TAWAS CITY, MICH., Aug. 22, 191

Why should Tawas City remain in its present condition as fourth class city, little more than an overgrown village, when the earnest effort to make of the city question. one of the best and most thriving communities in the state of Michigan?

artificial manner to become a great industrial center? On one side we have Tawas Bay, the best natural harbor on the Great Lakes, and only needing the construction of a dock to give us direct and economical water transportation to the great trade power for any number of industrial establishments large and small, and there is no doubt but that if a demand were created for this power in Tawas City the company would establish a transtions warrant it, other roads could soon. High tariff and low tariff paper their lines to this point.

With all these possibilities for growth and expansion why should the large cities be allowed to draw the very life-blood from our city in the persons of our young men, when with a little effort we might furnish employment for them at home? It would take but a few minutes effort on the part of anyone who has lived in the city for the past five years to ennumerate from twenty-five to fifty young men who in that time have left here to go to the cities where larger opportunities and better wages await them. We cannot blame the boys, as practically the only source of employment here is the D. & M. car shops, where wages are comparatively small and the chances for advancement few and far between.

What is the solution? Are we to sit tamely by and see this go on year after year, or will our business men and citizens awake from their lethargy and provide some means whereby we can keep these young men at home, and at the same time increase the commercial and industrial activity of saves time and money in cutting grades our city? Surely this can be done if all will work together in harmony, abjuring all petty jelousies and bickerings and striving together for the greater good of the whole city. From a selfish standpoint, even, this is the best course, for whatever will help one will help all, and each man will reap the benefit of a larger growth in just the measure that he strives for it.

Let's start something. If al interests, municipal, business and laid. private, will join forces to accomplish better conditions for move forest litter has been practiced in the whole city much can done India, with the idea that it improves the now. One thing is sure, that if long investigations forest officials there no effort is put forth there will be no returns, and it is better to die fighting for a lost cause than never to have tried at all.

"Hotel Brighton, Atlantic City March 15, 19-. Dad Dear: Some thing has happened! After all the dark days I am to be happy, dad, do you hear me? Happy! I was sitting in the Casino yesterday morning with my back turned to the crowd when I heard a woman's voice say: 'There he is, now, isn't he interesting looking? I did not turn around but some one Harold Brabant of Tawas City drew a chair near mine and sat down to read. I read a long while, until the place was quite deserted except for this stranger who had his back to-me. Wm, and Nelson Pringle drove to Suddenly, he throw down his book, walked over to the window and began to speak, eviden'tly supposing himself quite alone. At the first sound of his voice I kept very still in my chair. 'What will it all come to?' I heard him say. T have done all I could, but even for her dear sake I cannot marry another woman. In Heaven's name why should I? It would all be a damnable lie from beginning to end, there would be no peace here nor hereafter. Ah, Jean, Jean, if I had never looked into your great, soulful eyes, if my arms had never held you close, it might have been, but nownever! You said you would not marry a man who had idly won another womans' heart. You meant to do right, little girl, but you did not know how despicably deceitful she was, and can never tell you.'

"During the past year," said Mr.

A Weighty Matter.

Three pounds and six ounces of new public acts took effect in Michigan Thursday. The public acts of 1911 weighed only two pounds and four ounces. If we are to be saved by lawmaking, as many good people suppose, we ought to be one pound and two ounces nearer salvation than we were last week. If things seem to be much the same as they were last week that is not the fault of our legislators. Surely they have given us all the laws they could. The score card in the back of the book reads like a compendium of human knowledge. There are new laws, for instance, about babies, bait, barbers, bass, bees, bishops, bluebills and bologna. Carp and cars have been considered with equal care. Frogs and formaldehyde have received the wise attention of statesmen. Eggs and erysipelas have been treated generously. pheasants have not been forgotten. Refinement of accuracy in the pursuit and apprehension of malefactors is exhibited in a special statute providing punishment, probably provided by a least half a dozen other laws, for a man who deserts a woman after marrying he to escape prosecution for betraying her. There is onomatopoeia in hearing our conversational politicians legislating or jobbers, long-jaws, and nuisances.

Alderman Lodge tells of a splendid Suffered Eczema Fifty Years old man from a rural district whom he knew as a member of the house of representatives. The old gentleman voted "No" on everything, adjournments included. One day Mr. Lodge asked the old gentleman in a quiet corner to explain his system. And old man made answer: "I figger that bout eighty per cent o' them oughta never be passed at all; an' ef I vote again everything I'm right eighty per cent o' the time; and I think that's good enough record for anybody."-Detroit Saturday Night.
