One of the pleasant features of the board of supervisors meeting last week was the presentation of a handsome chair to ex-Sheriff George H. Hadwin. Of course George was somewhat perturbed when Henry Kane appeared at the farm and informed him that his presence was required at the board at once, but failed to explain the nature of the business on hand, and while he was somewhat relieved on learning that it was a "job" the boys had put up on him, it took him the rest of the day to recover his equilibrium. The gift was a token of the high esteem in which Mr. Hadwin was held by the members of the board.

Rev. C. H. Prescott Dead.

A telegram was received here Tuesday announcing the death of Rev. C. H. Prescott at his home in Cleveland, Ohio.

For more than thirty years no man has been more closely associated with the development and advancement of Tawas City and surrounding country than this kindly old gentleman whom all respected for his interest in mankind in general, and whose aim in life has always been to advance the cause of his Master and better the condition of men.

As a regularly ordained minister of the Baptist church, he spent much time in missionary work, and many of the Baptist churches in this section of Michigan have reason to remember him in a most kindly way.

Mr. Prescott was born at Sidney, Maine, March 25, 1828, where he taught school and conducted a mercantile business until 1852, when he removed to Pennsylvania. His excellent business judgment and foresight enabled him to win a place among the wealthiest and most successful business men.

In 1878 Mr. Prescott became interested in railroad and lumbering operations here having purchased what has since developed into the Detroit & Mackinac railroad, also sawmill and lumber interests.

Later he became interested in the development of the agricultural possibilities of this section, and the great Prescott ranch, near the village of Prescott, stands as a monument to his energies in this line.

Mr. Prescott was married in 1857 to Sarah Barnard at Rural Valley, Pa., who preceded him to the great beyond but a few short weeks ago. The surviving children of this union are, Mrs. B. H. Thomas, of Bay City, George A., of this city, Charles H., Howard, Orville, Misses Belle and Luanna, of Cleveland.

The funeral services were held at Cleveland yesterday afternoon.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., Jan. 17, 1913

Dick Fletcher's candidacy for the republican nomination for state highway commissioner is causing a big kick on the part of the recent wing of what remains of the republican party in Michigan. They can see no prospects of ever regaining their lost ground if men of the Dick Fletcher stripe are to be the party nominees.

The legislature will as usual be called upon to revise the game laws again this session. If they will show good judgment enough to abolish the useless and expensive county deputies they will accomplish one desirable amendment. The only visible thing accomplished by these useless appointees is to draw a chunk of county money three or four times a year.

There are many ways of doing things in this world. However, the person who goes about his daily toil with a song in his heart and a smile on his face, is the one who lives longest and makes those about him feel the refined influence of a satisfied soul. But there are many who have formed a habit of growling and fault-finding. Not that they mean to be grouchy and disagreeable, but they have become so accustomed to it that they do not realize when they are doing so.

We understand that our old friend Al H. Weber, of the Cheboygan Democrat, is to be a candidate for the post-mastership of that city under the democratic administration. His application should certainly receive consideration at the hands of President Wilson. For years the Democrat has been fighting the battles of democracy and Al has always been found in line spending his time and money to keep the camp fire burning. Such men deserve well of their party, and we hope to see Weber land in the position.

Responsibility of Banks.

Private bankers defeated a resolution at the Illinois Bankers' Association favoring compulsory incorporation and state inspection. Evidently they don't know yet that banking is not a private enterprise. It is quasi-public in its character. A bank with a capitalization of $15,000,000 may have deposits of $150,000,000. For every director or stockholder it may have scores of depositors. The interest of the depositing public, therefore, is greater even than that of the stockholders, and these depositors have a right to know exactly the basis upon which the bank is conducted, says Farm and Home. So long as any man may set up as a banker, without being accountable to anybody, unfortunate failures will continue.

Some Very Swell Judges.

The commerce court, of which Judge Archbald, who has been on trial before the senate, is a member, evidently did not overlook the personal comfort of its members, and the use of public funds in fitting up a royal chamber for this court is little short of scandalous. Five judges' chairs cost $690, and remodeling these same chairs cost $425, making the total cost of each $223. The 48 chairs for the different rooms cost $2,054, the cheapest in the lot being six stenographers' chairs, which cost $12.75 each, thus bringing down the average. Altho the court was held in rented quarters the 55 windows were decorated with curtains costing $3,444.80, and 25 footstools costing $6.25 each were scattered about the floors. A davenport cost $175, while simple things like pigeonhole cases were paid for at $114.75. About $40,000 was spent in fixing up this court, which never performed any especially useful purpose, and which will be abolished March 4.

A Hero in a Lighthouse.

For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so-called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50 cts. at J. M. Wiggazzer & Co.'s, Tawas City, and James E. Dillon, of East Tawas.

Grand Boulevard Thru the State.

For many years it has been the dream of many to see at some time a road built by the state north and south on the Principal Meridian from the Ohio state line to the Straits of Mackinac.

Among the most enthusiastic advocates of such a proposition has been Geo. W. Sackrider, who has for twenty years talked such a project at all times. Mr. Sackrider, for years a member of the Saginaw county board of supervisors, coming into the northern part of the state on annual hunting trips, and later removing to this place, early saw the advantages of such a road. Twenty years ago he said: "The State of Michigan should build a road as straight as the crow flies on the Meridian from the Ohio state line to the Straits of Mackinac." Like many other men he was at that time ahead of the times, but he has persistently kept at it until this week the board of supervisors of this county took hold of the matter by passing the following resolution:

"Whereas, It is becoming more apparent that good roads are imperative to the material prosperity of this state along all lines; and

"Whereas, It is absolutely necessary that some well defined plan of laying out and building roads be adopted and followed in order to get the maximum benefits for the moneys expended in their building; and

"Whereas, There is a constant and growing demand for a line of highway that will extend north and south thru the entire length of the state; and

"Whereas, The importance of this project demands special legislative action and appropriation, it being on account of its size beyond the reasonable limits of county and township resources; and

"Whereas, The Principal Meridian of this state offers the shortest, most feasible and direct route from all sections of the corn belt, including eastern Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, and all points to the south and east of the latter state to the Straits of Mackinac; also presenting fewer engineering difficulties than any other route that would lead to and from the places mentioned; also presenting an unsurpassed route for a Grand Boulevard through the length of the state to which the counties and townships could lead a system of connecting roads with greater ease to all than any other route that could be selected; also as passing thru and in proximity to more important towns, cities and thickly settled country doing business with the north than any other route; also as presenting the most feasible and logical route for opening up and developing the large tracts of vacant lands in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula as well; and

"Whereas, This board realizes that it is time that the initiative be taken by some organization in this matter; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That an invitation be extended to the various boards of supervisors, boards of trade and other organizations and individuals interested in this project to get together through representatives for the purpose of formulating plans and instituting a campaign for the accomplishment of the foregoing object."

A committee composed of Geo. W. Sackrider, Wm. Houghton, county clerk, and Wm. F. Johnston were appointed to arrange plans, if possible, to carry out the intent and purpose of the resolution.

The committee met on Wednesday and proceeded to send out the following invitation to the various boards of supervisors, boards of trade and commerce, companies and individuals through the state, inviting them to meet and organize to carry out the proposition:

"To the Boards of Supervisors, Boards of Trade and Commerce, Companies and Individuals:

"Gentlemen—Herewith we submit for your consideration a resolution adopted by the board of supervisors of Roscommon county at a session of said board held Jan. 7, 1913, relative to a proposed state highway to be constructed on the Principal Meridian extending from the southern boundary of the state to the Straits of Mackinac.

"Following the adoption of the resolution the undersigned were appointed a committee to extend such invitations and to proceed with negotiations as may be necessary for carrying out the intent and purposes of the same.

"In pursuance of the above, a cordial invitation is extended to the various boards of supervisors, boards of trade and commerce, companies and individuals to attend a meeting either by representative or in person, to be held at the city of Saginaw on Friday, the 7th day of February, 1913, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of completing plans for carrying into effect the purpose of the resolution. This day was chosen because it is immediately after the meeting of the State Supervisors' Association, when a great number of supervisors would be in touch, thus saving time and expense.

"The importance of this proposition should command the attention of all concerned, and it is to be hoped that prompt action be taken with a view of improving time while the legislature is in session.

"We wish it understood that our board of supervisors in passing the resolution only desire to initiate this important movement, and that in the working out of the details we are ready to follow the lead of those who may be selected to carry on the work.

"In order that this committee may be in a position to get the best results in its efforts towards a successful meeting it is essential that these bodies and individuals receiving this invitation promptly notify it as to what action has been taken or proposed, addressing all communications to County Clerk, Roscommon, Mich.

"Very respectfully yours,
Geo. W. Sackrider,
Wm. F. Johnston,
Wm. Houghton,
Committee."

This is a meeting that should be well attended, as it means a great deal to both peninsulas of Michigan. The route designated is the best that could be picked for the various reasons set forth above and many others.

A road of such character would be among the foremost roads in the world and would be one of the longest stretches of perfectly straight road in existence. It would speedily put Michigan among the leaders in the matter of good roads. Its completion would mark the beginning of the greatest era of good road building by the various counties and townships to connect with it that was ever dreamed of in Michigan. The two peninsulas would be brought in closer touch than ever before or than could be accomplished by any other method, for the road would certainly eventually be completed the entire length of the upper peninsula. It would become a Grand Boulevard for the convenience and pleasure of not only those along its line but automobilists, resorters, tourists and colonists not only from Michigan but from many states. It will furnish the backbone for the finest system of good roads found in the United States. It seems as tho the state were particularly built for just such a system. Of all the roads that attract the traveler and establish confidence there is nothing like a straight road after all, and if there is anything that has the "straight and narrow path" beaten it is a "straight and wide boulevard." So here's hoping that this proposition will receive the attention it deserves and that meeting at Saginaw on Feb. 7th will be largely attended, and that out of it may come something that will at once place our state in the forefront in the matter of good roads.—Roscommon Herald-News, January 9, 1913.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious, but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and James E. Dillon, of East Tawas.

The committee met on Wednesday and proceeded to send out the following invitation to the various boards of supervisors, boards of trade and commerce, companies and individuals through the state, inviting them to meet and organize to carry out the proposition:

LANSING, Jan. 16, 1913.
A bill has been introduced to do away with the fee system and put all county officials on a strict salary basis.

The first bill to be favorably reported on by a committee in either house was the senate bill to abolish the office of state salt inspector, which was reported out Tuesday.

The battle for state wide prohibition was started Tuesday, when Representative Duane, of Sanilac county, introduced a concurrent resolution providing for the submission of the question at the November election of 1914.

Why Percheron Prominence?

Intelligent co-operation between live stock associations and the government is responsible for the enviable position held by the French nation as a producer and exporter of high grade horses. The supervision of the breeding of Percheron horses and the financial encouragement given to breeders by the French government is directly responsible for the development of this great race of draft animals, the benefits of which have extended to every civilized country, says a Farm and Home authority. Within the last ten years other lines of stock breeding have been fostered by live stock syndicates which are now considered the French to be among the most efficient means of live stock improvement.

The united efforts of breeders have been able to accomplish much that was unattainable by individual breeders. Chief among these are the purchase and maintenance of good bulls and the keeping of accurate herd books in which are recorded not only the breeding and ancestry of animals, but their outstanding characteristics and their points of economic utility. These syndicates now number hundreds, each acting within a limited area. Syndicates interested in the development of any single breed or strain unite into federations and thro these study such questions as creating markets, selling the stock of the members and the purchase and exchange of breeding animals.

To further this movement the French government has assigned a credit of some $40,000 for the use of live stock improvement syndicates. This money must be used to promote the interests of breeds of acknowledged value, and may provide for the acquisition or production of good bulls, their keep, the preparation of good animals of both sexes, and the control of milk. American breeders would do well to study carefully into the French organizations. The development of community effort in live stock breeding is undoubtedly the next great step to be accomplished by progressive American stockmen. It offers the means for securing results which are beyond the reach of the average individual.

New Chapel Dedicated.

The new chapel for St. John's Episcopal church in AuSable was opened last Sunday. The first service was the holy eucharist followed by morning prayer. Dr. Wm. S. Sayers, of Detroit, was the preacher. A congregation of nearly 70 people was present. A matter of some interest was brought to light in the sermon—the chapel is used for the first time just 14 years to the month after the burning of the church and rectory. The parish records (preserved from the recent big fire by being in Mr. Luce's office) contains the following note, entered by Rev. G. W. Wye, rector at that time: "Jan. 30th, 1899, 2:30 a.m.—St. John's church and rectory burnt down by man in rectory keeping hot ashes in wooden barrel in woodshed, about 10 feet from the church. Received notice of the same by letter this morning from H. W. Venners, and telegram from H. Leith this afternoon."
