EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Sunday, May 23, 6 o'clock std time. Topic—"Are Children in Our Town Getting a Fair Chance, (Physically, Mentally, Morally)."

Leader—Mr. Russell Rollin. Everybody is hereby given a very cordial invitation. Mr. Rollin assures us that he will deal greatly with the boys and girls in Tawas City especially, as well as the children generally. We know he will give us something good.

In spite of the inclement weather last Sunday evening one hundred and four people were out to League. The topic was handled by both the leader and the volunteers in a very convincing manner and we are sure that the League is going to progress in the way that is always possible when "human power is raised to a higher power."

The weather passed out colds to the extent that part of the special music was not given. However a vocal duet, "Thy Will Be Done," was much enjoyed.

The contest closed last Sunday evening. The Reds won out by a score of 1,027 to 941 but not easily by a long ways, as the Blues cut the lead from 126 the previous Sunday to 85 at the contest close. And the previous week the Blues were two points ahead.

The contest began with a membership of thirty-three and an attendance of about twenty-five to a qualified membership of 106 and an attendance over the membership number, 136 being being high-water mark. There are a few more members who will qualify before the next business meeting in June, attendance, unless on account of sickness or absence from town, being necessary once a month to hold membership.

Now comes the real work of holding and interesting the members and friends and special features are going to be added that will make the meetings very attractive.

Tho'ts.
The holy spirit never really got hold of a weak League and left it weak. Catch the vision of a higher life. Dream the dream of better things. Then act upon them.

From the League the Christian is expected to go forth a trained and equipped man, ready to undertake all the tasks of the church. Will our League accomplish its task?

The one thing needful is that the man who preaches faith and love shall say, "I know," and that other men shall heed him because they have seen the evidence in his deed that he knows.

Consecration counts only when it is converted into deed.

Fight for the things that are clean, square and Christlike.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES.

Last Sunday the C. E. had a very interesting meeting led by Edith Bard. The topic was, "Why I Believe in Christian Endeavor." The work of the C. E. in connection with the church, its origin, and present day work, was discussed. Next Sunday our meeting will be led by Dorothy Lattar and the topic is "Religious Reading—What and Why." Everybody come. Meeting begins at 6:15 local. Our Mission Study is very interesting. Last Sunday the books of India were discussed by Margaret Nesbit.

HIGH SCHOOL BASE BALL.

Last Saturday the Tawas City high school team defeated the Alabaster high school team by the score of 7-1. It was a fast game all-around despite the cold weather, everyone playing a good game. Rollin pitched a good game allowing Alabaster only four safe bingles while the Tawas boys managed to connect with seven safe ones of which Woizeschke got three, a triple, double and single in four attempts.

This evens up the series between the two teams with each one game won and one lost.

Next Saturday the boys will cross bats with the East Tawas high school team at Shien park and a fast game is expected.

DECORATION AND MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor.

Now I hear his whistle; now I hear his song; now I hear the music of his horse's hoofs. He has said his last good-bye to the old home. That was fifty-five years ago. All this comes to me through the magician called Memory. On Memorial Day, I shall place flowers on his grave. Just a few of the "boys in blue" linger to recall the Civil War scenes. Only a few more years, at the longest, are theirs to live. I am sure that the boys and girls of this, the best nation on earth, have sufficient patriotic love to crave the privilege of decorating with a flower the person of every living member of the Grand Army of the Republic and every living Spanish War Veteran. Remember the dead, although they cannot acknowledge your flowers. In all the years to come the graves of our dead patriots can be decorated; but only for a few short years can we gladden the eye and shake the hand of the veteran. When we place flowers on every grave, when we speak graciously of the dead, we give most joy, most sympathy to those who remain in love, in memory, the dead.

On Memorial Day, we are sure that if the immortal Lincoln and the armies of the North and the armies of the South could assemble on one great camp ground, they would join in one great chorus for universal peace and good will.

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby issue this my Proclamation, and heartily urge the observance of Sunday, May 30, 1915, as Memorial Day.

As a part of the public exercises of Memorial Day, I suggest that bells be tolled from 12:00 o'clock noon until 12:05; that flags be placed at half mast; and that comrades stand with uncovered heads during this period.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this nineteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, and of the Commonwealth the seventy-ninth.

Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor.

Colenian C. Vaughan, Secretary of State.

SAVE LIFE AND LIMB.

To the people of Michigan: During the 1914, fireworks in the United States were responsible for the loss of forty lives, and 1506 persons injured. This is an increase of 8 deaths and 375 persons injured over the figures of the preceding year.

It will now be but a few weeks until the people of the state will read, with horror, the newspaper accounts of those killed and injured together with the amount of property destroyed by the reckless use of fireworks, firearms, etc., in the celebration of the Fourth of July.

For a number of years many of the larger cities and towns of Michigan and the entire press of the state, as well as throughout the United States have advocated a "Safe and Sane Fourth of July." Ordinances prohibiting the sale and use of fireworks have been passed and enforced in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Newark, St. Paul, Toledo, Trenton, Washington and other cities, while restrictive measures were adopted in New York, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Buffalo and many other places.

Within a short time dealers throughout the state will begin laying in their usual supply of fireworks unless the attention of the local authorities is called to the awful record of loss of life and property in former years—a record that can be greatly reduced this year if steps are taken at once to prohibit the sale of the dangerous class of fireworks.

Annually the mayors of our cities make proclamations concerning the use of cannon crackers and other dangerous noise and fire producers upon the Fourth of July, but it would be impossible for any police force to enforce the provisions of such an ordinance.

The place to begin is with the dealers. Ordinances which shall regulate or prohibit the sale of the more dangerous varieties of fireworks can be enforced much more easily than can those seeking to regulate or prohibit their use after they are once sold. Parents should be urged to use the utmost care in the purchase and later in the use of fireworks of every description.

The people of Michigan should begin to realize the awful toll of human life exacted by heedless and useless celebrations. The hundreds of children crippled and disfigured for life each year is appalling, while property burned, property that cannot be replaced, runs into hundreds of thousands.

The slogan for Michigan this year, more than ever before, should be "Safety First." The record of the past five years, showing that in the year 1910, 5307 persons were killed and injured; in 1911, 2923 persons killed and injured; in 1912, 1603 persons killed and injured; in 1913, 1163 persons killed and injured; and in 1914 there were 1546 persons killed and injured, or a total of 12,582 persons killed and injured ought to be of sufficient interest to the people of Michigan to secure their utmost cooperation in helping to make 1915—"All Cities Sane; Killed and Injured, None."

Parents' attention should be called to the following simple rules:

First. Do not buy the dangerous kinds of fireworks.

Second. Under no circumstances allow small children to handle fireworks.

Third. Do not allow children to have gas-pipe cannons.

Fourth. Toy pistols, blank cartridges, large or dynamite firecrackers, and torpedo canes are dangerous and should be prohibited by ordinance.

John T. Winship, State Fire Marshal, Lansing, May 5, 1915.

CLEAN SCHOOL HOUSES.
Some schools have already finished their year's work; others will close in a few weeks. Many of the buildings will need not only cleaning, but painting, decorating and repairing in general. The time to begin such work is immediately after the close of school. School boards should not procrastinate. When repairing is left until August, the work may be delayed and the first of September will find repairs unfinished and buildings not in readiness for the opening of school.

The movement toward better physical conditions of school surroundings is spreading throughout the state. No better investment can be made than money expended for good school conditions. Every school building should be inspected by school boards and as many improvements as possible made and these should be made without delay. No paint pails, calcimine brushes, cleaning utensils and tools should be in evidence when school opens.

THE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

Every naturalized citizen of the United States has taken the following oath of allegiance:

I hereby declare, on oath, that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly to (name of ruler of your native land), of whom I have heretofore been a subject.

I hereby declare on oath that I will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States of America against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same.

The reader may make his own comment in his own way.

NEW POSTAL SAVINGS PLAN.

Every person in the United States ten years old or over may open an account in a postal savings bank after July 1st, according to an instructive leaflet on the Postal Savings System just issued by Postmaster General Burleson. This important extension of the service will be made possible by permitting persons living in communities so sparsely settled as not to justify the designation of their local post offices as regular postal savings banks to open accounts by mail.

Governor Dockery, third assistant Postmaster General, who has direct supervision of postal savings, was so impressed by appeals from all over the country to open postal savings accounts by mail that he took up the task some weeks ago of working out a feasible and safe method for meeting a demand well illustrated in a letter from a Saline County Missourian, who resides many miles from a postal savings bank.

"Having a few hundred dollars saved from fifty years of hard and assiduous labor and skipping economy on the part of my wife and myself, we concluded to deposit it in the Postal Savings Bank of ——. We wrote to the postmaster at place and received reply to the effect that none but patrons of that office could deposit in that office which is very disappointing news to us. Our little farm is not large enough to support us and land is so high that it is impossible for us to buy more with what little we have saved and we are so old that we can't labor much now and we would be so glad to lay by at least enough to put us away in decency."

Under the plan adopted by the Postmaster General for opening accounts by mail an intending depositor, residing where there is no regularly designated postal savings bank, will apply to his local postmaster who will see that necessary identification data is prepared and forwarded to a nearby post office authorized to accept deposits. The intending depositor will then be given permission to forward his first and subsequent deposits by money order or registered mail direct to the postmaster at the banking point for which receipts or certificates will be issued. He may withdraw all or any part of his postal savings by mail on demand together with any interest that may be due him.

The new leaflet points out that any person ten years old or over may open an account in his or her own name; that an account may be opened by a married woman free from any control or interference by her husband; that post office officials are forbidden to disclose to any person, except the depositor, the amount of any deposits; that withdrawals may be made without previous notice; and that the Government guarantees to repay all deposits on demand with accrued interest.

The leaflet also points out that the 22 foreign languages for distribution through local post offices. The foreign-born citizen has taken very kindly to postal savings, and literature in his own language will be of great assistance to him. In a recent article, Postmaster General Burleson commented on the foreign-born depositor as follows:

"Upwards of 500,000 depositors now have accounts in the Postal Savings System and they represent every nationality on the earth. They also represent almost every known occupation—professional men, theatrical people, mechanics, laborers, fishermen, pack peddlers, etc. But the majority are wage-earners, and of this class the foreign-born largely predominate. A census of depositors taken by the Post Office Department shows that approximately 40 per cent (200,000) of the depositors are foreign-born citizens and they own more than 50 per cent of the deposits—splendid evidence of the confidence of our newly acquired citizens in the ability and good faith of their adopted country to fulfill its obligations.

"There is another reason which led immigrants unfamiliar with our language and business methods, to turn to the Government to safeguard their humble savings and that reason is the disastrous experiences many of them have had by the failure of bogus 'private banks' offered by swindlers of their own tongue who have preyed mercilessly upon their loneliness and credulity."

Postal savings receipts have broken all records the past year. During the eight months prior to April 1st, there was a net gain in deposits of $19,000,000, as against a gain of $8,000,000 for the same months the year before. Thousands of new accounts have been opened and the millions made up largely of hidden savings have been turned back into the channels of trade just at a time when there was pressing demand for every dollar.

PEAT DEPOSITS NEGLECTED.

There are great deposits of peat in this country which are entirely neglected and which should be made a source of income. Coke made from peat has proved serviceable in many ways in Germany. It is not only valuable for generating electricity at moorland stations, but is much used by blacksmiths, and for various metallurgical purposes, especially as a substitute for charcoal in producing high-grade iron. A new turf cooking plant at Elizabeth-Fehn, Oldenburg, converts 30 tons of peat into nine of coke, with gas and tar as by-products. Specially designed ovens are used, and the gas generated is made to heat the retorts and to generate electric current to drive dredging machines. The tar yields creosote oil, gas oil, paraffin, sulphuric acid and ammonia.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURE OF CREOSOTE INCREASES.

Owing to a falling off since August 1 of nearly 30 per cent in shipments of creosote from England and Germany, whence comes all but a small part of the imported oil used by wood preserving plants in this country, American manufacturers have taken steps which, says a report compiled by the forest service, it is estimated will increase production of the domestic article by about 25 per cent. The imported oil ordinarily forms about 65 per cent of the total used in the United States, where creosote is the most important wood preservative.

The statistics gathered show that wood preserving is one of the most rapidly advancing industries in the country. In 1895 there were fifteen plants in the United States; in 1914 there were 122 plants of all kinds, 100 being of the pressure-cylinder type. Ninety-four of these plants last year used more than 79 million gallons of creosote oil, more than 27 million pounds of dry zinc chloride, and nearly 2 1/2 million gallons of other preservatives, such as coal tar and crude oil, treating a total of nearly 160 million cubic feet of timber, an increase of about 7 million cubic feet over 1913, and of 35 million cubic feet over 1912.

The most important consumers are the large plants in which railroads ties are treated. The preservatives materially lengthen the ties' period of service, lessen the labor cost involved by renewal, and decrease the drain upon the forests due to tie-cutting. To some extent the treatment of fence posts and other forms of farm timber is being taken up, an in-expensive apparatus and method having been devised by the department of agriculture; but as yet the use of wood preservatives by farmers is on too small a scale to have any importance in the total, while the practice of treating telephone poles is in its incipency in this country.

"With the rapid advance of this industry as a whole," says the report, "the choice of preservatives has been fairly well established, but the kinds and classes of materials to be treated need development along certain lines. In Germany and other European countries practically all cross-ties laid by the railroads are treated with chemicals or preserving oils. In this country but 30 per cent of the ties purchased by the railroads are subjected to such treatment. The number of poles treated in this country is a very small per cent of the total in use."

The Reading of Books.

Of one thing I feel quite certain, that the reading of good literature is necessary to the growth of the mind and the strengthening of character, especially in young people, and that there is no resource for all periods of life so helpful, so satisfying, and so enduring as a love of good books. Channing well says: "God be thanked for books. They are the voices of the distant and the dead, and make us heirs of the spiritual life of past ages. Books are the true levelers. They give to all who will faithfully use them the society, the spiritual presence, of the best and greatest of our race."—George P. Brett, in the Atlantic.

That Newspaper Kiss.

A darling theft was wrought last night On darling little Rose;
He stole something hew anted right Beneath her very nose.

'Tis to be hoped that if fair Rose Returned the blissful smack Jack didn't overlook a bet
But turned and kissed her back.

That may be as they do the job Down in the sunny South;
But if Jack lived here in the North He'd kiss her on the mouth.

(Editor's note:—More kisses next week.)

Along Came Ruth.

"Is Elsie sick?" asked Ruth, as she made her usual morning visit.
"She isn't very well," replied her mother, "and I am trying to find an egg to cook for her, but some of these have been cooked and I don't seem to be able to tell the fresh ones from the cooked ones."

"Oh, that's easy, let me show you," volunteered Ruth, spinning them on the kitchen table, "you see the fresh ones spin like everything, while the cooked ones hardly move around once. Here is a perfectly fresh one, it spins more than all the others. Now in boiling an egg for a sick person, just put it in a quart of water in a covered vessel, away from the fire for eight minutes. Don't put it right over the fire in the usual way for it won't be half so delicate to the taste, nor will it digest so easily."
"Oh Ruth, you're such a help," declared her aunt, "and now go upstairs and see Elsie."
And Ruth passed up the staircase on another errand of cheer.

Fashions of Yesterday.

Tell me, I pray in what garret's gloom,
Linger the styles of a by-gone day?
Wedding garments of bride and groom,
Have they perished and passed away?
Why not keep them, though now past?
Who can tell when they'll reappear?
The old is returning the modistes say,

Where are the fashions of yesteryear?
Gone is the skirt of ample room,
Worn when the crimoline held sway;
Gone is the dolman, gone the plume
Worn on the bonnet of silk moire;
Gone is the silken panner—gay,
Gone is the bustle big and queer—
Gone is the petticoat array—
Where are the fashions of yesteryear?
Chignons and "new mown hay" perfume
Hair nets and curls in chaste display,
Black lace mits and "Maiden's Bloom,"
Incot weaves and matlasse,
Eton jackets with braid inlay,
Basques with points at front and rear,
Smelling salts with which to play—
Where are the fashions of yesteryear?

La Envoi

Mineret gowns are now afaif,
But they'll grow old, you need not fear,
There is no model that will stay—
Where are the fashions of yesteryear?

Household Helps.

To remove oil spots from fabrics that have been damaged in this manner at the sewing machine, brush the fabric with talcum powder. Put it on both sides, let it stand for a while, then brush it off and apply it again. After two or three applications the spot will disappear. The powder should be used on the fresh oil, it is not so effective on an old spot.

Sugar Sauce for Pudding.

One cupful of granulated sugar, half a cupful of water, a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Boil all together until it becomes the consistency of syrup. Flavor with lemon or vanilla extract. A tablespoonful of lemon juice is an improvement.

When you are about to compliment yourself for exhibiting firmness at the proper moment, doesn't it make you mad to have some one accuse you of being wilfully obstinate?

Adam went to sleep one night some thousands of years B. C. During the night one of his ribs was removed. In the morning he awoke, looked about him and exclaimed: "Hello Septem-ber Morn! How are you, old girl?"

THE FABLE OF THE MISER AND HIS NEPHEW.

Once upon a time in a bustling semi-metropolis there lived an old geezer whose ability to see money at long range was heralded for miles around. Once he had caught sight of a dollar he never rested until he had annexed it unto himself, and when thus annexed it were as easy to separate the two as it would have been to dig the Panama canal with a barn shovel. This old geezer nearly always walked on the soles of his shoes to keep the heels from running over, and he wore celluloid collars to save laundry bills. He also wore all the whiskers he could grow to stave off barber bills and to make neckties unnecessary.

One day, however, while he was on his way to foreclose a mortgage on the home of a blind woman with six small children, he was taken ill. They hauled him into a hospital because he was to ill to protest, and after carefully diagnosing the case the physicians said that by keeping him perfectly quiet he might live a week. But they were mistaken. One of the nurses had told what it was costing to stay in the hospital and he died to save further expenses. That night his debtors held a jubilee convention and his money was bequeathed to a nephew whom the old geezer had never seen.

Two months later, when the estate was settled, the nephew exchanged a big chunk of the old geezer's kale for a limousine and he and a certain chorus girl would ride out to the cemetery, eat peanuts while sitting upon the old man's grave and meditate upon how wearisome life is.

Moral—A miser is a fine thing to have for an uncle.

Wise and Otherwise.

Warmed over love reminds us of hash.

A woman hates where a man ignores.

Many a girl shatters her ideals by marrying him.

There is no such a thing as a position in a dairy.

As a rule man's rich kin are afflicted with longevity.

Prosperity never spoils a man whom adversity cannot crush.

Only a non-salaried office is compelled to seek the man.

Most of us have taken a post graduate course in giving advice.

Anyone with any kind of a fad makes himself more or less of a nuisance.

Apparently some men marry in order to get a woman to work for them without a salary.

A man feels everlastingly proud of himself when acknowledging that he has made a mistake.

You never can tell. Many a soldier gets to the front without being promoted to shoulder straps.

Honor thy father and thy mother, young man, but when they pick out a wife for you it's your cue to kick.

One nice thing about all these reform movements is that we emerge from them all without any great injury.

Balancing the scales of justice too nicely quite often results in short-weighting some parties to the action.

Most folks use the overhand stroke to give a dollar and the underhand one to retrieve two in place of the one.

At first it seems quite a treat to a man to hand his wife money but the novelty is not long in wearing off.

During good times a man squanders his money and then during hard times blames society for the inequalities of life.

Some folks have such unreasonable imaginations that they would think they were flying if they were falling from a church steeple.

It is said that if a girl has cold feet she has a warm heart and vice versa. We know girls who must be troubled with prespiring feet.

The groom may not be very conspicuous at the wedding but he at least has the satisfaction of knowing that without him there could be no bride.

Engagements are becoming more expensive since automobiles became so popular and there ain't near the same chance to get your money's worth.

When a man has a bill to meet and suq ay uoua oi suouos oi suou3 loaned money, he not only can't borrow any there but can't get back what he loaned.

Man Takes His Own Medicine Is An Optimist.

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for nature to act. You can't destroy a cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day. adv-3

A perfect town is one in which you see the business men patronizing each other, the farmer selling his produce to the local dealer and buying of his home merchant, the laboring man spending his money with the home tradesman, and all animated by a spirit that will not purchase an article abroad if it can be bought at home.

There is no doubt but that a large per cent of the degradation, disgrace and crime among the young, springs from the habit of night prowling, corner loafing and kindred acts by both sexes in city, town and hamlet all over this broad country. Any person who keeps his or her eyes open knows this. Hundreds of boys and girls are out at night and we all know that many influences for evil and one for good surround them continually.

TEACHING A COLT TO WORK

Walking Gait, Most Essential in Heavy Work, is Most Often Neglected in Training.

Not enough care is given to teaching colts to work. We often hear of breaking colts; but there is little breaking to do with the modern draft colt. They do need to be taught a few things, such as backing with a load and standing quietly when stopped. How many accidents occur from the team starting before they are told to start, and it can be avoided usually by proper training.

The walking gait is most essential in heavy work horses, and yet it is often neglected in the training, says a writer in an exchange. So many young horses know nothing about backing, for little attention is paid to this accomplishment in horses, and yet it is often very necessary that the team understand how to place the wagon in position in this manner. It should be done, not by pulling the animals back by main strength, but by talking to them, accompanied by a gentle pull on the reins.

A colt properly trained is worth considerably more than one with little or no training on account of greater ease in handling, and a great amount of work accomplished with less risk to both driver and the animals. It would be time well spent if more attention were given to these matters by farmers and horse dealers.

Clever Utilization of Power.

At a mine in South Africa, says Prometheus, the water supply has to be drawn from a considerable distance, and must, on its way, cross a ridge some 600 feet high. The water arriving at the mine is thus under considerable head, and power is recovered from it by means of Pelton wheels driving dynamos. In this way from 90 to 160 horsepower is gained, according to the volume of water flowing, and is utilized for various purposes at the mine. At another mine the cars conveying the ore run down an incline a vertical distance of about 250 feet. From the 2,200 tons of oil daily mined some fifty horse power of electrical energy is here recovered by winding the cable of each car around a drum which actuates a dynamo.

Supplanting the Tallow Candles.

Probably the first exhibition of inflammable gas ever given in this country was the display made by fireworks in Philadelphia in 1796. The exhibition was merely for entertainment purposes. The gas was released through holes in iron tubes, for the burner, as we know it today, had not been invented. No one, however, thought the illuminant would ever be generally utilized, and it never dawned upon those who saw the exhibition that the tallow candle would, in the course of time, be driven from the field by this peculiar commodity. It was half a century after this Philadelphia exhibition before gas had taken the place of candles and oil lamps in the homes of the best people of our American cities.—"New York Leads the World in Gas Development," W. C. Jenkins, in National Magazine.

Hale High School Commencement Exercises.

About three hundred people, friends and relatives of the eight graduates of the Hale high school assembled at eight o'clock Friday evening, May 14th in the M. E. church, where the annual class day exercises were held. The church was beautifully decorated with the class colors blue and gold, and by many beautiful plants and flowers.

Promptly at eight o'clock to the strains of a military march played by Miss Alderton of South Branch, the class of 1915 consisting of five boys and three girls marched in and took their places on the rostrum, accompanied by their principal, Geo. N. Wood. Rev. O. L. Fox pronounced the invocation, the song "I Did Not Raise My Boy to be a Soldier," sung by Lewis Nunn drew forth much favorable comment from the audience.

Clayton Jennings, president of the class this year was the first speaker, he presented an exceptionally well written address in his characteristic, free and easy manner, appealing to his audience forcibly. With sincerity and earnestness and in behalf of himself and the class, he thanked all those who had made it possible for them to complete these ten grades of school life, and as he spoke of the ties about to be sundered, the hearts of many were touched as his words brought memories of their own last days at school.

The underlying thought in his address was, "That if we build on a solid foundation we need have no fear for what lies before us in the great school of life.

He was followed by Ella May Graves who gave the salutatory, which was a splendidly prepared address and was given in a delightful manner.

The duet which followed by the Misses Hilda Johnson and Edith Buck was greatly appreciated by all.

"The Past and Future of the Class of 1915," was very ably presented by Norman Glendenin, who showed how the ranks of his class had gradually thinned, as they passed on from the lower to the higher grades. The future he portrayed for his class, through the aid of Old Father Time whom he encountered on an imaginary trip to Venus, was brimful of good things and by his forceful style he almost compelled his audience to look down the vista of years and see a bright and glorious future for this class of 1915.

The oration, "Progress of American Independence," by Merlin Love was a very able address and as he traced the progress of the American people from the earliest times down through the years and showed how they overcame every obstacle placed in the pathway of their progress as a nation. All present in that large audience were stirred with a feeling of patriotism and all felt proud that they were Americans.

Muriel Daly followed, her subject was the class motto: "When We Build, Let Us Build Forever." It was a splendid address and an incentive to each and every one to live up to their ideals, a beautiful appeal to build our character along lines of truthfulness and virtue.

James LaBerge followed with an oration on "Our Commencement," and he emphasized the thought that the entire class seemed so well to realize, that this is but the beginning of life's school, that no matter what field of action they might enter they would be but learners in this school.

James is a Long Lake young man and has overcome some of the obstacles of life by attending school at Hale while living at home, a distance of five miles.

Miss Luella VanWormer was the able architect of the Class Will and she handed out bouquets galore.

Her Will was delightfully original and profuse in compliments for teachers and pupils.

Many interesting things were willed to the eighth and ninth grades among them were broken backed chairs, putty, pearls, etc.

It is not always easy to be humorous and Miss VanWormer certainly did credit to the part assigned her, for her paper caused much merriment.

The Valedictory was assigned to Duell Pearsall who gave it with fine effect and a delivery that could hardly be bettered.

One could not help but be touched at the kindly manner in which these young people mentioned their principal all through the different parts assigned them and a vein of sadness ran through the exercises at the thought of his going away, not to come back for another year's work.

The closing remarks made by Prof. Geo. N. Wood were short and to the point and the applause that followed showed the high esteem in which this young man is held in Hale. Commissioner J. A. Campbell having been delayed arrived in time to present the diplomas, all were glad to see his genial face once more.

The exercises were among the best ever held in Hale and it was all carried on so successfully, not only by the effort and determination of the class to make good but also through the able instruction, direction and efforts of their principal, Geo. N. Wood and his assistants, Miss Jessie Johnson and Miss Barnum.

This class is remarkable for the fact that six of its members are children of pioneer settlers of Iosco county and five of them of the first young of Plainfield. Mesdames Glendenin and Jennings's having been among the early teachers of Plainfield and Messrs. Love, Graves, Jennings, Daly and LaBerge came here when this township was covered with green timber and all have helped to make it the pleasant place to live in that it is today.

After exercises a banquet was served in the Township hall by the eighth and ninth graders to the school board, their families, the parents visiting relatives of the graduates and the class of '15.

The hall was beautiful in its trimmings of blue and gold. Much credit is due these young people who worked so hard to make this affair a success.

FLIPPANT PHILOSOPHY

Two things are very difficult: To properly use leisure and money at the same time.

When some persons aspire high they never get any further than the height of folly.

It's all very well to believe only one-half you hear, but be mighty careful choosing which half.

Some persons save up frantically for a "rainy day"—then some crook steals their umbrella.

It's strange, but a man would rather walk down the street with an animated millinery store than with the most scintillating products of co-education.—Judge.

Every time she loses 98 cents she worries a dollar's worth.

THE UNITED STATES CREAM SEPARATOR

Holds the World's Record

Demonstration gladly given right at your home. No obligation.

A MODERN Not a "Disc" Separator

MODERN—Because not "Disc" Type.
When you buy the "United States" you get a Cream Separator with modern improvements. Separators of the disc type were originated many years ago. No recent improvements of importance have been made on them.

MODERN—Because Latest Patents.
U. S. Separators are manufactured under the most recent patents on separators that are effective. All basic "disc" separator patents are old and have expired. This accounts for the unrestricted use of this type by many manufacturers.

MODERN—Because of Vertical Blade System.
The "vertical blade" skimming device and "disc" skimming device are the two systems mostly used in cream separators. The vertical blade system, as used in U. S. Separators, completely overcomes the defects found in disc bowls. The vertical blade is the modern system, and fully protected by patents.

MODERN—Because no Central Core in Bowl.
The U. S. bowl has an open center, without cumbersome central core, split wing, or disc, on, or between which cream lodges. U. S. bowls flush perfectly.

MODERN—Because Uses Bowl Chamber Liner.
The United States Cream Separator is the first to adopt this liner. It makes the separator much easier cleaned, and is the only way to keep it strictly sanitary. It has the approval of the Board of Health.

MODERN—Because of Nickel Silver.
The use of Nickel Silver in the U. S. skimming device makes for easy cleaning, and does away with rust, thereby meeting the requirements of sanitary laws. Steel discs rust badly and contaminate milk and cream, and are hard to keep clean.

MODERN—Because Mechanically Washed, Sterilized and Dried.

A young Englishman, the hero of this story, becomes involved in a series of strange happenings which occur in Italy, England, Scotland, Finland and Russia, and include ghastly murders, robberies and plots. The maneuvers of a mysterious yacht owned by a band of international criminals, the dark deeds of "The Strangler," Governor of Finland, and the sufferings of the beautiful young heroine, whose enemies have rendered her deaf and dumb because she knows their guilty secret, form but a part of the thrilling and complicated plot.

Self-Belief the Key to Success.

Do you still believe in yourself? If so, you cannot become a failure. You can, at worst, only have failed to learn as yet the science of success, of which self-respect is the key. In the great gamble of life we can afford to lose everything but our self-respect. Money lost is little lost; friends lost, much lost; but self-respect lost, and all is lost. Self-belief is the husband of self-respect, just as self-respect is the mother of self-reliance. Believe in yourself and you will win through. For self-belief is the mainspring of human activity and the principal source of human improvement. It inspires you to do things. It teaches you to try again. The man who retains his belief in himself will never give up trying. And success is the reward of persistent effort. Self-reliance will pull us through many a struggle, from which the coward flees in vain, and in which the weak succumb. The ability to "get up again" is the reward of the self-reliant.

THE KELLY - BRENNAN SHOW COMING.

Francis Kelly, at the head of No. 3 Kelly-Brennan show, will arrive in Tawas about June 7th, for 3 days and nights. This is Mr. Kelly's eighth annual tour of Michigan under canvas. He has with him this year one of the strongest dramatic and vaudeville companies since the Kelly-Brennan company was organized eight years ago. The company includes such players as Miss Robbins, with one of the most extensive wardrobes of any leading woman in stock; Lois and Ross Wilson, society dancers and singers; Elbert Wilson, versatile character man; Howard Stillman, the best dressed man in vaudeville; Guy Rarrick, the man who originated comedy; Mr. "Dad" Fitzpatrick, imitator, singer and reciter, besides a number of others not so well known but clever nevertheless. Mr. Kelly will give his patrons this year the latest word in royalty dramas and vaudeville. He will probably open here with "Forgiveness" or "The Power of Love." In the latter piece Miss Wilson will wear her $500 baby Irish croquet gown, a marvel of needle-craft. Mr. Kelly will show rain or shine as the No. 3 show is equipped with a new waterproof top. The old prices of ten and twenty cents still obtain. Opening night one woman will be admitted free with every adult paid admission. adv

Music and Physiology.

That "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast" has usually been accepted as a quotation from the admirable William Shakespeare, when, as a truth, it should be credited to a later dramatist, Richard Congreve. The salutary effect of music in quieting these pulmonary disturbances has never been questioned, but the Journal of the American Medical Association goes further in its claim for the benignant influence of music and says: "Not only is music physic for the soul, dissipating mental depression, soothing psychic perturbations; but its influence may also enhance nutrition, further digestion (as by the 'liver music' of the French) and restore organic equilibrium. Indeed, the entire working of the human mechanism, physical and mental alike, may be lubricated by a stream of music, which with art and science should therefore have a place in the medical armamentarium."

Some Forms of Rheumatism Curable.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and chronic rheumatism, rheumatic headaches, sciatic rheumatism and lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially rheumatic pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." Get a 25c bottle now. Keep it handy in case of emergency. adv-3

NEW CANCER FACTS

Susceptibility to cancer is inherited, it has recently been proved. The cure seems as remotely distant as ever, yet through the research of Miss Slye, who demonstrated how cancer predisposition is transmitted, we learn certain valuable facts about a disease dreaded above all others by those who have beheld its work.

Local irritations encourage the formation of cancers and they grow most rapidly in over-nourished bodies. At the age when obesity threatens, cancers are most likely to appear. Their occurrence in certain families may be averted by observing the primary laws of eugenic—which laws seldom are observed by anyone—since the combination two cancer strains is exceptionally risky.

Proper living militates against the liability to cancer as against all other disease liabilities.

Miss Slye's discoveries encourage the steady search after means of controlling cancer, but nothing as yet has appeared to displace the knife as a means of eradication when the malady once has taken hold.
