If you are one year or more in arrears on your subscription to the Herald, better pay up before July 1. As previously announced we will after that date discontinue sending the paper to those who are not paid up within one year. If the paper is worth reading it is worth paying for and we cannot afford to send it to those who will not pay for it, even if the postoffice department would allow us to do so.

An unclean mouth breeds disease, and one way to wipe out disease is to prevent it. A clean mouth harbors no material for germs to grow and multiply in, thus turning your mouth into an incubator. Let Dr. Carson clean those teeth and fill those cavities. Then take a good stiff brush and some paste and scrub your teeth white. Don't advertise disease by the exhibition of an unclean mouth. See Dr. Carson now. Phone 44-L. adv.

Married, at the Zion Lutheran parsonage, by Rev. Reithmeier, on Wednesday evening, June 17, Edward Moeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moeller of this city, and Miss Meta Anschuetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anschuetz of East Tawas. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, at which only the relatives and close friends were present. The many friends of the young couple in the Tawas will join with the Herald in wishing them a long and happy married life.

Every line in a newspaper costs the proprietor something. If it is for the benefit of the individual it should be paid for. If the grocer were asked to contribute groceries to one abundantly able to pay for them he would refuse. The proprietor of the newspaper must pay for the free advertising if the beneficiary does not, and yet it is one of the hardest things to be learned by many that a newspaper has space to rent in its columns and must rent them to live. To give away space for anything less than cost of production is fatal to a newspaper.

Circuit Court News.

The June session of circuit court convened Monday. The first three days of the term were consumed in trying the case of Arthur Hylton, charged with wife desertion and abandonment. The case was given to the jury Thursday morning and they returned a verdict of guilty, requiring only a few minutes to reach their decision. Viewed from an impartial standpoint this case was tried strictly upon its merits and no other verdict would have been possible after hearing the testimony. Prosecuting Attorney Black deserves great commendation for the manner in which he handled the case for the people, the testimony being presented in a manner which was incontrovertible. Attorney Carl C. Rogner of Saginaw ably conducted the case for the defense, but his was a losing fight from the beginning. Hylton will probably get his sentence today or tomorrow.

The case of Tobias Londo vs. David Londo was the next on the docket and was tried Thursday, a verdict being rendered by the jury for the plaintiff, damages to the amount of six cents and costs being assessed. A. W. Black was attorney for the plaintiff and F. F. French for the defendant.

The case of LaBerge vs. Schriber was the last case on the docket to be tried at this term of court. At the time we go to press (Thursday evening) the case is nearly ready to go to the jury and court will probably adjourn Friday forenoon.

Chautauqua Season Ticket a Good Investment.

One of the most careful buyers among our successful business men was heard to say the other day that he considered a Chautauqua season ticket "a good buy." When asked for an explanation he picked up from his desk one of the beautiful souvenir booklets containing the program and announcement of our coming Chautauqua. He said, "I have read this very carefully. I have decided that I want to attend every session and hear every number on the program. It all seems too good to miss. Now if I pay 25 cents each afternoon and 35 cents each evening for admission it would cost me a total of $3.00. By purchasing a season ticket I am not bothered by any delay or change making at the gate. I am ready for any or all sessions, and it only costs me $1.50. This is an immediate saving of one-half. My wife and I can both have season tickets at the price single admissions would cost one of us. Furthermore," said he, "you will notice these tickets are transferable. Now that means that if I am prevented by some circumstance from attending any session of the program I can give my ticket to some worthy person, and have the satisfaction of doing a favor." As he turned to wait on a customer this far-sighted business man remarked, "You can depend upon it I am going to use that ticket to the limit. Somebody is going to ride in on it every time the tent is open."

It occurs to us that the logic of this shrewd business man is irresistible and worthy of following. The call for season tickets is gratifying the promoters of our Chautauqua, and the outlook is very flattering. We would advise our citizens to purchase now, as the season tickets in the hands of the committee can be sold by them for $1.50, but if purchased of the Chautauqua management the regular price is $1.75. The good purchaser buys at the right time and the right place. Do it now!

"Send the Message Early"—Sure!

One of our near-by merchants, who sometimes uses the Herald as an advertising medium, sent us recently a clipping from one of his trade papers, in which the publication of the weekly newspaper on Friday is criticised, the claim being that many times the papers published on this day do not reach their readers in time to be of benefit to the merchants for the Saturday trade.

The reason given for this is that the papers are not put in the mails early enough to go out on the rural routes Friday morning, and the readers do not receive them until Saturday. This assertion may be true as regards some papers, but in the case of the Herald it has no foundation whatever. During the year just passed, during which the present proprietor has been in possession of the Herald, there has been but one week when the papers were not ready for the rural carriers on Thursday evening. Sometimes the office force has been obliged to work late, even into the wee sma' hours, to accomplish this, but it has been accomplished nevertheless.

In the case of the Whittemore and Turner rural routes, the readers of the paper on those routes do not receive the paper until Saturday. But even so, most farmers do not go to town until Saturday afternoon or evening, and therefore have time to get their paper and look it over for any special bargains for that day.

If we thought it would be of any benefit to our steady advertisers, and would result in an increased business to us, we would willingly move our publication day a day ahead. However, late as it is now, there are some advertisers who wait until Thursday to get their copy to us, and then expect the paper to get out on time. If one advertiser was all we had to deal with this might work all right, but where a number of them wait until the latest possible minute, the result is an overplus of work just when the forms should be on the press, and consequent overtime on the part of the working force. If every advertiser and correspondent would plan on getting their matter to us a little earlier, we could then arrange to give all our readers their paper on Friday, but under present conditions it is not possible to do so.

For a New Passenger Depot at Tawas City.

Jas. Ballard, Editor Tawas Herald.
Dear Sir:—Would you kindly submit the following proposition as a starting point to secure for our city a new passenger depot?

Believing the lot opposite the Michigan Cereal Co.'s elevator as desirable a location as possible to secure, and it being customary to present a building site when such improvement was desired, will offer for the purpose named the lot at $175. Have paid more than $225 for the same lot and putting it into its present fine condition.

Further will raise $25.00 outside of the Tawas to contribute toward building a passenger depot that will reflect credit upon our city as a public institution and be a benefit to everybody for miles around, whether located at Hamilton's or Whittemore's crossing, or the site mentioned.

Would be pleased to hear from others.
L. H. EMERSON.

Where Are the Half-Pints?

The half gallon measure most commonly used by housewives when sending for syrup, molasses, vinegar, etc., is probably the two-quart, so-called, fruit can, put out by Ball Bros. Mfg. Co. These for years have been considered a standard half-gallon measure, and always the careful housewife has felt that when she used one she had her money's worth. In northern Michigan they are used in large numbers for putting up maple syrup and sell for a full half gallon.

Recently this department had occasion to suspect that these, like some other things on the market, were a little shy, and several tests were made, resulting in the discovery that these cans are just one-half pint short, or one pint to the gallon. Look back through all the long years and make a rough estimate of the half-pints of vinegar, molasses, syrup, etc., for which you have paid, but which, alas, were never yours.

A letter from Ball Bros. states that they are making these cans the same as for the past thirty years, and that they have been called "one-half gallon!" Shakespeare would have found that in this day and age there is something "in a name." In this case dollars and cents for the dealer and an equal loss to the buyer.

Can that be so!
Here is something else to think about: The big packing houses are wrapping their hams and bacon in heavy paper and selling them to local dealers with the paper weighed in. This runs from two to eight ounces to the piece, or as the department was informed by one butcher, about four pounds of paper to 110 pounds of meat. In the past many charges have been made against the large packers for illegal practices, but this is one of the smoothest skin games (literally and figuratively) yet worked. The local dealer should weigh the paper and deduct the amount from his bill. Then the packers would soon save him that trouble.

BURR B. LINCOLN,
Deputy State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

P. S.—Since writing the above we have received a letter from Ball Bros. Glass Mfg. Co., in which they state that they have decided to change the molds of their one-half gallon jars to full size. We are very glad they decided to do this without further trouble, but if you send a fruit jar to the store to be filled be very sure it holds the required amount.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSE and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

Vanquished.

Tawas City lost their first game of the season last Sunday to East Tawas, after winning from them by a heavy score the week before.

Mart Schollar is the chief reason for Tawas City's few runs, only four hits being garnered off him, while Tawas City's six errors gave East Tawas four of their five runs.

Three hits in succession, one of which was due to a case of sleepiness, gave East Tawas their only earned run. Had our boys batted up to form they would have won in spite of the six errors.

Clarence Moore made one of the prettiest stops and throws ever seen in this vicinity, while Musolf, in his first game on third, played the sack like a veteran. Cadorette got a pretty catch in deep left off Moore's bat.

One good thing about our losing is the fact that the fans who can stand nothing but a "win every game" season, have been shown up, while we are glad to have the fans with us who keep cheering on because we are Tawas City, and are doing our level best to win—because we can't win them all.

We play Alabaster on our grounds next Sunday. Come out and see us do it.

Federals vs. Alabaster.

The newly-organized Tawas City Federals played their first game of ball of the season last Sunday against Alabaster. A good crowd witnessed the game, which was well contested, but which was won by the visiting team by a score of 9 to 6. The battery for the Federals was Brabant, Pfeiffer and Crandall. Alabaster, Baker and Martin. A game is scheduled for next Sunday with the Meadow Road team.

A big Fourth of July celebration will be held at Sand Lake. Ball games, and sports of all kinds. Refreshment stands. Ice for sale on ground. Anyone wishing to put up a bowery may do so by permission of owner. Everybody invited. adv-26-pd

Michigan Agricultural College Extends Service.

People of the state of Michigan are to be given still wider opportunities of educating themselves at the state's rapidly advancing Agricultural College at East Lansing. The authorities have planned a summer course, which will begin on June 23, and continue six weeks. A large number of the courses offered in the regular terms of the college will be taught during the summer session. These are chosen with the hope of meeting the needs of teachers and others who would benefit by this training.

Although this is the first attempt to hold such a school at the college letters are already being received by E. H. Ryder, the member of the faculty in charge, indicating that a large number of students will avail themselves of this opportunity of spending a useful and pleasant summer on the beautiful campus in East Lansing.

Sportsmen's Aid Sought Against Forest Fires.

Because of the fact that many forest fires are set through the carelessness of hunters, campers and others who go into the woods for recreation, the forest service has taken up with manufacturers of firearms and ammunition the question of a co-operative arrangement through which purchasers and users of guns and cartridges shall be reminded of the fire danger.

It has been pointed out that in the lumber regions of the northwest, for example, manufacturers and other business men have been having printed or stamped on their stationery and pay checks various crisp, catchy statements about the loss which the public suffers through the decreased demand for labor and decreased money in circulation if timber, which is the source of many of the northwest's industries, is burned up.

It has also been pointed out that in the east particularly many forest fires are started by the carelessness of hunters who drop burning matches, cigar or cigarette stumps, or pipe coals in the woods, or perhaps build a fire which is left burning when the hunter goes away. Forest fires, of course, greatly injure the interests of sportsmen by robbing the birds of their proper cover. They also impair the food supply of both birds and big game through the destruction of the undergrowth, which furnishes browse, berries and other food.

The eastern woods are exposed to the danger, from fire principally in the spring and fall, when most of the trees are bare and the leaves on the ground are dry. The spring fires, many of which are due to trout fishermen, may destroy the eggs of game birds and even the young birds themselves. Since trout fishermen are likely to hunt in the fall, the same individuals, if careless, may be a source of danger at both seasons.

It is suggested that the manufacturers of arms and ammunition ought to be sufficiently interested in the matter of perpetuation of game to be willing to help in the campaign against forest fires. This help may come through the printing of some brief fire warning on cartridge boxes or some slip to go with any hunting or camping supplies which are furnished. Several manufacturers have already expressed their interest in the matter and their willingness to help.

The Weekly Newspaper.

The real value of a local weekly newspaper may not at first be appreciated. Look at what it stands for:

First, it stands as a representative of the community in which it is published. It represents, or is supposed to represent, the industries and business of the local community. The size and character of the town is estimated by the newspaper. The loyalty and enterprise of the business firms in the town are estimated by the support given the newspaper.

The advantage of the locality as a resident section is estimated to a large degree by the general character and contents of the paper. The moral tone of the people may also be known to quite an extent by the moral tone of the newspaper, for the editor generally tries to give the readers the kind of matter best appreciated by them. Then, in fact, the newspaper stands as a representative of the people and the place where it may be issued.—Ex.

PROTECT THE BABIES.

In most well regulated municipalities in Michigan there is an official whose duty it is to inspect and pass upon the purity of the milk which is sold for family consumption. It is to be regretted that Tawas City has no such official, for the need of one has been shown in a number of cases recently.

In one case a family was buying milk from a certain party and though the milk did not seem to be first class, they continued using it and giving it to their baby until notified by the child who delivered the milk that the cow was about to go dry. Upon investigation it was found that the cow from which this milk was obtained was suffering from a large tumor on her side. And the people who owned the cow had not hesitated to sell the milk to be fed to a baby of tender age.

There are also many cases in the city where the conditions surrounding the production of milk are unsanitary and unhealthful. Stables are dirty and illy taken care of and milk is kept in dirty and unsanitary places.

Careful scientific investigation has proved that milk is one of the most prolific carriers of disease germs and more easily affected than any other substance. For this reason greater care should be taken in caring for it than is done now. It is practically the only food for hundreds of babies in our immediate community and some measures should be taken to protect these helpless little ones from sickness and suffering by properly looking after their food supply.

It is not to be expected that every family can test the milk which they obtain, but it would be a simple matter to have an official inspector appointed by the council, who would make it his business to inspect once or twice each month all milk offered for sale, and if it was not up to standard either in cleanliness or quality to forbid its sale until the requirements were complied with. The expense of such an inspector would be nominal, as his duties would only occupy a few days of his time each month, but the benefit derived by the community in general would be incalculable.

With the duties of such a milk inspector might be included those of general sanitary inspector, for there are many places in the city that should be looked after. Unsanitary, fly-breeding pest holes are a disgrace to any community. Unfortunately there is a certain class of citizens who pay no attention to these things unless forced to do so by law. There is plenty of authority for the appointment of some one to see that the laws are observed and for the sake of the health of the city in general the matter should be attended to.

That New York preacher who criticised Henry Ford's philanthropic plan to aid his employees is probably a "high brow" who draws $10,000 or $15,000 a year for telling his congregation of rich freebooters that they are on the highway to Heaven. Of course he would criticise any plan that tends to make the laboring man anything more than a wage slave.

The calamity howlers ought to keep still for a few weeks now until that 900,000,000 bushel wheat crop is harvested.

Free Glasses to School Children.

It often happens that school children are in great need of glasses and yet have not the money to buy them. Perhaps the eyes have been examined in the early fall by the teacher, according to the printed instruction, and some defect has been found. Maybe the child cannot see the blackboard. Maybe the teacher finds that although the child can see well at a distance he frequently complains of headache and eyeache after getting his lessons. Maybe the eyes are red, or maybe the child is cross-eyed. At all events the teacher discovers that something is wrong, so she sends a printed card to the parent, which notifies him that his child's eyes are not right, and advises him to seek competent advice.

The mother or the school nurse, therefore, takes the child to the oculist, who discovers that glasses are urgently needed to enable the child properly to receive offered school instruction. Without glasses this cannot be done, and the child is seriously hampered in the acquirement of an education. If the parent cannot under these circumstances buy the glasses, what is to be done? This is a serious question and one which will have to be answered. There should be a fund in the hands of the school board of every city to meet this emergency. This fund may be raised by contributions, if necessary, but the best way is to have it come from the city treasury. The amount required would not be large. Suitable arrangements could be made with some wholesale optical houses to furnish these glasses at almost cost.

In Cleveland, where school examinations are performed quite thoroughly, less than 400 pairs of glasses are given away to poor children annually. This probably does not cost Cleveland $400 a year, and think of the enormous benefits that are produced. School books, lunches, etc., are given away in many cities, why not then free glasses?

The "Day of Rest" and Human Efficiency.

The refreshing influence of the weekly "day of rest" on a person subjected to the strenuous routine of a busy life is a feature which he himself can duly appreciate in the effects on his "feelings" and "spirit." The efficiency of the working man, the length of the working day, the interjection of pauses for rest in the schedule of labor for persons of different ages and stations in life—questions of this sort are constantly arising for solution on a scientific basis. Not only in the field of manual labor, but also in the case of the school child, the office boy, the factory girl, the banker and the merchant, efficiency is the keynote of the times. Fatigue is the enemy of efficiency, and to detect and compensate for or overcome it is the duty of those concerned with the promotion of human welfare.

In view of this it is of more than passing interest to know that Dr. Martin and some of his associates in the laboratory of physiology at the Harvard medical school have been making a careful study of the whole question of fatigue and efficiency from a physiological standpoint. A long series of experiments have been made on first year medical students who were following a regular routine of school work during six days of each week. The routine was interrupted weekly by the Sunday recess, an interval occupied variously by the students, but in no case in precisely the manner of the week days. The daily observations made on these persons during several weeks show that at the beginning of the week the nerve reaction tends to be high, that from then until the end of the week there is a fairly continuous decline, and that following the interruption of the routine by the intervention of Sunday it returns to the original high point.

The decline is interpreted as a cumulative result of general fatigue incident to routine. What is even more significant, however, is the added fact that a pronounced break in the routine—such as the "day of rest" occasions—may bring about a return of sensitiveness to a high point or, in other words, it restores the nervous tone. Studies continued in this direction should lead to some useful conclusions regarding the maximum of work, with respect to both its duration and type, that should determine the conditions under which the organism of man may be maintained without depletion.

The Best Gardeners.

Possibly because they are blessed with infinite patience women make excellent gardeners. A survey of back yards at this time of year reveals even more sun-bonneted and petticoated figures wielding garden tools than male animals in trousers.

A woman makes a vegetable bed with much the same care as she does the sleeping couch, without crease or wrinkle, while her lord, if he be in a hurry to get in his corn and potatoes, throws the soil about with the same reckless abandon that he does the sheets and blankets when his wife is off on a summer vacation, producing a straggly broken-backed mound of uncertain dimensions.

It takes a woman who has a baby to mind, a washing to do and a dinner on the stove to lay out a lettuce and a radish patch that would delight the heart of a surveyor and whose angles would gladden the eyes of a geometer.

It may be conceded perhaps that vegetables will grow just as well in the man-made bed as in that shaped by a woman's hands, but it is an agricultural axiom that things ought to be done in the orthodox way even in the garden.

Elma B. Smith, America's Foremost Lady Entertainer, to Be Here Chautauqua Week

The best lady entertainer on the Lyceum or Chautauqua platform—such is Elma B. Smith. Miss Smith needs no introduction to the public. Eight years on the principal Lyceum vaudeville and Chautauqua circuits have made her known as "no other entertainer is known."

Miss Smith has succeeded where many others who are talented have failed, because she has devoted her time and energy almost entirely to specialization in a few distinctive lines of entertainment. Her child impersonations, bird warbling and animal mimicry are wonderfully real and lifelike. Rarely, if ever, does she mimic a baby crying that some youngster in the audience does not reply to the wall with an answering echo.

Miss Smith's work is not all of a humorous nature. Pathos and humor are combined to such an extent that her hearers are moved both to laughter and tears. She not only gives to you some of the startling realities connected with the present day Young America, but takes you back to the time when you, too, were young.

SOMETHING THAT WILL PLEASE EVERYBODY

PEOPLE differ in taste as widely as their circumstances in life or as their personalities.

It is practically impossible to secure a program of any kind that will for each of five days satisfy equally every one regardless of age, condition or walk in life.

We do not expect that our Chautauqua program will accomplish this impossibility. But we do expect and know that it will please some people all the time, most people most of the time and everybody some of the time. It is a high grade entertainment for the best people and represents the finest attractions that can be had.

How then can you afford to miss such a treat if you would get the best possible instructions and entertainment for yourself and for your children? There is no room for argument, no alternative. If you would do yourself justice you must buy a season ticket.

Facts Worth Knowing.

Estimated number of English-speaking religious sects forming communities throughout the world:

Episcopalians	29,200,000
Methodists	15,650,000
Roman Catholics	15,500,000
Presbyterians	12,250,000
Baptists	9,230,000
Congregationalists	6,150,000
Free Thinkers	5,250,000
Lutherans, etc.	2,800,000
Unitarians	2,600,000
Minor religious sects	5,500,000
Of no particular religion	17,000,000
English-speaking people	124,130,000

Wise and Otherwise.

Some girls play the piano. Others work on it.
 The best way for a girl to rid herself of a fellow is to marry him.
 There are always plenty of fires for the man who has money to burn.
 When the sun kisses a girl it freckles her. When a sun kisses her it tickles.
 During the circus season, at least, we always feel sorry for the man who hasn't a young son.
 The feller that don't use printer's ink may know his own business, but nobuddy else daz.—Abe Martin.
 A Brooklyn man claims to have discovered the "fruit of toil." He says his earnings go toward making his wife a "peach."

In the Sweet Bye and Bye.

In about 1985, when we will have made our stake and can print a paper just as we please, our personal column will be a great deal more interesting than it now is. Specimen locals then to appear:

We overheard Bill Kreitt say it was he who dropped a washer in the contribution box Sunday.

Bill Hawkins owns the newest automobile in town. He gave a mortgage on his residence property to get it.

Jane Frye has returned to Tawas City for a visit with relatives. Age has made no improvement in Jane's facial diagram.

Sam Nogue had the good fortune to break one of his legs last week. Citizens generally were disappointed when the facts were learned—first reports being that it was his neck so impaired.

Now that the water in the creeks is warming up it is to be hoped Ike Oder will hasten his annual bath. The summer's sun and Ike are not a pleasant combination for others who come in contact with the two at one time.

Old man Grouche is having his annual convulsions because Tawas City is going to have ball games again this year. If Grouche could find a place where there were no schools, churches, or music, he'd be all right—and he's going to find such a place before another hundred years.

Kitchen Kinks.

Bread will keep better in a wooden box than in tin.
 If silver spoons have become stained by egg, rub them with table salt.
 To remove rust from a knife plunge the blade into an onion and leave it for an hour. Then polish in the usual way.
 Before using a new comb wash it in soapy water, and when dry rub with a little olive oil. It will then last twice as long.
 To remove blood stains, soak the article in cold water, to which ammonia has been added. Wash in warm water with napha soap.
 Flowers keep better in damp sand than in water. Flowers for the table may be more gracefully and firmly arranged in a jar of wet sand than in a foundation of moss.

Always sandpaper the soles of baby's new shoes before they have been worn. This keeps her from slipping on the bare or polished floors, and prevents many a bad fall which could easily result in a sprain or a broken bone.

Of Interest to Women.

There seems to be no limit to the favor in which moire ribbons and silk are held.

Middy dresses, sailors, Norfolk and Russian effects are all good for children's wear.

Light net-top lace continue to have things all their own way in the fashion world.

Light blue, maize, pale pink and light green are seen in the new wash skirts.

Elizabethan collars, firmly wired, are among the most picturesque neck finishes.

It is said the Paris shops are showing new handbags, purses and card cases made of plain ribbons.

FAIR BUT POWERFUL HAND

Spanish Queen May Be Said to Have Won Succession by the Exercise of the Latter.

H. R. H. the Infanta Eulalia of Spain, in her brilliant memoirs, which are now appearing in one of the magazines, tells a dramatic story of how the Salic law was abolished in Spain.

When her father, Ferdinand VII., was taken with his final illness, there was a Salic law in Spain by which his brother Carlos would be his heir and successor. "But an old enmity existed between Don Carlos and my mother's aunt, the Infanta Louisa Carlota. She had said to him, 'You'll never reign.' And he had laughed at her."

But when the king was plainly dying of paralysis she put before him a paper that she had prepared, abolishing the Salic law; and, placing a pen in his hand, she took hold of his fingers and began to sign his name to the decree.

The prime minister, Carlomarde, seeing what she was doing, put his hand over hers to stop her. She stopped long enough to strike him a blow on the head that dazed him. When he recovered himself the document had been signed and King Ferdinand was dead.

Calomarde bowed gallantly, and said to her in the words of a Spanish proverb, "A fair hand can do no wrong." She replied, "No; but it can strike, eh?"

HAD THE DISTINCTIVE MARK

Father's Idea of the Baby's Future More Than Likely to Have Been the Correct One.

The Smiths' baby was born on a Christmas morn, and it was the first babe of the Smiths, and it was exactly a year old on the Christmas day when a party was held to celebrate the time. His name was John, but he was generally called "Johnnie" for long, and there was never such an infant in the wide world.

"He is a thorough genius," exclaimed Mrs. Smith. "I'm sure of it."

"He will become an inventor," said Mr. Smith, "for he is so original."

"Maybe an actor," sighed Mrs. Smith, "for he is so beautiful."

"Or a musician," piped in Mr. Smith, "for his voice reminds me of Mendelssohn."

"Or a general in the army," guessed Mrs. Smith, "he is so active."

"Or a great politician," exclaimed Mr. Smith, with enthusiasm.

"But why a politician?" queried the wife in disappointed tones.

"Because, my dear," came the reply, "he seems to crawl out of everything so easily."

A TIME SAVER.

"What advantage do you claim for the reference book which you have bought?"

"I never knew of another book from which one could find out so quickly what it does not contain."—Buffalo Express.

How the Central Chautauqua Circuit Is Operated

A TYPICAL CHAUTAUQUA SCENE.

The system of conducting a Circuit Chautauqua is an example of modern efficiency. Few people understand or comprehend the magnitude of such an undertaking. The Central Chautauqua system which furnishes our program will conduct similar assemblies in sixty-five other towns. In order to carry out their plans they have six large tents, each capable of seating over a thousand people. Five of these tents are in use at one time and every day the last one is on the move. Each tent is in charge of a platform superintendent and a crew of tent men.

These tent men are usually selected from various colleges and universities. The entire number of souvenir programs issued by the Central System this year weighed over six tons. Thousands of billboard sheets, fence signs, tack cards, auto banners, street banners and other kinds of unique advertising material were used by the advance team. Through the routing of talent and tents is made with the greatest care, the total mileage for the whole season for all who appear on the program in the various towns will be 136,120 miles, or almost six times around the earth.

Forest Notes.

On the Deerledge national forest in Montana one lookout station has the record of reporting accurately, by distance and direction, a fire that was 60 miles away.

Nearly 3,000,000 young trees are being set out this spring on the national forests of northern Idaho and Montana. On the St. Joe national forest in Idaho 3,000 acres will be planted.

Ranchers within and adjacent to the Sierra national forest, California, have formed a co-operative association for the prevention of forest fires. They need to use fire in clearing land for farming, and will do it on a community basis, with all members present to prevent the fire's spread.

The city of Tacoma, Washington, has entered into a co-operative agreement with the forest service for the protection of the source of its water supply, the watershed of the Green river, which lies within the Rainier national forest. The two agencies, working together, will protect this stream from the results of forest destruction by fire or by other agencies.

TO ALL ENGAGED IN DAIRY BUSINESS

Making butter on the farm is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Any housewife knows what it means of drudgery to make good butter, and what difficulties she encounters in her attempt to find a satisfactory market for her product. Her outlet is limited. The creamery has every large city on the continent within its reach. The creamery is plugging every day for the interests of the dairy farmer as well as for its own.

We are now in the midst of our third season and business is humming. Prices are good and the outlook fine. We are making nearly four times as much butter as we did in 1912. That also means that we are able to handle your cream to the very best advantage for you. Come and see us or ship us a can. We know we can please you.

We are selling the "Diabolo," a separator of the Highest Merit, at prices that you would pay for mail-order and other inferior machines.

NEW FISH HAS LONG NAME

Recently Discovered Species Takes Nomenclature From the Reigning Family of Monaco.

"Grimaldichtys profundissimus" is the name of a newly discovered species of fish found in the Atlantic by the prince of Monaco, whose passion for oceanography is well known," said John Daly of Chicago at the Raleigh.
"The fish was named in honor of the reigning family of Monaco. The depth at which it was found is several hundreds lower than the lowest depths hitherto explored, and tends to prove the existence of other unknown races and species of deep-sea monsters at depths which have never been sounded.
"The Grimaldichtys profundissimus is very heavy about the head, but the body diminishes rapidly in size toward the tail. It is covered with a peculiar form of scales imbedded in the skin. The head is round and soft, with the appearance of having been flattened underneath. The eyes are extremely small, but visible, and the teeth are numerous and small. The fish is very pale, and almost without color except for a grayish-violet tinge in certain parts of the head and underneath the body. The inside of the mouth is a dark violet, almost black.
"One of the important points of the discovery is to show that even the great depths of the sea are lighted by a feeble and diffuse light."—Washington Post.

OWE DEBT TO BIRCH CANOE

Its Use in Development of Country Has Been of the Most Real Value Imaginable.

It is difficult to estimate the value of the birch-bark canoe in the discovery, exploration, development and settlement of the northern part of the continent from the Arctic circle to the great lakes southward, says the Christian Herald.
For a century and a half the birch canoe threading its way through the lakes and rivers carried civilization where no other boat could go. The birch tree has uses now from church pews to kitchen tables, and from organ pipes and musical instruments to newel posts. It furnishes cradles for the young and coffins for the dead.
Eleven thousand cords of the wood go to New England each year to be made into shoe pegs and shanks. Forty-five million board feet of the wood is put on the market each year. Paper birch is one of the few American species with a hold on the forest stronger than it had when the continent was discovered. It comes in after a forest fire and it has taken possession of enough land to cover hundreds of square miles.

RETORT COURTEOUS.

Miss Prim—Your stories actually make me change countenance.
Miss Pert—Then let me tell you some more of them.

Cutting Corners.

The most inconsiderate man of them all is the one who cuts the corners of his neighbors' yards and contributes that much to the ruination of their laws.
There is no open corner lot in this town that is not afflicted with its corner-cutter. Only those escape him who have erected high fences and stone walls. Nothing else seems to be sufficient to head him off.
Every citizen should take pride in the appearance of his town. He should contribute something, not only to his own property, but should be considerate of his neighbors.
Corner cutting is a foolish and unnecessary offense against civic beauty. No one gains anything by it. The amount of time saved is so small that it is not worth thinking about. Then why mar the beauty of the yard? Why arouse the temper of the man within, who has been spending his time and money to make his property fair to look upon?
The next time you come to a corner just remember that if you owned it you would be very much annoyed and incensed at every person who tracks across it. Keep to the walk. Save the grass. Help protect what we have and assist the man who is willing to spend his time and money in humoring it along.
