Twelve deaths and 879 injuries had been reported on that day, as against 25 dead and 1,032 injured one year ago. A greater amount of improvement of residence property has been accomplished in Tawas City this summer than has been done in several years previous. You can spend it at home, gain an easy conscience, make another friend and perhaps get the dollar back tomorrow, or you send it away, feel that you have sinned, offend the home merchant and forever lose the dollar and the blessed influence for good to yourself and neighbor. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Swem, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. Holliday, motored over from Ashten Wednesday to spend a few days settling their home here. Mr. Swem is the man who has been engaged as superintendent of the Tawas City schools for the coming year. They will live in the house recently vacated by W. F. Grise. A Bunch of Amazing Trained Animals. The trained animal acts to be seen with the great Sun Brothers' World's Progressive shows this season are a distinct feature, and conceded to be the very greatest and most novel ever devised. The wonderful elephants "broke" and handled by Cheerful Gardiner, the famous German elephant man, are among the principal head liners in this ensemble. Gardiner is an expert elephant handler. In speaking of the habits of the big beasts, he says that the elephant's bath is one of the most interesting sights to witness. He says, "The elephant's bath takes a week to carry out in every detail. It requires the services of three men and it costs $300." This treatment is necessary for a show elephant, and if the animal is a valuable one, the proprietor of the show does not consider the money wasted. The first process consists in going over the immense body with the best soap procurable—150 pounds of soap is used, and the elephant's ears are especially attended to. When the soaping and drying are completed the elephant is well sand-papered, and after that rubbed all over with the purest Indian oil until the mouse gray skin is supple and glistening. This last finishing touch is the most expensive part of the whole bath, as $150 has to be spent on the oil alone. During the engagement here of the Sun Brothers' shows, Gardiner's elephants will be seen in complete acts, afternoon and night. The date is July 13, at East Tawas.

Athletics Win Two. Last Saturday before a crowd of about 600 people Tawas City won from the Turner and Hemlock Road teams. Turner was beaten quite easily, but it took 10 innings to down Hemlock Road. For 8 1/2 innings McArdle held Tawas City to 4 hits. In the 9th inning Murphy singled, and was put out trying to stretch it into a double, and in the first of the 10th Capt. Mark started with a single, and of his men forthwith did likewise, thus bringing 4 runs across the plate. Then McArdle gave a base on balls, filling the bases, with none out, at which time he allowed as how he had enough. So the game was terminated with a score of 8 to 4. Manure must be kept in flyproof bins, properly screened and frequently cleaned and kept from foul odors. Keep these things in mind during the warm season. It Isn't Your Town—It's You. If you want to live in the kind of a town like the kind of a town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip And start on a long, long hike, You'll find only what you left behind, For there's nothing that's really new, It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town. It isn't your town—it's you! Real towns are not made by men afraid Lest somebody else gets ahead. When everybody works and nobody shirks You can raise a town from the dead. And if while you make your personal stake Your neighbor can make one, too, Your town will be what you want to see. It isn't your town—it's you.—EX.

Musical Talent at Chautauqua. A prominent musical critic recently called our attention to the remarkable list of music to be offered our Chautauqua patrons. As he ran his fingers down the list he discussed the various numbers with interest. He spoke of the remarkable honor which has been accorded the Illinois Glee Club. The story has leaked out that after the Central System had contracted with the glee club a European agency offered them a tour of England, France and Germany. This is the first time such a chance has come to an American quartet and the members of the glee club were delighted and disposed to accept. Having advertised them on their programs the Central System refused to release them. The European agent then made the contract for next year. Our patrons will thus be privileged to hear this remarkable organization. The play-singers is one of the companies organized and coached by Louis O. Runner, Chicago's famous musical producer. These young women have played and sung their way into the hearts of hundreds who have heard them. The bureau which had their time in New York last winter wrote that "they were the most satisfactory musical company we have ever listed." Tom Morgan is a rising young baritone who is sure to become famous. He has great range of voice and his clear deep tones carry with remarkable force and volume. Mr. Skelton, leader of the University Orchestra, is a well-known musician, having toured as director of the Symphony Orchestra. His organization is a rare combination of individual artists. Aside from the regular program Mr. Skelton will welcome suggestions from the audience, and will at each program render special numbers of popular favorites "by request." The management asks that these suggestions be submitted to the platform superintendent, who will hand them to Mr. Skelton. Miss Mae Shepherd, the dramatic soprano, who appears in the closing day of the program, is too well-known to require an introduction. With rare personal charm and stately stage presence she adds womanly graces to a beautiful voice of bell-like tone. Her costume recital gives some suggestion of her stage work which has made her famous. Besides the operatic numbers and arias she has on her program some of the simpler classics which make such universal appeal for popularity. While not classed among the musicians Elma B. Smith, the petite little lady entertainer, has been so long at the head of her own companies that she is well-known to the platform and public. The Central System does not believe in extreme statements, but they have declared without reservation that in Elma B. Smith they are presenting absolutely the greatest child impersonator now on the Chautauqua platform. Annual School Meeting. Notice is hereby given that the annual school meeting of Fractional School District No. 7, Tawas City and Tawas township, will be held at the high school building, Tawas City, Monday, July 13, 1914, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., for the transaction of such business as may come before it, including the reading of the annual reports and the election of one trustee. Dated at Tawas City, June 25, 1914. LEN J. PATTERSON, adv. Sec. Bd. of Education. Teachers Attention. The next regular teachers' examination will be held in the court house, Tawas City, August 13-14, 1914. Reading will be based on "Enoch Arden," (Tennyson.) Respectfully, J. A. CAMPBELL, adv-33 Commissioner. Tawas City Chautauqua. D. & M. Ry. will sell tickets at 1 1/2 fare for the round trip at stations where there are agents on main line, AuSable to Omer, inclusive, except East Tawas, also from all stations where there are agents on Lincoln, Rose City, Prescott and AuGres divisions. Tickets on sale July 13, 14 and 15, good returning until July 16, inclusive. Tickets will not be sold on trains. A fine program has been prepared. adv-28

My Mother—A Prayer. For the body you gave me, the bone and the sinew, the heart and the brain that are yours, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for the light in my eyes, the being. All that I am is from you who bore me. For all the love that you gave me, unmeasured from the beginning, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for the hand that led me, the voice that directed me, the breast that nestled me, the arm that shielded me, the lap that rested me. All that I am is by you, who nursed me. For your smile in the morning and your kiss at night, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for the tears you shed over me, the prayers you said for me, for your vigils and ministrings. All that I am is by you, who reared me. For the faith you had in me, the hope you had for me, for your trust and your pride, my mother, I thank you. I thank you for your praise and your chiding, for the justice you bred into me and the honor you made mine. All that I am is by you, who taught me. For the sore travail that I caused you, for the visions and despairs, my mother, forgive me. Forgive me the peril I brought you, the sobs and the moans I wrung from you, and for the strength I took from you, mother, forgive me. For the fears I gave you, for the alarms and dreads, my mother, forgive me. Forgive the joys I deprived you, the toils I made for you, for the hours, the days, and the years I claimed from you, mother, forgive me. For the times that I hurt you, the times that I had no smile for you, the caresses I did not give you, my mother, forgive me. Forgive me for my angers and revolts, for my deceits and evasions, for all the pangs and sorrows I brought to you, mother, forgive me. For your lessons I did not learn, for your wishes I did not heed, for the counsels I did not obey, my mother, forgive me. Forgive me my pride in my youth and my glory in my strength that forgot the holiness of your years and the veneration of your weakness, for my neglect, for my selfishness, for all the great debts of your love that I have not paid, mother, sweet mother, forgive me. And may the peace and the joy that passeth all understanding be yours, my mother, forever and ever.—Amen.—Tom Dillon in Michigan Tradesman. Demand for Veal Rapidly Increasing. "The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered, but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell for from $8 to $12 when only two to three months old." This quotation from farmer's bulletin 588 of the department means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves, and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met. While the number of cattle has decreased the demand for meat has naturally grown, until not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers, that they may provide cheaper meat, are now buying many cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought nearly finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or to take thinner animals. The cattle-feeding business has greatly changed during recent years. Formerly steers from four to six years of age were fed in large numbers on commercial feed at yards near granaries or mills, or upon large farms where only the roughage was grown, and the cattle were kept on full feed for six months or longer. This method became too expensive, so feeding is now conducted upon farms as a means of marketing farm products by converting them into beef, while the manure produced is utilized as a by-product for maintaining fertility. Notice. Will the person in the auto who picked up the post to my brass bed on the Wilber road, to days ago, leave same at Herald office, and receive reward. adv-28 HARRY W. Prosecuting Attorney's Report. Report of official business of the prosecuting attorney for the county of Iosco to the attorney general of the state of Michigan, for the six months, ending June 30, 1914: Total number prosecuted 8 Total number convicted 8 Total number acquitted 0 Total number discharged on examination 0 All fines and costs levied have been collected and turned into the treasury of Iosco county. Complaints received of all kinds, unclassified, during the same six months, were 218, of which 210 were investigated fully, and satisfactory adjustments made without extra cost to Iosco county. In these 210 cases the satisfactory settlements made it unnecessary to bring these cases into court. Respectfully submitted, ALBERT W. BLACK, Prosecuting Attorney. From the foregoing report, as well as former reports made by me during my term of office, it will be seen that the highest degree of economy has been practiced in my official duties, inasmuch as every case is settled out of court that can be settled with satisfaction to all parties concerned—thereby saving the county from the cost of extensive law suits, court fees, etc. It will also be seen that convictions have been secured in so many cases that the fines and costs recovered go a long way toward paying the entire expense of the administration of the criminal law in this county. The check system on fines and costs made by me during my term of office insures the county against loss of any fines and costs. In fact every dollar of fines and costs levied has been collected and turned into the treasury of this county, and an account is kept in my office until such matters are completed by the different justices of the peace. Since I went into office nearly 200 cases have been tried in the different courts in the county by me, unassisted by any extra counsel in any case, out of which there have been five acquittals, all of which is respectfully submitted to the people of this county. ALBERT W. BLACK, adv. Prosecuting Attorney. Cleaner Federation Meeting. The Iosco County Federation quarterly meeting was held at Taft Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was good, and the interest was excellent. At noon the ladies of the Federation served a basket dinner in the dining-room on the second floor of the Gleaner hall, and closed the feast with ice-cream and cake. The afternoon session was public, and Mr. Lincoln and Ed. McDonald of Omer and Representative E. B. Follett of Hale made short addresses. Marion Jennings gave a recitation and Margaret Sibley sang a solo. The Iosco County Gleaner Comet, edited by Mrs. Fred Jennings of Hale, was read. Mrs. Etta Frockins of Taft was appointed as editor for the next number. Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Marvin of Detroit were present, and discussed the Federation work. Mr. Marvin stated that the Gleaners are going to win a great battle for the farmers of this country, which will restore to the nation's greatest producers the control of their products. He also stated that before 1915 the Gleaners will have added fire and lightning insurance, and that a state federation will be held at Lansing in December. Before closing the Federation voted to meet in Hale with Wesley C. Arbor, the first Tuesday in October. Then the ladies served ice-cream, which closed a most successful county meeting. WANTS, FOR SALE, ETC. For Sale.—A quantity of good house blocks. Inquire of L. H. Emerson, Tawas City. Found.—One of the best fire and lightning insurance companies in the state. Over $40,000,000 at risk. For particulars write H. N. Sheppard, local agent, R. D. 2, Whittemore, Mich. 33. Girls Wanted.—To work in the silk mills. Clean, light work; good wages; steady employment. If you are looking for work with best conditions and surroundings, address Belding Bros. & Co., Belding, Mich. 33.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., JULY 10, 1914

In a letter resigning his editorial connection with the Outlook, Teddy Roosevelt, the egoistical leader of the progressive party, says that he deems it imperative that he take a more or less active part in politics, and to stand in strong opposition to the present administration. The letter displays the egoism of the man in an unmistakable manner, and implies that the country will surely go to the demnition bow-wows if he does not take a hand in running affairs. Speaking of administrations, more real, practical, progressive legislation has been accomplished in the past two years than in the seven years that Roosevelt was at the head of the nation, and realizing this the people who constitute the deciding factor in political affairs will not be deluded into placing the ex-president in office again. If the progressive party desires the confidence of the people and expects to take a position of influence in the nation's affairs, the quicker it repudiates the dictatorial attitude of Roosevelt and relegates him to a less commanding position in the party, the better it will be off.

Acting on the old adage that "when thieves fall out honest men get a chance," the split between Villa and Carranza, the two constitutionalist leaders in Mexico, should be the opportunity for some hitherto unknown man to seize the plum for which both rebels are fighting. That is, if Mexico has a man within her borders who combines the qualities of a leader with ideas of justice and square dealing towards all men, regardless of wealth or station.

Governor Ferris has announced that he will probably not be a candidate for renomination, owing to the illness of his wife. Mrs. Ferris has requested him not to run, as she may not have long to live, and wishes him to be with her as much as possible. The governor's decision will be greatly regretted by Michigan democrats, as he is unquestionably the strongest candidate they could put up.

President Wilson's decision to consult with some of the country's leading business men and financiers before pushing his anti-trust measures is meeting with favorable comment throughout the country. The chief executive is a man who will accept the views of these men at their true value, and who will not be unduly influenced by them.

Six candidates for the republican nomination for governor already in the race, and the entries do not close until the 25th of the month. Surely the electors of that party ought to be able to pick one able man out of a bunch like that, even if no more aspirants appear.

Gameness Wins.

Many an up-hill fight has been fought and won on pure gameness. History is replete with instances of generals who simply wouldn't admit defeat in the face of crushing odds and repeated overwhelming, but kept marshalling and remarrying their forces, kept fighting back, kept pounding incessantly away at the enemies' entrenchments until, by the very indomitable spirit of their "gameness," the tide of victory finally turned in their favor.

And in business history parallel cases can be pointed to beyond number. Forlorn hopes have been ultimately brought to realization, out of crumbling ruins have been reared new walls of success, repeated repulses have been taken on the point of the sword until that sword found a vulnerable spot in opposition's armor and was driven home.

They say it is a wise man who knows when he is beaten. Yes, but it is a wiser man who can see beyond temporary defeat and will not admit defeat so long as there is a single untried loophole, not of escape, but through which to conduct a sortie.

In other words, it is a wise man who knows the value of "gameness."

There are very few things worth winning that come easily. The bigger the goal, usually the harder the fight to win it.

And the young man who is striking out for the big things had better include among his assets a liberal fund of gameness to carry him over the hard places and to keep him fighting upward all the time.—Ex.

For County Treasurer.

I wish to announce to the republican voters of Isoco county that I will be a candidate for the nomination for the office of county treasurer at the August primaries, and respectfully solicit your patronage.

Government to Co-Operate With Michigan Against Forest Fires.

A co-operative fire agreement which has been entered into between the U. S. department of agriculture and the state of Michigan provides for an expenditure by the government of not to exceed $5,000 a year toward meeting the expenses of forest fire protection in Michigan.

This form of co-operation between the government and the state is made possible by a law which congress passed in 1911, and which has already been taken advantage of by the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

The law, besides providing for the purchase by the government of lands on the headwaters of navigable rivers for the purpose of creating national forests to protect these rivers, appropriated $200,000, which the secretary of agriculture might expend to protect similar lands in state or private ownership from fire, in co-operation with the states. It was provided in the law that the federal expenditures in any state should not exceed the amount spent by the state itself in the co-operative work. Provision for the continuance of the work in the fiscal year, which began July 1, has been made by an appropriation of $100,000 for the year. The original appropriation of $200,000 was available until expended, and with a supplementary $75,000, has carried the work to the present time.

The secretary of agriculture requires as a preliminary to co-operating with any state, that the state authorities submit a definite plan showing in detail exactly what it is proposed to do. With these plans are required maps showing areas to which protection should be given. These areas must be actually on the watersheds of navigable streams, and the plan of protection well conceived and thoroughly practical, with an organized system of administration by state officers.

The amount spent yearly in any one state by the government is limited to $10,000. It is used solely for paying lookout watchmen or patrolmen. The state officials select these men, subject to the approval of the department of agriculture. The maps submitted to the government show where each of the men will be located, the approximate routes of patrol, and all features necessary to a clear understanding of the state's plan of fire control, including the location of lookout stations, telephone lines, headquarters of state fire wardens, and the like.

Under the terms of the co-operative agreements the secretary of agriculture may terminate the co-operation at any time that he finds it not to be conducted in a satisfactory manner. In this way the responsibility for organizing and maintaining the work is placed upon the state which, however, must keep its system up to a good standard of efficiency in order to have the co-operation with the government continued. Forestry officials of the department of agriculture act as inspectors to keep the department informed as to how the states are handling the work. Under this plan a great advance has been made in the development of efficient state systems of fire protection.

The Chautauqua Is Forty Years Old.

The present summer marks the 40th anniversary of that most distinctively American institution, the Chautauqua. In this connection it is of interest that the past 12 months have witnessed the greatest development of the Chautauqua movement in all its history.

There are 800 more Chautauqs in the United States this summer than there were in 1913, increasing the grand total to about 2,930. More than 2,200 of this number are held in tents. In fact, the most important and far-reaching innovation that has come to this movement was the introduction about seven years ago of the traveling tent or "circuit" Chautauqua, which someone has styled "the last word in popular education."

This new factor had its inception in the west, first invading Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri, then spreading into Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. In the Middle West the traveling tent Chautauqua made its debut in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Michigan, and later in the South in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Texas. This season in New York, the state in which the Chautauqua idea originated, there will be at least 25 circuit Chautauqs.

This year the Chautauqua season began a month earlier than usual. Having opened in cities on the southern seaboard in late April, it will close simultaneously in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, and parts of the west, in September. This will be just in time for the annual social and business gathering of the international organization of lecturers, musicians and all others interested in our American forum as represented in the Lyceum and Chautauqua. The gathering will be held at the birthplace of the Chautauqua movement.

In this anniversary year of the Chautauqua movement it will be recalled that Bishop Vincent and the late Lewis Miller of Akron, Ohio, began their notable and far-reaching work solely as a religious gathering under the giant trees near the northern end of Lake Chautauqua, N. Y. Born in the days of the camp-meeting it represented an innovation. It was undenominational, or, as Mr. Miller liked to state it, "all-denominational."

Later, a course in systematic study of the Bible was inaugurated. Then came courses in arts and crafts, domestic science, and the introduction of programs of music and different phases of entertainment, and ere long the original Chautauqua became a city of streets, business blocks, schools and churches, its area comprising about 300 acres, and its activities annually witnessed by 50,000 people.—American Review of Reviews for July.

Stops Neuralgia—Kills Pain.

Sloan's Liniment gives instant relief from neuralgia or sciatica. It goes straight to the painful part—soothes the nerves and stops the pain. It is also good for rheumatism, sore throat, chest pains and sprains. You don't need to rub—it penetrates. Mr. J. R. Swinger, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I suffered with quite a severe neuralgic headache for four months without any relief. I used Sloan's Liniment for two or three nights and I haven't suffered with my head since." Get a bottle today. Keep in the house all the time for pains and all hurts—25c, 50c and $1. Gertrude Guller

One of the least appreciated of all those who appear in musical productions is the accompanist. Yet much of the success of more prominent parts is the sympathy and precision with which the piano is played.

Miss Guller is an excellent accompanist, and, what is more, a versatile musician. As vocalist, violinist and pianist in the concerts on the last day of the Chautauqua she fills a modest, but an important, place.

The Play-Singers---Chautauqua's Best Lady Concert Company---Who Will Appear at Our Chautauqua

Story telling is an art as old as the race. To tell stories in music is an exceptional art. The Play-Singers make their instruments talk. There is the universal language of harmony. Every nation understands a musical masterpiece. Rich and poor, high and low, young and old enjoy the descriptive numbers of the Play-Singers.

Few knew how to look at a picture until instructed. Without guidance many do not enter into an appreciation of the best music. The Play-Singers make it plain. It is a frequent expression heard after one of their programs, "Well, I never knew there was so much in music; I can now appreciate it."

One of the Lyceum bureaus which engaged the winter tour of the Play-Singers wrote after the season was over that this was the greatest musical success they had ever booked.

The program committee has such confidence in this company that they have decided to give them the entire time of the afternoon program for the second day. They will also give another concert in the evening preceding the lecture by Governor Vessey.

Wise and Otherwise.

Before asking a girl whether her crooked figure is due to an attack of sciatic rheumatism, it is safer to learn whether she may not be practicing the debutante slouch.

A Baltimore man won a bet by rolling three miles. The dime museums have all quit business, and it must be very annoying to have a great career cut out and no place to put it.

We should at least give Rockefeller credit for the million dollar fund he has established for research work to aid suffering humanity. The government generally looks after the welfare of hogs and other animals, so John thought he might as well be the goat and do something for 'us lambs.

Domestic science is all right for school days, but the mother finds that no rules of book anything for domesticating the 9-year-old boy who uses the west side of his trousers for smoothing off rough boards, tests the waterproof qualities of his shoes in every mud puddle, and uses the toes of his boots where a sledge hammer, ax or pick and shovel would do much better.

Kitchen Kinks.

Gum camphor sprinkled around the haunts of ants will drive them away.
Put saucapan of boiling water in oven when baking rolls. Steam will make crust smooth and tender.

When oven is too hot at first, a crust will form on a cake and prevent its raising. It is best to have the oven a little slow at first, then increase the heat after ten minutes.

Baking powder biscuits should be baked in a very quick oven, as hot as possible without burning the biscuits. One that will brown a piece of white paper in one minute is none too hot.

Teacups, no matter how carefully they are washed and dried, sometimes get dark stains at the bottom. These are caused by the action of the tannin in the tea. (Salt, slightly moistened, will remove these stains, but in the case of very fine china it is wiser to use powdered whitenings instead, as salt might scratch the china.

Of Interest to Women.

Egg stains on table linen should be soaked out in cold water before washing.
Coffee Stains—Put a basin underneath, and pour hot water through the material.

If silver is to be stored away for some time, pack it with dry flour, and it will remain untarnished.

Fruit Stains on Linen—Make a paste of powdered starch and water. Cover the stain, leave on some time, then brush off lightly.

Grease marks can be at once removed with petroleum—but with no light near! Work from beyond the mark gradually towards the center of it.

AS A MAN THINKS.

"Men imagine that thought can be kept secret, but it cannot; it rapidly crystallizes into habit, and habit solidifies into circumstances. Man is a growth by law, and not a creation by artifice, and cause and effect is as absolute and undeviating in the hidden realm of thought as in the world of visible and material things. And again he says: 'A man is literally what he thinks, his character being the complete sum of all his thoughts.'

"As within, so without—always and inevitably. A thoroughly scientific foundation, we will find as we go deeply enough, underlies the statement: As a man thinketh in his heart so is he. There is nothing by way of habit, character, even achievement that can get into a man's or a woman's life except through the avenue of his or her mental life. Search as carefully and as critically as we will, we will find no exceptions to this rule."—James Allen.

PARADISE FOR THE "HOBBO"

Should Emigrate to Africa and Pass His Days as Does the Head Men of Village.

Natives of certain districts in Africa descend into a certain state of coma when there is no active work for them to do, or at least when there is no compulsion to do it. Capt. C. H. Stigand, in his book, "Hunting the Elephant in Africa," states a belief that the native is capable of assuming a state in which the mind is absolutely detached and not working, and when in such a state he is only recalled by a start to his present surroundings: "The life of the head man of a village in Nyasaland, when not engaged in the strenuous pursuit of his official duties, is something like this:

"At sunrise he crawls out of his hut and sits outside. After a short time his wife crawls out and offers him some food. He eats this and then makes his way to a tree, perhaps a hundred yards from the village. Under this he sits in deep abstraction, till about noon, when a child brings him some food and water. After partaking of this he moves a little so as to get the afternoon shade. He then sits in deep meditation till sunset, when he crawls into his hut and goes to sleep.

"Sometimes he is joined by a few other old men under his tree. They hardly ever speak to each other, and if they say anything it is to make some obvious remark as, 'There is a dog,' 'Yes, it is a dog,' 'Oh, 'Ah,' and a further period of silence."

COMBINED WORK AND SLEEP

Mexican Indian Seemed to Have Solved a Problem Which Has Puzzled His White Brother.

"They call the Mexican Indians lazy," said Alfred Y. Sundstrom, the well-known engineer, "but the Mexican Indian is the only man I've ever seen who works while he sleeps."

"In the interior of Mexico, one balmy January afternoon, I came upon an Indian hut romantically situated beside a stream. A hammock of native grass was swung across a narrow branch of the stream, an Indian slept in the hammock, and a string, tied to his foot, dangled in the water.

"As I approached, the string tightened with a jerk. The Indian awoke. There was a fish of three pounds weight on the end of it.

"Here you are, Mercedes!" shouted the Indian.

"His brown wife came and removed the fish. She re-baited the hook. Then the Indian, lying back in the hammock again, resumed his sleep-angling act.

"Work while you sleep—I've never seen it done except in Mexico among the supposedly lazy Indians."

HEALTH IN EXTREME COLD.

Sir Ernest Shackleton affirms that during all the months spent in the extreme cold of the antarctic not one of his company suffered from a cold. No sooner, however, did their vessel reach a warmer latitude than every man on board was smitten with catarrh. And "cold snaps" are even more costly in England than in the United States. To builders, plasterers and many carpenters and joiners frost or snow means temporary unemployment. Shipbuilding, too, cannot be carried on at low temperatures, and when the mercury drops to freezing point all the yards are idle. All waterside laborers suffer by severe cold, and fishermen about the coasts affirm that frost drives the fish into deep water. It has been calculated, indeed, that a day's continued frost or snow in that country means a million men idle and a loss of wages which affects the whole trading and laboring community.

INDORSEMENTS.

"I understand," said the Mexican dictator, "that you have amassed a considerable amount of wealth."

"Yes," replied the trembling citizen. "But as a representative of industry and thrift I want to say that I indorse your policies."

"I'm not asking you to indorse my policies. What I want you to do is to get busy and indorse my notes."

THEIR CLASS.

"The managers of these vice-plays are infringing on the duties of grand juries."

"In what way?"

"By presenting a nuisance."

Human Falling.
A man kicks about the weather the year round. The only variation he makes is to look at different ends of the thermometer.

Where He Makes Mistake.
Tell a man he's no better than he ought to be and he'll get mad enough to give the impression that he ought to be better than he is.

All the Difference.
"They say my son is a credit to me." "Mine," said his friend, "has never been anything but a liability."

It Doesn't Pay.
The trouble with the man who falls is that he wants to wait until tomorrow to study the lesson of the hour.

WILLING YOUR FEET WARM.
Now that winter has really begun the problem of cold feet at night becomes unpleasantly provocative. To many people hot water bottles are an abomination—they are to me. But have you ever tried "willing" your feet warm when you get into bed? A man told me the other day that he concentrated his mind, as it were, on his feet, and willed them warm. Presently there was a sensation of tingling in his calves, and then his heels begin to glow. The last night or two I have tried this method, with some success. When I get more accustomed to it I hope to succeed perfectly. And there is this advantage about it, while you are willing your feet warm you can't be worrying about anything else. It's a great idea.—London Chronicle.

MUST BE EXPERT DANCERS.
Dancing at the German court is always a matter to be taken seriously. The kaiser is himself an expert dancer, and will have only experts at the state balls. At all these functions the court dancing master occupies a place of vantage from which he can watch the dancers and any mistakes or clumsiness will be certain to bring the delinquent a polite intimation that he must mend his steps or expect no further invitations.

A MANAGER'S WOES.
"Why do you always take your vacation in Afghanistan?"
"In Afghanistan," replied the theatrical manager, "only about ten per cent. of the population are able to read and write."
"What has that to do with your vacation?"
"Reduces the number of plays I have to glance over just 90 per cent."
—Kansas City Journal.

Unfortunate Transaction.
"What became of that fellow Tuesday?"
"Oh, he opened a shop." "Doing well?"
"No—doing time. He was caught in the act."
