Married, by Rev. O. E. Moffett, at his home on Thursday, July 2, Miss Edna Abbott, daughter of E. F. Abbott of Wilber, and Alfred Boomer, son of Joseph Boomer of this city. The many friends of the young couple join in wishing them much joy in their married life.
Numerous cases have been observed recently of automobile owners and drivers running on the streets here without any tail light on their machine. This is a dangerous practice and a direct violation of the state law, and some one is liable to get into trouble if the practice is continued.
U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin No. 594 is one that will be of more than ordinary interest to every farmer. It is one of the few bulletins which is of as much interest to the small farmer as the large one. It can be had by addressing the Division of Publications, Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., asking for Farmers' Bulletin No. 594.
Ernest A. Meschke and Louis Cruzan, two Saginaw boys, started last Saturday to go from Saginaw to AuSable in a canoe. The boys had considerable trouble to navigate their small boat on account of the wind, and to cap their troubles one of the boys was accidentally shot in the arm when he kicked a 22 rifle which lay in the bottom of the boat. Being unable to reach medical assistance the boys dressed the wound as best they could with turpentine. Monday they landed here to replenish their supplies and then continued on their trip to AuSable.
At the annual Fourth of July picnic to be held at Alabaster tomorrow (Saturday) the Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran church will serve dinner at the town hall. These Fourth of July dinners given by this Ladies' Aid society have become famous in Alabaster and neighboring towns, and anyone intending to celebrate the Fourth at the Alabaster picnic can rest assured of celebrating it successfully, as far as the dinner is concerned. Like the Fourth, this dinner comes but once in a year, adv.

"Just Pop."
This is a story about "pop." Not pop-corn, nor "Pop Goes the Weasel," nor popping the question, but the small boy's drink known by the name of pop. From time immemorial the small boy has dissipated on pop. The loud "pop" as the bottle is opened gives a near imitation of July 4th, and is as pleasing to the small boy's ear as the pop of the champagne bottle is to the mature man. In fact pop is the small boy's champagne. Pop, as originally discovered, was composed of water charged with carbonic acid gas, sweetened with sugar, flavored with various imitation flavors, and colored red, white or brown to tempt the small boy's nickel. It is a first cousin to the red circus lemonade, now nearly extinct. At its best it is not much, but now "Big Business," to make more money, want to adulterate it.
This is small business for "Big Business."
A few years ago a chemist accidentally discovered in coal tar a drug that was 500 times sweeter than sugar. This is pretty near as sweet as the "honey-moon." He named it saccharine. A big firm in St. Louis manufactures it. A pound of the saccharine costing $2.00 has the same sweetening power as 500 pounds of sugar costing $20.00. An agent of the St. Louis firm at Detroit the other day offered to defend in the courts any manufacturer using it. One firm tried it and was promptly arrested by agents of this department, for saccharine is a drug and has no food value, while sugar has a high food value. Hence saccharine decreases the food value of pop, and is therefore an adulteration.
The saccharine people claim that saccharine is sometimes prescribed by doctors for diabetes, that 20 per cent of all the people have this disease, and they propose to cure this 20 per cent by giving us all saccharine in our sweetened drinks. Whether it is harmful is a disputed question, several hundred "experts" having testified on both sides before the Federal Pure Food Board, according to how they were paid. But whether it is harmful or not this department proposes to vigorously prosecute all persons using saccharine in food products. It proposes to preserve to the small boy his pop in its pristine purity. He doesn't want the drugs in his pop, he wants sugar. He can get all the coal tar products he wants out of the coloring matter. The commissioner was a small boy himself once and drank pop. Sometimes he does now—in dry counties.
Moreover, sugar is made in Michigan and saccharine in Missouri. We are not from Missouri in this instance. Disloyalty to Michigan sugar by Michigan pop manufacturers will be vigorously prosecuted.
JAMES W. HELME,
State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Big Show Coming to East Tawas.
One of America's oldest, richest tented shows, a modernized great combination of the very greatest trained wild animals, the most superb horses and ponies, the greatest European and American artists, the latest "thrillers" that mankind can devise, and, in fact, the newest novelties of the present day, all in one union, will be found with Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Shows, now on their twenty-second annual tour, and will give two complete exhibitions at East Tawas.
This stupendous aggregation is under the personal direction of the Sun Brothers, and the assurance is made that the programme for the present season is newer and richer than ever.
To add to the variety a complete Japanese circus company will exhibit the very cleverest Oriental acts ever imported to this country and now seen in America for the first time.
Over 100 great artists appear with this big show. Dean and his matchless band appear at every performance, and they are a delight to all who hear their great concerts. The menagerie and wild beast exhibition is complete and an educative diversity.
This great exhibition will appear in its completeness, rain or shine, at East Tawas, on Monday July 13. adv.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSE and all Dumb Creatures—it shows the Gentleman.

Surprised Their Friends.
The people of Tawas City were considerably surprised last Saturday morning when they learned that two of our well known people had been united in matrimony the night before. The parties were Mr. Neil McDonald, sr., and Miss Lucy B. Louch. They were married at midnight Friday night by Rev. E. A. Kinney at his home in East Tawas, and took the train immediately afterward for Alpena. They intended to take the boat from there to Detroit, but on account of the rough weather changed their plans and went by train, passing through here Sunday evening. They were given a royal send-off by a large number of their friends who had gathered at the depot, being deluged with several pounds of rice. The happy couple have the best wishes of their many Tawas City friends for a happy married life.

Distinguished Speakers on Chautauqua Program.
Sam Jones used to say that "a Chautauqua was better than a dog fight, and was a cross between a county fair and a camp meeting." While the sentiment was cloaked in his usual uncouth style, still the idea he conveyed was about right. Nothing creates more interest than these popular summer assemblies. In a few instances street fairs and Chautauqs have been conducted at the same time. Without exception the Chautauqua had the larger crowds and the best elements.
The programs are of a high tone and the influences wholly uplifting. A well-known Chautauqua manager explains the great drawing power of the Chautauqua by pointing out the fact that the programs are built about personality. People are interested in people. Human interest is one of the strongest elements in our nature. The Chautauqua presents brains and character and human achievement.
The Chautauqua is one of the most democratic institutions in America. The audience is an intimate terms with the speakers. It is no uncommon sight to see a group of people from the audience gathered around one of the famous lecturers, carrying on an animated conversation, or engaged in questioning him upon some important subject brought out in the lecture. Our citizens will have the opportunity of entertaining some distinguished visitors brought here by the Chautauqua management. Perhaps two of the best known will be Gov. Robert S. Vessey, twice chief executive of South Dakota, and Judge James A. Collins, the great municipal judge from Indianapolis. Neither of these men claim to be orators, but both have "done things" and both have a forceful manner of conveying their messages. Every one who hears the stirring utterances of these men will have something to think about for days after they have left us.
Dr. Bille of Philadelphia will be the first notable speaker on our local program. A recent clipping from a newspaper in a Chautauqua town, says, regarding Dr. Bille's lecture, "Humor of a marked degree featured the lecture. He brought the audience to its feet and set it in an uproar of applause. The audience went wild when the last remarks were made."
Prof. Gause and Mr. Barkley talk to both eye and ear. One by means of the stereopticon and the other by means of crayon and chalk. Prof. Gause lived in the canal zone for five years, where he inaugurated a splendid system of education under the support and control of the United States government. Mr. Barkley is a lawyer by profession, but his artistic ability secured him a place on the platform. His pictures are beautiful and brilliant. He has a happy way of pleasing the oldest and youngest in his audience.
Dr. Harry G. Hill is a universal platform favorite. His lectures are full of human interest, and his style is one that appeals to the most diversified audience. He belongs to that class of scholar-orator who has not lost touch with men and affairs.
We will try to give our readers next week some interesting facts regarding the musicians and entertainers.

A Bargain.
Eighty acres of land located in township of Wilber. Price $1400. Will sell for $800 and reserve this year's crops. Inquire at Herald office. adv-27

A Movement Worth Support.
Many words, discussions, conferences and controversies have featured the agitation against the social evil. While theorists have doped out their theories by the carload, some good, earnest persons, without noise, have been acting. They have been doing things not only to relieve distress but also to stop the sources of the evil itself.
But the problem is still in the early stages of its solution. At the annual congress of the International association of police chiefs in Grand Rapids the subject was further discussed from the standpoint of men sent to catch criminals. "Segregation or scattering" of vice—that was the question. Shall "elimination or annihilation" be the program?
Meanwhile the main question is being forced home on the average woman, the wife and mother whose daughter is safe: Will you be a big sister to her when she turns and enters that long and thorny road to recovered virtue? Her guilt is as nothing compared with that of the man who deceived and deserted her, and has gone scot free!
Among the agencies that are caring for these unfortunate girls and women is The Michigan Children's Home Society. Albert H. Stoneman, its state superintendent, is a modest little man of quiet manner and gentle tones, but he is efficient. He gets over the state busily. He gets results. He is furnishing hope and cheer and social redemption for many erring women, as well as finding good homes for children where they will be developed into good citizens.
A new idea has come to Mr. Stoneman as a big help in solving the social evil. He believes that the good homes of Michigan can be utilized if the home-keepers will only co-operate in the solution. He isn't looking for money in his plan.
"What I would like to see," said he, in an interview, "is the careful placing of a large number of these young women who come to my attention in good homes in rural communities preferably, where there would be no fear of either the woman or her child. This is a hard problem for us—to give the mother a position where she can earn her own way without separation from her own child."
"Specialists in the religious and sociological field all agree that wherever possible the child and mother should not be separated. The tie between them helps both of them. Yet it is almost impossible to arrange work for the mother without agreeing to keep the child away from her. Many people want no children around, sometimes not even their own.
"Hundreds of homes in Michigan are in need of domestic services such as many of these mothers could furnish. Undoubtedly some of them would be willing to have a woman bring her child with her. She could more than earn her way, she could keep her baby, she herself would be kept from drifting into an immoral life, and thus all important interests would be served.
"I would like to hear from any persons who would be willing to take such a young woman with her baby into their home.
"Let me give you an illustration: Two girls of 17 and 18 have recently faced critical situations and were saved by timely aid. One of them, supposing she was about to become a wife, found herself a mother without a marriage certificate. The young man, who made fine promises, disappeared. She is in a strange city, having left home when she realized that the child was coming. She must work to live and to support her child. But nobody wants to employ a girl with a babe in arms. So she appealed to our society to care for her child.
"In the same mail came an appeal from another, a deserted wife, only 18 years old, and with a baby girly just able to creep. The mother has become desperate in her efforts to maintain her honor and retain her child. In frail health and with her baby to care for, what chance has she to keep her virtue and her baby unless she has the right kind of assistance?
"I am convinced that my suggestion of the rural home for such cases has great possibilities if we can have the co-operation of the good homes throughout the state. Any person interested should write the St. Joseph office."

Eighth Grade Examination and Commencements.
One hundred and forty-eight 8th graders wrote the annual examination May 14 and 15. Of this number 78 were granted diplomas.
Graduation exercises for the successful candidates were held in various places of the county during the month of June. The commissioner had the good luck to receive invitations to all exercises, and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent program prepared.
The first of these commencements was held in Alabaster on June 12th. The various pupils participating performed their parts very creditably. Prof. Grawn, president of Central Normal, delivered a helpful and inspiring address, showing the value of the child, and how careful we should be in preparing him for life's service. At the close the commissioner presented diplomas to the successful pupils.
June 16th, the second of these splendid commencements was held in Oscoda. Another carefully prepared and well rendered program was presented. Rev. Aaron Mitchell delivered an excellent address. At the close the commissioner presented diplomas to the successful candidates.
Wednesday, June 24, Whittemore 8th graders proved to the large audience present that they possessed exceptional talent. A most excellent program was rendered. At the close diplomas were awarded.
June 22nd, the county 8th grade exercises were held in the court house, Tawas City. Pupils from the following townships and cities were present: Alabaster, Grant, Baldwin, Sherman, Reno, Tawas, Wilber, East Tawas, Oscoda and Tawas City. Pupils from nearly all of these helped to render a splendid program. In addition to many excellent recitations, dialogues, declamations, etc., a fine musical program was given. The 400 people present enjoyed every moment.
"The closing address, given by Frank Wilkins, was a fitting climax to a most enjoyable evening. We hope to have every successful 8th grader in the county at next year's exercises.
The year just closed has been one of the most successful school years in the history of the county.
A pleasing feature was the number of girls who made their own graduating dresses at a small cost. Alabaster had five young ladies, Oscoda a number who did the above mentioned work. Pupils from other schools, whose names we cannot recall, were also garment makers.
JOHN A. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE.

The state of Michigan is most fortunate in being able to number among her citizens a man of the stamp of Henry Ford of Detroit. Mr. Ford, like many other millionaire manufacturers and capitalists, began at the bottom and worked up, but unlike the majority of this class of men, having accumulated a goodly portion of this world's goods, he is using his money to assist the men (and women) who have not been so fortunate as he.

His first act which came to public attention was his announcement last year that he would divide the profits of his business among his employees, which he proceeded to put into practice by establishing a minimum wage of $5 per day for all the men employed in his various plants. True, he demanded of his men an appreciation of this liberality by a change in their manner of living, better homes, cleaner habits and a general improvement in their conditions. But all this was for their benefit directly and for his only indirectly, insofar as their changed mode of living would make them better workmen.

Mr. Ford's latest venture is one which promises even more benefit to the world at large than the raising of his employees' wages. Some few weeks ago the promoters of the new Detroit General hospital, having failed to mature their plans, proposed to turn the unfinished institution over to the city for completion. Mr. Ford came forward with an offer to take over the property and complete it at his own expense, returning to those who had contributed all the money they had put into it. His munificent offer was accepted and at the time all thought that he would complete the building and establish it as a general hospital, as had been at first intended. However, Mr. Ford had a larger thought in regard to the matter, and he has announced his intention of making the new hospital an institution for the cure and prevention of cancer. It is his belief, and he is supported by excellent medical authorities, that this dread disease is brought on by preventable causes and in the new hospital these ideas will be tried out and proved. If this venture is successful the benefit to the world at large will be unmeasurable and Mr. Ford's name will go down to posterity as one of the greatest philanthropists the world has ever known.

The worst miscreant is the one who maliciously destroys property without any excuse other than so-called "fun." Monday night some hoodlum deliberately smashed Dr. Carson's dentist sign from the post where it had been securely fastened. The perpetrators of such acts as this should be searched out by the police authorities and severely punished. If this were done it would cause a check to such despicable tricks.

The political campaign has not warmed up to any appreciable extent, though the primary election is only eight weeks away. No new candidates have announced themselves for county office, and unless other aspirants announce themselves soon the field will not be overcrowded.

And now the American oil magnates are being blamed for the breach between Villa and Carranza. Well, they can be blamed for most anything and not be far out of the way.

Inexpensive Vacations.

Vacation time is at hand, and those of us who cannot go to the mountains or the seashore, may find inspiration in the practice of an Atchison, Kan., painter:

This man has a vacation every day—or rather, every night. He comes home from work, tired of limb, to be sure, but inspired by the recreation before him. He has a horse and spring wagon. He also has a wife and a lot of love for her. He hitches the horse to the spring wagon every evening, takes his wife in the seat beside him and the two hike off to the woods to spend the twilight hours and the night. Supper is prepared in the open, then the two fish or row as long as they wish, ending up with half an hour's swim, and tumble into cots for delicious, unbroken sleep until morning. They are up with the birds the next day, and the painter is back on his job working with a will, and with anxiety for the evening to come.

A vacation is nothing more than a change from one's routine duty, and this painter is doing nothing more than almost any of us could do. The trouble with most of us we are too lazy to take a vacation.

EVERYMAN

Everyman when he smokes, smokes so little that he never feels it.

Everyman might have married any other woman among several if he had wanted to.

When it comes to gossip Everyman can give any woman cards and spades, but Everyman never admits this.

Everyman praises women to their face but in talking to every other man he says terrible things about them.

Everyman never understands why every other man does the things which he himself would not think of doing.

Everyman, if he plays golf, billiards, pool or any other game, never goes so well as he did the last time he played.

Everyman when he was a boy was a devil of a fellow. Neither himself nor any one else dreamed that he could ever turn out so well.

Everyman lets his wife have her own way until he is thoroughly aroused and then he tears things up—so Everyman says when he talks about it to every other man.—Life.

APPROPRIATE BEVERAGE

For undertakers—Beer.

For monks—Benedictine.

For married couples—Half and half.—Lippincott's.

ARROWS AND TARGETS

If there were no double standards, there would be no double lives.

The present fashion in woman's dress is the survival of the fittest.

Man forgets; that is his tragedy. Woman remembers; that is hers.—Lippincott's.

FOR THOSE WHO PLAY CARDS

Some Hints to Remember by Participants Who Would Care to Become Desirable Partners.

Here are some of the don'ts for card players:

Don't criticize your partner's play. If she wants you to teach her, tell her what is wrong with her playing—if you are fortunate enough to be able to find out—but do it in a pleasant way. Never criticize her play unless you are her teacher. A certain amount of "hashing over" the play is permissible, often pleasant and helpful, after the hand has been played. But criticism is never pleasant.

Don't play for prizes. That is to say, don't let your partners know that you are eager to win, even if you cannot help being so. A poor player opposite you will go through agonies if she feels that she is keeping the prize from someone who cares especially about winning. Playing to win, even when there is no prize, is just as bad. It is delightful to win, of course, and it is a truly sportsmanlike spirit that makes one want to win. But remember that a thorough sportsman accepts defeat with good grace—especially if the defeat was caused by some other person's play.

Don't be inattentive. It is almost as bad to be the one frivolous player at a table as it is to be the one serious player. If the other players want to take the game seriously, do your best to play well, or at least to play without interrupting the course of the game with unimportant and distracting conversation.

Don't deary card playing while you are at a card party. If you believe that women waste time playing cards, refuse to go to card parties; don't go to them and then criticize them.

MATTER OF SHAPE

Bosh—Isn't it queer that a printed sheet, although square, is called a circular?

Josh—Not necessarily; it is intended to go round.

THE FOG PERIL

One of the great conquests of science for human safety will be the discovery of some effectual means of disclosing to every ship at sea the approach and position of any other vessel which may come near in a fog. So far, the fog peril remains as deadly as it ever was. In some respects the conditions change for the worse. The growth of commerce increases the number of ships which traverse the seas. Every year the water highways are more fully occupied and the tendency is toward a higher average speed. Nothing can be seen through a dense fog. Nothing can be heard with sufficient distinctness and certainty as to distance and direction to meet the demands of safety. The best fog signals in use repeatedly fail to avert terrible disasters.—Cleveland Leader.

FOR YOUR PET DOG.

The dog which one does not care to house in winter should not be neglected and exposed to severe cold. A good-sized doghouse can be made of a sugar barrel by cutting a round hole in one end. Throw an old carpet over it and place something inside for the dog to sleep on. Set the barrel in a sheltered place where the sun will shine on it during the day. After the dog learns where his sleeping place is a piece of carpet can be tacked over the top of the door to make a storm door.

QUESTION OF ECONOMY.

"What means dis heah p'litical 'economy?" asked Rastus, who was endeavoring to wade through a paper.

"From de way de politicians down ouh wahd is actin'," answered Rufus. "I s'pects it means de mos' votes foh de least money."—Kansas City Star.

Tom Morgan, Baritone Soloist, Coming Chautauqua Week.

It is the rare fortune for musical producers and teachers to occasionally find among hundreds of singers one who is the possessor of a really great voice. The Central Chautauqua System considers that it has "made a find" in Tom Morgan, baritone soloist.

Mr. Morgan has a most pleasing voice and all the qualifications of a great singer. He has had some experience with the Miami Glee Club and the well known Mendelssohns, but until last year he was overlooked by the musical managers. Now he is coming into his own. Musical critics are predicting for him a great future not only in recital work, but also in grand opera, the study of which he will take up next year. Our Chautauqua patrons may expect a rare treat in the baritone recital on the third day's program.

TO ALL ENGAGED IN DAIRY BUSINESS

Making butter on the farm is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Any housewife knows what it means of drudgery to make good butter, and what difficulties she encounters in her attempt to find a satisfactory market for her product. Her outlet is limited. The creamery has every large city on the continent within its reach. The creamery is plugging every day for the interests of the dairy farmer as well as for its own.

We are now in the midst of our third season and business is humming. Prices are good and the outlook fine. We are making nearly four times as much butter as we did in 1912. That also means that we are able to handle your cream to the very best advantage for you. Come and see us or ship us a can. We know we can please you.

We are selling the "Diablo," a separator of the Highest Merit, at prices that you would pay for mail-order and other inferior machines.

JULY

Old Glory's floating in the skies; Parents are not missing eyes. The national anthem fills the air, While fingers vanish everywhere. Sharp, cracking noises, powdery smells, Are mixed with boyish groans and yells.

The Declaration causes cheers, While surgeons gravely patch up ears. Brass bands are playing 'neath the trees, Legs separating at the knees. The next day, funerals a score, Denote that July Fourth is o'er.

The people who survive our Fourth of July celebrations will spend the remainder of the month consulting thermometers and spilling a quart of sweat with every consult. In our opinion there ought to be a law passed prohibiting the manufacture of thermometers, and the penalty should be removed for the killing of men who can find nothing but the hot weather to talk about.

July's the month we sweat and fret and wish we had some way to get away from work, at least a while, and travel far away for miles. Oh, that we might again with book enjoy that quiet, shady nook around the bend of memory's stream where, as a boy, we used to dream. Where, as a boy without a care, we built our castles in the air, and though life's storms have rent in twain we'd like to build them o'er again. The bare-foot boys that 'round us play recall to us a better day, when you and I, my business friend, were won't our lazy ways to wend beyond the reach of mother's call—out where the kids were playing ball; or, maybe 'twas with line and pole we sneaked out to the cat-fish hole, and when we'd fished our bait away we tumbled in the brook to play. God speed you who would take a trip this month upon a monster ship and visit in some foreign clime, but no such trip as that for mine. If I may cease my toil awhile the respite I would most enjoy would be among the hills and dells that knew me when I was a boy.

July really is a month of torture for man. He must swelter under full dress, while the apple of his eye covets around in a yard and a half of mosquito bar. And the funny thing about it all is that Conventionality (whatever that is) says this is only proper. Of course it is none of our business how kindly Conventionality treats the fairer sex, but what's it got in for man so much for? A really proper young woman would not think of going out these evenings with a young man unless that y. m. wore everything from tip to toe, but he could put all of his companion's clothes in his vest pocket, and they wouldn't annoy him in the least when he wished to draw a match therefrom. The weather for July is expected to be warm. There will also be continued rains in those sections of the country where they are not needed, and in other sections where the drouth is drouthiest the moisture it shall falleth not.

Wise and Otherwise.

The only man who is master of his home is a bachelor. When a suspected candidate says it's too early to talk politics the chances are he is lying awake nights figuring how he can cinch the nomination. The vice-president is reported wearing a vest loud enough to arouse the envy of Senator J. Ham Lewis. But a vice-president has to do something to attract attention.

In the Sweet Bye and Bye.

In about 1985, when we have made our stake and can print a paper just as we please, our personal column will be a great deal more interesting than it now is. Specimen locals then to appear: Abe Cheet was in and paid us his subscription this week—a dollar and a half that we never hoped to get.

In our humble opinion the old-fashioned red petticoat was a great deal better than none at all, which kind seem to be strongly in favor this summer. While it is a well known fact that Jim Kreditt's kids never get a penny for candy, Mrs. Kreditt says Jim manages to scrape up 40 cents a week for chewing tobacco.

Mrs. Goode informs us that her neighbor, Mrs. Tightwad, borrows her Herald every week, and, like everything she borrows, never returns it. When we become mayor we shall make it a crime to borrow a paper.

Kitchen Kinks.

Keep butter in stone or glass jars with tight fitting covers. Add one teaspoon of grated cheese to one quart of oyster soup. It gives an unusual and delicate seasoning. When making coffee sprinkle a little salt on the coffee before pouring on boiling water, and the flavor will be wonderfully improved. To keep cheese for some time, and prevent it becoming mouldy or dry, wrap it up in a cloth dampened with vinegar, and keep it in a dish.

To prevent the skin from discoloring after a fall or blow, take a little dry starch, moisten it with cold water and lay it on the injured part.

If flowers have come by post they will freshen up wonderfully if their stems are placed in hot water for a little while before arranging them in vases. Never leave a metal spoon in a sauce pan if you desire the contents to boil quickly, for the spoon is the means of carrying off a great deal of heat.

Of Interest to Women.

The crystals beaded chiffon tunic is as popular as ever on evening gowns. One of the prettiest styles among the new neckwear is the medici collar with a fichu. One of the new spring coats has no opening, but slips over the head like a peasant's blouse. Parisian women buy only the prettiest of waterproof coats in pretty colors of violets and browns.

The fashionable coat for the young girl is made out of basket cloth in the brightest possible colors. Young girls' dancing frocks are open at the throat, or have the flaring medici collars favored by their elders. Foulards come which have grounds of the subdued spring colors, with bright little figures scattered all over them. A stylish suit for afternoon is made of wisteria poplin with the new short jacket. The skirt is fashioned with two rippling tunics. The week-end trunk is quite a novelty. It is made of patent leather and has three trays. It is also lined with dainty flowered cretonne. It is very light and is intended to take the place of the suitcase.

Development Bureau Asks Assistance.

Bay City, Mich., June 28, 1914. To the People of Northeastern Michigan: Northeastern Michigan's story of success can best be told by the actual products of the soil. The Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, through its exhibits at the various fairs and with its exhibit automobiles, is endeavoring to make the district known to as many people as possible.

Will you assist the bureau in getting a representative exhibit which will take in every community in northeastern Michigan? Send the development bureau at Bay City liberal samples of all your crops, any of the grasses and grains, or other products of the soil. These do not necessarily need to be prize or exceptional material, but good representative products. The bureau will take care of their preparation, tagging each with the contributor's name, address and other data which may accompany the samples. Kindly give this your earnest attention and the bureau your hearty cooperation.

Trusting that all northeastern Michigan farmers will be interested, we are Yours for Northeastern Michigan, THE NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN DEVELOPMENT BUREAU. P. S.—Neighbors may combine and send their respective products in one box, by freight or express. The bureau will pay the transportation charges.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
