A "COMMON SENSE" REPRESENTATIVE.

Our representative in the state legislature, E. B. Follett, is getting a great deal of publicity lately through the medium of the state press, his name being often mentioned in connection with the dispatches regarding the work of the legislature.

"Lawyer Flowers and Farmer Follett, in their capacity as members of the house, entertained Wednesday afternoon's session with a legal argument as to whether or not the word "knowingly" should be stricken from the weights and measures act.

"At the 1913 session there was enacted a law vesting in the dairy and food commissioner power to prosecute all merchants and others who use short measures or short scales.

But it developed that while short measures and short weight scales could be confiscated, the users could not be prosecuted unless it was proven that the owners "knowingly" short-weighted, or short-measured a customer.

"Farmer Follett cited several cases. One was where the city of Detroit bought a number of barrels of oil from a company. It transpired that every barrel was a few gallons short of the capacity stenciled on the heads.

"Farmer Follett had introduced a bill to eliminate the word "knowingly" from the act so prosecutions would stick. Lawyer Flowers objected.

To dispense with the word "knowingly" in the act would make "a new rule of law." "Knowingly" from time immemorial had been in laws of this kind and by all legal principles a precedent should not be set to dispense with it.

In our opinion a few more "farmer" representatives in our state legislature would be of more actual benefit to the people at large. With their "common sense" ideas, than so many lawyers who stick so closely to "immemorial legal principles" which should have been cast into the discard years ago.

That Michigan is forging to the front in the matter of good roads, and that the sentiment is firmly established in this state, is evidenced by the report of Frank F. Rogers, state highway commissioner, at the annual convention of the Michigan Good Roads association at Grand Rapids last week.

FATHER GOOSE FOR FARMERS.

Jack Sprat raised hogs so fat Not one of them was lean. He sent them into market and He made five thousand clean.

Jack and Jill went up the hill. Both were highly elated. The auto they run is a costly one And it never hesitated.

Little Bo Peep had so many sheep She didn't know where to fold them. So one fine day she sent them away And at the stock yards sold them.

Little Bo Peep a fortune did reap And invested it all in chickens. Every fellow she knows comes round to propose They bother her like the dickens.

OUR SCHOOL COLUMN

Devoted to the interests of the Schools of Iosco County

Primary Reading.

Function of primary reading.—Primary reading differs from other classes of reading in that word forms must be learned for the first time.

When the child has finished the primary grades, whatever else he may have learned, he must have mastered the art of knowing words at sight and connecting them with what they stand for.

For many centuries schools taught little children the letters first and then set them to studying syllables and words. But in doing so they overlooked that one can distinguish boy from girl more easily than b from g.

When it was discovered that children may get word pictures before learning the letters that compose words, a great advance was made because of added interest on the children's part.

Phonic Method.—In order to do this, however, someone who knows each word would have to be beside the reader to tell him the name of each. This is a waste of time, if a method can be devised by which children may build up words for themselves.

This is accomplished by the use of phonics. After a number of words have been learned as pictures, the children begin to notice the differences and this leads gradually and naturally to letters. If the children study words long enough, they would discover the letters for themselves; though of course some one would have to tell them the names of the letters.

But when they learn the names of the letters, they are not greatly benefited in getting hold of new words for themselves; for the names of the letters when put together seldom give the word.

Kindly remember that semifinal spelling contest will be held April 10. Final contest in Court house, April 17.

Some Forms of Rheumatism Curable.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and chronic rheumatism, rheumatic headaches, sciatic rheumatism and lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially rheumatic pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c bottle now. Keep it handy in a case of emergency. adv-3

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. The editor of the Herald received a letter this week from E. A. Bronson, a former citizen here, who is now located at Kenmare, N. Dakota. He encloses a two years advance subscription to the Herald and writes us as follows:
"Have had a very fine winter here, hardly any snow and nice warm weather. Business is a little better than the average at present. Emigration has begun to move and by the first of April, if it is anything like the spring of 1910-1911 was, there will be 100 cars per day go through the customs at the boundary line. But I do not expect anything like that. Even twenty-five will surpass me, as the conditions in the Northwest lay. Things look very good for abundant crops this year, and stock looks 30 per cent better this spring than any time in the past five years, so the small farmers ought not to be in want for power. Have shipped live stock all winter, the first time I have any knowledge of this being done in northwestern N. Dakota."

EDUCATIONAL EFFICIENCY.
that it was their privilege to seize. Thoughtful people are beginning to see that our public school system, as efficient as it may be today, is under some obligation to this vast throng of unfortunates who may be considered in part, at least, as victims of its neglect.
Antecedent conditions are to blame for the failure of the schools to meet the needs of the masses. Higher education in this country was founded for the ministry and has gradually broadened out to include the other learned profession. As a result of this powerful influence, most of the work—all of it in some schools—is preparatory for professional rather than for industrial or commercial life.
It is my belief that the public schools should not only prepare for college but also for the great university of the world's activities. Modern business has developed wonderfully along all lines in the past ten years and is demanding trained men with no less preparation for their life work than that of a professional man. Business methods have been reduced to a science, experts are required for all lines of work and efficiency has become the key word to success. Large corporations are looking for young men whose ability and training has given them the power to grow in their work. Now, from the fact that so large a proportion of the graduates of the public schools do not enter professional life or even go to college, but go out into the wide world of business opportunity without chart or compass, we must realize that the traditional curriculum is failing to meet the requirements of modern civilization.
Efficiency is now demanded in all undertakings. The waste of our public schools is sufficient to force them into bankruptcy. Ninety per cent of those who enter the first grade drop out before the year of graduation from the high school. There must be some real reason for their deliberate action. Some of them may leave for causes beyond their control. Statistics gathered by Prin. Jesse B. Davis, of Grand Rapids Central high school, show that sixty per cent of those who leave the high school do so because it does not offer them what in their opinion and experience, they need for the work that they desire to enter. Not having been given a definite vocational aim, they drift into the first job that offers and stand or fall in the school of "hard knocks" without the aid that the public schools should have given them.
Prin. Davis has been working along this line for a number of years and is getting excellent results. Much of the information that I have presented was obtained from a recent work of his.
Now Mr. Private Citizen, it is up to you to investigate this matter for yourself. More than that it is time for you to act. As long as you hold back and leave the urgently needed re- adjustment to somebody else, just so long will you feel that you are sending your boy or girl to school because it is "customary" or because the law requires it, rather than to feel that every hour that your child spends in school will mean dollars and cents and honorable position to him in the future.

Sick People should Investigate
I KNOW diseases of both sexes like an open book. Have had 55 years' experience in this State in the practice of medicine and changed hundreds upon hundreds of nervous wrecks into fine, strong men and women. I accept no case I cannot help or cure. I especially invite all the discouraged, dissatisfied ones to write me about their case or come and see me; it will cost you nothing to get my truthful, honest opinion of your case, as I hold out no make any false promises. I have spent my whole life in the study and cure of chronic diseases, and my study and investigations have been blessed by many new methods of treating diseases. In 1859, I graduated from the Western Homeopathic Medical College, at Cleveland, Ohio, for two years had charge of the Alma Sanitarium, at Alma, Mich., and since that time have had Sanitariums of my own and have one now.
I treat with great success Bright's Disease and Diabetes with a Special Lymph and medicated Milk Diet.
I treat Nervous Troubles—wasting away of the body, loss of vitality, whether from excess or overwork.
I treat Epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, etc.—by striking directly at the cause trying to restore the diseased nerves to perfect health.
I treat Locomotor Ataxia—by special treatment, a Lymph compound—injected into the blood, with massages and exercises.
I treat Rheumatism—with baths, Hot Air and Lymph injections.
I treat Piles—and have cured them in from ten to twenty days, never to return.
