The burglar alarm on the Tawas City bank does not seem to be a howling success so far as arousing the people is concerned. At about ten o'clock Tuesday evening the alarm began to ring from some unknown cause and kept up its din for half or three-quarters of an hour, without however, bringing out an appreciable number of citizens. Some one living near the bank telephoned the sheriff and he, together with three or four others, were on the scene in a short time. The alarm was fortunately a false one and was probably caused by some fault with the mechanism of the alarm,

All mail has to be weighed during the month of October and it is necessary to get it in early to give the carriers time to do this extra work.

John Rivet, one of the workmen engaged in putting in the sewer for C. H. Prescott & Sons, had a narrow escape Tuesday when the sides of the trench he was working in caved, burying him to his neck in sand. Had the cave-in been a little more extensive the man would have been completely buried and would have stood a good chance of smothering before he could have been dug out.

Men who buy guns in Michigan will be forced to leave a clue behind them with the hardware man. A new law, enacted by the solons as part of the 1913 batch of legislation, directs that henceforth every person purchasing firearms must register with the dealer. The man buying rifles, pistols, silencers or other tools of destruction will be required to write his name, age, occupation and residence in the dealer's book. Of course this also applies to women.

Athletics Win.

The Athletics won from the Hemlock road boys Thursday the 27th, on the second day of the fair. The game was featureless except for the pitching. Bradish and McCardle each held their opposing team to four hits but Bradish was steadier than his opponent. Good base running accounted for four of Tawas City's five runs. Moore shone in the field accepting nine chances without a misplay. Atlee Mark's arm as usual kept the Hemlock boys hugging their bases.

The Cup is Ours.

Tawas City high school won from the East Tawas high school on the last day of the fair by a score of 8 to 1. Murphy was the reason for the small score made by the East Tawas boys, he holding them to but one hit. It looked like a no hit game until one was out in the ninth when Dillon singled, but he was forthwith forced at second. Their one run was made on a dropped third strike, a steal of second and third and a passed ball. Halligan pitched fairly good ball but his support was weak.

The winning of this game gives our high school the I. C. A. silver cup for one year, until the next fair is held:

Dray Business Changes Hands.

After being in the draying business in Tawas City for the past twenty-four years, during a portion of which time he employed three rigs, Suple Brabant has disposed of his business to Leo Hysbach, the transaction taking place last Saturday.

Mr. Brabant is one of the oldest business men in Tawas City and his unflinching courtesy and willingness to oblige has earned him a host of friends, not only in the city but among the traveling fraternity, who will regret his decision to retire. During a large portion of the time he has been in business here Mr. Brabant also dealt in wood and coal, but this portion of the business he sold a year ago to the Wilson Grain Co.

Leo Hysbach, his successor in the draying business, has been an employe of Mr. Brabant for some time as the active factor of the business and we bespeak for him a large and growing patronage.

JURISDICTION OF TEACHER

Co-Extensive With That of Board in Regard to Pupils of Public Schools.

By A. W. BLACK, Prosecuting Attorney of Iosco County.

A great many states have defined the teacher's jurisdiction in part by statute, although it extends in each case beyond the school premises there are four different boundaries defined. First—In some states from the time the pupil leaves the house until he arrives there again. Second—In others, from the time the pupil leaves home for the school ground until he arrives home from school. Third—In others, from the time the pupil leaves home for school until he leaves school for home. Fourth—When the pupil is near the school ground. In some states this control is either obligatory on the part of the teacher or permissive and discretionary in others.

From a study of a great many decisions bearing on this subject it is evident that the courts have given two opposing lines of decision. First—In New York the teacher's authority does not extend beyond the school premises. Second—In quite a number of states it extends from the time the pupil leaves home for school until he arrives home from school, and the teacher may punish for acts committed by the pupil on his way to and from school.

The nature of the teacher's jurisdiction is generally expressed as concurrent with that of the parent. Under some circumstances the teacher has the right to take notice of and punish a child for acts after the pupil arrives home.

One of the early cases shows that a boy was driving his father's cows home one evening after school was out and in doing so passed the home of the teacher, at which time the pupil called the teacher some vile names. The next morning after school was opened the pupil was reprimanded by the teacher for using the insulting language and then whipped with a small raw-hide. The pupil's father, on the part of the pupil, brought action for assault and battery but was unsuccessful. The court held that the teacher had a right to punish for acts which were connected with or affected the school, and when such acts have direct and immediate tendency to injure the school or bring the teachers authority into contempt; and such acts as quoted above, when done in the presence of other school children and the teacher and with a design to insult him, it seems that the teacher has the right to punish the pupil for such acts if the pupil comes to school again.

Children may be excluded from school for acts of immorality even if committed away from school. Several states provide by law for expulsion in such case, but in any state it would result by implication from the provision of law requiring discipline. This also shows that the right to attend a public school is not absolute and unqualified but one to be enjoyed by all under reasonable conditions.

As has been stated before the jurisdiction of the school board may be extended by the enactment of reasonable rules or rather by the courts interpretation of the word reasonable. Absence and tardiness rules have been held reasonable, except that it was held in New York by the commissioner of education that where a child brought a written excuse from his parent, that such a boy could not be suspended for absence even if the parents refused to give the reasons. In this state of course we have compulsory educational laws and between certain ages all children are bound to attend school.

Some school boards have attempted to regulate the social pleasures of scholars but I think the reasonable view to take is that for all offenses committed by scholars while at school they are amenable to the laws of the school but when not at school and under the charge of the parents the child is answerable to them alone.

The right of the teacher or school board to make and enforce rules requiring pupils to prepare lessons at home has been denied, by the courts both in this country and England. Again a rule forbidding pupils to play football in the

Parker—Sherer.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ Church, Episcopal, East Tawas, at high noon on Monday Sept. 29, when Miss Cornelia N. Parker, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, was united in marriage to Mr. August Scherer of Detroit. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Blachford, rector of Christ Church.

The wedding procession was led by a choir composed of the little folks in the bride's Sunday school class, singing a wedding hymn. The bride was given away by her father, her sister, Caroline, acting as bridesmaid and her brother, Leland as best man.

The bride wore a dress of Alice blue messaline and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid wore a white embroidered voile trimmed with blue satin ribbon and carried a bouquet of carnations.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, which was elaborately trimmed in pink and white and flowers. Here a three course dinner was served to the assembled company.

The bride is a graduate of the East Tawas high school and the Iosco county normal and has taught five successful terms of school since her graduation. She has always been a favorite with her associates and has been actively connected with the church work. The groom is a popular young business man of Detroit.

The happy couple were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. They left on the evening train for a wedding trip during which they will visit Ann Arbor and other points in the state. They will be at home to their friends in Detroit after Nov. 1.

The Herald joins with their many friends in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes.

A Severe Fire Loss.

The firm of C. H. Prescott & Sons suffered a heavy loss by fire at their big ranch near Prescott last Friday. The cause of the fire is not definitely known but it is supposed to have caught from sparks thrown out by an engine used in running an ensilage machine.

Two large barns worth about $5000.00 apiece comprised the heaviest part of the loss. In these barns was stored all the timothy hay cut on the farm this year, about 1500 bushels of oats in the straw, the alfalfa cut from 60 acres, and a large quantity of clover hay.

The fire also consumed three silos, one full and another half full of ensilage, a new tool shed 24x110 ft., a corn crib, two cattle sheds, a slaughter house, pig pen, chicken coop and boiler house.

The stock was all gotten out except a few chickens. The tools were also saved with the exception of a corn harvester and a brand new hay loader. These would have been saved but for the explosion of some dynamite stored in the upper part of the tool shed.

The insurance covers but a small portion of the loss, which was between $12,000 and $15,000.

"The Princess of Poe."

Next Thursday evening will witness the first real play that has been produced in Tawas city in some years. On this occasion the spectacular comedy, "The Princess of Poe," will be presented by a carefully selected cast of 65 people the Tawas, supporting Mr. Charles Gardner, the famous rural comedian.

This production is the first of a series which Manager Berube has secured from the International Amusement Association of Milwaukee, and comes highly recommended.

Mr. Berube is to be commended for his enterprise in furnishing good amusement places for these two towns. New scenery has been placed in both houses, the stages are well lighted and other evidences of progressiveness are visible.

Rehearsals for "The Princess of Poe" are progressing nicely and the play will be presented in Tawas City two nights, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 9th and 10th.

When a man in search of a home or business location goes to a town and finds everybody full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place, he, too, soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, drives down his stakes and goes to work with equal interest.

39TH IOSCO COUNTY FAIR

Large Attendance and Most Successful Fair, Financially, Ever Held by The Association.

GOOD RACES AND BALL GAMES

Agricultural and Stock Exhibits Were Small, But Good. Prizes Awarded.

The most successful fair in the history of the Iosco Co. Agricultural Society was that which came to a close last Friday. In some points, notably that of display of vegetables and fruits, it failed to measure up to some former exhibitions, but in all else it was a winner and the attendance was the largest ever known.

The weather during the entire three days was ideal, and this in itself augured well for success. The race track, upon which a great deal of work had been expended, was in fine condition and the races were good, forming the chief attraction of the fair.

Two good ball games also furnished amusement to those interested in that sport. We give a full report of these games in another column of this paper.

The running race on Thursday was won by John Katterman with his horse, "Secret." Percy Scarlett's "Ruby L" took second money, and Frank Dease's "Flossie" third.

In the colts race first money was won by Louis Pringle, second by Fred Rollin and third by Hans Carlson.

The free-for-all running race on Friday was taken by Percy Scarlett's horse, with Clarence King's second and John Katterman's third.

The full five heats were necessary to decide who would win the free-for-all trot, in which six horses contested. First money was taken by Will Grant's mare, "Ethel Chimes;" second, C. O. Wheeler's "Robin Sunlight;" third, Dell Baldwin's "Grocery Boy."

Following is a complete list of the prize winners in all departments:

Bert Marsh, 1st on half bu. turnips.

TAWAS HERALD

JAS. E. BALLARD, Publisher

Published every Friday and entered at the Tawas City, Michigan, postoffice as second class mail matter.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., Oct. 3, 1913

The impeachment and trial of Governor Sulzer of New York is an apt illustration of the lengths to which political rascals will go to destroy those who thwart them in their policy of mulcting the public treasury. Every possible measure is being taken by the Tammany hall gang of grafters to discredit and destroy the record of Sulzer, who refused to be a traitor to the people who elected him and join with the Tammany crowd in their program of graft and duplicity. This is Tammany's last grand stand play in the fight for political control in New York state, and the consequences of the act will be the complete defeat of the grafters when the people of that commonwealth express their opinion at the polls of the next election.

Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst will visit the United States on a lecture tour in favor of woman suffrage.—News Item.

Well Mrs. Pankhurst will find very different conditions in the United States than in England. The strong arm tactics of the militant suffragettes in Great Britain will find very few sympathizers on this side of the sea. The American women want the suffrage, but they know that the way to get it is through presenting their arguments in a logical manner and conducting themselves as ladies, not like law violators, window smashers and firebugs. If the lady from England preaches her strong arm and incendiary policy here she is liable to run up against the law and order policy of Uncle Sam in a manner that she will not forget.

It is estimated by experts in the treasury department of the U. S. government that the new income tax law will bring in a revenue of $82,298,000 a year. The law which taxes all incomes in excess of $3,000 a year, goes into effect with the signing of the new tariff bill, and on March 1, 1914, citizens will be required to make a report to the internal revenue collectors stating the size of their income for the preceding year. The heaviest burden of this tax will naturally fall on the person of large income, which is but right and just. The man earning less than $3,000 per year has a hard enough time making ends meet without being forced to pay an additional tax to the government for the privilege of working.

The newspaper man boosts his home town and county, runs columns of matter advising his readers to "buy it at home," gives largely of his space and time in furthering local enterprises, gives all his trade to local merchants without haggling over prices, and then when he quotes a price on his work is met with the answer, "Why, I can get it from—twenty-five cents cheaper than that." There are two sides to this buy-it-at-home question, but most men can only see the side of it that relates to their own business.

Postoffice Inventory.

An inventory of all postoffice property of the United States is about to be undertaken by the postoffice department. It will mark the first attempt of that or any other department of the federal government to obtain an accurate census of its immensely valuable property.

That the inventory will be a stupendous task is indicated by the fact that there are more than 508,000 postoffices and their many branches, besides much equipment constantly in transit in railway mail property and bags.

In some of the smaller offices this census has already been taken, but it is expected that several months will be required to finish the entire inventory, which will be taken by postmasters, their clerks and the railway mail clerks.

Jurisdiction of Teachers.

name of the school was held to be reasonable and the suspension of a pupil for violating the same was sustained by the court although the offense was committed away from the school premises and out of school hours.

RESUME.

The jurisdiction of the teacher and school board may be briefly summarized as follows:

1.—In the legitimate exercise of his functions the control of a teacher over the pupil while on the school premises is complete and exclusive.

2.—On the way to and from school the teacher's jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the parent but punishment for acts committed by the pupil at such times may be inflicted by the teacher only after the pupil has returned to school.

3.—After the pupil arrives home the parent's control is complete and exclusive for all ordinary acts but where the acts of the pupil have an immediate tendency to injure the school they may be punished by the teacher.

4.—The school board has power to make all reasonable rules governing the conduct of the pupils even if the effect of such rules is to exercise control over the pupil while under the parental roof; however this is a much qualified rule.

5.—The reasonableness of a rule will be determined by the court in each particular case but in general the rule quoted heretofore will apply. If the effects of acts done out of the school reach within the school room during school hours and are detrimental to good order and the best interest of the pupil, it is evident that such acts may be forbidden.

It has occurred to me that a careful reading of the foregoing article should tend to bring the various teachers, pupils and parents into a greater degree of harmony as regards their individual responsibilities, duties and privileges, and it is with this aim in view that this article is offered for your consideration.

Respectfully,

ALBERT W. BLACK,
Prosecuting Attorney.

Iosco County Sunday Schools.

Contributed by Rev. J. B. Brown.

As directed at the annual tri-county Sunday school convention, held in Standish September 5, 6 and 7, the executive committee of the three counties, Iosco, Arenac and Ogemaw, was called together at Turner Monday evening, Sept. 22, by the convention chairman, Jas. H. Nisbet. In the absence of the convention secretary, Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Tawas City, her place was temporarily filled by Mrs. F. M. Drummond of Turner.

There were present representatives from each of the three counties, and the enthusiasm which prevailed spoke volumes for the energetic work we may expect in the Sunday schools for the coming year.

In addition to the routine work of organizing for a successful tri-county convention in Tawas City on the third Friday, Saturday and Sunday of October, 1914, it was also arranged to hold three county conventions during the coming year. County President Geo. Corey calls the Ogemaw convention to meet at Prescott next January. County President J. B. Brown announces that the Iosco county convention will be held in the Sherman Baptist church in April. County President A. L. Wilkins has designated Turner as the meeting place for the Arenac convention next July.

A full corps of officers were elected for each county. Those for Iosco county are as follows:

Ganderbone's Forecast.

Dear Sam: I send you Emmeline. The suffragists' bell weather; Nor shall I be disposed to pine While you two are together. I wouldn't even mind a bit If you were both so amittin' That some romance came out of it. Yours truly, JOHNNY BURTON.

Dear John: I'm answering to thank You for the intimation; But we've had the Heart without the Pank For some time in this nation. I'll gladly meet her with a heck For being Sylvia's mammy— But when is the daughter coming back? Yours truly, UNCLE SAMMY.

October was the eighth month in the old Roman calendar, and gets its name from the Latin octo (eight). This brought apple cider in at a season when the heat caused it to ferment very rapidly, and after having a couple of barrels blow up on him Muma Pompilius made October the tenth month, which it has remained since 713 B. C.

It was the 12th day of October that Columbus discovered America. Smelling cracklings ahead, he shortly came in sight of a small island on which the inhabitants were butchering hogs. Columbus landed, and not having had anything very good to eat for several weeks, he seized the cracklings in the name of Spain and called the land America in honor of Americus Vesputius, who found out how the Indians fixed them.

The festive calf will buck and dance For joy of Autumn's golden glow, And the football player will advance Upon his fat and padded foe. He'll strew excelsior about Until he finds the inner man, And subsequently put him out As mercifully as he can.

The gentle chemistry of fall will turn the sumach tassels red, and the lusty hired man will bawl for thicker covers on the bed. The desolate and dying fly will hang around the kitchen fire, the poet with a frenzied eye will deftly fall upon his lyre, the dreaded mosquito will expire, its face still pressed against the screen, the ghosts of Nineveh and Tyre will waltz around the summer scene, the katydid will yield its soul to immortality's grim chance, and the moth will drill another hole in everybody's winter pants.

The loud complaining cider press will render sweet the passing breeze, and ladies in the new slit skirt will show the populace their knees. The butternut will bounce around upon the sere and yellow leaf, the sinking bullfrog will expound his final theory of grief, the artful wife will work her lord for one of those new Paris hats, the lesser bugs with one accord will get swallowed by the bats, great nimrod and his mystic thralls will beckon from the autumn sky, and we'll have the same old riot calls where the restaurants serve punkin pies.

There is no other season quite so beautiful as that ahead, when it takes a stick of dynamite to get a farmhand out of bed. The golden glory of the morn will fill the soft, high arch of space, the quail will whistle in the corn until he has to rest his face, the wild goose with its honking brood will wedge its way across the sky, the hunter in the solitude will mark them with a wistful eye, the pneumococcus in the lake will long to pierce his rubber boot, the melancholy coots will make dry jokes about his fancy suit, the ducks will see him all the time and laugh and chatter all the day, but the prospect still will be sublime, and he'll have the outing, anyway.

The Hunter's Moon will sail the sky To render beautiful the night, And the bobolink will bobble by Intoning carols of delight. The scent of moth balls will arise From many a crinkly-looking suit The tramp exiled from Paradise, Will hit the city destitute. The colt will breathe the bracing airs And do the Cubanola glide, And the audience will seize its chairs And chase the picture show inside.

On Oct. 4 Col. Roosevelt will sail for South America where they have never seen him. There is no very big game in that country, but it is a good place to make a speech without being molested, and many reformers are going there for that reason. South America is additionally attractive to the colonel for being in the wilder sections very much as our own west was before it was tamed. Cattle are still punched down there, there are rustlers in the arroyos, they have sheriffs like Bat Masterson out in the pampas towns, three-card monte men go around in silk hats and the country has that general freedom from personal responsibility which we so much enjoyed ourselves before our families joined us on the frontier.

Mrs. Pankhurst will sail for this country Oct. 4. There has been some discussion about letting her land. She will land. Neither the army nor navy is in any condition to prevent her from doing so just at this time. Her daughter, Miss Sylvia, will not be with her. This will be a great disappointment to the leaders of the suffragist cause in this country, who have observed that American men are much more impressed by Sylvia's looks than they are by what mamma says. The first 22 days of October will be under the influence of Libra, the seventh sign of the Zodiac. Persons born under the influence of Libra are very conservative and are not paying any bills until they see how the new tariff law is going to turn out.

The last nine days of the month will under the influence of Scorpio, the eighth sign of the zodiac. Scorpio people have tremendous will power and can hold a son at college down to his allowance. Col. Roosevelt, who was born on the 27th, is a typical Scorpio.

The moon will be full on the 15th and Halloween will come on the 31st. Halloween comes down to us from the Roman festival to Pomona, the goddess of fruits; It has been celebrated in innumerable ways, but bobbing for apples has come to the front as the world has grown older and more practical, inasmuch as after having the fun you can still eat the apple.

There will be no exceptional astronomical phenomena during October, the necessary majorities for both the tariff and currency measures seeming to have been brought into line by the two eclipses of last month. Jupiter, who has resisted successfully every effort to impeach him, will continue to be evening star. And then November, gaily plumed, Will come to rattle at the lock, And the turkey trot will be resumed Around the old familiar block.

May Do Good Work Unknowingly.

Chemists show us that strange property, catalysis, which enables a substance while unaffected itself to incite to union elements around it. So a host or hostess who may know but little of those concerned may, as a social switchboard, bring together the halves of pairs of strangers, men who become lifelong friends, men and women who marry and are happy husbands and wives.

What Astonished Legal Expert.

"The Declaration of Independence is a wonderful document," said the patriotic citizen. "Yes," replied the legal expert. "It's one of the ablest documents I ever saw. And the most remarkable thing is that with all the ability it represents, nobody appears to have received a cent for drawing it up."

To Remove Obnoxious Fish.

Acting under the provisions of an act by the last legislature, the game and fish wardens of Michigan will soon begin the process of weeding the undesirable fish from a large number of the inland lakes of the state. The law provides that when a petition is received signed by at least fifteen persons residing in the township or city where the inland water is located, the state game and fish warden may authorize the obnoxious fish such as suckers, mullet, dogfish, garfish, redhorse, etc. to be removed from the lakes with seines or nets. The work will be done under the supervision of the department and the contract for the work will be awarded to the person offering the largest amount to the state for the fish so taken.

Work will begin under the provisions of this act to remove these obnoxious fish from VanEtan lake, and it is expected also from the ponds at the dams on the Ausable river.

Some protests have been registered against the carrying out of the provisions of this law by those who do not fully understand its provisions. None of the game fish may be removed in this manner, the undesirable fish being the only ones authorized to be removed. The fish named in the act are those seldom caught with hook and line, but which live on the spawn of the game fish and thereby prevent the natural increase which will occur when the undesirable ones are removed.

SENATORS FAVOR GOOD ROADS

Growing Belief That Government Should Concern Itself With Construction of Highways.

National roads come in for repeated reference in the senate debate relating to the post office appropriation bill. It is evident that there is a constantly growing belief that the federal government before long should concern itself with the construction of trunk line roads, thus encouraging and making more convenient the great flood of interstate travel.

During the debate in the senate Senator Swanson of Virginia made this comment: "We are now confronted with the proposition whether the federal government shall or shall not extend aid for the development, improvement, and construction of highways. The time has arrived, or will very soon arrive, when the people of the United States will demand that the federal government shall extend proper aid. Whatever may be the views of some, it is a question that must be inevitably met, and one that cannot be shirked. When a government comes to extend aid for roads there are two ways by which it can be done: It can furnish the money and construct the road itself, or it can aid, stimulate and lend inducement to the local authorities to do the work of road construction and improvement."

Senator Heyburn of Idaho believes: "When the government enters upon this class of work it should be for the construction of roads up to the standard of the highest use, not all at one time, but continuously and gradually; not roads one part of which would be worn out before the other was constructed, but a system of progressive construction that would result within a reasonable time in a system of permanent good roads."

Senator Williams of Mississippi is a contender for first class construction. Said he, "You must make one road good, then you must make another good, and then a third and then a fourth. There must be some scheme whereby they could be done with fairness to the states and the several sections of the country."

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts contends: "If we are to enter upon the policy of federal aid in good roads it will involve an expenditure of more millions than the Panama canal cost, and it ought to be done only after most careful consideration and on a broad, well understood, well arranged plan, so that for the millions expended we may get value in the return we desire in good roads."

Senator Bourne, of Oregon, who is chairman of the senate committee on postoffices and postroads, said: "I am heartily in favor of good roads. My opinion is, however, that we have not sufficient information to take intelligent action as to the best method of procedure."

POOR ROADS ARE EXPENSIVE

Inefficiency Costs Southern States $300,000,000 a Year to Cart Cotton to Railroads.

The cost of bad roads is strikingly set forth by Wm. C. Redfield, secretary of commerce in President Wilson's cabinet, in this manner:

The inefficiency arising from bad roads makes it cost something like $300,000,000 a year to cart our cotton crop from the fields to the railway station. I think few people realize the immense tax put on us all by bad roads and inefficient handling.

I have said that if our farmers once realized the awful tax that bad roads impose upon them public opinion would sternly demand the making and maintaining of good roads everywhere. It now costs the farmer twelve, yes, twenty or more, times as much per ton mile to move his goods to the railway station as it does to move them on the railway after they leave the station. The farmer, indeed, in bad cases and at certain seasons may have to pay as much as $1 a ton mile, while the railroad carries the freight, when it once gets it, at an average of three-quarters of a cent per ton mile.

Among the factors which bring up the cost of living there are few which stand ahead of the useless cost of transportation, due to poor and often impassable roads. Poor roads not only make the consumer pay more for produce, but they rob the producer of that which should be added to the price paid him for his produce. There are few subjects on which the public is so unanimous as this one of the cost of poor roads, and yet at the same time few subjects on which it is harder to make people agree as to the remedy and where the initiative should be taken.

Producing Pork.

At the Iowa station corn and soy beans hogged down produced 15.7 pounds of pork per bushel of corn. At eight cents per pound that is $1.23 per bushel for the corn.
