We received yesterday another letter regarding the false report that a portion of the money secured from the bond issue would be used on the shore road between East Tawas and Oscoda. This time the protest comes from Wilber, but as the question is fully covered in our article in another column, we refrain from printing the letter.

Misconceptions Regarding the Bond Issue.

We received too late for use last week the following communication from one of the prominent taxpayers of Baldwin township:

East Tawas, Mich., July 23, 1913. Mr. Jas. E. Ballard, Publisher of Tawas Herald, Tawas City, Mich.

Dear Sir:—The time of our special election will soon be here. How are we going to be able to vote intelligently without knowing where the proposed roads are to be built?

Rumors are afloat that a goodly portion of the money, if voted, would be spent on a road over the plains along side the D. & M. railroad between East Tawas and Au Sable which would not benefit very many of the taxpayers, as I can see.

Personally, I would vote for bonding if I were assured that the money would be spent where it would do the majority of taxpayers the most good.

Signed: A TAXPAYER.

As we presume this letter represents the position of a great many of the electors of Iosco county on the road bonding proposition, we believe it only just to them to explain the matter as fully as we are able.

The rumor mentioned in this letter that a large portion of the money derived from the bonds would be used on the road along the lake shore between the Tawas and Oscoda, is a canard pure and simple and was doubtless invented by some one opposed to the bond issue to use as an argument against it. We have it direct from the county road commissioners that not one dollar of the money from the sale of bonds would be used on this road. The road from the Tawas to Oscoda on which a portion of the money would be used is the proposed line of the state trunk line highway which runs through the townships of Baldwin and Wilber. It would be a very foolish proposition to expend a large amount of money on the shore road which would be of use to no one except pleasure seekers and tourists, and from which the farmers would receive no benefit. Our county road commissioners are men of sound business experience and we should have confidence enough in them to believe that they would expend this money where it would do the most good to the greatest number of people.

It would be expecting almost the impossible to ask the commissioners to specify just where each piece of road would be built in the various townships. A comprehensive survey of the entire county would be necessary before this could be done and it would be a waste of money to make such a survey at this time before it is known whether the bond issue will be made. Should the proposition be turned down at the polls the expense of the survey would be an entire loss.

We publish again this week the statement of the county road commissioners regarding the bond issue and recommend that every voter and taxpayer in the county give it a careful reading and consideration. The general plan for the expenditure of the money is outlined therein, and the people of the county will do well to leave it to these gentlemen to carry out the details after the money is in their hands.

Since the statement was published two weeks ago there has been some criticism in certain townships regarding the amounts tentatively apportioned to each township, some claiming that the apportionment is not relatively large enough considering the valuation of the townships. However, by reading both the tables and comparing the amounts that have already been spent in the various townships with the amounts apportioned subject to the bond issue, it will be found that each township has received a fair and just amount of the entire sum expended.

The opinion has also been expressed in many quarters that the apportionments as outlined therein were merely tentative and that after the bond issue was made the commissioners would not allot the various sums mentioned therein to the townships as stated. In a personal interview with Mr. C. W. Luce, chairman of the commission, the writer was informed by him that so far as the present commission is concerned the amounts awarded the various townships are decisive, and that in building the roads which this money will make possible the wishes of the residents of the various townships will be consulted and the roads built where they will be most satisfactory and give the maximum of service to the greatest number of people.

In a number of this kind it is not well to allow every rumor which may be floating around to influence the judgment. In every community there are some men who will oppose any move for the benefit of that community, and to gain their ends will resort to any means whereby they can influence people to their way of thinking. They work insiduously and the damage which they do to a cause is almost irremediable, because of the difficulty of reaching all of those whom they may have influenced.

It should be remembered that approximately fifty per cent of the tax for the payment of these bonds will be paid by the cities in the county, the dam properties and the plant of the Gypsum company at Alabaster, none of whom will derive any direct benefit. However, the greatest opposition is found in the rural districts which will be most benefited. The farmers who are alive to their own best interests should make a close study of the question between now and August 11. If they will do this we are sure that the county will return an overwhelming majority in favor of the proposition.

Will Reduce Rates on Parcel Post.

Announcement is made by Postmaster General Burleson of extension of the parcel post system to be effective August 15.

Under the change, rates in the first and second zones will be reduced and the rate limit on parcels increased from 11 to 20 pounds.

In the same connection the present zone of the post system will be abolished and an individual chart for each office substituted.

The new reduction in the rate and increase in the weight of parcels will be effective about 200 miles from each post office. This step is the first to be taken in the enlargement of the parcel post service.

The rate of postage on parcels weighing in excess of four ounces in the proposed first zone will be reduced from five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound or fraction, to five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional two pounds or fraction thereof, and the rate for the second zone will be reduced from five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound or six cents for the first pound and four cents for each additional pound or fraction thereof to five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound or fraction thereof.

Purchase of a large number of automobiles to be used in the parcel service over the country is decided upon by the post office department.

Teachers' Examination.

The next regular teachers' examination will be held in the court house, Tawas City, August 14th and 15th.

In addition to usual subjects, teachers will also be examined in agriculture.

STATEMENT

Of the County Road Commissioners to the People of Iosco County:

In accordance with a certain resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors during its last session, we, the County Road Commissioners, submit the following:

RESOLUTION.

RESOLVED, That the County Road Commissioners be requested to immediately prepare plans for the distribution of moneys for road purposes in Iosco County in the event the bond issue of $100,000.00 is allowed by the electors at the coming special election, to be called for the purpose, and that said Board of Road Commissioners be requested further to determine what amount will be spent in each township in said county for the purpose of good roads and lines of proposed roads, as nearly as possible, and publish the same in the Iosco County Gazette, Tawas Herald and Oscoda Press weekly for a period of two weeks preceding said special election.

The foregoing resolution was adopted after the Board of Supervisors of this county had decided to submit the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $100,000.00 to raise money for the construction and maintenance of county roads.

In attempting to submit a statement to the people of this county relative to the good roads proposition, it was found to be absolutely impossible on account of time and impracticability to determine at this time each route for each road in each township, because we feel that we should receive the advice and counsel from the people of each township as to their desires in the building of these roads before the exact routes were laid out for any; and before any lines are established the Commission will be pleased to receive suggestions and go over the ground carefully in each township, in order to place the county roads in the best locality in each township and to do the most good to the largest number of inhabitants.

The following table will show the amounts of county road taxes spread on the several townships and cities for the past eight years and will also show the amount in money the several townships have received in county roads up to this year:

	Road Tax.	Roads built.
Alabaster Township	$3296.86	$3632.87
AuSable "	3074.97	None
Baldwin "	1360.80	5696.67
Burleigh "	2334.22	None
Grant "	1623.59	9001.62
Oscoda "	2878.27	3044.88
Plainfield "	3548.84	None
Reno "	2610.49	9201.62
Sherman "	2245.30	5735.55
Tawas "	3837.63	7259.70
Wilber "	1638.50	None
City of AuSable	682.93	None
City of East Tawas	4946.02	None
City of Tawas City	2882.53	None
City of Whittemore (6 yrs.)	598.99	None

From the foregoing table it will seem that many townships have received a large amount in roads in excess of the amount of money paid in taxes, while other townships have paid their proportion of taxes without receiving any roads as yet in return, and this seemed to be the correct basis upon which to apportion the several amounts for the different townships, and in consideration of the foregoing statement, we, the Commissioners, have decided on a distribution of the $100,000.00 as follows:

Alabaster Township	$7000.00
AuSable "	5000.00
Baldwin "	7000.00
Burleigh "	15000.00
Grant "	7000.00
Oscoda "	5000.00
Plainfield "	15000.00
Reno "	10000.00
Sherman "	7000.00
Tawas "	8000.00
Wilber "	10000.00
Expenses, tools etc	4000.00

It should be added that the foregoing table of figures are estimated amounts, as it will be the policy of the Commission to complete lines of roads in each township and connect roads as much as possible, thereby making continuous routes of good roads from place to place.

For each mile of road built with the money obtained from the bonds to be issued, the state will pay to this county a certain award for the building of roads, according to the kind of roads built, and it will be the policy of the Commission to add to the apportionment of each township the extra sum received from the state in awards to be given each township nearly doubling the amount in good roads that is tabulated above in the apportionment.

The Commission is not in a position at the present time to advise the people of the exact route of the state trunk line through this county, as the State Highway Commissioner has not as yet designated the route, but when this route is designated and established, whatever roads are built along said route and in accordance with the specifications laid down by the State Highway Commissioner, the different townships through which the trunk line passes will receive an award from the state of $2000.00 per mile for each mile built, and this money will be apportioned the particular townships through which the trunk line passes, thereby increasing considerably the amount of money to be spent in each township.

From the table first given in this statement, it will be found that the different cities in this county have contributed during the last eight years in taxes for good roads in this county, the sum of $8260.47, and under the law none of this money could be spent inside of the city corporations and the townships have received the direct benefit from this taxation.

PARCEL POST EXTENSION OPPOSED

Strenuous efforts are being made to prevent Postmaster General Burleson from putting into effect the proposed changes in the parcel post, which would increase the size of the packages which might be carried and reduce the rates. Senator Bryan of Florida, who is undoubtedly friendly to the express companies and railroads, introduced a resolution in the senate the other day to repeal that portion of the parcel post law which gives the postmaster general the right to fix rates according to his judgment, subject only to the permission of the interstate commerce commission.

The railroads of the country have also registered strong objections to the proposed change, stating that it will reduce their revenues from the express companies by $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year. Incidentally they reveal the fact that the railroads receive 50 per cent of the charges made by the express companies. A delegation representing the railroads went to Washington and formally protested to Congress against the order of the postmaster general.

It is only to be expected that these huge combinations should protest against anything that will cut into their exorbitant profits, whether it is for the benefit of the people or not. The huge octopus of railroad and express interests will fight tooth and nail against any movement that will curtail their privilege to bleed the people, and if they can throttle this move in the postal department in any manner they will not hesitate to do so. And there is a certain element among our congressmen who so far forget their duty to the people who elected them and who pay their salaries that they will work for the interests of the railroads and express companies against the interests of their constituents.

The people of the United States have fought long and ardently for a parcel post and now that they have it they want all the privileges that can be consistently be granted them as a relief from the exorbitant express rates which they have been compelled to pay in years gone by.

And the congressmen who oppose the granting of these benefits will be made to answer for their stand when the time comes that they ask for re-election.

CASH VS. CREDIT.

There is a growing inclination on the part of merchants throughout the country to place their business on a strictly cash basis. This is a very commendable movement and will result in great benefit to all concerned. There is altogether too much credit business done, and if this bane of the merchants' existence could be cut out entirely it would relieve him of much worry and enable him to sell on a much closer margin of profit than is possible under present conditions.

The merchant who gives credit is bound to lose more or less of his accounts and the result is that he is compelled to charge all his customers a larger percentage on their purchases than he would have to do if he made nothing but cash sales. As one merchant tritely puts it in announcing a change to a strictly cash basis, "I have no quarrel with the credit system, but in years of experience I have given away considerable money in bad credits, and I gave that money to the wrong man, the man who didn't pay." Therein lies the whole trouble with the credit system. The man who pays cash for everything he buys is compelled to pay a percentage of the loss on the man who buys on credit and then forgets or neglects to pay his bills. And, too, even if all accounts were collectable there would still be a charge for carrying the accounts, as no man expects to invest his money and then not receive a reasonable interest on it. The interest on outstanding accounts must therefore be charged against operating expense and collected from the cash customer.

Another feature of the credit system and one which is closely related to the foregoing, is that the man or woman who buys on credit often does not know how large an account they are running up and therefore buy more liberally than they would otherwise do. It is very easy to order goods from a store and simply say, "charge it," where if the purchaser had to pay the cash when the goods were purchased a great many would hesitate before buying things they could do without.

We have in mind a large firm in a nearby town where hundreds of men are employed and where employes can procure anything they want at the "company store" and have the bill deducted from their pay check at the end of the month. Many of these employes have worked for the firm for many years and during that time have found themselves in debt to the firm after their entire wages for the month had been deducted. Would they have bought so freely if they had been paying cash? Possibly, but not probably. They would have economized on their purchases and had something to lay away for the proverbial rainy day. But this instance is only one of many where the credit system is in force.

Of course there are exceptional cases, as of sickness or disability, where credit is almost necessary, but there is no valid reason why a man who is working every day should contract debt for his living expenses. And if every merchant would discontinue giving credit and demand cash for everything he sells, his customers would soon adjust themselves to the new system and all concerned would be benefited.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire proposes to submit the democratic tariff bill to a referendum vote in 1914. Funny Mr. Gallinger did not think of suggesting this method when the republicans were revising the tariff upward.

Senator Bryan must have forgotten that senators are now elected by direct vote of the people. He may be asked some questions in regard to his position on the parcel post when he comes up for re-election.

Railway Business For May.

During May the railways of the United States received for their services to the public an average of $8,230,000 a day; it cost to run their trains and for other expenses of operation $5,920,000 a day; their taxes were $341,500 a day; their operating income $1,972,322 a day for the 220,897 miles of line reporting, or at the rate of $8.93 for each mile of line for each day. Thus for every six dollars of their earnings which remained available for rentals, interest on bonds, appropriations for betterments, improvements and new construction, and for dividends, the railways had to pay more than one dollar in taxes.

All of these amounts are substantially greater than the similar returns for May, 1912. They are from the summary of the earnings and expenses compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics from the monthly reports of the steam railways of the United States to the Interstate Commerce Commission. They include over 95 per cent of the mileage and earnings of all the railways of the country.

AUGUST.
The Turk at eve had trotted where
The sands of Asia shone before,
And said at length in his despair,
"Tomorrow I will trot some more."
His eyes were dull for fortune fell,
His heart within his breast was hot,
And he said with resting him, "Tis well,
At any rate, I know the trot."
But where pursuit had thundered aft,
The morrow failed to bring the foe,
At which the son of Allah laughed,
And listened for an hour or so.
At last he heard the allied ranks
Sandbagging one another's men,
At which he duly rendered thanks
And turk trotted back again."

August gets its name from Augustus Caesar, to whom historians have likened Theodore Roosevelt. He was not, however, strenuous enough to be sure that posterity would not confuse him with Julius Caesar, so he took the sixth month of the Roman calendar, Sextilius, and named it August. While it is not a pleasant means of reminding us of him, Augustus has always been considered justified. He was competing for fame against the greatest name in history, and as the historian Ferrero aptly remarks, he had to go some.

The reign of Augustus Caesar marked the golden age of the Roman Empire. Everybody was agreed on the tariff, the currency was settled, and the Emperor was at his desk at seven o'clock every morning. Julius Caesar, who was assassinated for being away from Rome half the time talking at chautauques in Gaul and the other provinces, was a more brilliant man, but he kept Rome in an uproar all the time, whereas Augustus maintained peace and quiet throughout the empire until the last few years of his reign. He only became involved abroad when the Germans insisted upon German being taught in the Roman schools. This problem was very much like our own Japanese problem, and it is said to have almost exclusively engaged the attention of Augustus for twenty years. It finally resulted in war, and eventually caused the fall of Rome.

The dear old swimming hole will don
A nice thick coat of beryl seum,
And lecturers with dusters on
Will range from here to Kingdom Come.
The words will echo with alarms
Concerning whither we are bent,
And crowds will rally from the farms
To push and crowd around the tent
The perils of a perilous day
Will rise to plague us as they pass,
And the diplomat will steal away
With money for his rent and gas.

The summer sun will float around about as high as early corn, and the Bob White's whistle will resound across the stubble field at morn. The brain will bubble in the skull, with steam escaping from the ears. The weather man will try to lull the farmer's seasonable fears. The rich wheat grower on his truck will toil his product to the mill, the hired man will deftly duck to spend a hundred-dollar bill, the tourist visiting with kings will bring his travels to a close, and the summer girl will gather rings on all ten fingers and her toes.

The festive calf will think of Fall and lightly do the turkey trot, and the pumpkin vine will drag the ball across a twenty-acre lot. The bullfrog booming in the glade will sound his ponderous farewell, the farmhand loafing in the shade will listen for the dinner bell, the summer man will plight his troth to seven maidens in a night, the ever-enterprising moth will teach the little moth to bite, the commonwealth will stand appalled at revelations by the way, and Col. Mulhall will be called a liar forty times a day.

Oh, woe is us that has diversified
To finding one another out,
And scarcely knew the while we urged
Exposure what we were about!
If everyone lets out the cat
The country will be so bereft

Within a very little that
It won't have any good men left.

The heights by statesmen reached and kept were not attained by telling all, but mostly while their country slept with soft gumshoeing in the hall. The ways of politics are yain, and no one carrying a light has ever found it to his gain to dissipate the shades of night. As well would one turn on the the Pintsch while in a tunnel on a train, revealing what it is a cinch will ordinarily obtain. The blushing bride, in sweet despair for hubby having called her dear, and the maiden lady reddened where some drummer bit her on the ear, it won't do, friends; without the mask we've all good cause to be afraid, and a much more charitable task is keeping up the masquerade.

At any rate, the tariff bill
And other matters of debate,
Will linger through the summer still
And help the hills reverberate.
The sugar man will sound laments
That boom and break against the sky,
And the wool man, from his pasture fence,
Will sing a coronach and die.

On Aug. 3, 1492, Columbus sailed the first time for America. He sighted land Oct. 12. He had labor troubles on the way over, and lost a good deal of time. The Industrial Workers of the World, who made up a considerable part of his crew, wanted to throw the Socialists overboard and to have the new world to themselves, and the Socialists, in turn, wanted to throw the Democrats and Republicans overboard and keep them from discovering where the others went. Columbus subsequently made three other voyages for the purpose of bringing the different parties over separately. They all got here. It is customary on Aug. 3 to think of Columbus and the time he had.

The dog days will end on the 11th, after which dog bites will not have to be Pasteurized. The 15th will be the anniversary of Napoleon, from whom we bought an extensive piece of territory for Col. Roosevelt to hunt in. The moon will be full on the 16th. Until the 23rd of August we shall be under the influence of Leo the Lion, the fifth sign of the zodiac. Virgo people are great purists, and have screened minds like Anthony Comstock. On Aug 31st there will be a partial eclipse of the sun invisible in America, but it will drive home from Europe a lot of people who ought to be here helping us settle the Mexican problem.

And then September's breezes blast
Will fan the trotting Turk,
And Col. Bryan and the rest
Will all go back to work.

Protecting the Birds.
 The people of the United States have at last been aroused to a point where they are willing to do something for the protection of bird life throughout the country, and in order that this work may be effective, congress at its last session passed a law which gave the department of agriculture power to prescribe methods for protecting migratory and other birds and allowing their natural increase. This law supercedes all state game laws and is mandatory upon all citizens and will be enforced by the usual authorities. The law prevents spring shooting in Michigan and other northern states, an action that should have been taken years ago. There is no reason why ducks and other birds should be shot during the mating season, which is in the early spring, and the fact that this practice has been allowed is nothing to the credit of the states who have been so lax with their game laws. These laws are made very stringent so far as the south is concerned, and their operation will prevent the negroes and others in the southern states from shooting the robin for food, as has always been the custom during the winter months after they had taken refuge there to escape the rigors of the northern winters. All song birds are given general protection, and game birds will only be taken at the proper season, which is in the fall. This will be a great help to the farmers all over the country, for if the birds are allowed to increase as they should they will soon become so numerous that they will destroy insect pests which are now rampant throughout the states on account of the scarcity of birds which naturally feed upon them. Man has paid a fearful price for destroying the birds and now that this has been recognized it is probable that some of the harm already done can be remedied by the operation of this new law. The robin is one of the best friends man has and yet even in this vicinity they are ruthlessly shot by certain unscrupulous farmers who object to letting them eat a few cherries during the fruit season. The fruit that a bird eats is paid for several times in the destruction of bugs and worms which threaten the lives of the trees and all farm crops. This law is a good one and if it is properly enforced will prove one of the greatest blessings that was ever placed upon the statute books.—Grand Traverse Herald.

 bonds be issued and that instead of bonding the county at the outset for $100,000.00 that the bonds be issued only as the money can be used for road building, thereby saving the county from paying interest on money remaining in our hands idle during the construction of the work.
 Your Commissioners feel an added weight of responsibility in contemplating a work of such dimensions, but will use every effort that is possible to build the best kind of roads in the best manner possible for the people and will endeavor to use great care in the expending of this money, so that the greatest results may be obtained from it.
