The Kelly-Brennan show, which exhibited in this city three nights this week, gave excellent satisfaction. They put on a repertoire of good clean plays and were deserving of the excellent patronage they received.
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Colby went to Maple Ridge Saturday for a couple of days visit with her mother, Mrs. Frank Black. Archie attended the annual convention of the rural carriers of Northeastern Michigan at Turner Monday.
Through an oversight last week we neglected to mention "Teddy," the play put on by the senior class of the Tawas City high school at the Star theatre Friday evening, May 21. The play was well presented, the parts being taken in a manner which showed careful study and some dramatic talent. The play was also a success financially and added a neat sum to the class treasury.
County Clerk Mark has been besieged with questions lately regarding the rat bounty law which goes into effect in July. To save him further trouble we would inform prospective rat hunters that the heads of the rats killed should be taken to the city or township clerk, who will draw a warrant on the county clerk for the bounty at the rate of five cents a head. The law expressly provides that the heads shall be in a good state of preservation when presented to the clerk for inspection. The law offers the boys a chance to make some spending money and have some sport at the same time.

INDEPENDENTS TAKE ANOTHER.

The Tawas City Independents took another from the Alabaster boys last Monday afternoon at Shien park by the score of 8 to 1. It was a fine day and a large crowd turned out to see the game and all were well satisfied. The Tawas boys played all-way-round the Alabaster boys and pulled out of some very bad holes. Once with three men on and one out an infield fly was hit to Swartz who dropped the ball intentionally and worked a double play finishing the inning. Moeller allowed Alabaster only four hits while the Tawas boys managed to connect with the nine safe ones.

WIDDIS APPOINTED JUDGE

Position Long in Doubt Filled at Last. New Judge Assumed Duties Tuesday.

At last the uncertainty over who was to fill the vacancy as judge of the twenty-third judicial circuit to succeed the late Judge Connine has been settled. Dispatches from Lansing last Friday announced that Governor Ferris had appointed Albert Widdis to the position. There has been keen competition between several lawyers in the district who were anxious to secure the appointment, and the governor was deluged with evidence tending to show the qualifications of each for the position. Mr. Widdis was the last to enter the race, but the influence he was able to bring to bear, coupled with the fact that he is a democrat was sufficient to land him the appointment. Judge Widdis will hold his position under this appointment until Dec. 1, 1916, when he will have to go before the people for election, it having been held that the appointment only holds until the next general election, when

ROAD BEE JUNE 10TH.

At a meeting of the Lake Huron Shore Good Roads Association, it was decided to hold the Annual "Road Bee" along the Lake Huron Shore roads, from Bay City to Mackinaw, Thursday, June 10, 1915.

It was particularly urged that all county and township officials, as well as the citizens along the lake Huron shore road, make a special effort to improve the road this year, as much as possible. The Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, the Western Michigan Development Bureau, the Western Michigan Pike Association, the Lake Huron Shore Good Roads Association, the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, the Saginaw Board of Trade, the Bay City Chamber of Commerce, the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce, the Muskegon and other chambers of commerce on the West side of the state hold a meeting at Mackinaw Island on Friday, July 23rd. The members of the associations living on the West side of the state leave St. Joseph, Mich., Monday July 19th in automobiles going over the Western Pike Association to Mackinaw

"THE ALTAR OF RICHES."

Following is a synopsis of the play, "The Altar of Riches," to be given at the opera house June 15 and 16 for the benefit of the Presbyterian church. The cast of characters will appear next week with more particulars:

Synopsis.

Gwendolyn Mardaunt Austin, daughter of Philip Austin, a Wall street operator, goes to the White mountains incognito to spend her summer vacation. She is accompanied by Lucille Harcourt, a novelist and her friend. The latter is directed by her publisher to write a novel based upon the subject of American finance and Gwendolyn suggests that a suitable hero for the novel be found and studied. Charles Wilberforce, a financial king, is staying at the same hotel, and in pursuance of the plan to make him the hero of Miss Harcourt's novel, Gwendolyn enters into an agreement with Wilberforce to engage in a stock battle on Wall street with him. Unaware that Gwendolyn is the daughter of Philip Austin, the copper king, upon whose downfall he is resolved, he enters into the spirit of the occasion and prepares to give Gwendolyn and Lucille salutary lessons in the methods of American financiers. He declines to reveal the identity of his Wall street opponent to Gwendolyn and she is in consequence unaware that she has arrayed herself against her own father and is assisting to ruin him. She receives a message from her father that he has a contest on his hands which might end in his downfall. Gwendolyn begins to suspect and she discovers from Wilberforce that he is determined to corner copper.

Driven to despair by the knowledge that her father is Wilberforce's victim, Gwendolyn plans to save him, even though she be forced to violate the confidence of Wilberforce and sacrifice his love. She leases the telegraph wires in the hotel and manipulates Wilberforce's telegrams to Wall street with the result that Wilberforce loses his battle and her father wins. Wilberforce learns the truth and spurns Gwendolyn when she reveals herself to him as the daughter of his Wall street foe. He later realizes the solemnity of her conduct and renews his avowals of love for the woman who, obeying the promptings of filial love and duty, had vanquished him. Their betrothal follows and all ends happily.

"MOSE" WELL RENDERED.

In spite of the inclement weather Wednesday evening, a large crowd gathered at the opera house to witness the Senior play "Mose." The play was highly interesting, full of college spirit and enthusiasm. The participants all took their parts admirably. The specialties were exceptionally good. Clyde Berube gave a fine vocal solo, Misses Yvonne Ferube and Genevieve Taylor rendered a beautiful vocal duet with Miss Hortense LaBerge as accompanist. One interesting specialty was the "Operetta" given by the first and second grades. The little folks appeared dressed as dandelions, violets and poppies to the waving of a magic wand by little LeWella Anderson who acted as a fairy.
The play ended with the U. of M. college song, "The Yellow and the Blue," the participants forming a large letter M on the stage.
The play did credit to those who took part and also to Miss Amanda Pinches who trained and coached the cast.
There must be colored ghosts—for they are shades.

ALBERT WIDDIS
Appointed Judge of the Twenty-third Judicial Circuit by Governor Ferris Last Friday.

a judge will be elected to fill the unexpired term which ends Dec. 31, 1917. The voters of the district will thus be required to vote for judge at the fall election in 1916, and also at the spring election in 1917, the latter being the time for electing a judge for the full term.

Judge Widdis is well known to the residents of Iosco county, he having been a resident here for some years and having twice made the campaign for prosecuting attorney but being defeated both times. He had been engaged in the practice of his profession in Detroit or some years before coming to this county.

The new judge made his initial appearance in his official capacity at the session of circuit court for Oscoda county which convened at Mio on Tuesday of this week.

RURAL CARRIER'S CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the Rural Carrier's association of Northeastern Michigan was held at Turner on Decoration day. About 40 or 50 were in attendance.

Besides the regular business session, addresses were made by Congressman Lord, Postmaster Patteron of Tawas City, and others. It was decided to hold the next convention at Tawas City.

Following were the officers elected for the ensuing year:
President—Archie Colby, Tawas City.
Vice-President—George Laidlaw, Tawas City.
Secretary-Treasurer—M. F. Parker, Standish.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For the region of the Great Lakes: Generally fair weather may be expected. The temperature changes will be unimportant.

The Herald job department has been exceptionally busy the past week, as besides our regular run of job work we have had several commencement programs and invitations to get out and also some extra linotype composition. The excellence of our printing and the promptness with which work is delivered when promised is gaining new friends and customers every day.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

June 6, 1915. 6 o'clock std. time. Topic—"The Promise of Guidance." Leader—Miss Martha Stonehouse. Everybody is very cordially invited. The meeting last Sunday evening as led by Mrs. J. T. Baguley was very much enjoyed by the goodly number present. Three hymns were under discussion. "How Firm a Foundation," is supposed to have been written by George Keith and as sung to the air of a Portuguese hymn is known all over the Christian world. The song is inspiring thru its seven verses down to "I'll never, no never, no never forsake." "Jesus, and shall it ever be, A mortal man ashamed of thee?" was written by Joseph Grigg when but a boy of ten years. It is a poem of implicit trust and confidence and can be profitably read often. The last line "And Oh, may this my glory be, That Christ is not ashamed of me," should be the earnest thought of all Epworth Leaguers.

"A Mighty Fortress is our God," written by Martin Luther and sung to the air "Ein Feste Burg is Unser Gott" by Martin Luther was taken up. This hymn depicts the providence and grace of God as do few other hymns. It is being sung by the German army in Europe today as the "Forward! Christian Soldiers" being sung by the English. The spirit of the song is as the verse "If God is with me who can be against me?"

The business and social meeting has been postponed and will be announced next Sunday evening at the devotional meeting. This is the meeting at which the Reds will be entertained by the Blues of the recent contest.

Let's start forgetting.
There are so many things to lay away
In graves—dead hates and fears and doubts that flay,
And all these little faults, scarce worth a groan.
There are so many black days we have known!
There is no use regretting!
Let's try forgetting!

IF YOU WANT TO BE LOVED.

Don't contradict people, even if you're sure you are right.
Don't be inquisitive about the affairs of even your most intimate friend.
Don't underrate anything because you don't possess it.

Don't believe that everybody else is happier than you.

Don't conclude that you never had any opportunities in life.

Don't believe all the evils you hear.
Don't repeat gossip, even if it does interest a crowd.

Don't jeer at anybody's religious belief.

Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile. Few care whether you have an earache, headache or rheumatism.

Learn to attend to your own business—a very important point.

Do not try to be anything else but a gentleman or a gentlewoman; and that means one who has consideration for the whole world, and whose life is governed by the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would be done by."—Christian World.

That Newspaper Kiss.

A "K. U." man may like 'tis true
A kiss upon the ear.
But had Jack been a Winfield boy
He would have learned to steer.

The Winfield lad may need to steer
To kiss his little elf,
But had Jack been in Atchinson
Rose would have steered herself.

—The Optimist.

If in our own Crumline's Hygiene
Our Jack had been well versed,
He would have kissed her on the cheek

And thus used "Safety First."
—Meade Tatler.

With kisses on her neck, her ear,
Her nose, her mouth, this maiden
Must feel that she has had enough—
So let's forget it.

Along Came Ruth.

"Oh, I wish I knew a way to reheat the cabbage and Brussels sprouts we had for dinner yesterday," muttered Ruth's aunt, as she pattered about the kitchen.

"For I haven't time to cook much today, and they are not good cold."

"I heard you," said Ruth, poking her head between the kitchen screen and the door frame, and I can tell you how to do it. First, you plunge the vegetables into a saucepan of slightly salted boiling water, and keep it boiling for two or three minutes. Then you strain and serve them. And you will find that they look and taste as well as if they were freshly cooked. I'll do it for you, while you are doing something else, if you like."

Ruth. I don't know what we should do if you didn't make us a daily visit," declared her aunt, "for you get us out of more trouble than a policeman."

—St. Joseph News-Press.

Wise and Otherwise.

Anyway, when a woman argues she can always convince herself.

No farmer has much time to devote to his artistic temperament.

A dangerous man is one who fights and cries at the same time.

Agriculturally speaking, and otherwise, a cabbage comes to a head, corn comes to a foot.

Facts About Boiling Things.

Water is agitated when it boils, but fat is still.

Green vegetables should be boiled fast, with the lid off the vessel.

Root vegetables should be boiled gently, with the lid on the vessel.

All vegetables, except old potatoes, should be put in plenty of fast boiling, salted water.

Preventing Odors from the Kitchen.

Cabbage, that worst of all offenders, will not smell if a piece of bread or charcoal is laid upon the top.

Onions must be drowned out by using another odor. Powdered celery wood is the best thing for this.

Sprinkle just a pinch upon the range and let it burn. That's all that is necessary. If onions are peeled under water, or held under a running tap, they will not smell, nor will they smart the eyes.

Fish smells may be eliminated by sprinkling the range within spluttering distance, with a layer of salt. When the frying is done, sweep the salt into the fire. The salt absorbs the grease, and prevents the smell.

After cleaning fish, remove the smell from your hands by rubbing dry mustard upon them.

Boiling over smells can only be prevented in one way: By not filling the cooking vessels quite so full.

Household Helps.

If the little girl's petticoat is too short and there are no tucks to let out, open the seams on the shoulders and set in a piece of muslin.

When your satin slippers wear across the toe, a medallion can be knit and sewed on the worn part.

A Beautiful Tomato Salad.

A salad that not only tastes well, but looks as well as it tastes, is called tomato flower salad, and is made as follows: Select smooth tomatoes and draw a star on the top of each with a sharp knife. Cut this star away and turn back the upstanding points that remain, so that it will resemble a scarlet tulip. Put a spot of mayonnaise in the heart of each tulip and serve them upon beds of water cress, with leaves cut out of cucumbers.

Potato Croquettes.

Boil and mash thoroughly four or five potatoes. Season with cream, butter, pepper and salt. Cream them and add the white of an egg beaten to a froth, make into oblong rolls and dip into the yolk of an egg, then roll in cracker crumbs; put into a wire basket and fry in deep, hot lard until nicely browned.

HITS THE NATIONAL GAME

War in Europe Has Affected Baseball in a Manner Likely to Be Felt.

The European war seems to touch in some very strange places. One would hardly think of the war being a menace to our great national game, but a leading journal of commerce calls attention to the fact that all our baseballs of the better quality are covered with Russian horsehide.

There is something in the climate and exposure that the ordinary horse on the Russian steppes has to pass through that has a peculiar toughening influence on his skin, that makes it about the only covering that will withstand the terrific strain that is required in the covering of a good baseball. How this will affect the neutrality of the American boy remains to be seen.

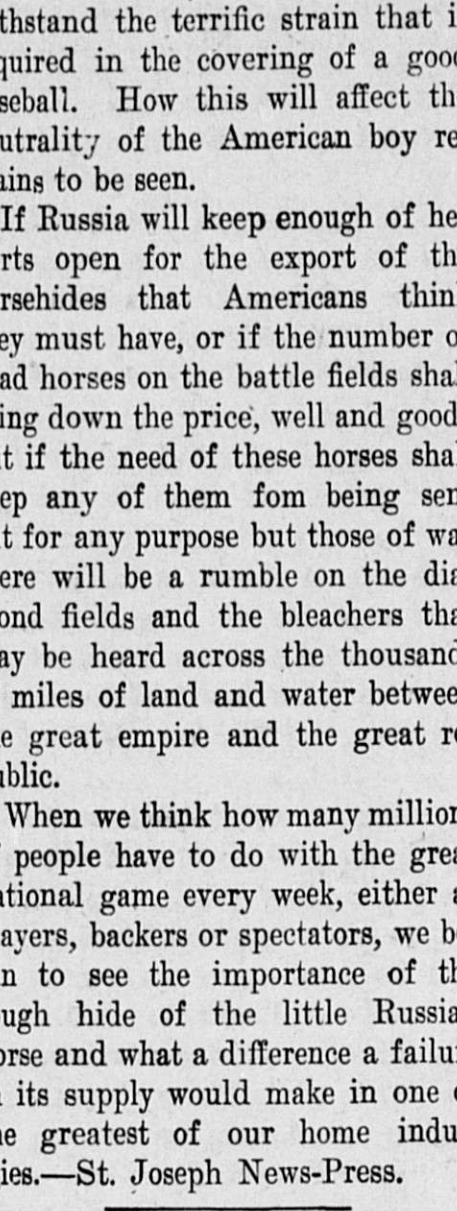

If Russia will keep enough of her ports open for the export of the horsehides that Americans think they must have, or if the number of dead horses on the battle fields shall bring down the price, well and good; but if the need of these horses shall keep any of them from being sent out for any purpose but those of war there will be a rumble on the diamond fields and the bleachers that may be heard across the thousands of miles of land and water between the great empire and the great republic.

—St. Joseph News-Press.

When we think how many millions of people have to do with the great national game every week, either as players, backers or spectators, we begin to see the importance of the tough hide of the little Russian horse and what a difference a failure in its supply would make in one of the greatest of our home industries.

—St. Joseph News-Press.

THE GAEKWAR'S WEALTH.

The gaekwar of Baroda is far wealthier than the king-emperor, to whom he has proffered all his troops and resources. The annual income of his highness Sayaji Rao III amounts to over £1,000,000, and his collection of gems is said to be worth at least £2,000,000. When holding durbars his highness wears a necklace containing a diamond for which he gave £80,000. This is a Brazilian stone of the first water, known as the Star of the South, and formerly belonged to Napoleon. The gaekwar, however, spends money on more useful objects than gems. Baroda is famous for the wisdom with which it is governed and for its splendidly equipped schools, built and endowed out of the gaekwar's private purse.

THE BATTLE OF THE TIRES

(Agricultural and Commercial Press Service)

It is interesting to watch the forces of civilization battling for supremacy. The struggle now going on between the rubber and the iron tire promises to be the liveliest contest of the Twentieth Century.

The struggle is a silent one and there are no war correspondents to write vivid descriptions of the conflict but the results are more far-reaching to present and future generations than the war of Europe.

The rubber tire has been maneuvering for point of attack for several years and has captured a few unimportant positions in traffic, but it has now pitched a decisive battle with its iron competitor by hurling a million "jitneys" at the street railways and the battle is raging from ocean to ocean. Upon the result of the struggle depends the future of the rubber tire. If it is compelled to retreat, its doom is sealed, but if it wins the battle it will revolutionize the transportation methods of this nation.

If the rubber tire conquers the street traffic its next struggle will be with the railroads of the country, and then the greatest battle between economic forces ever fought out on the face of this earth is on, for iron is the undisputed master in transportation, and is fortified behind billions of dollars, and millions of men.

Stephenson applied the steel tire to an iron rail in 1814, but it was 1869 before the golden spike was driven at Promontory Point, which bound the country together with bands of steel. It took the iron tire fifty-five years to creep from ocean to ocean, but the rubber tire while warm from the creative mind of the inventive genius sped across the continent like an arrow shot from the bow of Ulysses.

The roadbed was already prepared and therein lies the power of the rubber tire over that of iron, for government builds and maintains the public highway.

But iron is a stubborn metal and it has mastered every wheel that turns; has fought battles with every element above and beneath the earth and has never tasted the wormwood of defeat, and when rubber hurls its full force against this monarch of the Mineral Kingdom, it may rebound to the factory stunned beyond recovery.

The rubber tire first made its appearance on the bicycle, but it proved a frivolous servant and was dismissed for incompetency. It has always been too much inclined to revel in luxury to be taken seriously as a utility machine and its reputation is not one to inspire confidence in heavy traffic performance.

But to those who care to wait into dreamland, it is enchanting to note that there will be a marvelous difference between a rubber and an iron age. The rubber tire will scatter the cities throughout the valleys with transportation at every man's door, why a city? It will traverse the continent with a net work of Macadam highways as beautiful as the boulevard built by Napoleon. It will paralyze the law making bodies of this nation for how could the legislatures run without the railroads to operate on?

FEDERAL INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

By Peter Radford.

The recent investigation of the United States Commission of Industrial Relations brought together the extremes of society and has given the public an opportunity to view the representatives of distinct classes, side by side, and to study their views in parallel columns.

Capital and labor have always been glaring at each other over gulfs of misunderstanding and if the Federal Industrial Commission attempts to bridge the chasm, it will render the public a distinct service.

The farmer has been sitting on the fence watching capital and labor fight for many years and incidentally furnishing the sinews of war and it is quite gratifying to find them talking with, instead of about, each other. When honest men smile and look into each other's souls, it always makes the world better and far more satisfactory to the farmer, who in the end, bears the burden of conflict, than resolutions, speeches or pamphlets containing charges and counter-charges.

The love for justice makes the whole world kin. Understanding is an arbiter far more powerful than the mandates of government, for there is no authority quite so commanding as an honest conscience; there is no decree quite so binding as that of the Supreme Court of Common Sense and no sheriff can keep the peace quite so perfect as Understanding.

We suppose the time will never come when capital and labor will not be occasionally blinded by the lightning flashes of avarice or frightened by the thunder peals of discontent. But Understanding is a Prince of Peace that ever holds out the olive branch to men who want to do right.

A man's income is always a sacred thing for in it are the hope, ambition and opportunity of himself, and family, but there is nothing in a human heart quite so divine as Justice and Understanding is its handmaiden.

SCHOOL OFFICERS, ATTENTION!

No separate blanks have been sent you for those blind or having defective vision. Instead of the usual forms, you will find attached to report form No. 2 (census blanks), two distinct places on one side for defective vision; on the other for those deaf. Fill in each side in the usual manner. If you have none of each simply write across space, we have none. Be sure and take affidavit to each.

Above conditions govern country districts only.

Mix soft and roll out or cut in squares.

FISH NOW LIVE IN SALT LAKE

Part of Great Inland Sea Is Reported to Be Rapidly Becoming Fresh.

Damming of the northeastern part of Great Salt Lake, which is known locally as Bear River bay, by the building of the Lucin cutoff of the Southern Pacific company, has in less than ten years caused that part of the saltiest body of water in America to become entirely fresh, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The bay, about ten miles in diameter, was shut off from the rest with the exception of an outlet crossed by a short trestle, through which the water could pass into the lake. Bear river flows into the northern part of the bay and this large source of fresh water has caused a continual flow of salty water through the outlet.

Results of the years of gradual washing are apparent in that fish now abound in that part of the lake and waterfowl have made it their common feeding ground, while in the main part of the lake nothing can live. Fred W. Chambers, state fish and game commissioner for Utah, has a report from James Knudson, fish and game warden, to the effect that there is not a particle of salt to be found in the water, except within 100 yards of the outlet, in the whole Bear River bay.

Mr. Chambers will take immediate steps to stock the water with fish and to protect the game fish already there from being crowded out by the carp.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS.

Brood VI to Appear in Eastern States This Year in May and June—Little Actual Damage Expected. Combative Measures.

Brood VI of the cicada, commonly known as the seventeen-year locust, is expected to appear in May and June this year in scattered localities covering much of the northern and central States lying between the Hudson and Mississippi rivers, extending along the Appalachian elevated plateau into northern Georgia and South Carolina. This particular brood made its last appearance in this territory in 1898.

The seventeen-year locust covers in its range nearly all of the United States from the Mississippi Valley eastward. The curious feature of its regular periodic appearances and its long subterranean life give it perhaps the greatest popular interest which attaches to any insect on this continent, and lead to many inquiries with every reappearance of any important brood. There are two races of this insect: (1) the seventeen-year race, which occurs in 17 different broods over the northern and central United States, and (2) the thirteen-year race, which occurs in different broods throughout the southern states from Texas eastward. When any of these broods are characterized by great swarms they naturally cause fears for the safety of trees. The actual damage, however, is slight and is accomplished by the female cicada when she cuts the bark of the tree in the deposition of her eggs.

While the expected brood is not an important one, it covers a much wider territory than any of the other seventeen-year broods. According to the records, the number of locusts to be expected over most of this territory is not great, except in the Northwest and in the Southeast.

A careful canvass of the whole cicada area was made by the Bureau of Entomology with the assistance of the State entomologists in 1898. These reports, if they may be relied upon, extend the range of the periodical cicada in Wisconsin and Michigan much farther north than any of the old records.

Probable Distribution of Brood VI. The records of distribution given below are as published in a bulletin of the Bureau of Entomology of this Department. The starred counties indicate the occurrence of the cicada in one or more characteristic, dense swarms; the underscored counties are confirmations of old records, the counties enclosed in parentheses are old records not reported in 1898, and counties followed by a ? mark are doubtful records. The distribution by states and counties, follows:

(Editor's note.—We have omitted the records of states other than Michigan, as they would be of little or no interest to readers of the Herald.) Michigan—Barry, Cass (?), Chippewa, Genesee*, Houghton*, Kent (?), Macomb (?), Newaygo (?), Ogemaw (?), Otsego*, Shiawassee*, Washtenaw.

Damage Done by Cicada and Partial Remedies.

Ordinary repellent substances, such as kerosene emulsion or carbolic acid solutions, seem to have very little effect in preventing the oviposition of these insects. Some recent experience, however, indicates that trees thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture or a lime wash are apt to be avoided by the cicada, especially if there are other trees or woods in the neighborhood on which they can oviposit. The most reliable means of protecting nurseries and young orchards is by collecting the insects in bags or umbrellas from the trees in early morning or late evening, when they are somewhat torpid. Such collections should be undertaken at the first appearance of the cicada and repeated each day.

Vigorous young trees often recover in three or four years from the effects of a loss of, or injury to, a considerable percentage of their branches. However, it is difficult to overcome the unsymmetrical appearance which will commonly result from the indiscriminate pruning often necessary as a result of the female insects' work. The worst affected branches should be removed. The less injured limbs may be coated on the wounded parts with grafting wax or moderately hard soap. These protective coverings should be renewed at least once a year, preferably in the spring, until the wounds are entirely healed over. It may be expedient, in the case of a badly wounded recently budded or grafted tree, to cut it back nearly to the bud or graft, so that an entirely new top may be made.

In the case of older trees, the main object of treatment is to secure the rapid healing of the wounds and prevent their being used as points of secondary infection by other insects. The worst injured limbs in such trees should also be cut out, so that all the vigor of the plant may be directed to the remaining wood. The healing process may be accelerated by thorough cultivation and the use of fertilizers on the land about the trees attacked.

The scientists of the Bureau of Entomology are keeping close watch of the territory where the locusts are due to appear, with a view to minimize the damage. The Bureau will be glad to receive reports of any occurrences of this brood. Such reports should be made about June 10, because shortly after that date the common annual cicadas will begin to make their appearances and there will be likelihood of confusing the latter with the periodical species. Whenever the observer is in doubt it would be well to send specimens for determination. The report should be filled out with the name of the locality, including state, county and town, and the name of the observer. The information given should include the date of first appearance or emergence of the cicada, the date of its general disappearance, and the numbers, in other words, whether very numerous or scattering. The periodical cicadas may be expected to emerge from the middle to the end of May and scattering individuals may be found up to the middle of June.

A small brood of the thirteen-year race of the periodical cicada was reported in May, 1902, by Mr. George H. Kent of Suffolk, Franklin County, Miss. This brood is again reported by Mr. Kent as having reappeared this year. This isolated record is the only one we have of the thirteen-year brood of this year.

Baldwin vs. Meadow Road.

With the shut out idea the Meadow road team crossed bats with our boys last Sunday. A tie in the fourth inning, 4, made the game last to the thirteenth. By good decisions made by one of the umpires the Meadow road team was credited with two scores in the thirteenth inning.
 Groff sent the first Baldwin man to the bench, the next went to the bench by a pick-up by Brabant. The third man to go out was J. Westcott, but luck turned and he crossed the plate with a home run. H. Westcott then made a two base hit and J. Johnson drove him in with another two base hit. J. Dilsworth succeeded in reaching first and Johnson came home on the hit, but through a queer decision the score was left 5 and 6.

Meadow Road vs. Baldwin.

The journey to Baldwin was enjoyed by all our Meadow road ball players and fans last Sunday, the sun shining in all its brightness from a clear sky. The fans from both places turned out in good numbers, there being an attendance of about 100 to witness the game.
 The players all showed good form and the game turned out to be one of the fastest and most exciting ever played on the Baldwin diamond, going to 13 innings. C. Groff for the Meadow road pitched a good article of ball, as did also H. Miller for Baldwin. The game ended in the 13th inning with the tie score of 6 to 6 by the ruling of the umpire.
 Next Sunday we play Melvor at Meadow road. Batteries for next Sunday, Blust, Groff and Brabant.
 Score by innings.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the county of Iosco, Mich., to be held at East Tawas on June 26, 1915, to fill the position of rural carrier at Hale and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practical date.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS AGAIN.

In a fast but one sided game last Saturday Hemlock went down to defeat before the high school oys. The final score was 9-0, the game never being in doubt.
 In spite of an injury sustained the day before Rollin pitched in excellent form only twenty-eight facing him throughout the course of the game. Of these 12 were strike-out victims and only two hit safely.
 Tawas City started without any preliminary in the first inning and scored four runs. Crandall was hit by a pitched ball stole second and made third on Rollin's out. Johnson singled scoring Crandall. Johnson stole. Musolf doubled scoring Johnson. Musolf counted on Woizeschke's single. Reinke out, E. Allen to Latham advancing Woizeschke who scored on Halleck's fly to right. Halleck then stole second with the ball in the pitcher's hand, not even drawing a throw. Fatterson ended the inning. Three more were added in the second on two hits, two steals and an error and the fifth and seventh netted one more.
 A peculiar play featured the first inning, Miller while attempting a theft of second knocked the ball out toward center. While Musolf occupied his attention, Woizeschke came in and received the put-out.

HIGH SCHOOL REPEATS.

The Tawas City high school again defeated the Hemlock road boys by the score of 6 to 1. The game was played fast and there was always something doing, but Hemlock played a rather loose game allowing the high school boys several runs, but as it was they didn't need many for Rollin held Hemlock down to only four hits, of which only one managed to score. McCardell pitching for Hemlock pitched good ball but lacked team work behind him. Following is Monday's score:

LISTEN DAUGHTER.

Listen Daughter. Your mother tells me that you and she have been talking over the matter of getting a hired girl to do the housework. She also says that she feels sure that you two get along with the work all right, but that the young fellow who is coming around here evenings will think we are not swell enough if he knows that you and mother do the housework. Don't you worry about that. If he thinks such stuff, he is not good enough for you. But he looks pretty good to me and if he is half the fellow I take him to be he'll think all the more of you when he knows that you not only know how to cook and bake and mend, but that you are on the job. So let's put up a little game on him. The next time he comes, receive him in your kitchen apron. Tell him to amuse himself in the parlor for a moment until you finish manicuring the supper dishes. I won't be here, you know. He picks out my lodge nights to make his calls. So I won't be in the parlor to embarrass him. Then, along about ten o'clock, ask him if he wouldn't like a bite of lunch. He'll insist that it will be too much trouble, but you tell him he may come along and help. Any man in the world will fall for that. He'll trail along after you to the kitchen. You'll have the stage all set and the proper costumes ready. The costumes will consist of two aprons, one for you and one for him. Oh, he'll put it on. If there is anything a young fellow will fall for it is the kitchen apron and a job doing nothing but keeping out of the way. Then you get the lunch ready. Tell him to slice the bread and no matter how he butchers it, tell him its fine. Ask him if he can make a salad dressing. If he says he can, let him go to it. And you praise it to the skies. Ask him for the recipe. Tell him you'll keep it a secret. What would you like for a wedding present?

MODERN FABLES.

The Fable of the Youth Who Went to College and Came Back.
 Once upon a time there was a young man who felt that he should like to own great flocks of learning and knowledge, so he left his paternal roof and took up his abode in a city that boasted a State University. He was accompanied by his ancestor's check book and a determination to become an exceedingly wise man.
 Four years worked wonders or him. He learned to talk Esperanto and write Greek. He learned how to measure the distance between the planet Jupiter and Peoria, Illinois. He learned how to play football and to fox-trot. And he forgot how to plow corn and to chop wood. When commencement day came round he was the most honored man in school. And why not? He knew more about transcendentalism than a ward politician knows about shaking hands. He could orate in a manner that would have turned senators green with envy. He could find more values for a simultaneous quadratic equation than his professor in mathematics. The old college president sent word to his home folks that they owned a remarkable son and that the college was proud of him.
 Commencement over, this very embodiment of knowledge started out to sell some of his services to the business men in those parts, but greatly to his surprise and even greater to his consternation, he met with very little success. It seemed that the business men he visited wanted a man who could sell goods rather than one who could find new freckles on the sun. In fact, most of them were unaware the sun was freckled. Several of them told him so.
 And it came to pass that he was forced to go back to the farm and live with the old folks.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
 We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
