We expected to be able to furnish our subscribers with a large installment of the supervisors' proceedings this week, but owing to conditions over which we have no control are not able to do so. Under the arrangement now in force the proceedings are published by the three papers in the county, the type being set in the office of the Iosco County Gazette, who furnishes it to the other papers. Mr. Jackson sent a portion of the copy to Bay City to be set on the linotype and upon inquiry he informed us that he had not as yet received it. The Herald goes to press Thursday afternoon, and as we do not care to hold up the publication for this purpose we are obliged to postpone printing the proceedings until next week.

Normal School Presented With Flag.

As a pleasant reminder of the banquet given by the pupils of the normal school to the board of supervisors and some of the county officers, the school is now the possessor of a beautiful U. S. flag, 5x10 feet in size, which was presented by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Black. We append herewith copies of the letter of presentation and the reply of the class:

THE LETTER.
"Mr. and Mrs. Black take great pleasure in presenting to the normal school of Tawas City this flag.

"It is an earnest hope that it will tend to keep alive the subject of patriotism within the school; that its effects may spread among our people generally."

THE REPLY.
"We of the normal class of 1914 accept with pleasure the lovely American flag you have given us.

"It is appreciated by every one of us and holds a lesson of patriotism for each.

"We intend to have a flag raising later on, with appropriate exercises, and shall place your gift on the front wall of our room.

"We plan to have the children of the grades assist at the flag raising, that they, too, may learn to love and honor the banner of our country.

"Sincerely,
"NORMAL CLASS OF 1914."

A Pleasant Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Buch were pleasantly surprised at their home on Front street last Sunday, it being the 27th anniversary of Mr. Buch's birth. The affair shaped itself into a Hallowe'en party, in which witches and goblins took their goodly share. The rooms were elaborately decorated in green and purple. The "witches' den" and the "Hallowe'en basket," cut out of a pumpkin and filled with the choicest bananas, grapes, oranges and apples, were the chief attractions. Every participant agrees that the "witches" can do some swell entertaining.

NEW KIND OF SANDWICH

State Dairy Inspectors Find Unedible Specimens in Course of Their Work.

With the approach of winter the dairy cows will soon be stabled, and in a short time our dairy inspectors will be entering barns all over Michigan and there they will find a peculiar kind of sandwich. Sandwiches, as the reader knows, generally consist of a piece of meat with two outside covers. The sandwiches that our dairy inspectors will find in the dairy barn might be called "fertilizer sandwiches." They consist of the cow in the middle and a great big slab of fertilizer on each side of her. Now the head of this department believes in conservation, and the place for fertilizer is upon the fields of the farm and not upon the sides of the cow. Not only does the cow endure great discomfort by being placed in a fertilizer sandwich, but when the milk sits down to milk, of necessity more or less of this covering will fall into the milk pail, and eventually a part of it will be transferred to the city man's stomach. Now we hold no brief for the city man's stomach, although the urban population in Michigan now comprises about 50 per cent of the population. In other words during the coming winter over 1,000,000 dwellers in towns and villages will all be carrying around in their stomachs more or less fertilizer which is obtained from the fertilizer sandwich in the dairy stables. This fertilizer is a plant food and not an animal food, and when we think of the vast amount that will be carried around in the city man's stomach eventually to be wasted, we want to warn the dairymen of the state that here is a tremendous waste. The place for fertilizer is not in the city man's stomach, where it is liable to impair his digestion more or less, but it's true place is on the farms of the state to grow additional crops of corn and clover. This enormous waste can be avoided if the dairymen will only place in his barn the proper kind of stall whereby the cow will keep clean and a vast amount of fertilizer be saved to enrich the land of the state.

There are several different kinds of sanitary stalls on the market, but unfortunately they are quite expensive to install. To the dairymen who cannot afford from six to ten dollars per stall for each cow in his herd this department offers the plan of a stall that is equally as effective in keeping cows clean, and can be made by any farmer. This stall, which has been called the "model stall," has been in use by dairymen throughout the United States for 10 or 15 years. Some of the most prominent dairymen in the country, including such men as ex-Gov. Hoard, the editor of Hoard's Dairyman, ex-Gov. Warner, ex-Food Commissioner Lillie, and numerous others, have had these stalls in practical use for a great many years. The writer of this bulletin has had them in his barn for 15 years and is still satisfied with them. With the proper use of these stalls it is absolutely impossible for any cow to convert herself into a fertilizer sandwich. The stall is not patented. Any farmer can build the same, and it is cheaper to build and install than any other form of cow stalls. Moreover it is very humane because it gives the cow absolute freedom, and no stanchions are used. A full description of how to build this stall, with photographs of the same and complete working dimensions, will be mailed to any person who will send their name and address to this department. To all who cannot afford to put in a high priced sanitary iron pipe stanchion we know from personal experience that this stall will be equally effective in keeping cows clean, and a large amount of fertilizer saved to the farm that installs them.

Under the laws of Michigan milk and cream produced from cows covered with filth are not saleable; it is to be hoped that every dairymen in the state who has not already installed a sanitary cow stall in his barn, will take advantage of this opportunity to see that his cows are kept clean and comfortable during the coming winter. Drop a postal card to the State Dairy and Food Department at Lansing, requesting a description of this stall and full working directions for making the same will be forwarded.

JAMES W. HELME,
State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Maple Is Holding Its Own.

Though at one time in the history of the country an average of 6,000 maple trees were destroyed in clearing the ordinary New York or Pennsylvania farm, maple is today, according to the department of agriculture, one of the most widely used and valuable native hard woods.

A bulletin on the uses of maple, just issued by the department, states that the wood finds place in an enormous number of articles in daily use, from rolling pins to pianos and organs. It is one of the best woods for flooring, and is always a favorite material for the floors of roller skating rinks and bowling alleys. It leads all other woods as a material for shoe lasts, the demand for which in Massachusetts alone exceeds 13,000,000 board feet annually.

Sugar maple stands near the top of the list of furniture woods in this country. The so-called "bird's-eye" effect, the department explains, is probably due to buds, which for some reason can not force their way through the bark, but which remain just beneath it year after year. The young wood is disturbed each succeeding season by the presence of the bud and grows around it in fantastic forms which are exposed when the saw cuts through the abnormal growth.

Maple, the department goes on to say, is one of the chief woods used for agricultural implements and farm machinery, being so employed because of its strength and hardness. All kinds of wooden ware are made of maple, which holds important rank also in the manufacture of shuttles, spools and bobbins. It competes with black gum for first place in the manufacture of rollers of many kinds, from those employed in house moving to the less massive ones used on lawn-mowers. Athletic goods, school supplies, brush backs, pulleys, type cases, and crutches are a few of the other articles for which maple is in demand.

Seven species of maple grow in the United States, of which sugar maple, sometimes called hard maple, is the most important. The total cut of maple in the United States annually amounts to about 1,500,000,000 feet. Nearly one-half is produced in Michigan, with Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia following in the order named. Sugar maple, says the department, is in little danger of disappearing from the American forests, for it is a strong, vigorous, aggressive tree, and though not a fast grower is able to hold its own. In Michigan it is not unusual for maple to take possession of land from which pine or hard woods have been cut clean, and from New England westward through the lake states and southward to the Ohio and Potomac rivers few other species are oftener seen in woodlots.

Wibber Warblings.

Masquerade ball at the Red Hall Friday evening, Oct. 31 (Hallowe'en).

Mrs. Irene Thompson has gone to Tawas City, where she has employment.

Hark for wedding bells. We hear their faint tingle, and they will soon peal forth their joyous lay, so dame rumor says.

Lena Schaaaf has returned from Five Channels, where she has been employed at the Cochran home. She expects to go to Jackson in a couple of weeks to spend the winter with them.

Little Thomas Thompson met with a very painful accident on Saturday, and it could very easily have been a great deal more so. His brother, Albert Thompson, with the assistance of Vernon and Russell Alda, were engaged in drilling the well deeper at the school house in Dist. No. 1, and little Tom was playing around the gasoline engine, when in some way he got his arm caught in the shaft, breaking one bone and fracturing another. Arrangements were made at once, and he was taken to Tawas City and to Dr. Crane, who soon had it reduced and Tom was made as comfortable as possible. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSE and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

Turner Art Exhibit.

The Turner Art Exhibit from Cambridge, Massachusetts, composed of full size, hand colored copies of 200 of the world's masterpieces of art, will be held in the court house in Tawas City on November 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, under the auspices of the county normal and high school.

The exhibit contains copies of pictures valued at from $50,000 to $3,000,000. The copies are the best that can be secured anywhere. Some one will be there to tell you about them.

The purpose of charging admission is to defray freight charges on the pictures. All money above that amount will be spent on pictures for the school.

We want you to see the pictures. Come and bring the children.

Admission, 15c, 10c and 5c.

Tuesday, November 4th.

The date of the Old Southland Sextette Jubilee Concert.

This fine negro concert company will sing at Star Theatre on above date. Boys and girls of the city are now selling the tickets.

Do not miss this jubilee concert. Under direction of Tawas City Lecture Course Committee.

Choosing The Right Present.

Are you in doubt about a certain present? The Youth's Companion has proved to be one of the best that can be chosen. Perhaps you have not seen it lately, and are not quite sure. Then let us send you a sample copy or two. Suppose you ask for the issues containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stannard Pier's fine serial story of life in a boys' school—"His Father's Son." If you look the paper over carefully, bearing in mind that there are 52 such numbers for a year's subscription of $2.00, we are sure you will say that a better present could not be chosen, whether for a young person or for an entire family.

For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914, and all the issues for the remaining weeks of this year, dating from the time the subscription is received.

If you ask for sample copies we will send with them the Announcement for 1914.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

Vast Quantities Of Natural Gas Used.

Natural-gas production has become one of the leading industries of the United States, and to this country belongs the credit of making natural gas a commercial product. It is the best of fuels—cleaner, more convenient, and more efficient for almost any purpose than any other fuel. Were it possible to transport natural gas as coal, petroleum, or other fuels now in use are transported, it would be the leading fuel of the world and its value would probably exceed that of any other commodity. As it is, enormous quantities are wasted annually, quantities too great even to be estimated, and it is with the greatest difficulty that interest can be aroused in the importance of conserving this valuable fuel and in preventing the exhaustion of the fields. Although steps have been taken in some localities to prevent waste, it still goes on.

The utilization of waste gas from the oil wells in different parts of the United States has been an important means of conserving this fuel, and the increasing number of plants erected and being erected for the extraction of gasoline from this "casing head gas" was one of the most important features of the natural-gas industry in the year 1912.

The year was one of greatest prosperity to the natural-gas producer and a record breaker for output, according to B. Hill, of the United States Geological Survey. The total estimated consumption of natural gas in the United States in 1912 was 562,203,452,000 cubic feet, valued at $84,563,957, an average price of 15.04 cents a thousand cubic feet, compared with 512,993,021,000 cubic feet, valued at $74,621,534, an average price of 14.55 cents, in 1911. The number of domestic consumers supplied with gas in the United States in 1912 was 1,621,557 and the value of gas consumed for domestic purposes amounted to $50,950,883, while the number of industrial consumers was 15,936 and the value of gas consumed for industrial purposes was $33,603,074. On the assumption that 28,000 cubic feet of gas equals in heating power 1 ton of coal, the fuel displaced by gas consumed in 1912 was equivalent to approximately 20,000,000 tons of coal.

In the later part of 1911 and throughout 1912 the price of petroleum continued to advance. This stimulus of higher prices made drilling more active in every district and resulted in the discovery of some new oil and gas pools, as well as in the extension of older fields. So long as present prices prevail the search for oil and gas will continue, and it is probable that the year 1913 will show still greater results than 1912.

A Horse's Supplication.

To thee, my master, I offer my prayer.
"Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed, and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you.

"Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going uphill. Never strike, beat, or kick me when I do not understand what you mean, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

"Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that, you know, is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position, or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail.

"And, finally, O my master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner slowly to be tortured and starved to death; but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You may not consider me irrevocable if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen!"

OUR UNWILY LEGISLATURES.

In a letter to Detroit Saturday Night, one of the leading weekly papers of Michigan, a correspondent makes some pointed and pertinent remarks anent the size and workings of our state legislatures. This is a question which has received little attention in the stress of other matters, but the time has come when the people of the state should give their attention to the problem of making our lawmaking body more pliant and responsive to the needs and wishes of the people, without reducing its efficiency.

The Michigan legislature as at present constituted consists of 132 members, 32 senators and 100 representatives. This unwieldy body could very consistently be cut in two without impairing its usefulness, and it would thereby be reduced to a more workable basis and be enabled to transact business more speedily and economically, and in a manner that would undoubtedly be more satisfactory to the people at large. It is only natural that each member of the legislature should be anxious to make the best showing possible to his constituency, and for this reason many measures are introduced that could just as well be taken care of in some other manner, thus leaving to the legislature only the matters of interest to the entire state. The multiplicity of local bills introduced at each session tend to consume the time which should be spent on issues of importance, and unnecessarily prolong the sessions of the law-making bodies.

Other features of the present system which are the source of much expense to the state and which might well be eliminated, are the unnecessary time spent in getting down to business and the vacation jaunts so often taken, all of which tends to increase expense and decrease efficiency. In an article commenting on the recent six months session of the Illinois legislature, the Chicago Tribune made the following tabulation of how the time was consumed: Electing a speaker, three weeks; idleness, one week; electing two United States senators, four weeks; attending the Wilson inaugural, two weeks; organizing and getting down to business, two weeks; committee hearings and reading bills, four weeks; passing 25 per cent of the bills, four weeks; passing 75 per cent of the bills, two weeks. And this is only a fair example of how the time is spent in the legislature of any state that might be named. The 1911 Michigan legislature, the last for which complete figures are available, held three sessions, consuming a total of 166 days, during which time 332 bills were passed, many of which were of only minor importance. The passage of such a multiplicity of laws seems entirely unnecessary, especially when it is considered that many of them when tried out in the courts prove unconstitutional. A wiser and more practical course would seem to be to submit proposed measures either to the supreme court or to some other competent legal authority before their passage, and thus avoid the expense and loss of time which their consideration demands.

It would seem that some practical and feasible plan might be worked out by which the enormous waste in this branch of our public service could be eliminated and a more compact and workable lawmaking body be substituted for the present system. A small body of men fitted for the work would transact the legislative business of the state more economically and effectively than the present unwieldy legislature and their deliberations would undoubtedly produce a more concise and satisfactory system of laws than that with which we are now encumbered.

The man who resorts to underhand means to secure business, and who, to make himself solid, belittles and falsifies the methods of his competitors, is one of the most despicable creatures on the face of the earth. Such an one is cowardly and is unworthy the respect and confidence of his fellow-men. Honest competition, conducted upon a business-like basis, is a healthy stimulant to trade, but a resort to lying and misrepresentation in order to hurt a competitor's business standing is cowardly and only shows the weakness of the one who perpetrates it. Such methods should be left to thieves and confidence men, for they have no place in an honest business world.

Sherman Shots.

Sin Pavelock was at Turner Saturday.
Nat Jordan was at Tawas City Monday.
Wilbert Crum was at Tawas City Tuesday.
Albert Drager was at Whittemore Monday.
C. H. Marsh was at Turner on business Monday.

A. B. Schneider was at Whittemore on business Monday.
Frank Smith of Alabaster spent Sunday at his home here.

Mrs. John Jordan was a business caller at Turner Saturday.
Rev. J. B. Brown will hold services at the Baptist church, Nov. 2.

Etta Jordan, who has been very ill with typhoid, is slowly improving.
Mr. and Mrs. George Kohn spent Sunday at the home of Wm. Kohn.

Etta Jordan, who is ill with typhoid fever, is some better at this writing.

All the school ma'ams spent Saturday and Sunday at their respective homes.

Messrs. Look and Stroyer of the Meadow Road were Sherman callers Sunday.

Dr. McDowell of Turner is still making several trips to Sherman each week.

Wm. Kohn, jr., left for Flint last week, where he expects to remain for the winter.

Mrs. James Norris, who has been ill for some time is somewhat better at this writing.

John Goldsmith left Monday for Paulding, Ohio, where he expects to remain for the winter.

There were 15 of our people who went to Turner Saturday night to the skating rink, but they failed to skate.

Mrs. Homer Holstad of Flint came here Saturday for a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kohn.

One of our young girls said she doesn't believe in keeping late hours because it takes her too long to make up lost sleep.

W. G. Arn and little daughter, Elinor, came up from Flint Monday, and he is enjoying a few days bird hunting with his friends.

A Halloween social will be given by the young people Friday evening, Oct. 31, at the town hall. Everybody come and get pumpkin pie.

Mrs. E. Smith returned home Friday, after a weeks visit with her brother, Hiram Cronk, at Hersey. She also visited Saginaw, Flint and Bay City, and reports a pleasant time.

Elias Smith has completed grading the road north of Melvor. Farmers and others in Sherman township, also many motorists passing through on the Detroit to Mackinac automobile route, are freely praising the work of Mr. Smith. The road connects with the new stone road running south of Melvor toward Turner, which makes a fine stretch. The cement culverts put in by Mr. Malcom are very serviceable and exhibit skill in workmanship. This new piece of modern highway will be completed when a coat of gravel is applied, and will be one of the finest in the county.

Misses Maggie Stiehl and Ada McMillan visited our school Friday.

Bert Dunnill and wife visited at Hugh McMillan's of County Line Sunday.

Frank Doran and Pearl Cowell of Cedar Valley visited at A. Nichols, Sunday.

Miss Lucy Hughes of Standish, who has been visiting at L. View's, returned home Tuesday.

We were all surprised last Wednesday, about noon, to hear the sad news of the death of M. Seebeck, sr. He had been living with his son, Jake, where he was at the time of his death. He was seventy-four years old and a pioneer in this community. He leaves three sons, John, Jake and Mike, jr., one daughter, Mrs. Slep of Turner, and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

A Gentle and Effective Laxative.

A mild, gentle and effective laxative is what people demand when suffering from constipation. Thousands swear by Dr. King's New Life Pills. ### $100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

NOVEMBER

The income tax is with us;
We have the thing to pay,
We gave the word to shoot it,
And our Uncle blazed away.
We maybe didn't mean it,
But we handed him the gun,
And we cannot blame our Uncle
If he has us on the run.
They say that Rockefeller
Will pay a pretty speck;
But we are from Missouri,
And we'll have to see the check.
We never yet have managed
To make them holler 'Wow!
And we therefore are not certain
That we have it on him now.
We'll no doubt get Carnegie—
He's easier than John;
He likes to show his money
While a crowd is looking on;
But we'll never get another
Library frae him noo;
Hoot mon! as Harry Lauder says,
And mind, I'm telling ye:
The King is in his counting room
Working with a pick,
And the Queen is in her parlor
Digging through the brick;
The cook is in the back yard
Burying her pay,
And if people are not jubilant,
They're busy, anyway.

November gets its name from the Latin novem (nine), it having been the ninth month in the old Roman calendar. This brought Thanksgiving in at a time when there was nothing but oysters, and Numa moved the month along where the Thanksgiving dinner could include turkey and cranberries. He was promptly impeached, owing to the great strength of the Oyster Trust, and ran for a seat in the senate from one of the bog districts on the cranberry issue. It was during this campaign, which was one of the bitterest in Roman history, that Numa, from whom we have numismatics, invented money. The opposition had no money, whereas Numa and his friends made all they wanted, and spent it lavishly. He was not only triumphantly elected, but also paid his private debts and swung some very fine deals in the Roman stock market. He became speaker of the senate, and was completely vindicated in the next general election, when he was chosen Emperor of Rome.

The festive calf will sniff the breeze
And do the hesitation waltz,
And the hardy doodlebug will sneeze
And clamor for the smelling salts.
The dogwood tree will blush for shame
Of soon becoming wholly nude,
The Democrats will bust a hame
To get the currency repealed.
The crimson maple leaf will fly
With light abandon on the wind,
And the wild geese will go down the sky
With winter biting him behind.

The kind-faced cow will gently moo
And don her heavy suit of plush, and the quarter, shouting to his crew, will bite and kick the center rush. The camphorated overcoat will render odorous
the air, the women, clamoring to vote, will shout for Emmeline the fair, the cider press will lit its plaint from many rusty wheels and clogs, the farmer, in his red war-paint, will run amuck among his hogs, the robin red-breast will disport a moment in the autumn sky, and the populace will storm the fort three times a day for pumpkin pie.

The golden beauty of the morn will dim the splendor of the rose, and the rooster, falling on his horn, will blow the buttons off his clothes. The hired man will stay abed until the farmer drags him out, the Argentine will whoop for Ted and blithly follow him about, the drys will grapple with the wets on many a fair and fickle field, the weather men will place their bets on what the season has revealed, the squirrel, in his leafy nest, will sort and pack his winter stores, and the cold north wind will do its best to catch a slit skirt out of doors.

The gentle blandishments of fall will make the days divinely fair, and the young man running with the ball will hide in his long back hair. The smell of chitlins will excite the crowd around the kitchen door, the pheasant, waking with the light, will fill the forest with his roar, the sorghum kettle will diffuse its subtle tonic on the breeze, the fool duck shooter will amuse himself contracting some disease, the hosts of winter will advance, with autumn well upon the run, and the plumber, home from Paris, France, will call assessment number one.

The turkey will begin to count
The days between him and the pan
And the lustrous moon will softly moan
The starry arch of heaven's span.
The rash deer hunter will enjoy
The game at last and shoot his guide,
The hardy and unwary fly
Will make its halcyon's inside:
The trailing vine that redly hung
Will lose its glorious estate,
And the cider keg will blow its bung
Through seven stories and the slat.

The first 22 days of November will be under the influence of Scorpio, the eighth sign of the zodiac. Persons born under the influence of Scorpio are very shrewd, and will know to get out of paying their income tax.

The last eight days of November will be under the influence of Sagittarius the Archer, the ninth sign of the zodiac.
Persons born under this sign are very optimistic, and think they will be able to pay their debts after the new currency law goes into effect.

The moon will be full on the 13th.
Thanksgiving will be observed on the 27th, when Mrs. Pankhurst will leave the country. Jupiter will be evening star. Mr. Bryan will be at his desk.
Mr. Roosevelt will end his lectures and begin to chase cougars up and down the Rio de la Plata about the 30th.

And then December will resume
With many a cold and wintry snap,
And Santa Claus will chase the gloom
And desolation off the map.

The Family Cough Medicine.
In every home there should be a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery ready for immediate use when any member of the family contract a cold

We Recommend "Ball-Band" Goods Because We Want to See You Satisfied

Every time a customer goes out of this store we want to feel that he has got his money's worth.

BALL BAND

Every day that you wear a pair of rubber boots, you wear them out just so much. But with "Ball-Band" Boots the wear and tear is less because they are made of better stuff. You get more days' wear for dollars out of "Ball-Band" Footwear.

That makes "Ball-Band" cheapest in the long run. Every Rubber Boot with a Red Ball on the knee is a "Ball-Band" Boot. You'll see many of them because they have the quality.
