AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

This letter is addressed particularly to all persons who intend to engage in the retail liquor business in Iosco county, but is made public that all our people may know my position regarding the liquor traffic and assume their portion of duty in securing obedience to the law.

Two years ago Iosco county was placed in the dry column by a majority of the electors, who undoubtedly believed that Local Option was the solution of the liquor question, and after a trial a substantial majority of the people have expressed themselves at the polls this month as being in favor of replacing this county in the wet column, by virtue of which liquor dealers are now by law allowed the privilege of dispensing intoxicating liquors at retail. The liquor dealers will, of course, understand that this is a privilege allowed by the people, rather than a right; that it is a trust for them to administer, and not a duty for them to perform; and that they are practically on probation in this regard during the time allowed by the people's favor.

Many electors who formerly voted dry undoubtedly voted wet this spring, and a large number of them will watch with interest the manner in which the liquor dealers use or abuse the privilege.

I assume at the outset that there is no present intention on the part of anyone engaging in the liquor business to violate the law, because every person so entering the business has made an application for a retail liquor dealer's bond, in which he promises:

1. That he will not sell to a habitual drunkard.
2. That he will not sell to a person after he is drunk.
3. That he will not sell to a person under 21 years of age.
4. That he will not sell to a forbidden or posted person.
5. That he will not sell to an Indian or a person of Indian descent.

6. That he will not violate any of the other provisions of law relative to the liquor traffic, neither by himself, bar-tender or agent; and in making the foregoing statement he assumes responsibility for those he employs in the business.

The liquor dealers, in justice to themselves, will do well to see to it that the promises above made are faithfully kept.

The general liquor laws provide:

1. That the bar must be closed from nine o'clock p. m. to seven o'clock a. m., unless the municipal authorities determine to allow a later hour, and then at the hour so fixed.
2. The bar must be closed and no liquor sold of any kind on Sundays, legal holidays and election days.
3. At all times when places of business are closed the bar shall be in plain view of the public and no curtains or screens of any kind can be used to hide the bar from public view.
4. No sales shall be made to minors, Indians, drunkards or posted persons.

These are the limitations and safeguards with which the Legislature of this state has surrounded the retail liquor business, and they must be observed, and every liquor dealer will at once see that it is his duty to keep within the law, not only from fear of punishment, but for the preservation of his business, if he so desires it.

Much of the sentiment against intemperance and excessive use of intoxicating liquors has been brought about by the willful disregard of the law in the conduct of the saloon business, and in my judgment if those now engaged in the business would refuse to sell any liquor except that which is drunk at the bar, that is, to refuse to sell bottled goods to be carried away, and discourage those who cannot afford it from the continual treating habit, they will do much to eliminate the elements of which most men complain.

If the retail liquor business is conducted by one according to law, that person is entitled to the protection of the law against the wrongs of others and such a liquor dealer will be fully protected. On the other hand, those who violate the law and are complained against will be punished according to law, and wherein comes the duty of the public towards the liquor business: In the first place not to ask a liquor dealer to violate the law; and in the second place to report to this office all violations of the liquor laws that they may obtain knowledge of. And I assure you that every report received at this office will be fully investigated, and a strict enforcement of the law will be applied to as great a degree as is possible.

Dated at Tawas City, Michigan, April 24, 1913.

Yours respectfully,

ALBERT W. BLACK,
Prosecuting Attorney, Iosco county, Michigan.

The opinion of the attorney general in our last issue relative to increasing the salary of county officials during their term of office does not include, nor was it intended to include, office expenses allowed officials. In many cases county officials present and are allowed bills for work which is a part of their official duties. In such cases it constitutes an increase of salary which is illegal.

State Tax Commission.

Commissioners Barnes and Kearney, of the state tax commission, were in the city Tuesday and met the members of the board of supervisors and assessing officers of the county at the court house, for the purpose of considering the question of assessing in this county.

In years past the real estate of the county has been assessed at much below the true cash value, as has been the rule thruout the state. The state tax commission has been hard at work in many of the larger counties to overcome this condition, and has added large amounts to the tax rolls. At the meeting Tuesday they instructed the assessing officers to make their rolls this year at cash values, and have agreed to send state experts here to assist in the work so that the assessments of the county will be on an equal basis.

While the result will without doubt raise the valuation of the county to a much greater figure than heretofore, and we cannot fail to reap benefits therefrom if the raise is justly equalized, a higher valuation will result in a lower tax per cent.

Time to Cry When You Are Hurt.

Just now about every industry in the United States which has been brought into being and fostered by high protection, is throwing a fit per minute because the congress is preparing to readjust tariff schedules. This attitude upon the part of such industries was, of course, expected, and is therefore not surprising to any citizen who has observed the attitude of such enterprises whenever either political party has proceeded with tariff revision. Having been created upon an artificial basis rather than in the competitive markets of the world, they seek to raise the existence of fear every time it is even suggested that the consumer has a few rights which they should be compelled to respect.

The present party in power came into such power with the positive declaration that a revision of the tariff downward was not only justifiable but entirely in line with correct business principles; such party is now preparing to carry out the pledge made, and the cry of "ruin and riot" being raised by the highly protected industries is for the sole purpose of arousing that degree of fear among the consumers of the country that they will throw upon the carrying into effect laws for which they voted last fall.

The two great parties present theories along this line widely at variance. One party, in control for more than a decade, put into effect its theory of tariff levies. The people became dissatisfied and have entrusted the control of government with the other great party. Such party is now preparing to place its theory in practice. That its plan will become law within a few months is admitted. To condemn the plans and purposes before they shall have been tried out, and before the country has even made an effort to adjust itself to the new order, is to brand every advocate thereof as a traitor to the republic and false to his duties as a patriotic citizen. Calamity howlers can bring on panic and disorder in the business world a hundred times quicker than can the best statesmen and most competent law makers repair the damage thus done.

There will be ample time to condemn and to criticize after it shall have been demonstrated that the new plan is impractical. Prosperity and contentment in the country can much more easily be had thru an honest effort to hold up the hands of public officials and law making bodies. Continued condemnation and wrangling over imaginary grievances breeds discontent and anarchy.

Quit your kicking until you are hurt, —Clare Courier.

The Legislature.

The legislature has adjourned, and he said to its credit that the work accomplished has been the best of any legislature in the history of the state. Politics cut but very little figure during the recent session. The individual members seem to realize that the people of the state were going to have the reforms demanded, and that unless they got them from the present legislature a more sweeping change would take place a year from the coming fall than took place last fall. Another strong influence for reform was that wielded by Gov. Ferris. It has been many years since Michigan has had a governor who was sincere in his efforts to serve the state and secure the legislation demanded.

Most Prompt and Effectual Cure for Bad Colds

When you have a bad cold you want a remedy that will not only give relief, but effect a prompt and permanent cure, a remedy that is pleasant to take, a remedy that contains nothing injurious. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all these requirements. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and restores the system to a healthy condition. This remedy has a world wide sale and use, and can always be depended upon. Sold by all dealers.

An Appeal.

The following letter has been sent out by the executive committee of the North-eastern Michigan Development Bureau: "From time to time we have called the attention of those having lands for sale to the fact that parties applying to the Bureau for information and details receive but very few responses, and the situation seems to be becoming worse. It is to be regretted that the inattention being paid by interested parties to inquiries made by prospective purchasers is retarding the settlement of North-eastern Michigan and militating, to a certain extent, against the good efforts the Bureau is making. The Bureau is advertising Northeastern Michigan as a whole, and those having lands for sale should respond to all inquiries. If a man asks for information regarding forty acres of cut-over land, it does not necessarily mean that he would not be interested in improved land or some other kind of land, and because he inquired about land in one locality, it does not necessarily mean that he would not be interested in land in some other locality. The Bureau believes that every real estate dealer and land owner should communicate with every person making an inquiry. All the Bureau's advertising matter invites correspondence and indicates that inquirers will be placed in touch with real estate men who will furnish the necessary details and information; those in charge of the Bureau's traveling exhibit in each town say the same thing to parties calling upon them.

"It is suggested that each real estate dealer and land owner prepare a circular letter and send to each person mentioned in the inquiry lists issued by the Bureau. If circumstances warrant giving more information than is contained in the circular letter, it will take but a minute or two to write whatever additional information is necessary. If inquirers do not respond promptly, get after them again, which is the method employed by all business houses.

"The inactivity complained of herein has resulted in quite a large number of interested parties feeling kindly towards the Bureau and its members. Those having lands for sale cannot reasonably expect to sit back and have the Bureau send purchasers to their offices. Individual effort is required. The Bureau is successfully performing its work, and all that is required now is for land owners to do their share.

"It is sincerely hoped that everyone will carefully consider this matter and send prompt responses to all inquirers, and also arrange for a follow-up system."

It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed." It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold, or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand all the time for everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, East Tawas.

MAY.

Wake me early, mother darling,
For I'm a suffragette,
And emancipated woman
Is a very fancy bet.
We have a demonstration Along that line today,
And I'm to be Queen of the May, mother,
I'm to be Queen of the May.

The old-time demonstration Is desolate and dead,
And votes for women, mother,
Will burgeon in its stead.
We'll dance around the May-pole
In a new and better way,
And there will be something doing,
My motherkins, today.

A fig for flowers blooming
And other vernal sights!
What women want is suffrage
And all their other rights.
The ancient flower maidens
Were all a lot of cubs;
They didn't have ambition
And the proper kind of clubs.

Their heads were just a loafing place For furberlows and hair,
And they never had a single thought Of getting anywhere.
They only seryed for folly,
And they only thought of play;
You'll catch the new idea
When I am crowned today.

We'll terrorize the men folks Until they howl for help,
And every time we hand them one They'll answer with a yelp.
We'll terrify the coppers,
And emulate the Sioux,
And there won't be any doubt about What women want to do.

Wake me early, mother darling,
A little ere the dawn,
And don't forget to help me put My father's trousers on.
The time has come for freedom
And the co-politic sway,
And I'm to be Queen of the May, mother,
I'm to be Queen of the May.

May gets its name from Maia, the mother of Mercury. It was Mercury who invented the lyre. Up to that time spring had passed without any poetry, and it was a pretty dull season. The invention of the lyre made it the fairest and cheeriest of all the seasons, and the Romans, therefore, named the loveliest of the spring months for the inventor's mother. Mercury, who wrote only limer-icks, gave the lyre to Apollo, who in turn gave it to Homer. About all the poets have had it now except Alfred Austin.

The final glory of the spring
Will burst upon us like a bomb,
And people who eschew the ring
Will sing the hymeneal calm.
The busy bee will sip the juice
From flowers dancing in the light,
And the frog will turn a few notes loose
Upon the still and startled night.

The apple tree will decorate and render beautiful the view, the cheery robin and his mate will take an upper flat for two, the ice cream suit will venture out and sniff the none too stable air, the moving van will roll about with a back wheel rubbing on a chair, the plowman when the day is warm will turn the soil against the fall, and the city man who wants to farm will guess he doesn't after all.

That fond illusion will persist as long as men inhabit town, and only reason can assist in holding anybody down. To sit around a city flat and want to farm is well enough, but one is not, for all of that, quite fashioned of the proper stuff.
It isn't any sign that one will get the roosters up at morn, or labor till the day is done at getting in a field of corn.
The thought of it displays the grim, calm perseverance of the Turks, but the dream does grow a little dim with seeing how a farmer works.

There's something more to farming than the fresh and healthy country air.
It takes a big two-handed man to hope of getting anywhere. The furrows in the fields are long, the sun is sometimes very hot, the tendency to rest is strong, and it keeps a body on the trot. The thing that each of us has chose to do is just as like as not the thing we should do the close, to keep things boiling in the pot. We'll let the farmer till the land, the tinner tin, the poets sing, and lending thus a helping hand, we'll make headway in everything.

At any rate the tariff bill Will hold the center of the stage,
And in that epoch-making mill Great adversaries will engage.
The smoke arising from the fray
Will fill a lot of us with dread,
And timid men will feel their way Discreetly underneath the bed.

The President, his dander up, will batter privilege about, and the nabob, in his bitter cup, will quite forget about his gout. The air will fill with flying wool, with sugar cane and other things, the swift Potomac will be full of drift and dynamited rings, the high protectionists will whine their gloomy forecasts of collapse, and the income tax will come in fine for stopping Democratic gaps.

The first 20 days of May will be under the influence of Taurus the Bull, the second sign of the zodiac. People born under this sign are not easily excited, and do not think there will be any war with Japan. They make excellent neighbors, and keep their chickens in their own gardens. They are very even tempered, and almost always stay married. Taurus babies bellow a good deal, but they are resourceful and brave, and can usually take care of themselves while their mothers are at the club meeting.

The last 10 days of May will be under the influence of Gemini the Twins.
Persons born under this sign are very keen-witted, and understand currency revision. Gemini men love harmony, and always give their wives the last word. They are very thrifty, and will pay a big income tax. They are fair-minded, and endorse the President's sugar schedule.

There will not be much marriage or giving in marriage in May. This custom dates back to the time of Euclid the mathematician. He found that under the influence of Gemini the disposition to save was such that persons married under that sign of the zodiac got almost no wedding presents, and it became customary to wait until June, when the conditions in this respect are peculiarly favorable. A few people who can afford to buy their own presents will marry anyway, but the masses will wait.

And then sweet June will come to cast Its spell of sweet endeavor,
And love, true love, will vow to last Forever and forever.

Grants a New Trial.

The case of Brown vs. Hadwin was tried in our circuit court during the October, 1912, term. This was a case of false imprisonment brought against former Sheriff George H. Hadwin by one Crosby Brown, who then lived in Saginaw, and aroused much interest thruout the county because it was incident to a local option case. At the conclusion of the trial a jury rendered a verdict against Mr. Hadwin for $135.00 and costs. The case was vigorously fought on the part of the plaintiff by Attorneys Edwin Rawden, now of Ann Arbor, and Mr. Snyder, of Tawas City, while our present prosecuting attorney,
A. W. Black, tried the case for Mr.
Hadwin. Promptly after the judgment was rendered, Mr. Black made a motion for a new trial, which was contested by the opposing attorneys. On April 24th our circuit judge, Main J. Connine, handed down his Finding, granting the motion for a new trial and setting aside entirely the judgment against Mr. Had-win, which is a great victory for Mr.
Hadwin and Mr. Black. It is altogether unlikely that the plaintiff will either take the case to the supreme court or try it over again.

Some Scrap Iron.

A conservative estimate places the H. M. Loud's Sons Co.'s scrap iron at present at one thousand tons. This does not include some of the iron which belonged to the A. S. & N. W. railway.
In addition to the Loud Co.'s scrap there is probably one hundred tons scattered around town. Harry Helper, of the firm of Helper Bros., Bay City, has been in town this week completing the purchase of the bulk of Loud Co.'s scrap heap, and it will be shipped out as fast as possible. The consideration is not stated, but it is probably not far from $10,000.

The Loud Co. has been shipping ever since the fire. Charlie Hennigar has shipped out close to one hundred tons, and the Colbath Bros. have shipped out considerable more than Hennigar.—

are given concerning planting, fertilizing, cultivation, pruning, control of insect pests, selection of varieties, etc. This

Rheumatism Quickly Cured

"My sister's husband had an attack of rheumatism in his arm," ton, Iowa. "I gave him a bottle of morning the rheumatism was gone."

For chronic muscular rheumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by

A New Song Writer.

A large number of new writers in various parts of the country have come to the front in the past year with as many surprisingly good songs, the small

The song is entitled "One Soldier's Duty," and it can be purchased for 15 cents a copy from the great publishing house of The H. Kirkus Dugdale Publishing Co., of Washington, D.C.

and liver complaint." Will help you.

About Birds.

BY L. H. BELKNAP.

A few days ago a rich Detroit manufacturer imported from England 500 song birds of different species, and much was said in several daily papers in praise, because, they said, "our woods are so silent." I think it splendid to bring these songsters to Michigan in the hope of increasing our insect-eating song birds, but I do not agree with them that "our woods are silent." Our woods and plains are filled with music these days by the songsters that have returned, and there are still some more to return. Our great naturalist did not say about the hermit thrush's song,
"the finest sound heard in nature," without a real appreciation of fine singing. The truth is, we have some of the gems of the bird world in America.

We haven't the far-famed mocking bird in Michigan, but we have almost its equal in the brown thrasher. The thrasher is taken oftentimes to be the wood thrush, but it is larger than the wood thrush, being nearly a foot long.
The thrasher is reddish brown above, with black spots below. Nehrling says:
"I regard the thrasher as the finest of our American song birds. It would take the palm even from the hermit thrush and the mocking bird if only its period of singing were longer. Unfortunately, it is a prominent singer for a few weeks only; later in the season its voice is rarely heard." Its song is a bright and cheerful carol, often long continued, but always clear and sweet.

The slate-colored bird of the thickets, which mews like a cat, and is known to almost every resident of the country, is the catbird. The catbird is a great imi-tator, and also has many notes of its own. Prof. Barrows says this about this splendid bird: "A remarkable songster, second only to his near relative, the mocking bird, the catbird sometimes sings steadily for a half hour with great variety and sweetness; at other times it interrupts the even flow of song to inter-ject cat-mewings and those odd crackling notes which Bicknell compares to the snapping of small fagots. He is a voracious insect eater and a friend of the farmer."

The bobolink is loved in this section for its beauty and its song, and in South America it is hated for its destructiv-ness. The male in the spring is clear black below, mixed black, white and cream above; the female is pale buff, streaked along the sides and over all the upper parts with black. In late summer the male loses its clear black and white.
It lives mainly on harmful insects in this section.

there are people who will insist on

OBITUARY.

Eli Dutton died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Sheppard, in Bay City Tuesday morning, April 29, after ten days illness of pleuro-pneumonia. The funeral was held from the Methodist church of Whittemore Thursday morning.

Mr. Dutton was born in Wales, St. Clair county, Michigan, Aug. 5, 1842, and was married to Miss Melissa E. Potter July 3, 1862. Their family consisted of five daughters and two sons, three daughters, Mrs. John Shue, Mrs. Henry Sheppard, Mrs. Ira Raymond, and one son, Joseph Dutton, of Seattle, surviving him. Only one of his four brothers was able to attend the funeral, as the other brothers and his only sister live in the far west.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutton, with their son Louis, came to Whittemore in the late '90s, where they lived until the fall of 1911. HOLDEN PLANS TO PUT ALFALFA ON EVERY FARM

Plan to Unite All Interests in Nation-Wide Campaign for the General Growing of Alfalfa.

Extension Department to Aid Any Community Interested in Conducting Campaign to Encourage the Growing of Alfalfa—No More Difficult to Grow Than Clover and Gives Double the Yield Alfalfa Automobile Trains Important Feature of the Work—Schedules to Be Arranged and Meetings to Be Held at Farm Homes—Prominent Speakers to Accompany Each Alfalfa Train—Alfalfa Organizations Will Be Formed in Each Community to Promote the Work—Field Men Experienced in Alfalfa Growing Will Follow Up Preliminary Work Where Requested and Give Aid in Getting a Start—Professor P. G. Holden, Director Extension Department, International Harvester Company, Chicago, Will Direct the Work.

Campaign work with automobiles to begin early in April and extend into the late fall. County and city superintendents of schools, colleges, institute workers, Chautauqua lecturers, and others interested in the work will be assisted in obtaining alfalfa charts and lantern slides. Alfalfa literature and booklets will be given wide distribution throughout the country. Special alfalfa articles will be sent to farm journals and magazines, and plate and matrix pages to newspapers. Alfalfa editions of newspapers will be published where campaigns are conducted. Dates will be arranged for "Alfalfa Day" in the schools. The campaign will be conducted in co-operation with farmers' institutes, bankers, business men, commercial clubs, granges, live stock and dairy associations in any community where the people are anxious to improve their conditions agriculturally and are willing to give their time and money for an enthusiastic campaign.

Work to be started immediately in the Corn and Cotton Belt States and in the East. Thirty to forty meetings will be held in each county, the number depending on local conditions.

To accomplish the most in agricultural development, we must begin with the man behind the crop. Upon him depends the final working out of the principles of agriculture—the simple and practical things—which our schools, colleges and experiment stations are endeavoring to bring into general use.

Professor Holden proposes to carry these principles further even than the very effective work done on the agricultural trains, by using that most modern vehicle—the automobile—going directly to the people on their own farms where the meetings are to be held.

Agricultural development needs in addition to the work of our public institutions, the individual efforts of every merchant, banker, corporation, or laboring man, and this plan calls for their heartiest co-operation.

This plan for increasing the yields of our crops by the more extensive growing of that wonderful soil improver, ALFALFA, is meeting the approval of all men who have any knowledge of the beneficial results of its introduction as a general crop.

Campaigns are now being organized in five different states, and Professor Holden is daily answering requests for his assistance in organizing other localities, and invites cordial cooperation with every community interested.
