BE KIND TO YOUR HORSE and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

The Whiskey Victory.

Isosco county has gone wet. For two years saloons and whiskey will prevail. The hearts of a thousand women and children sank in despair and dread when saloons won.

For two years our streets, peaceful, and orderly and safe, will be disgraced with drunken men and boys, and gatherings in front of liquor places, spitting tobacco juice, using foul and indecent language, and fights and brawls.

Even the horses, tired, hungry and thirsty on hot summer days, and cold and shivering on winter nights, will stand, mutely suffering in front, pitiful examples of the saloon's evil effect on their owners.

Good citizens, who love law and order, and women and children will feel the disgrace every time they pass a saloon and its evil surroundings, to do shopping or trading, and endure it or take a back street.

Even in the home sections of the towns, the nights will be rendered disgraceful and hideous, and people waken from peaceful slumbers by the yells, oaths and obscene language of drunken men and youths going to sorrowing homes.

What a pity that those in the country, who voted for saloons, could not have them next door, instead of foisting them upon the city.

The schools and churches, every teacher and minister, and all influences which seek to make boys and men good, when they realize how the devil has won over their efforts, must hang their heads in sorrow and shame.

Twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), which should go to merchants for food and clothing, and home comforts and religious influences, will leave the county each year and go to Cincinnati, Detroit and elsewhere for whiskey and beer.

God help the little ones, the wives, sisters and mothers!

It behooves all good citizens and true patriots to try our best to save the country from this deadly evil.

About Birds.

BY L. H. BELKNAP.

How to Study Birds—This refers to the popular study of our birds. We cannot make much headway studying birds unless we put considerable time at it in the field, and by observing at all times of the year. An hour of observation in the field is worth many times that length of time reading about birds. At the outset we will need to be patient, for at the very beginning we will discover that there are more birds in our vicinity than we have ever dreamed of. Then we will be discouraged, thinking that we can never learn all their names. But it takes time and patience, and it is well that it does, for that makes the study worth while. If we could learn all about birds in one year, or even ten years, the study would lose its attractiveness, and we would no longer be interested. To start with, we will need a good bird guide, a note book, and if possible a pair of field glasses. Reed's Bird Guide, Books 1 and 2, has colored plates and is a valuable field book. To go with this field guide, there is a book on Michigan Birds gotten out last year by Prof. Walter Barrows, of the Michigan Agricultural College, and it is excellent. The author is one of Michigan's best bird authorities, and he writes of birds that we could all know. The book is very complete and can be bought for a very reasonable amount. The price is low because the book is published as a bulletin of the state college. In using these books we ought not to be too hasty in deciding what the name of the bird is we are observing, for we are very liable to error. We can use the note book to write down all the interesting things that we observe. The field glasses will aid us in getting a good view of markings. We cannot always get close enough to the birds to see them plainly.

The Thrushes—This is a beautiful family of birds, some of them not being very well known, while others are quite familiar to gardens and orchards. There are five species that are common to Michigan.

The wood thrush, which is also commonly called the wood robin, song thrush or bell bird, is quite a common resident of this vicinity. The bird is nearly as large as the robin, with reddish brown above, brightest on the head, and heavily spotted with black below. The song of this bird is clear and flute-like. Nehrling has the following to say about its song: "It loves the deep half-darkness of the forest solitude, with its peace and quiet. Here we can hear the wonderful, harmonious, flute-like song from early dawn to evening twilight. Were it not for hearing repeatedly the far-sounding eelie halelee, one would hardly know that this famous vocalist had returned home again. Besides this common song-like call, it utters a low tuck or tack, and a quickly reiterated tuck-tuck-tuck-tuck." It places its nest from 4 to 20 feet above the ground. It is built of sticks, leaves, bark and mud. It eats a great many ants, caterpillars, wireworms and thousand-legs. Thus it commends itself to the agriculturalist.

The hermit thrush is somewhat smaller than the wood thrush, but is reddish brown above with a very reddish brown tail. It is also heavily spotted with black on the breast. It is regarded as a remarkable songster, and is said to be superior to the wood thrush. However, Prof. Barrows says there is a chance for a difference of opinion as to its being superior to the wood thrush. Mr. Burroughs, the great naturalist, says: "It is to me the finest sound in nature." They never sing until they get to their summer homes, so as they nest in this northern section we are particularly favored. When it is migrating it is not shy, but when it starts to build its nest it becomes quite suspicious. Mr. Ried, in his Bird Guide, says: "I watched one that was perched on a dead stump, about 20 feet from me, for several minutes with a pair of glasses before I could make sure that he was the author of the song I heard, for it sounded as though coming from across the next field." Its nest is placed on the ground or very near it. This is the smallest thrush to arrive in the spring.

The veery or Wilson thrush is the palest of the thrushes, while the spots on the breast are very scant. This thrush is smaller than the wood thrush and more abundant. It has a very beautiful song and is most often heard to sing towards twilight. Seton Thompson says of its song: "The song is a high-pitched whistle, yet rich and clear, with a rippling cadence like a little brook." It seldom sings after the middle of July. It eats food it finds on the ground, and nests in the woodland.

The gray-cheeked thrush is one of the birds that we see only during migrations. It breeds in Northern Canada. This thrush resembles the olive-backed thrush. Its upper parts, head, back, wings and tail are of the same shade of olive green. The cheeks of this bird are clear gray.

The olive-backed is a common migrant of Michigan. It spends its summers in Northern Canada. It has a very pleasing song like the rest of the thrushes, but it doesn't sing in these parts.

Boys and Girls, Read This.

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15, who writes the best composition, not to exceed 800 words, on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Waller Page, director, office of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, 1913, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the compositions can be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable thru a lack of proper maintenance, and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education, and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on; each page should be numbered; the name, age, and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the office of Public Roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone, and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, East Tawas.

Bids Wanted for Silo Material.

Sealed proposals will be received by the board of superintendents of the poor of Isosco county, Michigan, until 6 o'clock p. m. Friday, May 2nd, 1913, for the furnishing of silo material as follows: Silo to be sixteen (16) feet in diameter and thirty (30) feet high. Bids to be on both Oregon fir and California red wood. Material to be delivered f. o. b. car at Tawas City, Michigan.

The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Proposals should be directed to Jno. A. Mark, clerk of said board, Tawas City, Michigan.

Cough Medicine for Children.
Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance, and be most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all dealers.

A Dangerous Animal.

Acting on the belief that the fly is "the most dangerous wild animal on earth," local anti-tuberculosis societies, women's clubs and similar organizations in Michigan are engaging in an anti-fly campaign. The state association is backing up the movement and is sending out helpful literature on this subject. In one bulletin the state association gives the following reasons for conducting this campaign. Because—

The house fly is an important factor in the transmission of disease germs, including typhoid, tuberculosis, cholera, dysentery and other germ diseases.

The house fly is not a mere nuisance, but a positive enemy to life and health. It is economy from the standpoint of health, wealth and comfort.

Flies are the badge of dirt and filth—present on your own or your neighbor's premises.

It is not difficult to greatly reduce the number of flies or to exterminate the fly. If we clean up all the unsanitary places and keep them clean, we will have no flies.

The average number of bacteria which one fly may carry is estimated at 1,250,000.

Now is the time to begin the fight—before breeding begins.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

The Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station now has the 1913 spraying bulletin ready for distribution. It gives in a clear, plain way the times to spray fruit trees, berry bushes and potatoes; the materials to use, how to prepare them at home or use commercial kinds. You can secure a copy free by sending a request to Director R. S. Shaw, East Lansing, Michigan, asking for Special Bulletin No. 61.

Pains in the Stomach.

If you continually complain of pains in the stomach, your liver or your kidneys are out of order. Neglect may lead to dropsy, kidney trouble, diabetes or Bright's disease. Thousands recommend Electric Bitters as the very best stomach and kidney medicine made. H. T. Alston, of Raleigh, N. C., who suffered with pain in the stomach and back, writes: "My kidneys were deranged and my liver did not work right. I suffered much, but Electric Bitters was recommended, and I improved from the first dose. I now feel like a new man." It will improve you, too. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, East Tawas.

Teachers' Examination.

The next regular Teachers' Examination will be held in the court house, Tawas City, April 24 and 25, 1913. Reading based upon "Merchant of Venice" (Shakespeare). Reading for May eighth grade examination, Whittier's "Snow Bound."

Found a Cure for Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment, and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." For sale by all dealers.

Honesty Increasing.

On her return from marketing, the young matron of the upper West side said to a caller: "I believe the sense of honesty is increasing in New York, at least in this locality. This morning I called the attention of a salesman to a small mistake he had made in giving me change, the mistake being in my favor. The proprietor, who was standing near, said to me: 'You're honest. You'll get along all right.' Not so many years ago the thought that seemed far too prevalent in this country was that only some clever form of dishonesty could 'get along all right.' The merchant who could trick a customer was supposed to be the smart fellow, and it was assumed an honest person was sure to get the little end of everything. I am delighted to find even one man who realizes that honesty is actually indispensable to success, and it is especially pleasing to find him in a place where I can deal with him regularly." —New York Press.

DAIRY EXHIBITS GREATEST EVER

Michigan State Fair Will Have

Supt. Marston Arranges for Interesting Demonstrations and Lectures by Experts—How to Stop Leaks Through Advanced Management

"City folks, and even some farmers, little realize how prominent the cow is in producing farm wealth," said T. F. Marston, superintendent of the Dairy Department of the Michigan State Fair.

"Statistics compiled by Sec. Wilson of the United States Department of Agriculture show that in 1912, dairy yield was almost staggering in its hugeness," continued Mr. Marston.

"For instance the dairy yield was just twice as valuable as the oat crop, equal to the hay crop, while the entire wheat for 1912 was only worth three-quarters as much as was the dairy wealth. Sec. Wilson estimated the country's wealth in this respect in 1912 was $320,000,000.

"We are already sure of filling the space allotted to our department at the Fair and I have been attempting to get General Manager Dickinson to apportion off some additional room for the dairy exhibit. Manager Dickinson fully appreciates the significance attached to this department and will do everything possible to secure more comprehensive quarters.

Will Demonstrate.
"We propose to go into the demonstration work this year as extensively as possible. It isn't theory the farmer wants, but actual demonstration of the results of research and investigation. We will endeavor to show the dairyman the results of feeding, breeding and caring in the composition of the milk. How pasteurized cream will conserve butter and make it more healthful to the consumer. By this, and other methods, we hope to educate the consumer to a keener appreciation of advanced dairying and be willing to pay the additional cost when he sees the results.

"We will have some investigations and exhibitions of European cheese making. How the foreigners get such fine results. For years Americans have been under the impression that the best European produced cheeses cannot be made in America successfully. This is merely an opinion and not a fact. We will have exhibitions of all sorts of choice cheeses at the Michigan State Fair this year that will compare with anything of their kind in the world.

"Experts in the employ of the United States Agricultural stations throughout the country estimate that no less than $8,000,000 was tossed away last year as the direct result of mismanagement of creameries. Improved methods and systems of management will be shown at the Fair. This will tend to improve quality as well as the quantity of the output.

"In conclusion I might say that while past dairy exhibits at the Michigan State Fair have been far from ordinary, the 1913 exhibition will be a classic in every detail."

Schools Urged to Use Topographic Maps.

For teaching the geography of the United States in the public schools and colleges a strong effort is being made by the United States Geological Survey to foster the use of the government topographic maps. These maps contain so many details of local interest, showing even the school houses and farm houses as well as every wagon road, with which of course the school children are familiar, that it is said to be an easy matter for teachers to enlist the interest of the pupils in this new type of school map. From an understanding of the particular maps representing their own localities it is but a succession of short steps to lead the pupils to an appreciation of the different types of country portrayed on maps of other sections of the United States. Most of the standard atlas sheets of the Geological Survey of recent issue are printed on the scale of one mile to one inch, a scale which shows the physical features of the country in very interesting detail.

With these maps the pupils can determine the altitude of their homes and the steepness of hills and mountains, estimate the grade of wagon roads, work out simple engineering problems such as the drainage of swamps, select dam sites for the construction of reservoirs to supply water to imaginary towns or for irrigation, lay out imaginary trolley or railroad lines or canals along the most feasible routes, establish lookout and signal stations on high points for the control of forest fires, and plan many other similar activities.

The Geological Survey has published 2,200 topographic atlas sheets, covering about 40 per cent of the United States, and on receipt of $3 from any teacher it will supply 50 different maps selected with special reference to the particular requirements of the class it is proposed to instruct in this new kind of geographic study. This selection will include, besides the map covering the area where the school is situated (provided such a map is published), other maps showing all the physiographic forms to be found in the United States—seacoast areas, hilly country, high and precipitous mountain country, swampy areas, regions of innumerable lakes, areas showing dense forests, areas with woodlands interspersed with many streams, lakes, and other natural features.

If less than 50 maps are desired, a special selection of a less number will be made on request and furnished at the retail rate of 10 cents a copy. Most of these maps, each of which, on the one mile scale covers about 225 square miles, or 150,000 acres, have been made at a cost for surveying and engraving of $3,500 to $6,000 each, and the wholesale price of six cents apiece covers only about the cost of paper and printing. If the areas were surveyed and the maps published by a commercial concern, these maps would need to be sold for not less than $2 to $3 each. The Survey also sells an excellent wall map about 4x6 feet, unmounted (in three sections), for 60 cents. This may be included in any wholesale order as part of the $3. Applications and remittances should be made to the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., who will promptly fill all orders.

Shall the manufacture of liquors and the liquor traffic be prohibited within the county?

Whereas, from the return of the votes given in the several townships and wards in said county of Iosco at the election held in and for said county on the 7th day of April, A. D. 1913, on the proposition whether or not the manufacture of liquors and the liquor traffic should be prohibited within the limits of said county, it appears that the whole number of votes cast on such proposition is 1,725, and that further appearing that the whole number of votes cast in the affirmative of such proposition is 725, and that the whole number of votes cast in the negative of such proposition is 997;

Provided, however, that all sales of liquor in said county by druggists or registered pharmacists shall be under the restrictions and requirements imposed upon them by the general laws of this state, and the provisions of this act.

And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prohibit the sale of wine for sacramental purposes, nor the sale of wine or cider from home grown fruit in quantities of not less than five gallons.

Provided further, That a copy of this preamble and resolution be published without delay once in each week until the 1st day of May next in the Tawas Herald, Iosco County Gazette and the Osoda Press, newspapers published and circulated in said county.

And whereas, After the expiration of two years (and over) from and after the day on which the aforesaid resolution of prohibition was adopted, a subsequent election was duly called by the board of supervisors of said county, and held in and for said county, to-wit: on the 7th day of April, A. D. 1913, being at a general election for township officers held in the several townships, villages, cities and election districts in said county in accordance with the provisions of the act aforesaid, to ascertain again the will of the qualified electors of said county, whether or not the manufacture of liquors and the liquor traffic should be prohibited within the limits of said county; and
