FIRST GUN FIRED IN WAR WITH MEXICO

United States Marines Seized Vera Cruz Wednesday and Are Now In Full Possession

TWELVE AMERICAN MARINES KILLED AND FIFTY WOUNDED IN TAKING CITY

Charge O'Shaughnessy Given His Passports by Huerta and Conflict is Now On in Earnest. Constitutionalists Under Carranza Expected to Join Federals in Common Cause Against U. S. Embargo on Export of Arms to Mexico Restored.

Twelve Americans killed and fifty wounded was the result of the first encounter between United States and Mexican forces, when Admiral Fletcher landed a large force of marines at Vera Cruz and took possession of the city pursuant to orders from Washington. This step was taken as the first move toward compelling Huerta to accede to the demand of President Wilson that he salute the U. S. flag as amends for the unwarranted arrest of a number of marines from the U. S. S. Dolphin.

The seizure of Vera Cruz was ordered at this time to prevent the landing of a cargo of arms and ammunition from a German steamer for the Mexican forces under Huerta. The American forces are now in full possession of the city and have taken charge of the custom house and all public buildings. The Mexican troops were completely routed, though they kept up a desultory fire upon the American troops from housetops and barricades until dispersed by volleys from the small rapid-fire guns of the warships in the harbor. The people of the city expected the Americans to loot and pillage, and were agreeably surprised when they were courteously treated by the blue-jackets.

The latest dispatches state that Huerta has handed Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge de affairs at Mexico City, his passports, and it is expected that this act will be followed by a declaration of war against the United States. Contrary to expectations, Carranza, the constitutionalist leader in Mexico, takes exception to the American occupation of Vera Cruz and in a message to President Wilson intimated that the constitutionalist forces might consider themselves in duty bound to join forces with the federals in a common cause against the United States. The American troops are prepared to move at an hour's notice and extraordinary precautions are being taken along the Texas border to prevent the exportation of any more arms or ammunition from the United States to Mexico.

An examination for funeral directors and embalmers will be conducted by the state board of health in the city of Grand Rapids on July 7, 8 and 9, 1914. Particulars and application blanks may be had from the secretary of the board at Lansing.

Rev. Joshua Roberts left last evening for Detroit to attend the funeral of his friend Dr. Daniel McFadyen, who died at his home in that city from paralysis. Dr. McFadyen was formerly a physician in Bay City where he had a large practice and was well known.

The people of the Tawasites will have an opportunity Saturday evening of hearing something exceptionally good in the musical line. On this date Manager Wood has secured the Williams Colored Singers for a performance at the East Tawas opera house. This troupe has toured in both Europe and America and are highly recommended.

A conference will be held at the Baptist church in this city next Monday, April 26. The program will include addresses by celebrated speakers from Lansing, Detroit and New York. The conference, which will explain the changes in organization adopted by the Baptist convention, as well as its local and world-wide mission work, has been described as "Educational and inspirational, as well as missionary."

The state superintendent of public instruction, Fred L. Keeler, has issued a bulletin, "Safety First," in which he urges every superintendent, teacher and commissioner to co-operate in impressing upon the minds of the children in the public schools the importance of care when walking on railroad tracks or when at or around stations or crossings. The railroads of the country are putting much stress on the principle of "Safety First," but their efforts can only be successful when given the assistance and co-operation of the public at large.

The 14 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goodall died in Flint on Monday, April 13. The remains were brought to their home in East Tawas and the funeral held last Friday afternoon, Rev. Moffet officiating. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad loss. Out of town people who attended the funeral were: Mr. Goodall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodall, his brother, Roy, and a friend, Frank Engelbert, all of Flint, and Thos. Duval of Detroit.

A Disastrous Fire.

Last Saturday afternoon the large barn on the farm belonging to Barney Long, on the Hemlock road, caught fire from sparks thrown by a traction engine working at road grading, and was burned to the ground with all its contents.

The heaviest loss falls upon John Rapp who rents and occupies the farm, and who had a large amount of produce and his farm machinery stored in the barn. He also lost two buggies and three fine calves. One of the buggies and some of the machinery was new and had never been used.

Mr. Rapp carried no insurance and his is therefore a total loss. Mr. Long's loss on the building was covered by insurance.

Store Your Own Eggs.

Fresh eggs are now selling in local markets from 15 to 18 cents a dozen. The consumer is rejoicing, the farmer is disgusted with it and the cold storage man is busily engaged in filling his warehouses with April eggs, which are called the best on the market for storage purposes. Next winter the cold storage man will be selling eggs from 35 to 40 cents. The consumer will be growling at the storage man and swearing off on the use of eggs. The farmer, when he sees his 15-cent eggs passed at 35 to 40 cents, will think that he is being wronged, and yet a very simple remedy lies in the hands of both producer and consumer. Each class if he wishes to absorb to himself the profits now made by storage warehouses, can do so very simply and easily by storing his own eggs.

A great many methods have been tried by food authorities to obtain some simple process of preserving eggs, and the one that is now universally endorsed by the best authorities for the preservation of eggs is by placing them in a solution of water glass or silicate of soda. The Maine experiment station found that eggs preserved in this way at the end of 11 months were not distinguishable from fresh eggs either in taste or nutritive value. Physical and chemical examination of such eggs showed no apparent depreciation in taste, quality or nutritive value. The process is very simple and any private individual can store eggs under this system.

Water glass, known to the chemists as silicate of soda, is a thick, gelatinous-looking liquid. To preserve eggs it is diluted with 10 parts of water. The water should first be boiled and then cooled. Into this for every five quarts of water one pint of water glass should be added and thoroughly mixed. This solution should be placed in some pail or can that can be sealed after the process of preservation is over. A half gallon glass fruit jar will hold from 14 to 15 eggs. The solution should cover the eggs. If larger receptacles are wanted, small lard pails or large lard cans which have a tight cover can be used. These pails or cans should be coated inside with a warm solution of paraffin, and after the eggs are placed in them and the solution covers them the covers should be placed on tight and the edges sealed with paraffin. This prevents the evaporation of the solution which might expose the eggs to the air. After the receptacles are filled the eggs should be stored in a cool place.

Water glass sells at wholesale for 40 cents a gallon and at retail for 10 cents a pound, or about 25 cents a quart. The proportion used should be 10 parts of water to one of water glass. One gallon of this solution will cover six dozen eggs. By this manner eggs can be preserved at the cost of about one cent per dozen. The experiment stations find that eggs preserved in this way are superior to cold storage eggs, and we recommend a trial of this method by producers and consumers as being one that will give them a profit of 50 per cent upon the money invested. April eggs are the best for storage, although May eggs are just as good if the weather remains cool. The eggs should be as fresh as possible and clean, but they should not be washed unless it is necessary. If consumers desire a No. 1 quality of egg next winter at a reasonable price they will do well to store eggs in water glass this month.

To Whom It May Concern.

In July, 1913, while working in Flint, Michigan, I was surprised to have a warrant served on me on complaint of one Florence Tate, of Oscoda. I was taken to Tawas City, and lodged in jail, and was given what I suppose the authorities concerned called a "hearing" before Justice Tait. I was bound over to the Circuit Court for trial. The complainant was sent for, and in an interview with the Prosecuting Attorney he told me repeatedly, "You will marry this girl or go to prison." I paid a lawyer a big retaining fee to advise me and hunt up evidence to clear me of the charge, but he did absolutely nothing for me, because he said himself, "The Prosecuting Attorney told him not to." I was ignorant of the laws, a stranger in a strange land, and my own lawyer refused to help me, so, while protesting my innocence, I consented, UNDER THREATS and DURESS, to go through a ceremony with the girl, and thus, as I supposed, AVOID a prison sentence. I left her immediately, and have never acknowledged her as my wife. After the "ceremony" I was told I was free, although I HAD BEEN BOUND OVER TO THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR TRIAL, and, as I understand it, without an order from the Circuit Judge I could not thus be freed.

Realizing that I had been most unjustly dealt with, as soon as I was able I put the matter in the hands of a capable man, who has succeeded in establishing the following facts:

First.—The complaint itself was not only illegal, being made by a minor, but was a perjured paper, as on the day named in it I was not in Oscoda township, but in Bay City, which fact I can amply prove.

Second.—A marriage, in which a girl under 18 is a contracting party, CANNOT BE LEGALLY PERFORMED EXCEPT BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE, OR WITH HIS CONSENT. Act No. 243, laws of 1890—(Compiled laws 8604): "Marriages of persons under legal age can only be performed by, or upon permit of Judges of Probate in accordance with Act No. 180 of 1897, as amended, (compiled laws 8612).

Third.—A marriage made under duress, and because of threats of prosecution and imprisonment, is NOT A MARRIAGE, and does not even have to be annulled. It automatically annuls itself. See Sec. 8617, compiled laws. "In case of a marriage solemnized when either of the parties was under the age of legal consent, if they shall separate under such non-age, or in case the consent of one of the parties was obtained by force or fraud, the marriage shall be deemed void without any DECREE OF DIVORCE OR OTHER LEGAL PROCESS."

I have received advice on this subject from prominent judges and lawyers in the United States, as well as from his Majesty's counsel in England, and one and all agree that I AM NOT and NEVER HAVE BEEN A MARRIED MAN, either under United States laws, or those of Great Britain. I expect soon to return to the United States, where the English consul is awaiting consultation with me regarding steps I may take as a subject of King George of England to obtain satisfaction for the trouble, expense and humiliation I have been put to by over officious officials.

And in the meantime, please let it be understood that, unless the dictum of one little insignificant Prosecuting Attorney is superior not only to the opinion of prominent lawyers of Detroit, Chicago and London, but also to the laws of the United States and Great Britain, I AM NOT A MARRIED MAN.

Respectfully,
ARTHUR HYLTON,

TRYING TO WORK THE NEWS-PAPERS.

In common with the other newspaper publishers of Michigan, the editor received a letter this week from the Michigan state fair, which for pure, unadulterated nerve passes anything that has heretofore come to our notice. The following paragraph taken from this letter should arouse the editorial fraternity of Michigan to a protest which should open the eyes of the fair management to the fact that the newspapers of Michigan were not to be coerced into giving free publicity in unstinted quantity solely to influence the management toward giving them a goodly share of the advertising: "We propose to send you from now on—including the press story enclosed—free plates and reading notices about the fair and its happenings. We will, through our own press clipping bureau and other sources, keep a record of the papers using the reading matter. Those papers editorially in sympathy with the fair will be most favored in mapping out our advertising campaign. What do you think of it?"

In other words the management of the fair says to the publishers: "Gentlemen, unless you run all the free plate and press notices we send you, you will receive scant recognition when we come to allot our advertising." In this high-handed manner they expect to enlist the co-operation and good will of the newspapers, or at least to compel them to give the state fair all the free publicity that the management cares to ask for in the hope of receiving a few dollars from the appropriation made for legitimate advertising.

In past years the state fair has been the beneficiary of advertising from the state press to the amount of several times the sum received for paid advertising, and it looks like very poor policy to attempt to coerce their support by any such method as that proposed. The better way would be for the management of the fair to make their contracts for advertising first, apportioning it among the newspapers in a ratio corresponding with the service that could be given by each, and leave the matter of free publicity to the liberality of the publishers, who have heretofore exemplified their generosity in the matter. Under this plan the affair would not savor so much of compulsion, and the publishers would be much more ready to boost the fair in every way possible.

President Wilson's period of "watchful waiting" at last came to an end in a dramatic manner. The United States is again plunged into a war which will cost it dearly, both in money and in that which is far more valuable, the lives of many of its finest and best citizens. And when brought down to its final analysis, the pretext upon which our occupation of Mexican ports and the possible consequences, is based, is a mighty flimsy one. Hundreds of American citizens have been killed and mistreated during the revolution in Mexico without this government offering a protest, but immediately a little bunch of marines were arrested, even though they were at once released, the powers that be interested themselves in demanding amends for the "insult." However, now that the die is cast and actual hostilities begun, we believe that it is the duty of every American citizen to uphold the national honor and stand behind the men in power in any action which may be taken to settle the matter. It is regrettable that this country should be forced to take a hand in the Mexican imbroglio, but it may give the "Greasers" a more proper spirit of awe and respect for Uncle Sam if they receive a severe trouncing at his hands.

The lower house of congress, when the matter was forced to a roll call, voted to abolish the mileage system graft which has been in force ever since the old stage coach days, by which each member of congress collected 20 cents per mile when traveling to and from the national capital. The house bill provides that a member shall receive only actual expenses for themselves and immediate members of their families for one trip to and from Washington. Two Michigan congressmen, Cramton and Fordney, voted to retain the old system, being loath to give up this lucrative system of graft. The measure has now gone to the senate, but will not be acted upon by that body until the crisis over Mexican affairs is past. Another congressional graft which might well be abolished is the franking privilege, which has been one of the principal causes of deficits in the postoffice department in the years past.

A Study of the Backward Child is to be Taken Up.

A summer school for teachers of defective children has been announced to be held at Lapeer, beginning July 6th. A school of this kind has never before been attempted in the state. The board of supervisors of the new school is composed of Dr. H. A. Haynes of the Lapeer Home, Dr. C. S. Berry of the department of education, U. of M., State Superintendent F. L. Keeler, Frank Cody, assistant superintendent of the Detroit schools and the head of the work among the defective children of that city and C. C. Peck of Port Huron, member of the board of the Lapeer Home. According to the estimate of Miss Adele McKinnie, who has been conducting a survey, there are not less than 9,000 feeble-minded persons in the state. Some of these are enrolled in the public schools. Aside from this class are the thousands of higher mentality, but who are not fitted to work side by side with normal children. The disadvantage to the brighter child resulting from classification with those of lower mentality must be considered also.

The school of instruction is to be open to experienced teachers only and applicants will be required to have a certificate of recommendation from their local superintendent of schools. The Lapeer Home will form the laboratory for the work, and instruction will be given in the various forms of studies taught as well as in the psychology of defective children, tests for mental efficiency and other subjects needed for a thorough understanding of the work. The teachers trained in the school will be employed in the schools for defectives in various cities.

Wise and Otherwise.

Time to dig sassafras.
The department of agriculture is starting out to make farm houses better, though, of course, barns always have to be fixed up first.

Paradoxical as it may seem laboring men in the cities are quitting eating meat because they can't afford to pay the high prices, while the farmers are quitting raising cattle because they can't get enough for them to make it pay. What's the answer?

Get the Happy Habit.

I have no domestic troubles and no financial troubles to speak of. I am not in love with anybody's else's wife and nobody else's wife is in love with me. I have no tapeworm and I have not lost the recipe for rose beads, orange marmalade or peanut butter. No one has swindled me and my neighbors don't keep chickens or goats. I get along first rate with the whole bunch, and last of all, I have no fault to find with you. I am writing without special motive, except to say, 'Bully for you!' I thought it might be a pleasant surprise for you to get a letter of the other sort for a change from the eternal whine."

Thus runs a recent letter to an editor from a subscriber who ought to have a front seat in Heaven.

Do you want to know how it made him feel? Like a boy with his first pair of galluses, or a maiden with her first sweetheart. The sky had been murky, but it seemed as if the sun had suddenly burst through, flooding the earth with glory.

So shines a kind word in a naughty world.

Then he thought of the millions of walking grouches who go through life radiating discomfort upon their fellow workers, and he wondered what would be the effect if, on a given day at a set hour, every one of them could be converted into a glad hand jollier.

Kind words are really very cheap—we don't know of a thing that's cheaper and at the same time more valuable. They simply reflect a habit of mind. Why not get the habit?

Forest Notes.

China imports wood pulp from Great Britain, Sweden, Norway and Germany.

The highest mountain in Montana, Granite Peak, with an altitude of nearly 13,000 feet, is in the Beartooth national forest.

Norway has 144 tree planting societies. The first was founded in 1900, and since then 25,000,000 trees have been planted, more than 2,000,000 having been set out last year.

In many parts of the west snow is leaving the mountains earlier than usual. Foresters say that this may mean a bad fire season, and they are making plans for a hard campaign.

New Jersey is said to have the greatest proportion of railroad mileage of any state in the country, or one mile of railroad to every three square miles of territory. This makes an unusual risk of forest fires set by railroads.

The heavy storms in southern California during the past rainy season wiped out many miles of trails in the national forests in that part of the state. They are now being rebuilt for the coming summer for use in fire protection. They are also of great use to tourists, campers and prospectors.

Unemployed a Grave Social Problem.

America is awakening to a realization of the fact that she has a large standing army of unemployed—an army probably many times larger than the regular army of which the President of the United States is commander-in-chief. For those who march in this army there is no discrimination as to age, sex, physical, or mental condition. All are eligible. A majority of wage earners enter the ranks more or less frequently. In addition to this regular army of unemployed, which marches about the country in search of seasonal occupations, there are troops of volunteer recruits, which periodically swell its ranks.

The army of the unemployed is unorganized. Its companies are either not commanded or poorly commanded. It has some captains, but no generals. It is well known that a disorganized army, an army without an able commander, is a source not of security but of danger to a community in which it exists. The United States has quartered in every city, in every industrial community, her regular army of unemployed men, women and children, who are out of work at some season of the year. At times like the present when the army is swelled by the addition of those forced into the ranks, there is always a large number of volunteers ready for service, especially about the mess houses. They are the camp followers who capitalize a condition of abnormal unemployment.

The same men of this country have at last sighted this army. They are beginning to realize that its presence in our midst, disorganized and uncommanded, constitutes one of the greatest social problems which confront this country today. Statesmen and students, economists and wise business men, labor leaders and social workers everywhere, are demanding that this problem shall be stated clearly, that the facts in relation to it shall be gathered and analyzed, and that the solution for it must be found. They are insisting that America shall no longer lag behind the rest of the civilized world in this phase of its industrial organization.

In many aspects of industry the United States has caught up and overtaken her sisters across the water. She has studied to her advantage the experience of European countries. She has taken the best which they have to offer and has made it better. But in the matter of dealing with her men and women out of work she has failed lamentably. With the experience of Germany before her, with England to stimulate her, with little Denmark clearly pointing the way, America has stood deaf, dumb and blind to the presence of this great social problem.

To be sure a few of the more intelligent states, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and Oregon, have made creditable beginnings, not simply in stating the problem, but in finding a solution for it. The larger communities, however, the most wealthy cities, the big industrial centers which command the ablest talent in most every phase of life, are just reaching the stage of awareness that a problem exists.—American Review of Reviews for April.

State-Wide Observance of Arbor Day is Being Urged.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction F. L. Keeler is co-operating with Mrs. Henry Hulst, president of the M. S. T. A. in urging that a special effort be made by schools and communities toward a more beautiful state. The State Highway Commissioner and those in authority in the various state institutions are assisting. It is desired that the day be celebrated by communities and not by the schools alone. School premises and all roads throughout the state should be improved and beautified. Provision is made by statute for using one-tenth of the road repair tax for planting. Public-spirited citizens, various clubs and associations are urged to take up the work.

NOT ONLY SWAT BUT STARVE THE FLY.

A YEAR ago the "Swat the fly" slogan had a country wide vogue, and as a result probably billions of flies were swatted. But because of the enormous capacity of flies for multiplication—a single pair may produce billions of their kind—there did not seem to be a very appreciable diminution in the total number.

The wiser slogan "Starve the fly!" has been adopted this year, and the only means of starving the insect is by allowing it nothing on which to feed. Filth is its food, and not only should the city streets be kept clear of it and the vacant lots not be made the convenient dumping grounds for every kind of refuse, but every corner of a closet or cellar or kitchen should be cleared of its insanitary accumulations.

The most productive breeding places of the disease carrying fly are garbage cans, cuspidors and manure. To keep a large city absolutely clean with respect to these is no small task, but by the interested and intelligent cooperation of the municipal authorities and the citizens generally the danger of disease from flies can be reduced to a minimum.

Arbor and Bird Day

A Proclamation by the Governor

ONE of my dearest memory pictures is father sitting in the cooling shade of a beautiful pine that he and I planted long years ago. The sweet, plaintive music of this tree comes back to me in moments of solitude. Trees are real friends of man, beast and bird. In recent years we have come to realize this.

It is hoped that Americans will acquire enthusiasm in preserving useful and beautiful trees in both city and country, that they will plant every year useful and beautiful trees by the roadside, in school yards, about their homes, in parks and farm fields.

Let us cherish a loyalty and love for our feathered songsters; yes, a tender regard for the birds who can't sing, birds that destroy in the aggregate millions of destructive insects. The economic and aesthetic value of bird life is beyond calculation. The hearts of boys and girls and "grown ups" become more human, more helpful, as they come to read aright the Creator's message in the lives of trees and birds.

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate Friday, May 8th, A. D. 1914, as Arbor and Bird Day, and do request that this day be observed by all schools, public and private, and other educational institutions, by the planting of trees for beautifying school grounds and parks, and by conducting suitable exercises for promoting the spirit of protection to trees and birds.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this first day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Commonwealth, the seventy-eighth.

[SEAL]

By the Governor:

FREDERICK C. MARTINDALE,

Secretary of State.

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS,

Governor.

ANNOUNCEMENT

OTHER THAN ORDINARY

MR. ED. T. PIERSON, formerly in the employ of C. H. Prescott & Sons, has returned to Tawas City, and is now a part owner in the Hardware Department, the last of the mercantile interests of the Prescotts in Tawas. MR. PIERSON has made a study of Sanitary Plumbing and has had a great deal of city experience in this line. He is also skilled in Sheet Metal Work, Steam and Hot Air Heating. He will devote the best part of his time to caring for this work in the Tawas and surrounding towns.

What This Means to Iosco County at Large

Here is a company in your own county with the skill and financial ability to do any size job of Plumbing, Steam or Hot Air Heating, that may be wanted. It is a HOME COMPANY, which will guarantee all its work and give you prompt service in new work and repairs. It will give you better service for less money than you have been getting from outside shops. Now if you have any kind of a job, large or small, just notify C. H. Prescott & Sons and they will look to your wants. This means any kind of a job in Plumbing, Heating, Eave Troughing or kindred work.

THE HARDWARE STORE

will be conducted as before with L. H. Braddock in charge of the Shelf and Heavy Hardware and Builders' Supplies. Mr. Braddock has been in charge of the store for fourteen years, raising its standing from a small stock to the largest and most varied in the county. This store is usually able to furnish from stock any standard article of hardware used in this locality. It competes successfully with mail order houses in Windows, Doors, Sheet Metal and Felt Roofings, etc., etc.

A large stock of Cement, Plaster, Lime, Brick, Tile, Flue Linings, Beaver Board, Neponset Board, Mastic Wall Board, Sacket Plaster Board, Mouldings, and sundry articles of this class are always on hand. No other store for sixty miles each way attempts to stock such material.

Thanking you for your liberal patronage in the past and soliciting a portion of your future trade, we are

Last Saturday afternoon the barns belonging to Barney Long were entirely consumed by fire. There being a high wind blowing, it was impossible to save anything. The loss is a severe one on John Rapp, jr., who has the farm rented, having lost all his farm machinery, buggies, tools, hay and grain, also three fine calves. It is thought the fire was set from a traction engine which was working a road grader.

Mine Production of Copper and Silver in Michigan in 1913.

The production of copper from ore mined in Michigan during 1913 was 135,853,409 pounds, having a value of $21,057,278, the copper being calculated as of an average value of 15.5 cents a pound, according to returns received by B. S. Butler of the United States Geological Survey. The mine output was much smaller than the smelter production, as considerable material mined and milled previous to 1913 was smelted during the year. The production compares with an output of 218,138,408 pounds in 1912, valued at $35,992,837. The great decrease in output by the mines was due to the labor troubles, which began on July 23, and continued for the rest of the year. The output of all mines was greatly reduced in the latter half of the year, and several mines were not operated after July 23. The mines produced 7,016,307 tons of ore with an average copper recovery of 19.36 pounds to the ton, compared with 11,411,941 tons of ore in 1912, with an average copper recovery of 19.1 pounds to the ton.
In addition to copper the mines produced 295,173 ounces of silver in 1913, compared with 528,423 ounces in 1912.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Some of the Superior Points of ROYAL FENCE

Royal Fence is made of heavy wires which resist corrosion longer than small wires, and on account of the larger surface will admit of a better coat of galvanizing.
The upright or stay wires are locked to the horizontal wires by the famous "Royal Loop," without cutting the stay wires.
The wire used in Royal Fence is thoroughly galvanized by the most modern process.
Royal Fence will yield to contraction and expansion in hot and cold weather, and will stretch over uneven ground.
Royal Fence is made of hard, springy steel of a special grade selected for the purpose after years of experience in the use of fence under varying conditions.
The stay or upright wires are continuous from top to bottom, secured to the horizontal wires by the Royal loop, the whole forming a fabric of greatest strength and ample flexibility—the best of the continuous stay fences.
Royal Fence has big wire construction. In specifications No. 1 both top and bottom bars are No. 9, intermediate No. 11 and stays No. 11. Large wires are better than small ones; they are stronger more serviceable and longer lived.
Royal Fence is adapted for every farm use, as well as for ranch, parks, gardens and poultry yards. Every inch of it has the service quality.
