business Monday.

week in this issue.

with his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Carson.

John A. Mark returned Saturday from Guelph, Ont., where he went to attend

Harper.

Edith, at Jackson. Edith has been ill recently and came home with him for a short visit.

big banquet at the Iosco hotel, Tawas City, next Friday evening, March 13.
A fine program of music and addresses has been arranged.

The high wind of Sunday and Monday cleared the bay of ice excepting that in the bight where it was held by the point. A large number of fishermen's shanties went out with it.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Mrs. S.
Ferguson next Thursday, March 12. A full attendance is desired.

Dr. C. V. Crane wishes to announce that on March 14 he will leave for New York City, where he will pursue a postgraduate course in a big eastern hospital for a period of about six weeks.

While working at a camp near Goodar, Paul LaFave accidentally fell into a cellar a few days ago and suffered a very severe injury to his head. A doctor was called and found it necessary to take three stitches in the wound.

Mrs. Jas. O'Day and little son returned Tuesday to their home in Saginaw, after several months stay at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G.
Hood. Mrs. Hood accompanied them for a couple of weeks visit.

L. H. Braddock returned Sunday night from Saginaw, where his little son, Louis, underwent an operation in the general hospital last week. At last reports the little fellow was getting along nicely and unless complications set in his recovery is only a question of time.

Is your child worth attention? Does its future mean anything to you? Nine out of ten children show neglect by allowing dental caries to ruin their mouth before they have a fair chance in life.
Take the youngster to Dr. Carson, Tawas City. He is at his office every day.
Phone 44-L.

Mrs. C. A. Jahraus left Tuesday for Flint, where the family will make their future home. She was joined at Twining by her daughter, Charlotte, who had been visiting friends there since last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jahraus have been residents of Tawas City for a number of years and their friends regret their decision to move away. Mr. Jahraus has been appointed as one of the attorneys in this state for the Minnesota Mutual insurance company, which necessitated their change of residence. We wish them all good fortune in their new home.

Mrs. S. C. Williams, a resident of Tawas City for the past 30 years, died at her home in this city at 6:30 Monday morning March 2, aged 79 years. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. O. E. Moffet officiating, and she was laid to rest in the Tawas City cemetery. Besides the sorrowing husband, deceased leaves to mourn her loss a son, Frank Barnes of Lapeer, a step-daughter, Mrs. G. P. Diehl of Saginaw, four grandchildren, Mrs. Wm.
Bean of Bay City, Mrs. Anna Swarty

I wouldn't have all the trouble I do." Read what Dr. Carson says about children's teeth in this issue.

Dr. W. N. Yeager, the dentist, will be at his office, over Wuggazer's drug store, in this city, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 7th, 8th and 9th, All kinds of dental work done and all work guaranteed. Special attention to crown and bridge work. Painless extraction.

The storm of last Sunday and Monday was much more severe through the east than in this section. Along the Atlantic coast it is claimed that the storm was the worst since 1888. Schedules on all railroads were disarranged and in some cases cancelled altogether, telephone and telegraph lines were temporarily put out of business, and the damage in the various branches of business will amount to millions of dollars. Six lives were lost.

The lecture, "Our Wild Life and Its Wardenship," given by J. H. McGillivray at the court house Tuesday evening was well attended. Mr. McGillivray gave a very comprehensive description of the wild animals of Michigan and the measures being taken to preserve and propagate them. He also gave figures as to the estimated number of different animals in the state and in Iosco county, and explained how these estimates are arrived at. Altogether the lecture was very entertaining and instructive.

The opening gun of the coming political campaign in Iosco county will be fired at Whittemore Friday evening when a progressive rally will be held in Schroyer's hall. Among the speakers will be Probate Judge David Davison of Tawas City, Edwin A. Goodwin of McLvor and Congressman R. O. Woodruff of Bay City. Congressman Woodruff will be tendered a reception at Emery junction between trains and will be the guest of honor at a reception in the Whittemore hotel parlors after the evening meeting. A delegation of citizens will escort him from Emery junction on the afternoon train. It is practically certain that there will be three tickets in the field during the coming campaign for county as well as state officers.

The D. & M. shops resumed the ten hour schedule of working hours Tuesday morning, after working on an eight hour schedule for the past two or three months.

If there is anything in the old adage, March should certainly be very lamblike in its going out. The first day of the month brought one of the worst wind storms of the winter, and from Saturday night to Sunday morning the mercury dropped over 40 degrees.

The promoters of the Chautauqua met at the court house Monday evening and formed a temporary organization. A committee was appointed to formulate plans for a permanent organization and a boosting campaign in the interest of the Chautauqua to be held here next summer.

As an experiment the supervisor of the Beaverhead national forest is stripping the bark from the bases of a number of lodgepole pine trees at various periods before they are to be cut for telephone poles. This girdling causes the trees to exude resin, and it is desired to find what effect this may have as a preservative treatment for the poles.

We publish this week the first of a series of articles on good roads written by Leslie H. Belknap. Mr. Belknap is an engineer employed by the state highway department and has an opportunity to visit many counties, see good roads and hear the latest ideas in roadbuilding discussed. He is well qualified to discuss the question and we are sure that his articles will be of great interest to many of our readers.

Two fast games of basket ball are scheduled for next Friday night, March 13, when the boys and girls teams of the Tawas City high school will meet the boys and girls teams of the Harrisville high school in a big double header. A conveyance will be furnished for Tawas City people who wish to attend these games. Conveyance will start from Wuggazer's drug store at 7:00 and 7:30 standard. It is hoped that a good crowd will turn out to cheer our teams on to victory.

A government advertisement calling for men for positions at the Panama canal as boat pilots, has attracted a number of Bay City men, and about ten local men will endeavor to "land" positions with the government at the great water-way. On the great lakes the pilots have to find other work or remain idle for four or five months each year. The ads call for men for the entire 12 months at salaries ranging from $100 to $150 per month, transportation paid to the canal.—Bay City Democrat.

The Home of Alex. McCormick Burned to the Ground.

Monday morning about nine o'clock, just after school was called, Superintendent Bradish noticed smoke issuing from the roof of Alex. McCormick's house situated in the same block as the schoolhouse. He immediately dismissed the higher grades and sent them to give what assistance was possible and turned in an alarm for the fire department.

The firemen responded as quickly as possible, but by the time they got to the scene it was plain that the house was doomed and their efforts were turned toward saving the home of Chris Hosbach, which stood only about ten feet from the burning house. They were successful in this, though the wind was blowing directly toward the house, and the volunteer department is deserving of much credit for their good work.

The McCormick house was burned to the ground and much of the furniture was lost, the flames having gained such headway before discovered that it was impossible to save anything from the second story. In the work of saving the goods the school children did good work and are deserving of commendation.

Mr. McCormick estimates the loss of his house at $1,200 to $1,500, and on the furniture nearly as much more. He carried $600 insurance on the house and $1,000 on furniture, but as the latter was only a partial loss he will not realize the full amount.

Tigers	16	17	.484
I. O. O. F.	4	29	.121

The games between the Tigers and I. O. O. F. were well played, but the I. O. O. F. team has been game from the start, looking forward to a good finish in the end, but luck has been against them. They still have the courage to finish the games which end on March 10. Total score for the Tigers, 1,754; I. O. O. F., 1,425, the Tigers taking the three games.

THE SCORE.
Tigers.	1	2	3	Av.
Grant	114	109	162	128
Butler	148	151	136	145

Fontonelli	168	140	136	128
Ash	100	120	119	113
Nash	103	142	143	128

The games Tuesday March 3, between the I. O. O. F. and R. R. teams were the last games of the match for the R. R. team, who were lucky to win the three games.

The R. R. team was bowling well in form, which will be shown by its average, and the I. O. O. F. team made it very interesting for the R. R. boys in the third game by keeping them from getting a big lead, and the R. R. boys had no chance to get a spare.

The "old war horse," Pinkerton, had again found his stride, and the "man of the hour," Wyman, made a very good showing by bowling an average of 170 for the three games, the only time that three successive games have been bowled with the same number of pins in each game.

THE SCORE.
R. R. Team.	1	2	3	Av.
Pinkerton	161	141	145	149
Dillon	155	162	153	157
Wyman	170	170	170	170

Total pins for the R. R. Team, 1,893 Total pins for the I. O. O. F., 1,439 If the Wolverines can win their three games with the Tigers and three from the I. O. O. F., it means a tie with the R. R. team, and a matched game will be played to decide the winner, and if they lose one game the R. R. team will be the winners of the match.

The average for the players—total pins for each team—total strikes, spares and breaks, will be published in the next issue of the Herald. We understand that there are a number of the boys ready to start another match. We hope it will prove as exciting and interesting as the previous games have been.

Highest scores to date for the ladies: Miss M. Gardner, 126; Mrs. F. Adams, 123 and 125.
Highest scores to date for the men: Arthur Wyman, 207 and 211; J. Sullivan, 201; F. E. Pinkerton, 199.

The two men teams now out to challenge are: Sullivan and Hollibaugh, Pinkerton and Wyman, Hanson and Harrington.

These matches will be under way after the 10th, providing the challenges are taken up, which we believe they will.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses rendered us in our sad bereavement in the loss of our wife and mother; we also wish to thank the G. A. R. ladies for their beautiful specialist, who also treats deafness and fits glasses, will be at Iosco hotel, Tawas City, from 4 p. m. Monday, March 16,

Notice Reward.

The township of Reno will pay a reward of $50.00 to the person or parties giving information that will convict the owner or parties keeping the dog or dogs that have been killing and worrying sheep the previous year in Reno township.
By order of township board.

County Sunday School Rally.

A big rally of the various Sunday schools in Iosco county will be held at the M. E. church, East Tawas, on Saturday and Sunday, April 4 and 5. This rally is held as a result of the plan decided on at the last meeting of the Tri-county Sunday School association, comprising the counties of Iosco, Arenac and Ogemaw. This plan calls for a rally to be held in each county prior to the tri-county convention which will be held in Tawas City next October. The Ogemaw county rally was held at Prescott in January, and the Arenac county rally will be held in July.

The program for the Iosco county rally is not yet fully formulated, but as soon as it is we will publish the same in the Herald.

Roads.

By Leslie H. Belknap.
The legislature of 1905, by unanimous vote, submitted to the people of the state of Michigan an amendment to the state constitution providing for state aid in the improvement of public wagon roads.
Only $20,000 were available the first year, but there were not enough roads built to take the money. However, since that time Michigan has awakened to the need of good roads, and more mileage has been built each year.

The following table gives the appropriation for state rewards each year and the mileage of the roads improved:

1905	$ 30,000	20 miles	built.
1906	60,000	40	" "
1907	110,000	80	" "
1908	160,000	160	" "
1909	150,000	244	" "
1910	150,000	304	" "
1911	245,000	382	" "
1912	245,000	524	" "

These appropriations are raised by a tax on the state at large. "Thus, the cities and villages as well as farm property, real and personal, pays a pro rata share of the tax and contributes in an equitable manner towards an improvement which benefits every member of the community." And when one stops to figure they find that the cities are paying a greater part of the tax, although the roads are built outside their corporate limits. For instance, the city of Detroit pays about one-quarter of the total state tax. Of course the cities receive benefit from a good road, but not more so than any farmer who uses the road.

Now, right along in this connection I wish to emphasize the point that Iosco county is not taking the advantage of as much of this state reward as she might.
Her appropriations are about one-third of what they should be. Good gravel or stone roads cost money, but when once built they last. And under the new repair fund (which I will explain more at length) takes care of one-third to one-half of the repair of these roads, at the expense of the state, providing the roads are kept in repair from the beginning.

Some time people get it in their heads that good roads are built for automobiles only, but I wish to cover this false notion of the use of good roads by two quotations. One is from Speaker Clark of the house of representatives: "The cost to the people every year resulting from bad roads nearly equals our national debt."

The other is from a farmer, Thomas McKay, who lives 14 miles from Oberlin.
He said recently: "Some of us farmers are standing in our own light.
We argue that we should not build good roads for motor cars to travel over. I have no motor car, but it seems to me that a road that is good enough for a motor car is good enough for a farmer to haul a big load of wheat over, or for me to drive my surrey over to take my family to town. We are too afraid that we will do something which will benefit someone else, and, in fact, we are the losers by our own acts."

In my next article I will give a general synopsis of the new road laws and the location of the trunk line in Iosco county as adopted by the State Highway Commissioner and the Iosco County Road Commission.

The writer invites any criticism, or any question that one may care to ask.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to those who so ably assisted at the fire which destroyed our home, and especially to the school children for their help in saving our furniture.

Cost of High Living.

A great deal has been said and written on the high cost of living, and the cost of high living, but as to the primary cause of high living the doctors do not agree.

There are many causes for high prices of necessities of life besides high tariff or low tariff, protection or free trade, or the extravagance of the poor.

It is true that a dollar will not buy as much of the necessities of life now as a dollar would buy some fifteen or twenty years ago. Even slab fire wood purchased at our home saw mills has more than doubled in price during the past fifteen or twenty years. This slab wood is not yet fully formulated, but as soon as it is we will publish the same in the Herald.

It is estimated by commissioners of labor and others, who are paid for keeping themselves informed on such matters, that the cost of production has been increased more than 30 per cent during the past twenty years, especially in the building trades, by organized labor, aggravated by strikes and lockouts, and the general waste produced by bread riots and conflicts between capital and labor, for which, in our opinion, capital is mostly to blame.

Men cannot live today on the wages they received twenty years ago. This forces them to organize, and, if necessary, to fight.

Another cause of the high cost of living is extravagance among those who can least afford it. They do not understand domestic economy. They must have the best on the market, and the best is none too good.

"The best," did we say? No, not the best, but the dearest. They must have sirloin steak, even if it cost 28 cents a pound, when cheaper cuts of meat at 12 cents would be just as good, even if both were the same price. But they must have the dearest. If calf's liver was selling at 30 cents a pound and sirloin steak at 10 cents, there are housewives who would prefer calf's liver—because it was the dearest.

The same is true in buying clothing and other necessities. It would be difficult to distinguish a banker's wife from her servant girl on the street, only for the fact that the banker's wife is not so gorgeously dressed.

Speaking of the working classes, Americans do not, and will not, understand economy. It is only our foreign born citizens who understand and practice economy and thrift. They live just as well as their native American neighbors and for less money.

The American working man can save dollars and ten dollar bills, but he cannot save pennies—because he does not know the value of a penny—and it's the pennies that count. Any fool can save a dollar, but only the wise man can save a cent.

We have no objection to the extravagance of the rich. We would rather encourage it. It is the extravagance of the poor is a national misfortune. While encouraging the rich to blow their money freely we would advise the poor to practice self denial and save their pennies.—Today Magazine.

Wonderful Cough Remedy.

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P.
Lawson, of Edison, Tenn., writes:
"Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c

It Pays to Advertise.

A Missouri woman advertised for a husband. She got one at a cost of $9.
He enlisted in the army and was killed.
She got $3,000 insurance and will get a pension as long as she lives. Yet some people think it doesn't pay to advertise.

Some More Beauty Hints.

Some time ago this department issued a bulletin dealing with various beauty remedies which could be prepared at home, and which were running in various Michigan newspapers by Mrs. Mae Martyn. Mrs. Mae Martyn purported to answer various mythical correspondents in regard to their alleged needs for improving their style of beauty, both physically and mentally.

Since the issuance of that bulletin Mrs. Mae Martyn seems to have dropped off the map so far as Michigan newspapers are concerned, and the field is now being occupied by the "Home Beauty Parlor" of Betty Dean. We are not privileged to have the acquaintance of Betty, but from looking over her effusions of home made beauties they sound just like the same ones that Mrs.
Mae Martyn was putting over on us.
There is Spurrmax, Canthrox and Getrox and all the other various lines. Perhaps Mrs. Martyn, after using her superlative toilet articles, was able to marry some sardine and thus change her name. At any event, in the language of the Bible, "While the hands are the hands of Esau the voice is the voice of Jacob."

A correspondent, who signs herself "Mayme," complains to Betty that she is rapidly getting as big as a balloon and the same shape, and she wants something to bring her down to her normal weight. Betty has the something and advises her to put four ounces of Parnotis in one and one-half pints of water and take a tablespoonful before meals. She assures her that this will bring her avoirdupois down to the exact weight she wants it without any dieting or undue exercise. Parnotis, of course, has to be obtained at the drug store. It costs you 50 cents under that name, but if you will get three ounces of baking soda and one ounce of sodium sulphate and mix and dissolve, you will have Parnotis at the cost of five cents, which will cost you 50 cents if obtained at the drug store.

Another correspondent is troubled with failing eyesight. She complains that her eyes are dull and dim, and she wants something to brighten them up.
Betty has the something that will make the eyes bright and shining and relieve all soreness of the same. Absolutely "safe and inexpensive." All you have to do is to get an ounce of "Crystos" and dissolve it in a pint of water, and apply two or three drops daily. The result is supposed to make your eyes as bright as Henry Watterson's star-eyed Goddess of Reform. "Crystos" is to be obtained at the drug store for 50 cents.
It is composed of boric acid, 60 per cent; common salt, 20 per cent, and borax, 20 per cent. For less than 10 cents you can get a sufficient amount to make you "Bright Eyes" for 40 years, providing the stuff works. We trust Betty will not change her name again after this bulletin appears, because it keeps us guessing to recognize her under her various nom de plumes.—James W.

sioner.

SHALL ENGLAND DICTATE OUR PANAMA CANAL POLICY?

President Wilson is using all his influence to secure the repeal of that portion of the Panama Canal act which provides for free passage of American coastwise shipping through the canal. His position on the question is meeting with much opposition from both senators and congressmen and it is a question whether enough votes can be mustered in the two houses of congress to repeal the act.

President Wilson bases his position on the clause in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which provides that the canal shall be open to the commerce of all nations on the same terms. Great Britain has taken the position that this clause applies to our own country as specifically as to foreign countries, and that under its provisions we have no right to favor our own shipping any more than that of any other country. The motive behind this objection is very plain, when it is remembered that English capital is heavily interested in the Canadian transcontinental railroads, whose ships, under the provisions of the canal act are expressly prohibited from using the canal under any consideration. The transcontinental railroads of the United States are upholding the contention of England for the same reasons.

In the mind of a great many, we believe a majority, of the people of the United States the repeal of the act would show an undue readiness to comply with suggestions from foreign powers as to how we should run the business of our own country. The Panama canal was built solely with American money and American brains. We stepped in where others had failed and completed an undertaking which will be of untold benefit to the world at large for centuries to come. The canal is as much our property as the Mississippi river or the Erie canal, yet no country would dare make suggestions as to how we should manage the shipping on those waterways. We undertook the building of the canal in the first place for our own benefit entirely, that we might better protect our coast line on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and that commerce between the eastern and western portions of our country might be made easier, and the rates of transportation cheapened. The foreign commerce which might use the canal was only a side issue, and it would be making unnecessary concessions to allow some other power to step in and dictate the conditions under which we should allow shipping to pass through the waterway.

No country would suggest that we do not have the power to grant a subsidy to our shipping if we so desire. And that is what the free tolls really amount to. We could obviate any discussion by requiring American ships to pay the regular tolls on entering one end of the canal and then paying the money back to them in the form of a subsidy at the other end. But this would be yielding a principle which should be upheld. If American shipping is to receive no more benefit from the canal than that of other nations the vast expenditure of money and brains in the building was not justified. The United States is not an eleemosynary institution that we should spend millions of dollars and give years of the time of our best and brainiest men simply to benefit the other nations of the world.

The whole force of Great Britain's protest hinges on those two words, "all nations," in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. It is inconceivable, however, that these words should include the country that built and owns the canal, and for whose initial benefit it was constructed. No nation has questioned our right to fortify the canal, and it is to be hoped that our representatives in the halls of congress will exhibit sufficient stamina to refuse to recognize England's right to dictate, and vote down the repeal of the exemption clause.

To yield the point at issue would denote a fatal weakness in our foreign policy, and it is to be hoped that our representatives in the halls of congress will exhibit sufficient stamina to refuse to recognize England's right to dictate, and vote down the repeal of the exemption clause. Massachusetts proposes to put the ban on modern dances by legislative enactment. Representative Sullivan has introduced a bill in the state legislature expressly prohibiting the tango, bunny hug, and other objectionable dances. The moral status of society has reached an extremely low ebb when it becomes necessary to restrain by law the degree of depravity which may be exhibited in public.

Recent developments have increased the chances for the necessity of American intervention in Mexico, and grave fears are expressed in many quarters that it will yet become our duty to step in and settle affairs in our neighboring country. The murder of two Americans and one British subject have complicated matters to a great extent.

Forest Notes.

The state of New York has just published a comprehensive report of its wood-using industries.

Apple wood is the favorite material for ordinary saw handles, and some goes into so-called briar pipes.

Canada has 23,000,000 acres in timber reserves, as compared with 187,000,000 acres in the national forests of the United States.

Canada has a society of forest engineers. Dr. B. Fernow of Toronto is president, and F. W. H. Jacombe of Ottawa is secretary.

Of the three Pacific coast states, Oregon and Washington far outstrip California in the work done by private owners for forest protection.

The development of quicksilver mines promises to make large demands for cordwood and construction timbers on the Tonto national forest, Arizona.

Manufacturers of greenhouses and makers of boxes are getting in touch, so that the latter may use for box cleats the cypress waste from the greenhouses.

Many of the forest fires attributed to railroads are not caused by sparks from locomotives, but by cigars and cigarette butts thrown from smoking-car windows.

New Jersey has a timbered area of about 2,000,000 acres, on which the timber is worth about $8,500,000 on the stump. It is mainly valuable for cordwood.

Port Oxford cedar of the Pacific coast, recently tried as a substitute for English willow in the manufacture of artificial limbs, has been found unsatisfactory. While it is light enough, it is too coarse and brittle.

Lodgepole pine seed sown broadcast on the snow in southern Idaho last spring germinated when the snow melted, and as many as 60 little trees were counted to the square foot. The summer was so dry, however, that most of the plants died, except where sheltered by brush or logs.

Uncle Joshua Speaks of Chickens

"There's lots of money in raising chickens," said Uncle Joshua. "Any hen book will tell you that. But so far I've ever heard nobody's found out yet how to do it. It's funny what effect chickens has on some people. I've known folks—good, honest, truthful men—to go to keeping chickens, and inside of a month it wasn't safe to believe a word they said."

"When I was a boy and lived in Iowa I knew a couple of men—deacons in the church, they were—that went to raising hens in a small way, and it wasn't long before they got to lying so about how many eggs they got a day that it was a scandal to the community."

"Deacon Simpsonbottom started in with a Langshang rooster, a Dominick pullet and three Plymouth Rocks. They all wanted to set except the rooster and one of the Plymouth Rocks, and he calculated she'd lay eggs enough for the others to set on. Had a nice nest fixed up in a corner of the woodshed, and used to watch her through a knothole while she was laying."

"Had a basket lined with cotton batting to keep the eggs in, and a thermometer tied to the handle so's to be sure the temperature was all right. Used to go look at the thermometer every twenty minutes regular. If it got above 51 he'd open the windows and fan the eggs with a palm-leaf fan, and when it dropped below 48 he'd hold them over the stove till they got back to the right point. Used to get up at 12 o'clock every night to turn them over."

"Deacon Handy had six Black Spanish pullets and a Brahma cockerel, and used to go over to Deacon Simpsonbottom's every morning and brag about how many eggs he was getting. Then two old gray-headed men would lean on the back fence and swap lies for hours."

"Deacon Handy was always trying experiments out of a hen book his nephew in Connecticut sent him. One place in that book is said to pound up oyster shells and feed to the hens so they'd have something to make shells."

"Oysters wasn't, so to speak, plenty in Iowa them days, except canned ones, so he pounded up broken crockery for them. Got two or three blue china plates with pictures on them and fed them to the hens, and for the next two weeks the eggs all had pink and green angels and yellow peacocks on the shells."

"Ran out of broken crockery finally, and took to grinding up broken window glass and patent-medicine bottles for them, and after that every egg them hens laid had a glass shell with 'sarsaparilla' blown in the side. Yes, sir, it was a very curious sight to look at them eggs."

"Ground-up a few corks in one lot of bottles, and every one of the next batch of eggs had a stopper in the end, sealed with green wax and a red ribbon tied around it."

"When Deacon Simpsonbottom got eggs enough for a setting he put them under the Dominick hen daytimes and let one of the Plymouth Rocks set on them nights. Of course, in that way the eggs hatched in ten days instead of twenty-one, but the curious thing about it was that part of the chickens was Plymouth Rocks and the rest Dominicks, and one double yolk egg hatched out one chicken of each kind. Yes, sir, it was a curious thing."

White Pine Growing Is Profitable.

The growing of white pine, says the department of agriculture in a bulletin recently issued on the subject, is a profitable undertaking at 6 per cent compound interest. To bring in these returns the trees may be cut when not more than from 35 to 70 years old.

The original white pine forests are approaching exhaustion, according to the department, and with the growing scarcity of large-sized, high-grade white pine lumber lower grades now find a ready market. Besides this the tree grows rapidly, has a heavy yield, and is easy to manage.

Second growth white pine, 50 years old, on good soil, may yield as much as 49,000 feet of lumber per acre. On medium soil, stands of the same age, 36,000 board feet, and even on poor soil, 24,000 feet.

White pine boxboard lumber, one of the chief products of such stands, sells for from $12 to $18 a thousand board feet. Material for making matches, another product, sells for from $17 to $18 a thousand. Even larger material, suitable for sashes and blinds, some of which may be cut from a 50-year old stand, brings from $30 to $35 a thousand feet. Second-growth white pine, the kind that is found on thousands of abandoned fields and pastures in New England, and that which has sprung up after lumbering in many places where the original white pine forests stood, has a value today that makes it well worth the attention of the owner.

Too often the farmer or other land owner sells second-growth white pine stumpage for less than it is worth, because he does not know how much lumber the stand is actually capable of yielding, or else is ignorant of the price the lumber and other products will bring. Too often, also, the foresters say, the owner of second-growth fails to realize that perhaps by holding his pine trees for a few years longer, or by thinning it properly at the right time, he can obtain a great deal more and better timber, and consequently a much larger relative return in money, than if he allows it to be cut clear when the first opportunity offers.

The best second-growth white pine, 45 years old, will yield about 41,000 board feet per acre, but the same stand, when 55 years old, will yield 55,000 feet, an increase of 13,000 feet per acre in 10 years. And this is not all, for along with the increase in quantity comes an increase in quality. Not only more but better timber is to be had. Counting in this factor of quality the lumber from an acre of best white pine, 55 years old, is worth about $1,000, against a value of $750 when the stand is 45 years old.

Wonderful Cough Remedy.

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson, of Edison, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1.00. Recommended by J. M. Wuggazer & Co. and J. E. EDUCATION

What Does it Mean to You?

In business, trade or profession your opportunity awaits you if you are prepared. So why not prepare yourself?

You can prepare yourself at home by devoting your spare time to study. You need not give up your present occupation nor lose your earnings derived therefrom.

If you are not prepared when opportunity knocks at your door you have only yourself to blame. You may deceive yourself and deny the good of a technical education, but you cannot deceive the general public if you do not understand that which you should, nor can you deceive your employer if you are employed.

The practical end is what you do with your hands, the technical is what you do with your brains. We train your brains. If you wish to know how you can obtain this training, call at the

and see the display of the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa.

The largest educational institution in the world, graduating from 50 to 85 students per week. Over a million students have been awarded their diploma from these schools; thousands of them hold some of the best positions known, and they attribute their success to the I. C. S.

Come and read the testimonials of great achievements, and see the foreign envelopes received from students in different parts of the world.

You will not obligate yourself by asking W. J. Kickbush any questions in regard to the schools and the 240 courses. New Accounting courses have just been added to the list.

Don't forget to see the display, starting Friday night.

Your Children's Teeth

"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Harold Bell Wright says: "You don't have to die to orphan a child—just neglect it." Are you neglecting your child? Read this:

In children the eruption of the teeth attracts the attention and needs the intelligent care of the mother. Before the teeth appear in the infant, that is before the age of six months, fermentation of milk frequently causes an acid condition in the little one's mouth. This must be remedied by some antiseptic, and I would advise the use of Borax as a wash, made with a teaspoonful of Borax added to a half glass of cold water. The mother takes a soft cloth, wraps it around her finger, moistens it with this preparation and rubs it over the infant's gums and around the little one's mouth twice a day. Now this will leave the child's mouth clean and healthful.

Children's teeth need just as much care as those of grown-up people; for upon this care depends the strength and beauty and value of the second set, or the permanent teeth. The mother should, with a soft cloth on the finger, using the Borax wash, cleanse the little one's teeth morning and evening. This is to cut away bacteria, which are glutinous and hold to the teeth. The bacteria catch the lime-salt from the saliva and form tartar. They also hold the milk or food taken by the little one and change the milk to lactic acid, causing it to ferment.

When lactic acid forms on the teeth of an infant, if not removed at once it dissolves the enamel and causes the teeth to decay. If the mother pursues the treatment indicated above this will be avoided and there will be no decay of the teeth in the infant, unless the child should be attacked by some fever.

When the child is three or four years old, the time has come for the mother to take the little one to a dentist, for only through such intelligent care can the child be assured of a permanent set of perfectly formed teeth, which must last through life. When the mother makes the first visit with the little one to the dentist, if there are any cavities, the dentist cleans them and fills them with the proper filling for that time of life. The teeth of the little children are so frail that they require a great deal more delicate treatment than those of adults.

Now the idea of this treatment at such an early age is to have the second teeth in every way perfect. If the first teeth are extracted before the roots are absorbed, the permanent teeth are apt to come in out of proper position, resulting in deformity of the mouth.

Now heed well these remarks. Your child's future is in your hands. Dr. Carson is at his office in Tawas City every day in the week. See him at once. Phone 44-L.

Ophthalmia Neonatorum.

Do you know what ophthalmia neonatorum means? It is the scientific name for baby's sore eyes. It means a pus discharge from the eyes and lids of little new-born babies. It means that the baby's eyes have been infected at the time of birth or soon afterward. There are over 100,000 blind people in the United States today, over 10,000 of them have been made blind by this disease.

Enough people are made blind by this disease alone every year to populate a fairly sized city, because of the carelessness or neglect of some one in caring for the little new-born babies. Doctors have been trying for years to stop this unnecessary blindness by educating nurses to recognize it in its beginning and by getting laws passed which require midwives, nurses and others to report at once anything wrong with the little one's eyes or lids, so that proper treatment may be given before it is too late. But so far the public is not sufficiently educated to appreciate the importance of preventing this dreadful disease, nor the danger of the neglect of these cases. There are still many such cases occurring every day in which life-long blindness follows for want of precautions on the part of parent, mid-wife or nurse, or some one else who has charge of the little baby.

It is an awful responsibility when through such carelessness or neglect a baby is allowed to become blind for life. This disease progresses rapidly when once contracted. Some doctors make it a rule to have every baby's eyes cleaned carefully immediately after birth and preventive methods used to destroy any possible infection that may have entered during birth. But doctors are not always present, and it is for this reason it is necessary that every parent, every mid-wife, every nurse, or whoever has charge of a new-born baby, should report to the health officer any trouble with a new-born baby's eyes, for on prompt action may depend whether the baby must be blind through life or not.

OUR SCHOOL COLUMN

Devoted to the Interests of the Schools of Iosco County

Remember that a sweet pleasing personality counts for much in the school room.

Parents, irregular attendance is almost as bad as no attendance. Children must be in school. The state compulsory attendance law is very pointed along this line.

Eighth grade pupils are busily preparing for the May examination. How very much they are interested in Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal." What a fund of character building material it contains.

When land is cheap is the proper time to increase the size of school yards. Children should have room enough to play without troubling nearby farmers. Progress in every department is the watchword of the present century.

School gardens do much to make the yard attractive. Flowers exert a wonderful influence in developing the esthetic nature of the child. Many of our school yards are far from being "A thing of beauty." Let us get busy this spring.

Are we preparing for the spring educational campaign? Arbor Day, with all its possibilities, will soon be here. Decoration Day will soon follow. The time is almost ripe for corn testing, etc. Begin to plan now. Do not delay until it is too late.

What a splendid opportunity to teach "Current Topics." The Mexican situation is attracting the world's attention. Why are the following names suggestive? Villa, Huerta, Carranza? What is meant by the "Benton Affair?" On what nation depends the settling of the Mexican trouble? Why?

A teacher's meeting will be held in the County Normal room, Tawas City, March 21, at 1 p. m. Miss Roman, of the Michigan state library, will be present. Her talk on the selection, cataloguing and care of books, will be instructive and beneficial to all teachers. You cannot afford to miss this meeting.

Teachers, center your energies and the pupil's energy on these things—health, character, interest in and capacity for service, appreciation for the beautiful and the true, and such details of theories, facts and past accomplishments as will make possible the development of human efficiency. —Walter H. Page, World's Work.

The civics class is studying the qualifications of voters.

The Normal class has not yet decided on a motto and a class flower.

The fifth grade language class, of which Lucy Curry is the practice teacher, is learning the poem, "About Ben Adhem."

The first and second grades are doing some free hand cutting to illustrate their language stories. Eunice Clark and Grace Laidlaw have charge of the work.

Eight of the Normal girls are teaching in the lower grades, two in Miss Louch's room, three in Miss Bradley's room, and three in Miss Murphy's room.

The third grade language class, of which Fern Rollin is the practice teacher, is interested in pronoun and verb drills. The drills teach the children to use the correct forms.

Last Friday afternoon a 100-word spelling review was held in the third, sixth and eighth grades. A prize was awarded to the one who had the highest standing in each grade. The prize winners were Homer Mark, Lucile and Roland Kelchner.

The Rush to the Rescue.

By John E. Thompson.
The larger boys were finishing their whistles while the little children were hunting jacks by the brookside, and I was examining a different kind of fern while looking for a good place to fish, for I was trout fishing.

deafened at first by the screams of the children, for when they found jacks they were very delighted, as they were not very plentiful around where we lived. But I soon got used to it. Then all of a sudden I heard screams of a different kind and I knew something had gone wrong.

Hastening to the spot I found one of the youngest of the children in the brook, where it was very muddy, and another who, in trying to rescue him, fell in, too. I, grasping a tuft of grass on the bank, reached down to pull them out, but just as I began to pull the tuft of grass I had hold of pulled out, and I fell headlong into the brook, getting my best white pants wet and muddy and my derby hat crushed.

After hastily pulling out the two youngsters I started for home, not in a very good humor for a fisherman.

Winter.

By Myrtle Lattar.

Winter is the three coldest months of the year. It begins December 21 and ends on March 21.

In winter the days are short and the nights are long and cold.

In summer the sun is farther away from the earth, but it shines directly upon it, and so makes the earth warm, but in winter the sun is nearer the earth, but it does not shine directly upon it, so the atmosphere is not warmed by the sun's rays and the earth is cold.

Winters of long ago were about the same as they are now, with the exception that we had more snow. The land being covered with forests and the trees kept the snow from blowing away and kept it from melting because they did not allow the sun to shine so directly on it, and the winters did not seem so cold, for the trees broke the force of the wind.

The winters of the present time are much the same as they used to be, except the land is nearly all cleared, and so the wind has more force and the snow is often drifted, so we do not have so much snow as we used to, for the trees are all cut down and the snow melts sooner.

One winter, a great many years ago, on the prairies of one of our western states, a party of surveyors were out on the prairies surveying some land, when a great blizzard came up. They quickly started back for camp, but the storm increased in fury, and they knew if they could not reach camp soon they would all perish.

They wandered along for some time until they had gone for some miles, but still they were no where near the camp, when one of the party saw some tracks in the snow and, on examining them, found them to be their own, and told his companions that they were lost on the prairies.

The party had almost given up in despair when the chief leader said: "If any one can find the way back to camp Jack can." This was the name of the leader's favorite horse. So they all followed the horse, and were soon in camp. The horse was petted and praised by everyone, for they all knew if it had not been for him everyone would have perished.

Fred Whitehouse of Turner was in town on business last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ferrie were at Turner on business Tuesday. Dave Davison of Tawas City was in town on business Wednesday. Several from here attended Lenten services at Turner Tuesday evening. Some of our ladies had better be more careful with their false teeth when they go out shopping. No one can tell what a fellow is apt to see after dark. One of our fellows can confirm this statement. Never mind, Tony, the "contest of the nations" will soon decide as to who has first right to drive up the lane. Revs. Peterson of Cheboygan and J. B. Brown are holding revival meetings at the church here this week. Mr. Kinsey of Goodall was in town one day last week. He has bought Mr. Richard's farm, and expects to move his family here in the near future. Township Treasurer C. H. Mark was at Tawas City last Thursday to settle with the county treasurer. Mr. Mark reports a good collection this year. It does not require a stepladder to repair or put a telephone line in good condition. It necessarily requires more faculty; furthermore the secretary of the company didn't think that the Coons were out to climb the poles during the cold month of February, and therefore made the required repairs himself, with his active brother to assist him. Ed Norris, general manager of the L. L. Hibbs' Dredging Co., had the misfortune of running a rusty nail through his hand while working around the dredge last week, and Saturday Dr. McDowell of Turner was called in to examine the injured hand, and found that blood poison had set in. The relatives from outside of the town who attended the funeral were Mrs. Frank Day and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cholger from Tawas, also Mr. Cleary's sister from the Thumb. The sheriff was notified, and came to the scene with the coroner and prosecuting attorney. A man is being held for further investigation, which will be held at the inquest at Rose City, on Monday, March 9. Cleary. Mr. Coone, the insurance agent from West Branch, came last week and adjusted the claim of John Schriber, sr. The claim was allowed and Mr. S. this week received his check for $1,100. He also has sold 40 acres of his farm to his son, John, jr., and has a buyer for the remaining 80 acres. Mr. S. intends moving to town to live, owing to the poor health of both himself and wife. We are indeed very sorry to lose our old pioneer neighbors, but we wish them happiness and prosperity where ever they may locate.

ALL TO THOSE "THAT HAVE"

Conditions in the Literary World Fashion to Favor the Few Big Sellers.

Those who are acquainted with the record of English literary incomes since Chaucer was a court servitor will not find it a particularly harrowing fact that, according to a London writer, "not more than fifty British novelists make an average annual income of $5,000." Indeed, some people will find it a ground for regret that Miss Corelli is said to have made $100,000 in a single year, and Hall Caine twice that. The other happy plutocrats of an average income of $25,000 or more are, it is said, Wells, Kipling, Garvice, Stapoole, Conan Doyle and Mrs. Ward. Masfield and Noyes are said to flourish on poetry, and Trevelyan and Morley on biography; as to the dramatists, we are left to judge only from Shaw's quarrels with the income tax collectors. These estimates, naturally, are inspired by that striking literary event, Hall Caine's latest publication. Their one significance is that every change affecting English book selling—six-penny editions, the growth of the libraries, even social developments like the motor car and the week-end—has been in favor of the few big sellers and against the authors with a small, select audience; and similar causes are operating in a similar way in America.—New York Post.

SHAME OF HUMANITY GONE

"Witches Weigh House," at Oudewater, Holland, Recently Destroyed by Fire. The little town of Oudewater, Holland, which is situated on the river Yssel right off the beaten tourist track, has lost by fire one of the most remarkable relics of the middle ages, the so-called Witches Weigh house. Early in the sixteenth century the Emperor Charles V., who was born and educated in Holland, granted the town what is perhaps the most curious privilege on record, that of a weigh house which should be the only recognized one to determine officially whether a person was a wizard or a witch. At a time when witchcraft was universally believed in the weigh house did a great business. It was the burgo-master of the town who determined the weight. If an accused person balanced the scales or was heavier he or she went free, but if lighter a prima facie case of witchcraft was held to be made out, and the unfortunate individual was in imminent danger of losing life or chattels or both. There are records that witches were weighed in Oudewater as late as the first half of the eighteenth century.

MODERN MAID.

It was getting late at night when the servant girl returned from the shops with various domestic purchases. As she explained the transaction to her mistress she cried out suddenly: "There! If I haven't forgotten the 'am an' eggs for breakfast." "That's a pity," observed the mistress, but added, with kindly philosophy, "Never mind. The shops will all be shut now. We shall have to manage in the morning with bread and butter and marmalade." The girl stared: "And what shall I have?" she inquired. "Well, Ellen, I suppose you'll have the same as we do," replied the mistress. "Yes, Mrs. X.," replied Ellen, with some severity; "but let me tell you I can't do my work unless I'm properly fed."—Manchester Guardian.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than of other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
