Won Many Stock Prizes.

C. H. Prescott & Sons had a large exhibit of cattle from their Prescott ranch at the Northeastern Michigan Fair held at Bay City last week, and the number of prizes won by them is sufficient proof of the high grade of their stock.

In the Shorthorn Durham class they received first premium on aged bull, two year old bull, yearling bull, bull and four of his get, four year old cow and heifer calf; second and third premiums on bull calf 3 months old; and the grand champion prize on bull, all ages, and cow, all ages.

In the Aberdeen Angus class they received second premium on bull calf and third premium on aged cow, two year old heifer and heifer calf 3 months old.

The aggregate of the cash prizes won on these entries was $116.00.

The Common Towel.

This household infection spreader is abhorrent and repulsive to a person who has been used to an individual towel. It is difficult to understand how any one can wipe his face on a soiled, damp towel that has been used by all the other members of the household. But custom is a great factor in molding habits and allaying prejudices, hence the necessity of pointing out at least one reason why the common towel is dangerous. There are many germs which will attack the eyes and cause inflammation, providing the eyes are in a favorable condition for the germ to develop at the time of its introduction. A germ which at one time will grow in the eye and cause inflammation will at another time be perfectly harmless. Germs which are harmless to oneself may be exceedingly poisonous to another person and cause dangerous inflammation of the eyes. For hygienic reasons the common towel should be abolished in every home.

Beautiful Dog Picture Free.

We have a limited number of the new Winchester panel pictures, showing two beautiful setters in the field. Anyone clipping this advertisement and presenting it at the gun counter can have one. It's worth your time and effort. None given to children. C. H. Prescott & Sons, Tawas City. adv.

TELEPHONE INEFFICIENCY

Service Given is Abominable. Company is Autocratic as to Rates.

A short time ago this paper had something to say regarding the service that is being given to the people of this section of the country by the Michigan State Telephone Company. Further developments have shown that we exposed only a small portion of the shortcomings of the telephone trust, and these developments have more firmly established the fact that an independent company that would give SERVICE would find this a fruitful field for another line.

One day last week a Tawas City business man wished to call a party at Hale on business of importance and had recourse to that much vaunted vehicle of communication, the telephone. The call was put in at about 11 o'clock in the forenoon and it was three o'clock in the afternoon before the connection was made, and even then the parties could not communicate on account of the noise on the line which sounded as though the instruments were connected with a saw mill or a machine shop. Several more attempts were made to establish the communication but at last the subscriber was forced to give up the attempt in disgust.

This is but one instance of the inefficiency which characterizes the telephone service given to the people of this part of the state. It is practically impossible to get a good talking connection anywhere outside of the purely local phones, and though this situation has been in existence for a long time no attempt has been made by the company to remedy it. It would seem to be merely a matter of good business policy for the company to put its lines in shape for communication, otherwise the loss will be a great deal more than the repairs would cost.

Another cause for complaint from the Tawas subscribers is the autocratic manner in which the company has adjusted the rates in this territory and the "take or leave it" attitude it has adopted. To lessen their telephone bills and for greater convenience a number of subscribers here have asked to have their office and residence phones placed on the same line and accorded the two-party rate, instead of having individual phones for each. This, the company flatly refuses to do, though it will party either the residence or office phone with some other subscriber and give the two party rate. We utterly fail to see any merit in a procedure of this kind and know of at least two cases where the company will lose business if this course is persisted in.

As we stated in a previous article there are a number of would-be patrons of the telephone who have waited from two to three months for the installation of their instruments, and there are others who would give their order for service if there was any chance of getting it in the near future. But so long as the company neglects the field and makes no attempt to take care of the business it already has, new business cannot be expected.

No criticism is due Manager Andrus for the present condition of affairs, for he is doing the best he can, but is hampered by the refusal of the company to give him sufficient assistance to take care of the business here. It seems to be the policy of this company to systematically neglect the smaller exchanges and put the efforts of its entire force upon the large city exchanges. The Tawas exchange is not the only one to suffer from inefficiency and neglect, for nearly every day the papers report telephone troubles in some of the smaller towns. It's a mighty poor business policy to follow such a course and if the right measures were used it seems to the casual observer that the company could be made to adopt a different policy.

TRI-COUNTY CONVENTION

Good Attendance at Meeting of Sunday School Workers. Excellent Program.

The Tri-county Sunday school convention held in Standish, September 5th, 6th and 7th, was a decided success. More than 60 delegates were in attendance and of this number Iosco sent 25. Prof. Goodrich of Albion, and Rev. Marvin of Bay City Westminister Presbyterian church were the outside speakers. Prof. Goodrich just recently returned from the World's Sunday school convention held at Zurich. He gave several inspiring and helpful addresses using the following topics: "Samaritans in Costume," "How to Study the Bible," and "My Trip to Zurich." He also conducted a conference Saturday morning. Those who have heard Prof. Goodrich at former conventions, can appreciate the treat we enjoyed.

Rev. Marvin gave a masterly and eloquent address using as his subject, "Furnished Completely for Every Good Work."

The local speakers and their subjects were: Rev. Martin of Prescott, "The Workman Not Ashamed"; Rev. Clifford of Standish, "The Prepared Sunday School Worker"; J. A. Campbell of Tawas City, "Jesus as a Teacher"; Pres. Nisbet, "Need of The Home."

The convention was closed by an address by Rev. J. B. Brown of Iosco county.

Several conferences were held viz: "Adult and Teachers' Training," Mr. Fry and J. A. Campbell; "Elementary and Mothers," Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Nisbet; "Temperance and Purity," Prof. Goodrich; "Missions and Evangelism," Geo. Cory; "Rural and Secondary Work," W. H. Price and Clarence Bartlett.

At the annual election the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, James Nisbet, Maple Ridge; vice president for Iosco county, Rev. J. B. Brown, Tawas City; Arena, A. L. Wilkins; Ogemaw, Geo. Cory, Prescott; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Tawas City.

Elementary superintendents: For Iosco, Mrs. O. S. Nicholls, Ellake; Ogemaw, Mrs. A. Scott, Prescott; Arena, Mrs. L. Lowney, Maple Ridge. Training class supt., J. A. Campbell, Tawas City; organized adult class, O. S. Nicholls, Ellake; temperance supt., Fred Black, Maple Ridge; purity supt., Mrs. F. B. Drummond, Turner; missionary supt., Mrs. Jas. Nisbet, Maple Ridge; evangelistic supt., Elmer Scott, Prescott; rural supt., J. Berquist, Prescott; secondary supt., Arthur Nixon, Twining.

County officers: Secretary and treasurer for Arena, Dr. A. McDowell, Turner; for Iosco, Miss Effie Graham, Tawas City; for Ogemaw, Mr. Joseph Lathrop, Selkirk.

The people of Standish proved excellent hosts. Autos met the visitors at Pine River and returned them Sunday evening. Their many kindnesses will long be remembered by all visiting delegates.—Contributed.

Is Doing First Class Work.

Lewis Rodman of Wilber purchased recently a Rumley Oil Pull Tractor and separator, with which he has been doing a great deal of threshing for the farmers in that township this fall. Following are a few of the comments of those for whom he has threshed.
"It's the best yet." Henry Thompson.
"Best work I've seen in 30 years experience." John Alda.
"Good job. Best ever done in Wilber." E. D. Smith.
"Best I ever saw in Wilber, and more than I ever saw with hot air." Eben Abbott.
"Worth $50.00 to have you thresh my grain." Richard Cornett.
"It's a dandy." August Cholger, jr.
"You will get more than you can do as long as you do like that." August Cholger, sr.
"Gosh, I never saw such good work." Arthur Davis.

These are only a few of the many expressions of satisfaction heard by Mr. Rodman this fall. A few days ago he threshed 637 bushels of oats for August Blust in one hour and 55 minutes. It will pay to have him do your work as the grain is clean and nice when he gets through. adv.

The latest reports from the Panama canal zone are to the effect that the great waterway is all but completed and that small ships will be able to pass through it from end to end by October 10. The completion of this vast project marks one of the greatest engineering feats in the history of the world. Obstacles have been overcome that a few years ago were considered insuperable and the canal will ever remain a monument to American pluck, ingenuity and perseverance.

The senate has at last passed the tariff bill and the prospects are that the public will soon have an opportunity to observe the effect of the new rates on both business activity and the cost of living.

"The Invisible Government" Under Searchlight.

Congress is conducting a double-barreled investigation of vital moment to the American Republic. Started by the charge of President Wilson that an "insidious and numerous lobby" was operating to prevent the enactment of his tariff views, it has spread until it has bared the "invisible government" which, in fact, has been directing the destinies of the people of the United States. It has revealed powerful aggregations of capital working to one end—the protection and development of special privilege. It has brought to light the feeble efforts of organized labor to better the condition of the working people and even to secure the upper hand in its war upon capital. It has developed an enormous expenditure of money; the use of secret, unfair, dishonest, and sometimes criminal methods, including the corruption of public servants—humble negro and white messengers, stationed at the doors of committee rooms and the office of the President, buy pages of the house, and men elected by the people to represent their interest as a whole. It has disclosed the tactics pursued to influence the organization of the House and of its committees in order that one side or the other might be advantaged. It has established that special interests have dictated not only the customs duties imposed upon products in which they were particularly interested, but even the language of the law. It has exposed the means by which legislation desired was passed and objectionable legislation was killed. It has unveiled a power so great that national political parties have yielded to it, and accepted its dictum as their policies.

It is an absorbing tale which thus far is in outline only—for there will be further facts developed which, with those now available, will make a mosaic destined to appall the people. During the thirty years the investigation has covered, they will find they have been exploited by cunning adventurers, to use no worse term, who have kept their hands upon the throttle of legislation, and who, to gain their ends, have considered no expense too great, no means beneath their service. These men have gone into State and Congressional districts, notably in the case of the National Association of Manufacturers, to elect candidates in sympathy with their views and to defeat men opposed to them. Indeed, the ambition of some men seeming to control the policy of the National Association of Manufacturers, as disclosed by their own letters, has soared to the point of influencing the election of a President of the United States and the appointment of a member of his cabinet. Literally, the great interests have spent money like water and found it profitable; and in order to escape responsibility for their acts they have burned books, sent unsigned instructions, and designated their employees by numbers instead of by their proper names.—American Review of Reviews.

Nothing better for indigestion or biliousness. Price 50c and $1.00 at J. M. Wuggazer & Co. Tawas City, and Jas. E. Dillon, East Tawas. adv

What is a Suffragette, Anyway?

Recently a street car advertising agency, in order to stimulate interest in their cards displayed in the cars, offered cash prizes for the best epigrammatic definitions of a suffragette.

Here are some of the results:

A suffragette is a woman who thinks she has been de-voted long enough.

Not satisfied with the last word she always wants the first.

She is the corset needed to reduce the government waste.

She is a woman who needs the "poll" for her vaulting ambition.

A suffragette is a sting of beauty and a jawer forever.

A woman who would rather break windows than clean them.

A woman whose troubles certainly are not "little ones."

One who spends more time airing her views than viewing her heirs.

A woman who will spare no pines to get her rights.

A woman who would rather rock the country than the cradle.

A female creature, queer and quaint Who longs to be just what she ain't. The hen that would cackle and never set

Is the woman known as the suffragette. We can't efface, we can't forget her, We love her still—the stiller the better.

American Wastes of Resources.

Officials of many government bureaus are interested in an itemized statement of a German author who claims that there is a waste of natural resources in America amounting to $10,000,000,000 a year, approximately the cost of running the entire government for an entire decade. Frank Koester is the man who has summed up these losses in a recent book on America, called, "The Price of Efficiency." With the waste of ten billion dollars of resources he figures that this amounts to $100 for each person in the country and $300 for each wage earner, on whom the burden principally falls.

Practically all of this waste, the author claims, is preventable, and he backs up his statements with careful estimates made by the United States government experts and by persons closely acquainted with conditions in all parts of the country. Included among the resources which can be saved Mr. Koester includes the following:

A billion cubic feet of natural gas daily. This is considered the most perfect of all fuels, and is enough to supply every city of more than 100,000 population in the United States.

Twenty-two million dollars a year in lost gases in the manufacture of coke.

Two hundred and thirty-eight million dollars annually in losses through floods and freshets, which could be prevented by proper engineering and proper methods of cultivating the soil.

Five hundred million dollars a year in soil erosion, which could be saved by proper methods of cultivation.

Six hundred and fifty-nine million dollars a year through losses to growing crops, fruit trees and grain in storage by noxious insects whose multiplication can be prevented.

Two hundred and sixty-seven million dollars a year through attacks of flies, ticks and other insects on animal life.

One hundred million dollars a year in losses of live stock and crops by wolves, rats, mice, and other predatory animals.

Ninety-three million dollars a year in losses of live stock due to disease of which a large part is chargeable to Texas fever.

Seven hundred and seventy-two million dollars annually in losses of income due to industrial diseases that are diseases which attack workers on account of their employment and sanitary conditions under which their work is carried on.

One and one-half billion dollars a year through loss of life and illness to industrial and other workers through preventable diseases, accidents and carelessness.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars a year in fire losses to inflammable buildings and other structures.

Four hundred million dollars a year in city water supply used for fire fighting, fire department charges and in distribution charges, all of which make the losses per capita in this country ten times that of European countries.

Twenty-five million dollars a year in failure to adopt the potato drying process used in Germany to prevent a large proportion of our potato crop to rot unnecessarily.

Twelve million dollars a year in failure to utilize the leaves of the potato and other plants, a source of profit in Germany, but a total loss to the United States.

Vast land resources of great value are wasted by failing to drain swamps and overflowed areas.

Six hundred million dollars a year in failure to utilize water power which is now wasted.

The German author outlines all of these and many other sources of waste of valuable products in the United States. Practically all of his statements are backed by figures and facts which have been gathered by various government bureaus and federal commissions. —Ex.

The Island of Hawaii.

The island of Hawaii, the largest of the Hawaiian group, has an area of 4,015 square miles, more than twice the combined area of Maui, Oahu, and Kauai. It is somewhat smaller than Connecticut and considerably larger than Porto Rico.

Hawaii Island has been formed by the coalescence of four large volcanoes—Kohala, Mauna Kea, Hualalai, and Mauna Loa. The first three are extinct, but Mauna Loa has two active craters. Mauna Kea, 13,825 feet above sea level, is not only the highest mountain in Hawaii, but the highest mountain in the world. Kilauea, the largest active crater in the world, is on the southeastern slope of Mauna Loa. It is a huge pit, 2.93 miles long, 1.95 miles wide, 7.85 miles in circumference, and 4.14 square miles in area. On the southwest side the walls are broken away, giving easy access to the flow of the crater and the pit of Halemauau, or lake of fire. Here one may stand on the edge of the pit and see the molten lava boiling and spouting 100 to 300 feet below. Kilauea is a volcano of the caldron type and has never been known to have an explosive eruption.

The rainfall on the island varies greatly, ranging from 353 inches a year in the upper Waipio Valley to 20 to 60 inches on the slopes of Hualalai. The only surface streams on the island are found along the northeast coast between Hilo and Kohala. Waipio River is the largest stream on the island and has been partly developed for irrigation.

At Kapoho, on the east point of the island, warm water flows from seams in the rocks. These "warm springs" flow into a pool about 100 feet long, 25 feet wide, and 20 feet deep. The pool is entirely surrounded by rocks and its color varies in shade from a beautiful blue to violet. Waiapele, or Green Lake, is a body of fresh water in the pit of an old crater near Kapoho. This lake covers an area of about 5 acres, and is fed by springs below the surface.

A pumping plant takes water from this lake for domestic uses and for irrigation. A record of stream flow and of the rainfall on the island, as well as a description in detail of Hawaii, is contained in Water-Supply Paper 318, "Water Resources of Hawaii," just published by the United States Geological Survey as a result of an investigation made in 1909, 1910, and 1911 in cooperation with the territory of Hawaii. A copy may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey at Washington, D. C.

REMINGTON UMC
Steel Lined SHOT SHELLS
Cut down your lead—Get your bird with the center of the load
In the making of shotshells, the greatest forward step since the invention of smokeless powder is the steel lining to grip the powder and concentrate all the drive of the explosion back of the shot.
It's a Remington special invention—that steel lining. You find it in Remington-UMC Arrow and Nitro Clubs. These steel lined shells get their shot to the target quicker than any other shells known to the shooting fraternity. They cut down the guess-work about lead and angles. They put the center of the load right on your bird.
The steel lining is moisture-proof—no dampness can get through. It's proof—no powder can get out. Waste-proof—no energy is lost.
Shoot Remington-UMC Arrow and Nitro Club Steel Lined Eastern Factory Loaded Shells for Speed Plus Pattern in any make of shotgun.
Your dealer carries them—or, if he doesn't, there's a more alert dealer in this section who is worth your finding.

All who have investigated chiropractic have been made to realize the nerves control every movement of the body whether voluntary or involuntary, and when the nerve current is turned on in full force every organ in the body will be in that perfect harmony which brings forth physical comfort and ease, called health—as old as mankind, but of only late brought to the attention of the public as a science. Clinical records show that there is hardly a disease that has not been successfully removed by chiropractic or spinal adjustment. All diseases are expressions of the nerves, no matter what part of body is affected they have the same common origin, namely, impinged nerves, the supply of which is cut off in the spinal column or backbone. The affections entirely disappear when the pressure is removed. Spinal adjustment is not actually a new practice, having been used by the Bohemians for over a century with varying success, but it remained for American ingenuity and invention to succeed those old, crude practices with the modern chiropractor, who, by a skillful thrust, without pain or discomfort, removes the cause of your affliction by releasing the physical life forces within, when nature promptly cures. Call and let us explain this wonderful science.
