle of friends who will unite in extending congratulations. The groom taught school in this county about 15 years ago, and at present is the proprietor of a fine fruit farm near Saginaw.

The happy couple left on the evening train for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home on the farm.

School Officers Meeting.

The annual Iosco county school officers meeting held in the court house, Tawas City, Sept. 28, was very interesting and instructive to all present.

In addition to representatives from all the cities and nearly every rural district, the meeting was attended by the County Normal Training Class and their principal, Miss Carland.

The many questions asked by the officers show the deep interest they take in these gatherings and is convincing proof that this is one of the best educative influences planned by the present able superintendent of public instruction and his talented co-workers.

Mr. Lasher, the able conductor, is a young man of pleasing personality, forcible in his presentation of topics and thoroughly versed in the intricacies of school law. He succeeded in unraveling a number of knotty questions in the law for those present.

Democrats Have Strong Platform.

The republicans and democrats of Michigan have held their state conventions, completed their tickets and adopted platforms. A comparison of what they have done is therefore in order and claims the attention of the voter. There are, it is true, many republicans who will accept the republican ticket without any knowledge of what the party platform contains, and many democrats who will do the same thing with their party ticket. On the other hand, thousands of voters who have ceased to allow politicians to do their thinking will examine the declarations of principles of the two parties and reach their own conclusions regarding each. Both the republicans and democrats have nominated fairly good tickets. In their personal make-up there perhaps is not much choice. They are average selections from the gubernatorial nominees down. Mr. Musselman is an easy going business man who, there is every reason to believe, would have considerable regard for the party organization, that is to say, machine, in administering the office of governor. Mr. Ferris is a well-meaning reformer, but without experience in public life, and his capacity for large affairs in state government is a matter of conjecture.

When we come to the platforms of the parties, however, there is a marked difference. Here the democrats have all the better of the argument. Their platform is a clear, strong, concise document dealing with state questions exclusively, as it should, and is wholly free from meaningless verbiage and fold-deal about the beautiful blue sky and Old Glory, common to platforms, and which characterize the republican resolutions. The democrats favor reforming the primary election law by eliminating the odious party-tag enrollment, by providing for a second choice and by abolishing the 15 per cent provision. They also favor a rigid corrupt practices act, limitation of campaign expenditures and full publicity of same before and after primaries and elections. The republicans content themselves with the vague assertion that "We declare in favor of simplifying our election laws." The democrats are for enlarging the latitude of municipal home rule, while the republicans are silent. The democrats are for a physical valuation of all power and telephone companies and the fixing of rates to give fair returns on actual investments and not on watered stock—an act which is of prime importance to the people at this particular time. The republicans have nothing to say on the subject. The democrats favor limiting issues of stocks and bonds of all foreign corporations and of public utilities to actual investment, and prohibiting the sale of stocks and bonds of such companies until they are investigated and approved by the state railway commission; also, enlarging the powers of the railway commission for the fixing of rates for all public utilities not now under its control. Sound proposals, all of them, greatly in need of being carried out, which the republicans ignore.

The democrats pledge themselves to the abolition of useless boards and offices, of which there is a plethora; to civil service and to public registration of all lobbyists and legislative agents—plans not found in the republican instrument. The democrats propose to create a commissioner of agriculture, to conserve soil, improve farm methods and encourage emigration to unoccupied northern lands—a wise and constructive plan, obviously for the benefit of the state and the farmers. They also favor submitting the initiative and referendum as applied to legislation, and the recall of executive, legislative and administrative officials, as constitutional amendments, while the republicans bar the recall.

The republicans further devote half of the text of their platform to a review of national legislation, which can have no more relation to state issues than the acts of the British parliament, with the usual rhetorical flights about the "supremacy of the Stars and Stripes," and the "peace, prosperity and happiness up and down our native land." It indorses everything in Taft's administration, and proclaims the old "bumbo" that "under republican rule Michigan leads (presumably all states and nations) in the humanity, efficiency and wisdom of its laws." There is a generality about reforming the tax laws, with a glowing promise to "sacredly" preserve the primary school fund, which is the cause of, most of our tax difficulties, and which is highly questionable as a matter of principle. Prison contract labor, which is about to expire of itself, is opposed. The tremendously important matter of disposing of automobile license fees is given space, the record of Gov. Osborne, whose name is not mentioned and whom the party has completely repudiated, is eulogized and the credit placed to the account of G. O. P. In conclusion the candidacy of Mr. Musselman is "commended," and Pat Kelley, John Ross and William Alden Smith are applauded.

A careful reading and comparison of the two platforms will repay every voter. Certainly the record as a whole of the republican party in Michigan during the last ten or twelve years deserves anything but praise. And if we are to judge what it will do in the future by its platform not much is to be expected. The democratic platform offers far more to the man who cares about what a party stands for.—Saginaw News.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first quality gray cast iron is used. Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms. Lucky to Get Anything.

The law of the land had spoken, and the verdict was $5,000 damages. "Five thousand dollars!" muttered the senior partner in the legal firm who had managed the plaintiff's case. "Not so bad."

"I think it pretty good," said the junior partner. "How much shall we give our client?"

"H'm! Say $300," said the senior thoughtfully. "No, stop a minute!" "Well?"

"We mustn't be too hasty," said the successful lawyer slowly. "Perhaps you'd better write and promise to pay him the three hundred."

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.

TWO BIG ISSUES, SAYS COLLIER'S

The Tariff and the Proper Treatment of Monopolies.

WONT TIE TO ROOSEVELT.

"Actively Disagrees" With His Views About Trusts and "Wastes of Competition" and Supports the Candidacy of Wilson and Marshall.

Collier's is out for Wilson and Marshall. It refuses to support Theodore Roosevelt, Gary George W. Perkins, Elbridge H. Gary and the rest of the steel trust-harvester trust magnates.

Its open opposition to the third term ticket was indicated in the issue of Sept. 14. In the issue of Sept. 21 its reasons for espousing the Democratic cause are clear and forceful.

The leading editorial, "The Wastes of Competition," says:

"More and more the campaign is coming down to two pressing issues, the tariff and the proper treatment of monopolies. Collier's actively disagrees with the view of monopoly being urged by Messrs. Roosevelt, Perkins and Gary.

"They talk a great deal about the wastes of competition. The necessary wastes of competition are relatively insignificant, and the wastes of unfair and destructive competition are wholly unnecessary. They will be largely eliminated when competition is regulated.

"The La Follette-Lenroot and the Stanley bills to perfect the Sherman law and the Newlands-Cummins proposals for an interstate trade commission are all directed in part to that end. The remaining wastes of competition may be likened to the wastes of democracy. These are obvious, but we know also that democracy has compensations which render it more efficient than absolutism. So it is in industry. The margin between what men naturally do and what they can do is so great that the system which urges men on to effort is the best system."

"The necessary wastes of monopoly, on the other hand, are enormous. Some of these can, of course, be eliminated by regulation. An efficient interstate trade commission, acting under appropriate legislation, could put an end to much of the oppression of which trusts have been guilty. It could prevent unjust discrimination. It could prevent ruthless and unfair use of power; but a government commission would be powerless to secure for the people the low prices commonly attendant upon competition.

"As no means exist for determining whether greater net earnings are due to greater efficiency in management or to excessive profits, large net earnings would be followed by compulsory reduction of prices, which in turn would create a sense of injustice suffered, paralyze individual enterprise and produce unproductive, sluggish management. The attempt to secure low prices through price fixing would prove as impotent as the statutes which have sought to protect the public in railroad rates by limiting the dividends.

"The interstate commerce commission has been invoked as an argument in favor of licensing monopoly. That commission has stopped many abuses; it has practically put an end to corrupt and discriminating practices; it has protected the shipper from oppression and arrogance and injustice; it has prevented unreasonable advances in rates; but it has secured comparatively few notable reductions in rates, except those involved in stopping discrimination between persons, places or articles. It has been powerless to reduce operating costs, and greater reductions in rates can come only with reductions in the cost of producing transportation. The injustice and corruption attending the earlier railroad period were extremely serious. But we must not forget that the sweeping reductions in American operating costs and rates belong to the earlier period of competition among railroads. In the ten years from 1880 to 1890, while competition among the railroads was active, the freight rate per ton per mile was gradually reduced from .94 to .724. The years 1890-1900 marked the great movement for combination or "community of interest" in the railroad world as well as in the industrial world. The freight rate per ton per mile began to rise. In each of the eleven succeeding years it was higher than in 1890, and in 1910 it was .753.

"The deadening effect of monopoly is illustrated by its arrest of invention. The shoe machinery trust, formed in 1899, resulted in combining, directly and indirectly, more than 100 shoe machinery concerns. It acquired substantially a monopoly of all the essential machinery used in bottoming boots and shoes, as well as many other machines. It believed itself unassailable, and shoe manufacturers had come to regard their subjection to the trust as unavoidable. Nevertheless, in 1910 the trust found its prestige and deny threatened and its huge profits imperiled. It was confronted with a competitor so formidable that the trust, in flagrant violation of law, paid $5,000,000 to buy him out. Thomas G. Plant had actually succeeded in developing in about five years, while the trust was stolid from monopoly, a

Largest Flying Fish.

The largest flying fish on record was served up for breakfast on the British warship Ardeola a short time ago. The Ardeola was homeward bound and was off the Canary Islands when a large school of flying fish was observed. They were apparently in full flight from some deep sea enemy and travelled rapidly. As the ship met and passed them several flew on board and were seized by the crew as welcome additions to the mess. One of the fish measured 19 inches; the largest flying fish ever seen before the Ardeola's catch have never exceeded 10 inches. The big one was fried for the captain's breakfast. Flying fish are very palatable and taste like trout.

Circuit Court.

The regular September term of circuit court convened Monday, Judge Conine presiding. Matt Pfeiffer plead guilty to a violation of the local option law, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence on the payment of $4.00 costs.

Citizenship papers were issued to the following applicants: Frank Ulman, Otto Zollweg, Albert Krumm, Herman W. Hempel, Henry E. Nunn, Dennis Goodrow, Isaac L. Nunn, Harry Kooperman, Mikolay Mehalske, Jacob Meilock.

In the case of Frank Beeton, cashier, vs. Addie M. Trimm, attachment, a judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Tuesday the case of Crosby Brown vs. George H. Hadwin, sheriff, was taken up for trial. Edwin Rawden, of Ann Arbor, and Clark Snyder appeared for the prosecution, and Albert W. Black and C. R. Henry, of Alpena, for the defense. The case grew out of the arrest of Oliver Peters for violation of the local option law last spring, at which time Brown was arrested on a similar charge, which was dismissed that he might be used as a witness. It seems that the warrant on which Brown was held was not a legal one, and he sued for false imprisonment. The jury returned a verdict for $135 and costs. The attorneys for the defense will appeal the case to the supreme court.

After attending to some minor matters the court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

A Strong Nomination.

Woodbridge N. Ferris, the democratic nominee for governor, is an able, clean, upright and conscientious man, a prominent educator with an acquaintance which extends to every county of the state where the impress of his kindness and correct teachings has been carried by the thousands of students who have been fitted to go out into the world to engage in the great battle of life under his careful tutorage. These students in themselves form a working force that will be of immense value to Mr. Ferris, for they all love him and have an unselfish interest in promoting his election.

Mr. Ferris is a man of the people approachable and pleasant, with the same cordial greeting for the man with the dinner pail that he has for the banker or business man. He believes in the right and in fairness for all, without resorting to the tactics of the fanatic or demagogue.

Michigan voters need not be told that a change in Lansing is greatly needed, nor that Mr. Ferris is the man to bring it about. The scandals of the past have not been forgotten, and the need for a thorough renovating still exists.

Townline Topics

School commenced last week. Mr. and Mrs. David Ulman left Tuesday morning for Flint.

The Fair.

The 38th annual fair of the Iosco County Agricultural Society closed on Thursday of last week. The poor weather on the first day, and the general poor weather for some weeks previous, had a tendency to reduce the entries, which were not as large as previous years. However, the quality was of the best.

The attendance on the last two days was very good and the receipts will exceed the expenditures. This will leave the society in excellent condition for next year. The appropriation from the county paid the indebtedness and made extensive repairs, and with no indebtedness to meet the officers will feel like making a special effort next year to make a fair.

Some very good races were had. The free-for-all running race was won by Little Tom, owned by Sam Bessey; John Katterman's Secret took second and Albert Schriber's Grey Hound third.

Pinkey Arn took first in the free-for-all trot or pace, with Dorthy Mac; Ami Berube second with Prince Hal, and Will Murray third with Brown Nell. The colt race was trotted with two entries, being won by Bronco Queen, owned by William West, with Gray Gip, owned by Louis Pringle, second.

The 100 yard dash was won by Arthur Dillon, of East Tawas, with Ford Bradish, of this city, second. The 220 yard dash was won by Dillon, with Jake Koffman second.

The results of the ball games were published last week.

We expect to publish the winners of agricultural prizes next week.
