The big Prescott & Gaige ranch and stock farm near Prescott was visited by a disastrous fire Monday afternoon, in Services at Christ church next Sun- which two barns, a large tool shed, a day: Holy communion, 7:30; morning granary and several stacks of straw were The fire is supposed to have started from spontaneous combustion. The clamation asking the people of the large barn contained about 80 to 100 tons of hay, the oats cut from 40 acres, 4, as a day on which to pray for world which would probably have threshed from 2,000 to 2,500 bushels, and 500 bushels or more of wheat.

The tool shed was 20x100 feet and contained a large amount of farm tools which were destroyed. Only a small insurance was carried either on the buildings or contents.

This is the second big fire which has visited the Prescott ranches during the past year. A little less than a year ago several barns and other buildings on another ranch were destroyed, and it was only by heroic work that the stock barns bave just been rebuilt the past summer, and it is probable that work will be begun at once to replace those lost in Monday's fire.

The Athletics lost two close games to East Tawas Sunday and Monday. Sunday's game at the fair grounds was almost a foregone conclusion before the game, as a glance at the weakened lineup will show. The Star Spangled Banner

Composed by Francis Scott Key on September 13, 1814

Whose broad stripes and bright stars thro' the perilous

And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,

Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.

Oh! say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,

What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last

O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly

Oh, say, does that star spangled banner still wave

O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep,

As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?

In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream:

Oh! thus be it ever when freemen shall stand

Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,

What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,

Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam

'Tis the star spangled banner: oh, long may it wave

O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave.

Between their loved homes and wild war's desolation;

Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n-rescued

Praise the pow'r that hath made and preserved us a

And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave

O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave.

Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,

And this be our motto, - "In God is our trust!"

But while preachers and editors are criticized for what they do say, no one thinks of giving them credit for wha they do not say. Very many people harbor the belief that newspapers are eager to publish derogatory things. It's a mistake. There's not a newspaper that could not spring a sensation in the community at any time by telling what it knows. There is not a newspaper that does not keep under the lock of secrecy scores of derogatory things which never meet the public eye or reach the public ear! Deciding what not to print is the most troublesome part of newspaper work. How many good stories are suppressed for innocent relatives and for the public good nobody outside a newspaper office has any idea of.

In some cases he who flies into passion because a newspaper prints something about him which he considers uncomplimentary has every reason to feel profoundly grateful to the newspaper for publishing so little of what it knows

PATRIOTISM.

Next Sunday, September 13, anniversary of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key. The writer probably little thought when composing this song that it would become one of the most famous songs in the world and become the national anthem of his beloved country. Key was prisoner on one of the British and thereby averted the terrible medieval fanaticism and assertion of warships that were bombarding Fort McHenry, and when darkness fell on the night of Sept. 12, 1814, it was doubtful whether the fort would be able to hold out against the terrific attack which was being made upon it. There was no sleep for the joy knew no bounds and he was inspired to write the words of the never-dying song which has been sung with increasing love and reverence by millions of patriotic Americans during the past hundred years.

TO ALL ENGAGED IN DAIRY BUSINESS

Making butter on the farm is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Any housewife knows what it means of drudgery to make good butter, and what difficulties she encounters in her attempt to find a satisfactory market for her product. Her outlet is limited. The creamery has every large city on the continent within its reach. The creamery is plugging every day for the interests of the dairy farmer as well as for its own.

We are now in the midst of our third season and business is humming. Prices are good and the outlook fine. We are making nearly four times as much butter as we did in 1912. That also means that we are able to handle your cream to the very best advantage for you. Come and see us or ship us a can. We know we can please you.

Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Master of the Universe in His infinite value caunot be overstated. You are wisdom to take from us our worthy brother, Albert Scherret, whose quiet want. What other commodity of Christian life earned for him the respect of everyone who knew him, we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Albert Scherret was a regular member of our order and his faithful attendance and good works will be missed by his brothers and sisters, but let us hope that his life was made as happy by his associations among us as ours was by his, and while we deeply mourn our loss, let us carry through life the pleasant recollection of his companionship.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the members of Sherman Grange No. 1119 do hereby express our since a sympathy to the relatives of our deceased brother; that our hall be draped for a period of thirty days; and further resolved, that these resolutions be spread at length upon the records and a copy be sent to the bereaved family and to the county paper for publication.
