D. & M. Takes AuSable Road.

The report that the Detroit & Mackinac Railway Company will take over the AuSable & Northwestern Railroad, which it has operated under an option for the last two years, on June 1, is verified. The road was built by H. M. Loud's Lumber company years ago, and extends from AuSable in a northwesterly direction to Comins, Oscoda county. It is a narrow gauge road, having 60 miles of main line track and 15 miles of siding. It traverses a very fertile section of country, the most of which can be converted into excellent farms.

The Loud company has still about 50,000,000 feet of mixed standing timber tributary to this road, and a large quantity of cedar timber. Bruce Loud operated cedar camps on this road last winter and put in a considerable quantity of this timber. Other parties also own scattering lots of timber in that section. It is understood that it is the intention of the purchasers of this road to convert it into a standard gauge, which will enable the handling of fresh products without reshipment, and the timber owned by the Loud company and others can be cut and railed direct to Bay City.

The road will be a valuable acquisition to the Detroit & Mackinac line, and will furnish this company a large volume of business for years to come.—Michigan Investor.

Forest Notes.

Nearly 4,000 acres were reforested in Montana and northern Idaho during 1913, at an average cost of $7.50 an acre.

The best forested area of China is in Manchuria. The principal tree varieties are pine, cedar, larch, birch, yew, oak, ash, elm, walnut and birch.

Gannett Peak, Wyoming, nearly 14,000 feet in elevation, and the highest mountain in the state, is on the divide between the Bonneville and Bridger national forests.

Two forest officers, in Washington and Oregon, are writing popular descriptions of the trees on the Crater and Mt. Rainier national parks for the use of visitors to the parks.

In northern Arizona, Utah, Nevada, southern Idaho and western Wyoming, the fires on national forests set by campers have decreased in four years from nearly a third to approximately one-fifth. Lightning fires have increased from less than one-fourth to nearly one-half. The relatively larger proportion from lightning, however, is due partly to decrease in other causes.

W. H. Flynn Replies to Editor McGillivray.

Editor William McGillivray, of the Oscoda Press, criticised Iosco county Progressives in his newspaper, April 10, to which a good-natured rejoinder was made by Richard G. Hartingh. Again, April 24, Mr. McGillivray thought best to continue discussion, although he ought scarcely to expect to both open and close remarks, addressing himself to the public twice to the other fellow's once, especially if he shall introduce new argument in closing, to which opportunity for reply has not been offered.

Mr. Hartingh is personally mentioned by the editor, therefore his friends, observing claims of fellowship, respond in behalf of Mr. Hartingh as well as for the Progressives as a body.

Mr. McGillivray, in his newspaper, has apologized for what he characterizes as "inelegant" language used in his criticism. His was not a serious infraction of propriety, although many consider it questionable. Nevertheless, since the apology seems to carry with it assurance against repetition, generous people should accept the apology.

The editor based criticism of the Progressives upon April elections in precincts in Iosco county, which he interpreted as indicating party strength, but he has undergone complete reversal of attitude during these two weeks, now declaring that township elections do not indicate party strength, because "in township and ward elections party politics practically cut no figure."

This last view is the correct one, although it capsize Mr. McGillivray's previous contention as urged against the Progressives, and it may be inferred that it would not have been admitted at all excepting in defense of Republicanism in Iosco, in which connection it was used. Therefore, his justice was an oversight and quite unintended. Had Mr. McGillivray held to this view at the outset he would have obviated making public apology and escaped self-indictment on a charge of misstatement of election indications with whatever of humiliation may justly attach thereto. While township elections do not indicate party strength as Mr. McGillivray now frankly admits, Progressive tickets in local precincts increased five to one this spring over any previous year, and to thoughtful men this is not without significance, in view that a county ticket will ensue.

Editor McGillivray mentions that "R. G. Hartingh took part in the Republican convention of Tawas City."

True, a fact the more fatal to the editor's position, for it is entirely within the probabilities that three-fifths of the voters in Republican caucuses this spring were and now are rock-ribbed Progressives, the attitude of Mr. Hartingh being a direct case in point. In every precinct where Progressives laid aside party, as Mr. McGillivray and the Republicans did in Oscoda, Progressives took part in whatever caucuses were held exactly as Editor McGillivray did.

The editor capitalizes, without citation, criticism of Progressive strength by a Detroit reporter. This is of doubtful value to the fact seeker. Greater food for thought is contained in Peter Clark MacFarlane's national review in a January Collier's, page one. After 25,000 miles travel over the United States, crossing the continent twice each way in search of first-hand evidence, this journalist pays tribute to the Progressives and refers to the Republican party as follows: "Respect for its local adherents, but for its remains a wraith and a mausoleum—its days are done." And Mr. MacFarlane is not a comparatively unknown reporter of a local paper who is obliged to serve the political policy of his paper to escape involuntary retirement from the staff. Even Mr. MacFarlane may have overstated the situation, but if he did it was not because of lack of opportunity for searching and thorough investigation.

As to reason for Progressive strength in Iosco, it is because the National Progressive platform embodies the ideals of government cherished for 20 years by 85 per cent of the people of Iosco and of the nation. It is the thoughtful citizens' declaration of principles, while others are largely the political disciplines of illegal and unfair commercialism, running unbridled and riotously in governmental affairs to the direct detriment of the people as a whole and to the individual citizen as a unit.

Every worthy reason beckons all voters of progressive tendencies to assemble in one organization and the rightful place for all reactionaries is in another organization. Then let right and wrong grapple and let no man fear that right will not give a good account.

And with the co-operation of Mr. McGillivray, for whom we confess profound respect, possibly the Progressives will be content to close this friendly exchange of opinion.

WILLIAM H. FLYNN,
For the Iosco National Progressive Club.

Lower Country School Attendance Where Roads Are Bad.

While it is true that various factors contribute to increase or decrease the attendance at schools in given sections of the country it is worthy of comment that in the states having a high percentage of improved roads a much larger percentage of the students enrolled regularly attend the schools than in the states having a small percentage of improved roads.

In five eastern and western states which have a large mileage of improved roads the average attendance of enrolled pupils in 1908-9 was 80 per cent, while in four southern states and one northwestern state, which are noted for bad roads, the average attendance for the same year was 64 per cent—80 per cent in the good roads states as against 64 per cent in the bad roads states. In the states first named 35 per cent of the roads have been improved, while in the latter group of states there are only 1 1/2 per cent of roads improved.

That improved roads would benefit our country school system there would seem to be no doubt. Improved roads make it possible to consolidate or centralize the schools and to establish graded schools in the rural districts. Such schools centrally located will accommodate all of the children within a radius of from four to five miles. In many communities having the advantage of improved roads commodious buildings have been provided, more competent teachers have been employed, and modern facilities for teaching have been supplied at a minimum cost. For instance, since the improvement of the main highways in Durham county, N. C., the number of school houses have been reduced from 65 to 42, of which 17 are graded and have two or more rooms and employ two or more teachers.

There are at the present time about 2,000 consolidated rural schools in the United States. It appears that Massachusetts, Ohio and Indiana have made the greatest progress along these lines, and it is rather significant to note that in these states about one third of the roads have been improved. According to statistics of the agricultural department there was expended in 1899 $22,116 in Massachusetts for the conveyance of pupils in consolidated districts, but in 1908 the expenditure for this purpose amounted to $292,213.

In Indiana the expenditure for this purpose in 1904 amounted to $86,000, while in 1908, $290,000 was expended. This expenditure for transportation reflects, in a general way, the extent and progress of this new educational movement. It must not be understood that this is an additional burden, as the expenditure thus made is saved in other directions, that is by the decrease in the number of schools and economy in their operation.

In Indiana, Massachusetts, Ohio and other states the one-room, one-teacher schools are being replaced by central school houses, with a half-dozen rooms and as many teachers. Wagons are sent out every day to gather up the children and to take them home again in the evening. All of the children within a radius of several miles are thus provided with the most modern school facilities. In some of these schools courses in manual training, agriculture and home economics have been introduced, scientific apparatus utilized, and teachers having special qualifications and training employed.

The Truth About Arthur Hylton.

During the past two weeks certain items marked "advertising" have appeared in the Iosco County Gazette, one of which was signed with the letter "C." In the last issue of the Herald an article appeared, bearing the name of Arthur Hylton. If the person who caused these items to be printed had signed his name I would have made no reply in any way, either to the charges against me, or the insults therein, for the reason that Howard C. Bristol has a well established reputation in Iosco county for just such disreputable work, and I have neither the time or money to waste in entering into a newspaper discussion with such a man. The Herald article was carefully written, as it intimates that I forced Arthur Hylton to marry Florence Tate, but does not exactly say so.

Now, at the outset, I want to brand every statement and charge against me, as well as others, as plain and unvarnished lies, because the facts are intentionally misstated, and the law cited did not apply to the true facts. Official records are public records, and any interested person can verify the following:

The dockets of the Prosecuting Attorney and of John W. Tait, Justice, and the records of the County Clerk show that on July 12, 1913, a complaint was made to Justice Tait by Florence Tate, against Arthur Hylton, for rape on her, Florence Tate, she then being under 16 years of age, and a warrant was properly issued at once and served. That on July 15th Arthur Hylton was arraigned and his examination set for July 19th, and he afterwards employed Charles A. Jahraus as his attorney, who, I have every reason to believe, counselled with him carefully and advised him that if he could get the girl's consent to marriage with him that the prosecution could proceed no further. The matter was taken up with me, and I told them I would neither give my consent to the marriage nor could I legally prevent it. The matter was then taken up with Florence Tate and her mother, and, after consideration, Florence Tate decided to marry Arthur Hylton, and he (Hylton) procured a marriage license properly from the County Clerk, who was legally allowed to issue such a license, because at that particular time Florence Tate was past 16 years of age. The marriage ceremony was performed by John W. Tait, and the witnesses to the ceremony were Ernest Chase, under-sheriff, and Charles A. Jahraus, attorney for Hylton.

This marriage was not coerced, or forced by me at any time or in any way. It was sought by Hylton in order that he might save himself from a term of imprisonment for rape. The greatest care was used by me in the consideration of this case, from the beginning, and when the complaint was made to me originally, I told Florence Tate that it would be necessary that I be furnished with a certificate from a reputable physician that her condition was as she stated. This certificate was furnished me by Dr. Crane of Tawas City, who certified that the facts were as stated by Florence Tate. I had no personal interest that would prompt me in advising Hylton to marry this girl. In fact, I would rather have seen him prosecuted for his crime. He had admitted his guilt to me, and it could have been easily proven, so that there was no object for me to force or compel him to marry.

After the ceremony Hylton promised all of the parties present that he would take care of this girl and provide for her properly. He went to Flint, and she later went there. He never lived with her, but he did pay her expenses for a time. A child was born, and later Hylton deserted this girl, and she returned to her mother in Oscoda, where the child took sick and died. All of the expenses incident thereto were paid by the family of Florence Tate, and since that time Hylton has remained out of the country. Should he return here at any time he may be prosecuted, either for desertion and abandonment of his wife and child, now dead, or on the other hand, if for any reason the marriage was not legal, the original charge of rape may be prosecuted. Consequently there is no danger of Hylton's return to this country at all. That is merely a bluff.

Howard C. Bristol, who is the adviser of Hylton, ought to know the law relative to cases of this kind very thoroughly, but experience does not always teach, and if there are any further statements published in Iosco county papers by Mr. Bristol that are untrue, more reference will be made as to Mr. Bristol.

Now, as to Hylton. If he is really going to return to Michigan, or the United States, I would seriously suggest that he bring with him the prominent judges and lawyers in the United States who have advised him, as well as His Majesty's counsel in England, British consul and others. In fact he had better bring King George with him also, because he certainly will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, insofar as I am able to prosecute him, if he does return.

The whole purpose of these attacks on me is political. Mr. Bristol is not a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney himself, but seeks to attack me for the purpose of attempting to injure my reputation, to assist some opponent of mine, because it is well known that I am a candidate for re-election, and I leave the question to the respectable citizens of this county relative to any official act of mine while in office. To support my statement that not one single act on my part was wrongfully done in the Hylton case I have secured the certificate of the parties signed below.

ALBERT W. BLACK,
We, the undersigned parties, having a full and complete knowledge of the details regarding the marriage of Florence Tate to Arthur Hylton in Iosco county on July 19, 1913, say that Albert W. Black, Prosecuting Attorney, did not in any way, shape or manner coerce or compel Arthur Hylton to marry Florence Tate, and that said marriage was not entered into by Arthur Hylton under duress or threats of any kind, and that all statements to the contrary are false.

OUR MOTHERS, GOD BLESS THEM.
In his proclamation naming Sunday, May 10, as Mother's Day, Governor Ferris pays a beautiful and deserved tribute to the mothers of the nation. He says:
"The mother is the queen of the home and the home is the ante-room to Heaven. Industry, thrift, honesty, self-sacrifice, sobriety, virtue, sympathy and love are fostered in the home. The home is the bulwark of our glorious nation. Every influence that stimulates the founding of homes adds to the nobility of manhood and womanhood.
"Breaking Home Ties" is one of the most pathetic, yet one of the most beautiful pictures in the world of art. The boy or girl bidding good-bye to father and mother, receives a holy benediction that can never escape memory. Out of the shadows and out of the sunshine comes mother's face, mother's voice, mother's love.
On Mother's Day, I urge every boy, every girl, every man, every woman in Michigan to pay a tribute of love and devotion to the living mother. Just read her last letter once more, then write her a joyful letter telling her of your loyalty and abiding love. On the grave of the sleeping mother scatter flowers mingled with your tears.
Yes, the greatness and glory of a nation is in the hands of the mothers.

It is a beautiful illustration of American sentiment that the day which was first observed by one lone, sorrowing woman in memory of her departed mother, should now be universally and officially recognized throughout the whole nation. The significance of this tribute to the mothers of the nation should be a source of thought to those "advanced women" who are struggling for equal suffrage, and to those less commendable women who are promoting the "feminist" movement, to the total neglect of their higher privileges as mothers.
The patriotism, political honor and civic spirit of any nation lies almost entirely in the hands of its mothers. In moulding the minds and conscience of the future citizens and governors of the body politic they can accomplish the greatest service that is given to anyone to perform. All honor to those devoted, self-sacrificing women who are not carried away by the isms of the present day, but devote the best part of their lives to bringing up their children to be true and honorable citizens and a credit to the unremitting care of the mother.

The Herald editor has been considerably amused the past week or two at the efforts of a certain would-be politician, who for the present shall be nameless, to influence public sentiment against the Herald because this paper was instrumental in showing up some of his nefarious dealings a short time ago. In a paper, ostensibly addressed to the editor of the Herald, but which we have never seen, he asks why we do not publish certain statements against a public official whose position this small-fry politician would like to usurp. As a matter of fact, we would want other evidence that the statements were true than the mere word of a man whose business dealings are questionable and who resorts to backbiting to further his schemes. It is also suspected that this excuse for a man was behind the publication of the article which appeared in last week's Herald, as he would stop at nothing which would advance the interests of his nefarious schemes. In this connection, the Herald editor wishes to announce that hereafter no communications will be accepted unless signed by some responsible local person, instead of a foreigner who has no interest in local affairs. We also wish to serve warning on the above mentioned back-biter that if he persists in his slanderous attacks we shall have something further to say about his questionable methods, and we shall not be so chary of mentioning names.

The department of Public Instruction is desirous of being of the most possible service to the school districts of Michigan. If you are planning to erect a school building and desire to submit your plans for inspection, we will be more than glad to give them attention. Proper lighting, ventilation and arrangement are most important matters, and there are certain scientific principles which should be followed. It costs no more to build scientifically and means a great deal to the health and efficiency of the children who attend your school. If submitted to us your plans will receive attention at the hands of persons who know the scientific principles of school house construction, and they might be able by suggestions to aid you materially. There will be no charge for this service.

What Constitutes a Standard School.
The state of Michigan has a compulsory attendance law which requires every child between the ages of 7 and 16 to attend school every day during the time that school is taught in the district. The state, however, has no control over a district in the matter of school plants. Most of the country school buildings are very faulty in matters of heat, light, ventilation and sanitation. It would seem only fair that inasmuch as the state compels every child to go to school that he should have reasonable decent quarters. The purpose of this note is to tell you of a plan to create a standard school.

If every school board in Michigan will so arrange its plans that they will conform to the specifications hereinafter described the superintendent of Public Instruction will designate the school as a standard school. He will, with the County Commissioner, inspect the plant, and if the plant fulfills our requirements, he will put on the front of the building a metal tablet that can be seen by all who pass. This tablet will bear the words "STANDARD SCHOOL." He will also give to the school a framed diploma to be hung inside the building, which states that this particular school has been awarded the distinguished honor of being put in the standard school class, this distinction to be taken away if the school falls below the requirements. The requirements for the standard school are as follows:

- YARD AND OUTBUILDINGS.
1. Ample grounds of at least one acre.
  2. Some trees and shrubs tastefully arranged.
  3. Good approaches to the house.
  4. Two well kept, widely separated out houses.
  5. Suitable room or place for fuel.
- THE SCHOOL HOUSE.
1. House well built, in good repair and painted.
  2. Good foundation.
  3. Well lighted, with some attention to proper lighting.
  4. Attractive interior decorations.
  5. Good blackboards, some suitable for small children.
  6. Heated with room heater and ventilator in corner, or basement furnace which brings clean air in through the furnace and removes foul air from room.
  7. Hardwood floor, and interior clean and tidy.

- FURNISHINGS AND SUPPLIES.
1. Desks suitable for children of all ages, properly placed.
  2. Good teacher's desk.
  3. Good bookcases.
  4. A good collection of juvenile books suitable as aids to school work as well as for general reading.
  5. Set of good maps, a globe, dictionary, sanitary drinking facilities.
- THE ORGANIZATION.
1. School well organized, especially as to grades.
  2. Classification and daily register well kept.
  3. Definite program of recitation and study.
  4. Attendance regular.
  5. At least eight months of school.
  6. Discipline good.

THE TEACHER.

1. Education: The equivalent of a country normal course or of a four year high school course.
2. Must receive at least $360 per annum.
3. Ranked by the County Commissioner as a good or superior teacher.
4. Must attend institutes and all teachers' meetings.

These requirements are by no means severe, and most of them are vitally necessary as far as the health and efficiency of the children are concerned. A child spends from four to six hours each school day inside the school room, more waking hours than he spends in any one room in his home. Unless the room is thoroughly warmed, unless it is supplied constantly with fresh, pure air, unless it is well lighted, unless comfortable seats and desks of the proper size for the individual are provided, unless the room can be kept clean, unless the pupils can drink without a risk of contamination, the health of the children in that school is being menaced. A good teacher is vital, but she must have proper equipment in order to do effective work, and a well-selected school library is one of the most important essentials.

WORKING AND SHIRKING.
A grasshopper met a bee in a field of clover and the grasshopper said: "I've brought my fiddle along with me, come let us dance." But the bee said, "I am storing for the winter. I like your fiddle, but living here I must think of days that are colder."
The grasshopper laughed and began playing on his fiddle, and butterflies came dancing in a ring around him.
The bee liked dancing, but he never gave them a look, but stored away for the winter, and felt that pleasures were coming. The flowers were freezing, and the birds were all going to the south.
The wind came and the days grew short and dark. The berries and flowers were all frozen up. The fiddler and dancer were all frozen and in their graves, while the little bee was wise and merry.

Child Cross? Feverish? Sick?
A cross, peevish, listless child, with coated tongue, pale—doesn't sleep—eats sometimes very little, then again ravenously; stomach sour; breath fetid; pains in stomach, with diarrhea; grinds teeth while asleep, and starts up with terror—all suggest a Worm Killer—something that expels worms and almost every child has them. Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed. Get a box today. Start at once. You won't have to coax, as Kickapoo Worm Killer is a candy confection. Expels the worms, the cause of your child's trouble. 25c. News was received this week of the death of the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Barnum of Detroit. Both children died from a combination of measles and pneumonia, and both died the same day, Sunday, April 20. Ira Elton Barnum was 3 years old and his sister, Lilah May, was 1 year old. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends and former neighbors in this vicinity.
