We save you the freight. Any standard rifle or shot gun at catalog house price, less freight. C. H. Prescott & Sons, Tawas City. adv.

Donald Adams of VanKleeck Hill, Ont., is visiting his niece, Mrs. Ed. J. Woizeschke, whom he has not seen since she was three years old.

There will be a box social at Sherman town hall, Friday, October 24, for the benefit of school district No. 1, of which Anna M. Sands is teacher.

James Irwin of Detroit arrived Monday and has joined the Herald force. We are now better prepared than ever to handle your work quickly and give you the best of service.

Frank Stark and family returned Monday to their home at Lupton, after a few days visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stark. They expect to move this week to East Aurora, N. Y., where they will make their future home.

We are informed that the D. & M. Ry. is the only railroad in the Central Passenger association which has made reduced rates to the county fairs or to the state fair. The D. & M. has not adopted this plan as a money maker, but solely to help out agricultural and industrial conditions along its line, and the management is to be commended for the stand they have taken in this matter.

Dr. W. N. Yeager, the dentist, will be at his office, over Wuggazer's drug store, in this city, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 4th, 5th and 6th. All kinds of dental work done and all work guaranteed. Special attention to crown and bridge work. Painless extraction. adv.

The presentation of "The Princess of Poe," given in this city last Thursday and Friday evenings was not as well patronized as was expected, the price evidently being considered too high by many. The play, a musical comedy, was well presented, however, the comedian, Charles A. Gardner, being supported by about 60 East Tawas and Tawas City people. The drills of the "Tambo Girls" and the "Fairies", in which about 34 little folks took part, were very pretty and showed careful training.

Valley beet litters $3.00 at C. H. Prescott & Sons. Only a few left. adv.

Collin Sawyer went to Taft Monday to work in the sugar beet station for the season.

L. H. Emerson has had a coat of paint applied to his house this week, greatly improving its appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ged. Shaw received a telegram Tuesday evening, stating that their son, Zene, had fallen from a scaffold while at work at his trade in Battle Creek, and was seriously injured.

Miss Claire Shaw left Wednesday morning for that city, but after she was gone the parents received another message stating that Zene was dead.

The sympathy of the entire community go out to the bereaved family in their sudden and terrible loss.

Iosco Teachers' Institute.

Oct. 9 and 10 were red letter days for the teachers of Iosco county. On the above dates one of the best institutes we have ever held was conducted by Prof. E. C. Warriner of Saginaw, ably assisted by Miss Annette Phelan of Iosco county Normal.

Topics were carefully chosen, so as to be of permanent value to all present.

Prof. Warriner has long been known as one of the great educational leaders of Michigan. Miss Phelan's work in agriculture was interesting and practical.

The evening lecture, "Lookout Mountain—Then and Now," was one of the most instructive and interesting of the many good ones we have heard on the subject of peace. Prof. W.'s vivid description of the battle of Lookout Mountain held all present entranced.

A veteran said to the writer: "He is accurately describing the scenes because I was there myself."

His plea for universal peace, based on extravagance of wars, both from a monetary point of view as well as loss of life and property, convinced his hearers that the time is speedily coming when wars shall be a thing of the past. His eulogy of the heroes of peace showed that every day we pass lightly over the courageous acts of brave men and women.

Ninety-six per cent of the teachers of the county were present, attended all sessions, and nearly all were promptly on time.

Much credit is due superintendents of the county for the great interest evinced by them.

Given a Stiff Sentence.

In the United States court at Bay City last Friday, Andy Rongo, a Hungarian, was found guilty of having in his possession goods stolen from a freight car, and was sentenced to three years in the Detroit house of correction and then to be deported.

This conviction was the first under the new interstate commerce law, and the outcome of the case has been watched with interest by railroad men and others. It is believed that the stiff sentence meted out to Rongo will act as a deterrent to others who have made a practice of stealing from freight cars, and that in the future there will not be so many deprecations of this kind reported.

The Barkman Lumber Co. wishes to notify the public that their mill and warehouse will be closed on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 23, 24 and 25th, and if anyone is in need of lumber to order it in advance. adv.

Forest Notes.

Germany is said to have an oversupply of foresters; so that well-educated men have hard work to secure even inferior positions.

One hundred acres on the Florida national forest will be sown to maritime pine seed this fall. Maritime pine is the source of the French turpentine industry.

The forests of Norway are mostly in private, or municipal ownership, the nation owning 28.5 per cent of the total forest area. The national forests of the United States occupy only about 20 per cent of the total forest area of the country.

DEATH OF TEMPLE EMERY

Former Respected Resident of East Tawas Dies at Masonic Home Last Monday.

The citizens of the Tawas and vicinity were grieved last Monday when they learned of the death of Temple Emery, a former resident and business man of East Tawas, and one who had done much to advance the interests of the city where he so long made his home.

Mr. Emery died Monday, Oct. 13, at the Masonic home in Alma, where he has been for the past month, since his condition demanded constant attention and care. He had been in ill health for about two years, and during the past two months has failed so rapidly that his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Emery came to East Tawas in 1877 and operated a saw mill with his brother, the firm being known as Emery Bros. Subsequently this firm was dissolved and the Holland-Emery Lumber Co. formed, with Mr. Emery and Nelson Holland of Buffalo as the leading stockholders. The firm did a large lumber business in East Tawas until the enactment of the Dingley tariff law, which cut off the importation of logs from Canada, after which the company's mill was moved to Canada.

Prior to this the firm had erected the Holland hotel, and also a large brick block, which has since burned. Mr. Emery was at all times vitally interested in the civic work of his home town and did much to increase its business and prosperity.

After the removal of the mill to Canada, Mr. Emery moved to Bay City, where he has since made his home. He was appointed salt inspector by Gov. Warner and filled this position with credit and honor. Much to the regret of his friends he was removed by Gov. Osborn, after which he took up insurance work, in which he was engaged until his failing health compelled him to cease from active business.

Mr. Emery was a 33rd degree Mason and was a member in good standing of Baldwin lodge at East Tawas. He was also a member of Bay City commandery No. 26, Knights Templar, under the auspices of which order the funeral services were conducted.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Amos Watkins of Trinity Episcopal church read the service over the remains, which was followed by the ritualistic service of the Masonic order. The remains were laid to rest in the Elm Lawn cemetery at Bay City.

The C. E. convention held in the Congregational church, Tawas City, Oct. 4 and 5, was a profitable and inspiring rally to all who attended. Iosco county was the only county of the district represented, more than 25 delegates representing her.

Saturday evening's meeting was opened by devotional services by Rev. Scott of East Tawas, followed by an address of welcome by Mr. Buckle, replied to by Mrs. Price of Whittemore. The meeting closed with an address by Rev. O. E. Moffet of Tawas City.

Sunday's program was begun by devotional services by Rev. Pinches of Tawas City, followed by an able and uplifting sermon by Rev. Joshua Roberts of Tawas City. Sunday school hour was led by J. A. Campbell.

The C. E. prayer meeting in the evening was led by Miss Butterfield, rural C. E. secretary. It proved a helpful meeting.

Rev. Pinches again led devotional. The convention closed by an inspiring address by Mr. Spafford, field secretary of the C. E.

Several conferences were held under the leadership of Mr. Spafford: Mr. Spafford and Miss Butterfield proved their worth during this convention. Splendid music by united choirs of Tawas City was discoursed during the various sessions.

The following officers were chosen: President, Clarence E. Bartlett; vice presidents, W. H. Price, James Nisbet, Claude Vosburg; secretary, Miss Nellie Scarlett.

Old papers for sale at this office.

School Officers' Meeting.

The annual school officers' convention for Iosco county will be held at the court house, Tawas City, Wednesday October 22, beginning at 9 a. m. The director, or in case he cannot be present, some other member of a board is allowed $2.00 per day and expenses. All school boards should be represented.

Hon. Fred L. Keeler, deputy superintendent of public instruction will act as conductor.

Respectfully,
adv. J. A. CAMPBELL.

TENTACLES OF M. O. TRUST

Is Extending Over the Country. Why People of this Community Should Trade Here.

So silently and insidiously that the great public is as yet almost unaware of its presence, a new trust is extending its tentacles out over the country. It is the mail order trust. Already its strangling grip is tightening about the million small town and country merchants who are the backbone of national prosperity.

The mail order trust has capitalized women and child labor. It has capitalized prison labor. It has capitalized misfortune. It has capitalized vice. It has turned all of these things into dollars—dollars which should have found their way into the tills of the country merchant instead of flowing into the trust's Wall street hoard.

One mail order house recently increased its capital stock from $500,000 to $40,000,000. A new $10,000,000 merger of mail order houses has been formed. Wall street financiers, including the Morgan banking firm, has had charge of both of these financial operations. Still another mail order house, with 63 acres of floor space, made a net profit of $17,000,000 last year.

It is evident that the greedy eyes of the great mail order financiers are turned upon the entire retail business of the United States outside of the great cities. It is also plain that a gigantic trust is rapidly forming. The small retail merchant is facing ruin. That the grip of the octopus is already being felt is shown by the population statistics. Nearly 7,000 small towns lost population in the census of 1910.

It is declared that something must be done by immediate legislation or the parcel post will not be the complete blessing it ought to be. It is asserted the solution of the problem will be in the form of a heavy tax on mail order business. This tax would, it is contended, tend to stop the expansion of the mail business, and to reduce its present formidable size. The money thus collected would be spent for road building or other local improvements in the districts which contributed to the mail order houses.

The small retail merchant is the prop of distributed prosperity, and the growth of the mail order trust serves no common good. Here is a principle which works out: "If you spend your money where you get it, you will be able to get it where you spend it."

Through a systematic advertising campaign the mail order capitalists have sought to poison the public mind against the small merchant. The people have been told that there are too many merchants, and that their retail methods are wasteful and costly. But we would point out the other side of the question.

The Chicago vice investigation showed that 50,000 women employees of mail order houses are existing on starvation wages, many of them being driven by poverty to lives of shame. The mail order houses are the great distributors of prison made goods. They are the exploiters of misfortune, buying much of their goods at bankrupt sales.

But who takes an interest in local affairs and has a hand in the upbuilding of communities? Whose goods are assessed for the taxes to pay for local improvement? Who, when the crops have failed or the strike is on, and there is no cash to send away, extends the credit which enables the community to live? The local merchant, and not the Wall street owned mail order house.

We want cheapness, a lower cost of living—that is what we are all working for. But we do not want it at the expense of the women wage slaves of Chicago and of the million little merchants of this country.—Ex.

NEW SUGAR BEET LAW

Regulations for Weighing, Taring and Testing. Scales to be Tested.

The last legislature passed a law placing the inspection and testing of sugar beets with the Dairy and Food Department. Under the provisions of this law the chemist of the Agricultural College, the chemist of the Dairy and Food Department and the chemist of the Agricultural Experiment Station were made a commission to formulate rules and regulations for the uniform weighing, taring and testing of all sugar beets in Michigan. This commission has already met and formulated rules and regulations providing for the weighing, taring and testing of all sugar beets used in Michigan sugar factories during the coming season. Copies of these rules and regulations have been printed and are required by law to be posted in all beet sugar factories and at all weigh stations.

The Dairy and Food Commissioner is authorized by this law to appoint two inspectors, whose duty during the coming season will be to visit various sugar factories and personally see that these regulations are carried out. Both of these inspectors are to be competent beet sugar chemists who have had several years experience in beet sugar factories.

Under the provisions of this law any farmer who is furnishing sugar beets to any factory, if he is dissatisfied with the weighing and taring of his beets, or with the analysis of the sugar content, can file a complaint with the Dairy and Food Commissioner at Lansing, and this complaint will be promptly investigated by one of the inspectors, and the justice thereof determined.

The Dairy and Food Department also expects to test all scales used in weighing sugar beets throughout the state, but owing to the non-arrival of weights and scales ordered last June it will be impossible for the department to test all scales before the opening of the season. It is intended, however, to have the inspector of weights and measures test as many scales as possible, and if any sugar beet grower is dissatisfied with weights received he should make a complaint to this department, and the scales of that particular weigh station will be promptly investigated and corrected if found necessary.

It is hoped by this law to do away with much dissatisfaction that has existed in former years relative to the analysis of the sugar beet content, as this year all factories in Michigan will pay for beets according to the content of sugar.

The law further provides that the salaries and expenses of sugar beet inspectors in enforcing this law shall be paid by the companies, and to provide a fund for this purpose every sugar beet factory at the close of the campaign is required to make a sworn statement of the number of tons of sugar beets sliced, and they are also required to pay into the state treasury an annual tax of 1/4 cent per ton on all beets manufactured into sugar, which fund is used to defray the expenses of this inspection. All weighmen, taremen and sugar beet chemists are required to take an oath that they will weigh and test sugar beets according to the rules and regulations prescribed by the state commission. Copies of these oaths and regulations prescribed will be furnished by the Dairy and Food Department upon application. It is the intention of the department to enforce this law vigorously, in order that both the factories and the producers shall have a square deal, and that all complaints on either side shall be satisfactorily adjusted.

JAMES W. HELME,
State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Forest Notes.

Squirrels collect much of the seed used for planting by the forest service.

There are about 37 pines native to the United States, of which 25 are western species, and 12 eastern.

Much of the cork used throughout the world comes from Portugal, which harvests about 50,000 tons a year.

A growing scarcity of willow, generally used for wooden shoes in Europe, is leading to an adoption of poplar.

Paraguay has valuable forest resources, the most important of which is quebracho, particularly rich in tannin.

A brother editor down the line complains of being "stung" by a fraternal insurance company. He started in by paying $1.00 a month, and was raised at different times until at the last he was asked to stand a raise to $1.80 per month for $1,000 insurance. He balked and is now putting his money in the bank, which he says pays him better. The writer had the same experience, but took out an old line policy. The raises in rates, which have been a common thing among fraternal insurance associations for the past few years, have done much to disgust any man with that kind of insurance. They take him in at a low rate and when they think he is old enough to prevent him from securing any other insurance, they boost the rate to an almost prohibitive figure and freeze him out. Fraternity and insurance don't mix any better than oil and water.

The prospects of a settlement of the Mexican question seem very slim, according to reports from the capital of that unhappy country. The provisional president, Huerta, has dissolved the national congress and thrown its members into prison. It is thought that there is little chance of an election being held October 26, as scheduled, and those interested in the conflict now going on between the rebels and the provisional government have given up all hopes of an amicable settlement. This condition of affairs is giving the United States government more concern than anything that has before occurred during the Huerta regime.

Another instance of the futility of man's endeavor to combat the forces of nature was given last Thursday, when the steamship Volturmo was burned in mid-ocean with a loss of 135 lives. But for the help of the wireless with which aid was summoned the loss would have been greater, as the ship carried 657 people. The ingenuity of the human mind has done much to eliminate the danger of travel on both land and sea, but such occurrences as the burning of the Volturmo remind us that perfection in these things is yet to be reached.

And now Uncle Sam is to have a competitor in the canal business. It is reported that Great Britain will build a great waterway across the Isthmus of Darien, to compete with the Panama canal, just completed. Well, we got there first, anyway.

The city of Detroit is importing a pack of dogs to keep the night prowlers off Belle Isle. That's doggone mean, ain't it?

Occasionally one hears an advertiser argue at some length that advertising in country newspapers is not read. If this is true, it is a criticism of the merchant's advertising rather than the medium in which it appears. Every established country weekly goes to nine out of ten of the families of its community. Every item of news in these papers is read eagerly by every member of the families where they are taken. The matter that the editors and correspondents write for the home paper is read, and read eagerly. Now, if the matter that the advertisers put into the papers is not read, does it not look as though the only reason is that the advertisers do not put into their spaces the kind of matter the people want to read. Positively, the thing that the advertiser needs to do is to put more painstaking effort into his advertising. Snap and ginger with a few special values each week always gets the public to reading the local merchant's advertising and gets "results."—Clarksville Record.

When one stops to consider the number of automobiles in use, and then compare that with the number of accidents that occur, it will be noted that the auto is really a pretty safe vehicle to ride in after all. The careful drivers are seldom hurt; it is the careless and reckless one to whom accidents occur, and the unfortunate feature of that part is that others not responsible are also injured and generally the worse. An inability to judge the speed of a train is probably the cause of more fatal auto accidents than any other one thing, and persons should stop before attempting to cross a track in front of a rapidly approaching train.

WORK AND MARRIAGE.

After all the census, which cannot be challenged, does not bear out the pessimism as to work and marriage which many moralists have indulged in increasingly during the census decade from 1900 to 1910. Every one believed, because certain reformers had declared it, that there are many more women working today, a larger percentage of working women, than there were 30 years ago. And every one believed that the percentage of marriages is less. It happens that neither of these frightful bogies, threatening the very existence of the human race, is a true bogey, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. The percentage of women working out in the world in 1880 is practically exactly the same as the percentage working out in the world today. A full generation has lived and died between 1880 and 1900, yet the daughters of the working women and home women of 30 years ago are not working in any larger numbers per capita than in those infant days of industry. And in the case of marriages, the census shows that a larger percentage of men and women, especially between the ages of twenty and thirty, is getting married, in this difficult age of the rise of prices, than was the case 10, 20 years ago. We shall have to readjust our prejudices and find some other argument for the awful results which threaten the race.

All the outdoor sports so dear to Americans are now in full swing. Wet days are giving place to sunshine ones, increasing the enjoyment for the young and old who delight in being in the open air. The athletically inclined who have been exercising in gymnasiums all winter are now able to get the needed practice in the open air. Gymnasium work is excellent, but all instructors are pleased when they can send their charges outdoors to get into real action in some fascinating sport. The athlete is never in the best possible condition until he has outdoor training. The pure fresh air is also invigorating for those who do not indulge in physical stunts. The indoor worker should try to get all the fresh air he can at some period of the day. Then he will be able to maintain his physical strength at normal and can enjoy life.

A novel type of binnacle provided with oil lamps as well as electric lighting is now in use. Both sources of illumination are located below the compass, the oil lamps being hurricane proof and so arranged that no smoke can penetrate into the compass chamber proper, while the electric lights, contained within the binnacle, are most accessibly placed and easily regulated by means of a controlling switch to give reduced light for taking night bearings. This binnacle has been especially constructed for housing a modernized type of the so-called light card compass, invented by Sir William Thompson, and commonly used in the British navy and merchant marine.

In New Zealand husbands who desert their wives and families are sent to jail and made to work for their families' support. This is a good pattern to copy, for it helps the wives and the state at the same time and takes away all the pleasures of desertion.

A London electrical genius has invented a safe which can be opened only by producing certain musical tones. It isn't needed in this country. The American public gives up to the opera singers without any pretense of hiding the money.

Since there is, as statistics show, one automobile to every 100 persons in the United States, the pedestrians ought to get together while there are enough of them to reckon with and adopt protective measures.

There is some consolation for those people in Chicago whose servant girls are demanding the use of the parlor at least one evening a week. The gas bill will be cut down.

Making Tariff History.

The Underwood tariff bill marks the opening of a distinctly new development in the tariff history of this country. It will demonstrate to the world at large and to our own people in particular the ability of American industry to stand on its own feet. By dispelling the gloom born of fear of an impending disaster, it will give new courage to those who have grown up under a system of government protection until, like the too much coddled child which is not allowed to take a step without the protecting and guiding hand of its parent, they, too, have come to think that they cannot stand on their own feet. Having lived for more than half a century under the system of protection, the whole nation has become imbued with the idea of the stimulating, if not always beneficial, effect of the tariff upon its industrial life. For democratic states have been no less eager to secure protective duties than avowed protectionist communities. Some, like the sugar and woolen states, have done so with utmost frankness. Others have preferred to mask their hankering after the fleshpots of Egypt by professions of patriotism which would not let their consciences rest until the law allowed their industries to bear no less a share of the burden of furnishing revenue to the national government than falls to the lot of other industries and States.

Although in many instances there has been a radical cut in duties, the new tariff is on the whole decidedly protective in character, as will be shown later. Hence the spectacle of avowed honest protectionists like Senators La Follette and Poindexter, as well as several Republican and Progressive members of the lower house voting for the democratic bill as a protective measure.

Nevertheless, the new tariff marks a distinct turning point in our tariff history. Manufacturers who cannot reconcile themselves to the idea of doing business without government aid, and politicians whose ears are not attuned to the motif of a new day, go on repeating their old shibboleths and expect to see a revulsion of feeling which will sweep them back into power and restore rates to a higher level. If that view were to prove correct, no historical significance could be attached to the new tariff. More than that, its importance to our own day would be limited to the temporary disturbance it may cause business through the unavoidable readjustment to new conditions created by tariff changes.—American Review of Reviews.

A Gentle and Effective Laxative.

A mild, gentle and effective laxative is what people demand when suffering from constipation. Thousands swear by Dr. King's New Life Pills. Hugh Tallman of San Antonio, Tex. writes: "They are beyond question the best pills my wife and I have ever taken." They never cause pain. Recommended by J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and J. E. Dillon. adv

Great Post Fast Worker.

Byron worked fast. He once told a publisher that he was like a tiger, and if he missed his first spring went "grumbling back to his lair." Many of his works were written at fever heat when the first spring did not miss. "The Corsair" occupied ten days, and two rainy days at Ouchy were sufficient to produce the "Prisoner of Chillon." The "Bride of Abydos," though revised afterward, was at first the work of only four nights, and most of his poems, in fact, were impromptu.

Putting the Matter Plainly.

He was an old-fashioned father, which explains why he said to the young man: "Are you sure you're able to give my daughter the comforts and luxuries to which she is accustomed at home?" To which the young man promptly replied: "As your daughter's salary has paid the rent and bought most of the clothes and food for your family, I think we can worry along."

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Those Good Old Times.

Bobby's grandfather often referred to the good old days when such commodities as meat, vegetables, fruit, etc., were grown and prepared at home. One day at dinner the mince pie was praised. "But I'll bet," declared the five-year-old boy loyally, "it's nothing like the pie that grandma used to make when she raised and picked her own minces; is it, grandpa?"

More Happy Than Sad.

"At any given moment I will produce nine happy persons for every miserable one," said the bishop of London in an address at Queen's college for women recently.

The Family Cough Medicine.

In every home there should be a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery ready for immediate use when any member of the family contract a cold or cough. Prompt use will stop the spread of sickness. S. A. Stid of Mason, Mich., writes: "My whole family depends upon Dr. King's New Discovery as the best cough and cold medicine in the world. Two 50c bottles cured me of pneumonia." Thousands of other families have been equally benefited and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. ALL FEAR THE MANTIS

INSECT, FOR ITS SIZE, HAS NO EQUAL IN THE WORLD.

Remarkable Attitude of Prayer While in Wait for Prey Has Made it Unique Among Creeping Things of Earth.

Most persons know the praying mantis—that large, greenish, grasshopper-like insect which holds up adoring arms as if venerating some deity of the woods, or making an invocation—an oracle among insects, as the old Greeks thought it. But these attitudes of prayer conceal the most atrocious habits; these supplicating arms, to fall into Fabre's picturesque phrasing, are lethal weapons; these fingers tell no rosaries, but exist to seize the passer-by. Although a member of a vegetarian family, the mantis feeds exclusively upon its living prey. It is a tiger in ambush; and if only it had sufficient strength its ogreish appetite and its horrible facility of concealment by color and form among the green leaves where peaceful insects travel would make it the terror of the countryside.

At first glance it does not look very terrible. Its neck is flexible and it can turn its head and look with sharp eyes in all directions, but no formidable jaws affront a victim. In its powerful uplifted forelimbs lies the hidden danger, the cruel trap. Each long, thin, shaped like a flattened spindle, carries on the forward half of its lower face a double row of steeple spines, alternately long and short; and three needlelike spikes, longest of all, rise behind the parallel rows, between which the fore leg lies when folded in "prayer." This fore part of the leg is similarly armed, but with smaller spikes, and terminates in a hook with a blade like a pruning knife and a tip as sharp as a needle. Handle the insect incautiously, and this armament discovers itself to you instantly, thrusting its needles and blades into your flesh, gripping you in a stinging vise and forcing you to crush it to get free.

When the mantis is in repose these weapons are folded and pressed against the chest, showing nothing of their ferocity. The bandit's sword is sheathed and it seems at its devotions. But let a victim come within reach and the ruse—if ruse it be—is abandoned like a flash. The three long joints of the deadly forelimbs straighten and shoot out their talons, which strike the victim like the unsteathed claws of a cat and drag it back between the saws of the thighs. The vise closes with an upward motion, as a man would bring his hand up to his shoulder, and no cricket, grasshopper, beetle or spider can struggle out of the crook of that terrible elbow.—Harner's Weekly.

Property Versus Life.

To the legal mind, apparently, the rights of property have always seemed of more importance than human life. For hundreds of years it was possible for a man brutally to maltreat his child with less legal risk than if he had poached a hare. Gradually human life became more valuable; but even to-day it fails to receive the protection that is accorded to property. It is no uncommon thing to find reported in British newspapers cases in which a drunken navy has kicked and otherwise abused his wife, to receive no greater punishment at the hands of the law than a paltry fine, while the unhappy wight who, driven by hunger, steals a loaf is sent to prison. Nor do we need to go overseas to find such instances of the worship of property. An excellent illustration of the workings of the legal mind in problems of this kind is to be found in a study of ten Notices of Judgment issued by the United States Department of Agriculture and giving in detail the account of ten violations of the Food and Drugs Act. These ten cases deal with charges against the firm of Hawley and Hoops, New York, who are in the candy business. Hawley and Hoops sell what is known as "penny goods"; that is, the kind of candy purchased by the little tot who has been given a penny to spend. Ten different specimens of Hawley and Hoops' penny goods were seized by the officials of the Bureau of Chemistry and analyzed. All of them were found to be adulterated with arsenic and most of them contained shellac. All of them were being sold as chocolate candies, yet the officers reported that some did not even have the predominating flavor of chocolate. In every case the firm pleaded guilty. In nine out of ten cases no penalty was imposed, the court suspending judgment. In the tenth case a fine of $50 was imposed. The case in which a fine was imposed was the one, and the only one, in which the company had not merely sold a poisonous product to little children, but had misstated the net weight of the package in which the arsenic-containing candies came! Selling to little children as chocolate candy a mixture containing arsenic and shellac is, apparently, in the eyes of the law, a trivial offense. But selling to a dealer a package marked five pounds that really contained only four pound fourteen and five-eighths ounces, that is a crime!

The New Building Material Being Freely Used in Tawas and Vicinity

For some months past one of our hardware firms has been selling large quantities of the modern material for finishing houses—such as Sacket Plaster Board, Neponset Wall Board, Mastic Wall Board and Beaver Board. Over 15,000 square feet of Sacket Board, 8,000 feet each of Beaver Board and Neponset Board, and over 1,000 feet of Mastic Board have been sold this season. This is a total of 32,000 feet of modern wall finish.

The different materials used have their several places in the scale of usefulness.

Where a solid wall is wanted on which to plaster or paper, the Sacket Board is used. The Beaver Board is a matt finished cream white board of 3-16 inch thickness and is used where the owner desires to decorate with the flat paints or kalsomines.

The Neponset Board is a ready finished board, and needs no paint or paper to complete the room.

This material can be had in imitation oak, burnt leather or cream finish.

Many of the homes built in Tawas in the earlier days were finished with dressed lumber. Over such walls a layer of Neponset or Beaver Board makes a most pleasing, warm and durable finish.

Walls can be repaired and put in shape for winter, without the muss of lath and plaster, and where a carpenter is not available the owner can do the work himself.

C. H. Prescott & Sons Hardware department will be glad to show samples of the materials, explain their uses and application, and if desired will go to the house and measure the rooms, giving accurate figures for the cost of the work.

Horrible Death in Elevator Shaft.

Powerless to move, a man named Fulmer, employed at an abattoir, lay at the bottom of an elevator shaft at Philadelphia, Pa., the other day, and waited the descending lift, which crushed him to death. The man had fallen into the shaft, and his cries for aid were drowned by the noise of the machinery. The man fought desperately against the freight laden elevator. His body was flattened almost to the thinness of paper.

Auction Sales.

A large number of auction sales are being advertised at the present time, several of the farmers of Isoco county having decided to remove from the county.

Among those in the near future are the following:

Oct. 25, H. L. Humphrey, one-half mile south of Hale.

Oct. 28, Anson Horn, one mile north of McIvor.

Nov. 4, Reuben VanSickle, one-half mile west and one-half mile north of Watts' store on Hemlock road.

These and several other sales have kept the Herald job department busy this week, the farmers realizing that our two-color sale bills and an advertisement in the Herald are the proper methods to get a large crowd at their sales.

The Remington Club find their .22 always dependable.

REMINGTON-UMC

.22 RIFLES

The Little Rifles—Big in Quality

YOU are going to buy a .22 calibre rifle, single shot or repeater—you'll find that many well known crack shots started with a Remington-UMC .22. Their advice now would be "By all means, get a Remington-UMC" because they know that there is a tendency in some quarters to look upon these models as only "a small boy's rifle" and to cheapen them so that they can be sold at a price.

You have just as much right to expect full shooting value in your .22 calibre arm as in your $75 big game rifle.

You want the Remington-UMC single shot at from $3 to $6. 22, 25-10 or 32 calibre, made by the same people who make the famous Remington-UMC Autoloading Rifles.

Or, if you prefer the repeating rifle, the Remington-UMC slide action .22 repeater with its easy take-down and special safety features, shooting .22 short, .22 long or .22 long rifle cartridges, at $10 and up, is your arm. Sold by live dealers in this community—the most popular small calibre rifles in America.
