A large number of men and teams turned out to the road bee Monday and Tuesday and a great deal of work was accomplished on the piece of road lying between the Halletown bridge and the Townline. Part of the machinery was shipped to the Thunder Bay Milling Co. at Alpena and the rest has been stored until otherwise disposed of. The fact that more room is required in the Wilson Grain Co.'s elevator is a proof of the growing popularity of this firm among the farmers from whom most of their business comes.

Aged Mason Honored.

After the regular communication of Tawas City Lodge No. 302, F. & A. M. Wednesday evening, the lodge room was thrown open for an open meeting of Masons and their wives and members of the O. E. S. The occasion of this enjoyable affair was to do honor to Mr. Ebenezer Laidlaw, who is one of the charter members of Tawas City lodge, and who has been a Mason for 42 years. Mr. Laidlaw was presented with a life membership certificate in the order and also with a past master's jewel to replace the one which he lost in the fire which destroyed his residence about four years ago. It was a memorable occasion for him and will long be remembered with pleasure by those who were privileged to participate.

Dropped Dead.

Jacob Altorfer, an aged German resident of this city, dropped dead of heart trouble while feeding his horse Wednesday morning. The old gentleman was apparently well when he went to the barn, but as he did not return for some time his family investigated and found him lying dead on the hay.

Tawas City vs Blue Joe.

Tawas City journeyed to Blue Joe Sunday and defeated the Dam team, 14 to 12, in an exciting game, featured by heavy hitting and costly errors. Creede, the star pitcher for Blue Joe, was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning, F. Swartz getting a three-base hit with two men on base in this round. In the ninth inning Blue Joe started a batting rally that threatened to be serious for our boys. Two hits and a base on balls filled the bases. Then Moore walked a man, forcing in a run. The next batter knocked a high fly that Moore gathered in. Bissonette was then put in as pinch hitter. The best he could do was to drop a bunt in front of the plate and a fast double play, A. Mark to F. Swartz, retired the side. The boys from the Dam are excellent sportsmen and this coupled with the fact that the umpiring was of the best, made the trip a most enjoyable one. Box score:

Commencement.

The capacity of the court house auditorium was taxed to its utmost on Wednesday and Thursday evenings to accommodate the crowds of parents, relatives and friends who gathered to listen to the class day exercises of the graduating classes of the Tawas City high school and the Iosco County Normal.

The room and platform were nicely decorated with plants and cut flowers, together with the class colors, the color scheme on Wednesday evening being pink and white, the colors of the high school class, and on Thursday evening green and white, the colors of the normal class. The class mottoes were also displayed, that of the high school being "Out of School Life into Life's School," and the normal's "The Effort, Not the Success."

The essays and orations of the members of both classes showed careful thought and study in their preparation and did great credit to their authors. The musical numbers of the programs, furnished by the best talent of the city, were also exceptionally fine.

This (Friday) evening occurs the commencement address, which will be delivered by Prof. John R. Brumm of the University of Michigan. Prof. Brumm spoke here last spring and those who heard him speak very highly of his ability in this line.

THE BETTER ROAD MOVEMENT.

The recent activity in road building throughout the state of Michigan augurs well for the future prosperity of the rural communities and the entire state. Every section of the commonwealth is becoming aroused to the necessity and benefit of better highways and in many counties the people have readily voted for large bond issues that their highways might be immediately improved and consequent benefit be derived by the present generation. There is no question but that the great movement for highway betterment is going to have a big influence in drawing settlers to occupy our vacant lands and the increase in land values which will naturally follow will make the payment of these bond issues an easy matter. In 1914 it is expected that the question of bonding the state for the sum of $2,000,000 for the purpose of building three great trunk line highways through the state will be submitted to the electors. And in view of the aroused sentiment for good roads there is not much doubt that the issue will carry by a big majority. The benefit to be derived from these highways can only be estimated, but it is a foregone conclusion that they will be worth far more to the state than it costs to build them. These main trunk lines will act as base lines from which innumerable feeder lines will be built by the counties through which they pass, and in comparatively short time the state will be honeycombed with a network of good roads which will be of incalculable benefit to the farmers and to all others who use the public highways.

Let the good work go on. Let every farmer and every citizen put his shoulder to the wheel and boost. Every dollar put into the improvement of our roads will in the future produce benefits greatly out of proportion to the sum invested.

If, as the sugar producers allege, the putting of sugar on the free list will not lower the price to the consumer, why do they put up such a strong fight to have the tariff retained? There must be a colored gentleman somewhere in the woodpile or both beet and cane sugar men would not be spending so much time and money to "protect" their interests.

If the democrats don't watch out there will be a split in their party large enough to drive both the elephant and the bull moose through.

Churches Should Co-operate.

The program of church federation is not merely negative. Churches, no more numerous than the population requires, may yet fail of their true mission. "Why didn't the churches work together like this long ago?" asked a convert in New Bedford. "People outside regard them as little corporations, each living for itself." Absorbed in maintaining themselves as institutions, the churches overlook their real tasks. Dr. F. E. Emrich, secretary of the Congregational Home Mission Society, once remarked: "I have been in ten counties in as many days, and am everywhere impressed with the fact that the churches ignore a large part of the population." They compete for the religiously interested and neglect the neglecters.

It is also true that they have not yet awakened to the unparalleled opportunity of the church for leadership in the growing movement for community betterment. The new knowledge of the causes of disease and the laws of child-development, together with new arts of transportation and communication, make possible and demand a reconstruction of community life. The hinderances are all moral. The church alone can overcome them; for only religion can bring to bear the motives of eternity upon the movements of time. All betterment movements, therefore, instinctively turn to the church. The churches seem strangely reluctant or incompetent. Does not the main reason lie in their "unhappy divisions?"

For these reasons, urges the Massachusetts Federation, the churches of every community must have some simple but effective way of acting together. Reduced to its lowest terms, a federation is simply a joint-committee of the churches. The only objection arises from the number of existing organizations; but this multiplicity exists because the churches as such have not been organized to co-operate. Once let them organize to anything needed, and the further multiplication of organizations will be rendered unnecessary and the elimination of some now existing possible. Above all, by the co-operative parish plan, they must know and seek the entire population.—American Review of Reviews.

Most Children Have Worms.

Many mothers think their children are suffering from indigestion, headache, nervousness, weakness, costiveness, when they are victims of that most common of all children's ailments—worms. Peevish, ill-tempered, fretful children, who toss and grind their teeth, with bad breath and colicky pains, have all the symptoms of having worms, and should be given Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, which expels worms, regulates the bowels, tones up the system, and makes children well and happy. Kickapoo Worm Killer is guaranteed. All druggists or by mail. Price 25c. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis. For sale by J. M. Wiggazer & Co., Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, East Tawas. adv

Summer at Bay View.

The seasonable Bay View announcements are out and will interest the thousands in search of an ideal vacation place. All winter Bay View has barely a dozen families, but in July and August its population swells to 5,000, and then the young people in their gay customs, the teachers and delightful people from all over the land through this summer city, amid the groves on Traverse bay.

More than 10,000 go there annually. The magnet that draws the people is the Assembly and Summer University, which this year opens on July 5, continuing to August 14. These five weeks are crowded with recreative pleasures and advantages of the finest order. A feature of the Assembly is a series of four great public conferences on supreme issues which are discussed by distinguished leaders. The general, daily programs are filled with famous people, among the names this year being Wm. J. Burns, the great detective, Mme. Schuman-Heink and Helen Keller. The university's fame extends far and last season drew students from 14 states. This year a new school is added in Library work, conducted by the State of Michigan. Those who desire to know more about this summer place will find it in the Bulletin, from which above facts are drawn. J. M. HALL, Bay View, Mich., will send it. adv.

News From Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 24.

With the Panama canal nearing completion, Col. Goethals being authority for the statement that "by January, 1915, anything that floats can pass through the canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans," interests in the increase in all the Atlantic and Pacific coast cities to get ready for the added trade expected.

New Orleans is the latest municipality to feel the influences of an all-water route from the coal fields of Alabama and is preparing to grapple with Pennsylvania for the fuel market on the lower Mississippi, so that when the Panama canal is an actuality it will be in a position to take care of the increase in trade its position rightfully commands.

What has been a dream of a generation or more on the part of the people of New Orleans, cheaper coal, has become a realization through a new water route just opened which taps the coal fields of Alabama, this new water way being accomplished by the recent deepened channels through the Tombigbee and the Alabama rivers into Mississippi Sound and thence to New Orleans by a short cut through Lake Borgne and the canal connecting the lake with the river.

While the first shipment was small, it is confidently believed it is the forerunner of millions of tons of coal and marks the accomplishment of one of the most important commercial achievements in the southwest since Eads' cut his channel through the shifting bar at the mouth of the Mississippi.

For the purpose of accomplishing just such improvements as the all-water route from the Alabama coal fields to the gulf of the National Rivers and Harbor Congress was formed and it takes to itself some of the congratulations in the crystallization of a sentiment that has made this improvement possible.

The longest and loudest wall of distress heard by the new Democratic administration has reached Washington from thousands of small cities, villages, hamlets and other centers of rural America. It is a cry of protest against the action of Postmaster General Burleson in abolishing the back-stamping of letters.

Formerly a postmaster was required, as soon as he opened a mail bag, to stamp letters on the back with the date and hour of their arrival and then to sort them for delivery. Mr. Burleson thought this practice consumed too much time and he ordered it omitted.

The complaints invariably have been to the effect that village postmasters are holding back the mail of their business competitors or their political or personal enemies. When back-stamping was required, a postmaster could not withhold mail without being convicted by the silent testimony of the arrival date.

Uncle Sam is, after all, a good and wise employer, notwithstanding the "kicks" that are heard from some of his employees throughout the dominions over which his flag flies. The Reclamation service, which is changing the waste places of the United States to gardens of great promise, has adopted the idea of providing amusement and entertainment for the thousands of employees under its supervision by introducing into the camps moving picture shows, thereby giving to those who are employed upon his varied projects such recreation and diversification as the normal body needs in its hours of relaxation.

Under the provisions of the eight-hour law the laborer's time on a government job is divided as follows: eight hours work, eight hours play and eight hours sleep. In order to promote a feeling of contentment among the people thus cut off from the rest of the world, consideration must be given to matters of social nature and your "Uncle Samuel" has solved the problem of mind rest by erecting a hall where evening lectures are given, papers and magazines are on file and the "movies" are shown to keep the employees in touch with what the outside world is doing. The expenses of the show and the cost of the equipment are re-imposed from the admission fee, which is normal, and all profits accruing are invested in new attractions.

On the Rio Grande project in New Mexico the moving picture show is operated in connection with the regular Texas tri-weekly circuit and at the performances in March the daily attendance was in excess of two hundred.

Ganderbone's Forecast
 JULY.
 I know a place where cold, blue skies Await the lucky comers
 And earth is like a Paradise A few months in the summer.
 The view is such as never lacked For wondering beholders,
 And all our dreams become a fact— In the railroad folders.
 Just such a place, it would appear. As everyone is seeking
 About this season of the year When the populace is reeking.
 The sweet, cool waters ever play Among the mossy boulders,
 And life is one long roundelay— In the railroad folders.
 In this best place awaits our rest Beyond the fondest fancy,
 And all things thither are possessed Of Nature's necromancy.
 The limpid pool produces fish Enough to stoop one's shoulders,
 And all things are as we wish— In the railroad folders.

July, which was the Quintillis or fifth month of the old Roman calendar, got its name as a result of the great lobby investigation in the Roman Senate. Caesar, who was trying to pass some legislation to which his party was pledged, exposed the lobby with characteristic fearlessness and demanded an investigation. Soon after the investigation began he was personally attacked by the lobby, which was armed with knives, under the Pillar of Pompey. First cutting off his retreat, these representatives of the protected interests, led by Brutus, a wool man, and Casca, sugar, closed in on Caesar and cut him up into fish bait. Mark Anthony, who made the funeral oration, proposed that Caesar's birth month, which was Quintillis, be named for him. He pointed out that while a memorial might do for a man who had divided Gaul into three parts, it could scarcely express the empire's gratitude to a man who had forever ruined the Roman lobby. This impressed everybody favorably. The initiative was invoked, and the month of Quintillis gave way to the new month of July.

The summer breeze will bear the sweet Perfume of clover newly mown,
 And the cautious tramp will flee the heat And claim the cooler for his own.
 The football player, stacking wheat, Will give his college yell and die,
 The team's auto truck will be beat The fire department going by,
 The sun will concentrate its fire Upon the swimmer's blistered back.
 The kingbird, sitting on the wire, Will feel its toes begin to crack,
 The wily lobby will escape Among the thick Potomac trees,
 And the summer girl will play her shape Around the circuit of the seas.

The anniversary of our independence will return, and young enthusiasts will fall with patriotic unconcern. Their elders will not yield their lives so readily for seeing flaws in freedom prone to crystallize in flimsily constructed laws. However, they will furnish fire, sky-rockets, caps and dynamite to any one who may desire to see it celebrated right. The ambulance will be on hand, the antiseptic sorted out, enough wind furnished for the band, and cops distributed about. While not expecting that the new and better notion will prevail, we still are hopeful to subdue some things by camping on their trail. For every boy the doctors get the calaboose will garner ten; we'll stop that monkey business yet, though goodness knows exactly when. For every Briton that we shot, we've shot ourselves a million times, but we're getting over that a lot, thanks to illuminative rhymes, appeals to reason, ridicule, and all those agencies of light that ultimately set a fool and underheaded country right.

The founts of oratory sealed by long chautauqua entre acts will burst upon us freshly heeled with new philosophy and facts. The warlike fisherman will beard the dread mosquito in its den, the mamma bird who disappeared will reappear with birdies ten, the fat man, pitying the thin, will float around upon the sea, the new efficiency will pin a medal on the busy bee, the special session will debate the truths of tariff and finance, the nimble colt will demonstrate the new here comes your daddy dance, the picture show will still the cat with weird canned music from a tent, and the grape juice bottled on the Platte will pop the stopper and ferment.

The blower will be clapped upon The base ball races for the flags,
 The fat man, bounding like the fawn, Will deftly spin around the bags,
 The crush around the soda fountain Will beat a bargain rush for fights,
 The man out camping on the mount Will balm his mosquito bites,
 The controversy with Japan Will sleep the middle of the day,
 And the ever busy little fan Will blow our troubles all away.
 On the morning of July 3 the sun and the dog star, Sirius, will rise at the same time, bringing in the dog days in time for the Fourth. This will put dogs in a little different relation to independence than they have been at various times when the dog days began after the Fourth. They will refuse to let anyone tie packs of firecrackers on their tails, and assert their independence in other little things having to do with the pride and self-respect of dogs. In extreme cases in which their rights are transgressed a dog will go mad, but dogs in the main will retain their reason and attend strictly to their business of keeping a sharp lookout for tramps.

The dog days caused the fall of Egypt. The Egyptians attributed to them the floods which rendered the Nile Valley fertile, and worshipped the dog as the god, Isis. The Greeks and Romans, upon the other hand, blamed them with the intense heat of midsummer, and took an altogether profane view of the dog. The result was one of those terrible theological feuds which have from time to time arrested the development of the world, and it only ended when Egypt was conquered and the dog was moved from the temple to the dog house. The celebrated English controversy over the beginning of the dog days was almost as sanguinary. In the time of Elizabeth they were made to begin on the 6th of July and end on the 5th of September. Subsequently they were made to begin on the 19th of July and end on the 28th of August. A violent protest against this change set in during the protectorate of Cromwell. It was at this time that the term of dog fall originated. The people who wanted the beginning of dog days set back got in the habit of falling before the thoroughbreds of Cromwell and other dignitaries at the races and getting killed for the cause. The Stuarts, who promised to set the dog days back to date from July 3 to Aug. 11, were finally restored to the throne on this issue.

The first twenty-one days of July will be under the influence of Cancer, the Crab, the fourth sign of the zodiac. This will cause the lobby to back up and leave the way clear for the passage of the Underwood tariff bill. The last ten days of July will be under the influence of Leo, the Lion, the fifth sign of the zodiac. Babies born under this sign will be fearless, and will not care whether the milk bottle has been sterilized or not. The moon will be full on the 18th. Mr. Rockefeller's birthday celebration, which increases in violence in inverse ratio to the decrease in violence of our own celebration of liberty, will occur on the eighth, when he will be 74.

And then Augustus Caesar's month Will come to rear and size,
 And show us what a hot time on This side of Jordan is.

Any man who truly likes his own town will be interested in its progress and advancement. To love a town or a country it is necessary to know all about it, to be interested not only in your own success but in that of your neighbors. The man who shuts himself up like a clam shell, who is too selfish to interest himself in his neighbor's welfare may acquire a fortune for himself, but there will be a big sigh of satisfaction when he toddles over the great divide and his place is taken by someone who has more of the milk of human kindness in him. To be a benefit to any town a man must care something about it, find pleasure in it, understand its advantages and get interested in its welfare. Any town can be made a good town, but it all depends upon the men who are in it. If a town is no good the fault is always right at home somewhere.—Ex.

Few to Forfeit Primary Apportionment.

Only 180 school districts representing 40 counties in the state of Michigan will forfeit their primary apportionment this year because they have too large a surplus on hand. Last year 495 districts, representing 53 counties, did not participate. The difference is due largely to the fact that in districts where only one teacher had been previously employed despite a large enrollment of pupils, the board has wisely secured two or more teachers in order to reduce the surplus so that the district should share in the apportionment. In this way school conditions have been improved by the change governing the apportionment.

Hemlock Road Bee.

Another road bee was held on the Hemlock last Monday and a goodly number turned out to contribute their efforts to the improvement of this highway. The time was spent on the mile of road east of the town hall and a great deal of work was accomplished in leveling and grading the roadbed.

Overser Anschuetz furnished us with the following list of the men who contributed team and hand work to further the enterprise: Thomas V. Curry, Chas. Curry, Geo. Hadwin, Geo. C. Anschuetz, Otto Look, John Meazie; Arthur Ross, John Miller, Otto Kobs, Henry Lietzen, Andrew Lorenz, Waldo Curry, Ed Ealy, Jos. Brabant, Mart Long, Gus. Krumm; hand labor: Wm. Katterman, Chas. Thomas, Jos. Brabant, N. Bouchard, Hugo Marwinski, Gus Woyahn, Rudolph Pfaff, John Corrigan, Geo. Laidlaw, Dave Davison, Maurice Lalonde, Rudolph Rempert, Wm. Katterman, Lester Wright's son and Messrs. Sunnies and St. Martin also contributed hand labor. Dr. Crane contributed $2.00 in cash.

The ladies performed their share by treating the workers to a generous supply of ice cream and cake in the afternoon.

Guaranteed Eczema Remedy.

The constant itching, burning, redness, rash and disagreeable effects of eczema, tetter, salt rheum, itch, piles and irritating skin eruptions can be readily cured and the skin made clear and smooth with Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. Mr. J. C. Evedland, of Bath, Ill., says: "I had eczema twenty-five years and had tried everything. All failed. When I found Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment I found a cure." This ointment is the formula of a physician, and has been in use for years—not an experiment. That is why we can guarantee it. All druggists or by mail. Price 50c. Pfeiffer Chemical Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis. For sale by J. M. Wuggazer & Co., Tawas City, and J. E. Dillon, E. Tawas. adv
