DEATH OF MRS. HERMAN WAACK

Mrs. Herman Waack, aged 66, a resident of Tawas City for the past thirty-five years, died at her home in this city last Saturday evening, June 5, at 6:15, after an illness extending over the past ten months, from paralysis.

The funeral services were held at Zion Lutheran church Tuesday, Rev. Brumm of Bay City officiating and the remains were laid to rest in the German Lutheran cemetery.

Alvina Spizok was born in Germany in 1849. She was married to Herman Waack in 1878, and they came to the United States in 1880, coming direct to Tawas City where they have since made their home.

Seven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Waack, all of whom are living. They are Gus Waack of Cheboygan; Leo Waack of Tawas City; Mrs. August Lietz of Wilber; Mrs. O. H. Brandt of Cleveland; Mrs. Martin Schlechte of Tawas City; Miss Alvina Waack of Cleveland, and Miss Louise of Tawas City.

The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavement.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

No Epworth League service next Sunday evening on account of the baccalaureate sermon.

Last Sunday evening's meeting was presided over by Miss Elena Groff and was filled with good things. In spite of the inclement weather a goodly number were in attendance and showed what a fine showing would have been made had it been a good evening.

Last Wednesday evening the Blues entertained the Reds at Hamilton's hall and when we say entertained we mean it. The banquet was one long to be remembered. Mr. F. F. Taylor in appropriate words welcomed the Reds on behalf of the Blues and J. F. Mark answered for the Reds. A grafonola furnished good music during the banquet. Afterwards the young people enjoyed themselves at games until late. The Blues certainly did themselves proud and the Reds are mighty glad they were there.

Thots.

The promise of guidance—A competent guide will be provided.
Young people feel the need of guidance. As a group this will be especially true of the young people who are leaving school at this commencement season. Where shall I go? What shall I do? None but must face and answer these and similar questions. Remember that at the parting of the ways God will guide if you will only let him. You need Him and He wants you.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Service Sunday June 13th at 10:00 a. m.

At 7 p. m. standard a union service will be held in the court house when the annual Baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. John Pinches. Music will be provided by the choir of the Baptist church.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO MOTOR CAR OWNERS.

"The New Red Sentinel" gasoline filling station installed by C. H. Prescott & Sons this week possesses more than ordinary interest to motor car owners.

Besides the large storage capacity, insuring a sure supply of gasoline, the apparatus contains a filter which removes all water, and foreign matter. The gasoline in entering the tank passes three fine screens, and in leaving the tank to go to car, passes two more, besides going through the filter. This insures the cleanest possible gasoline, free from water and all sediment.

13 INNING TIE GAME.

Last Sunday afternoon under an ideal sky occurred the best game of base ball ever played in Tawas Beach ball park. Byron Mark for Tawas City and Joe Halligan for East Tawas had the batters at their mercy at all times. By had the edge on Joe in the pinches and yielded but five hits to Joe's thirteen. The game was full of thrills from start to finish and we have not heard one kick from anyone on account of their not getting their money's worth. In the first of the sixth Elmer was passed to first on the only life given in the game. Then By Mark singled to right. The ball went through St. Martin letting the runners advance another base. St. Martin then tossed to Whitman who threw to Hollibaugh wildly, scoring Chessie. In the last half Bolen singled but was immediately forced by J. Halligan. On an attempted sacrifice both Halligan and Dillon were safe. Then came in a peculiar play. Hollibaugh popped up an infield fly but no one heard the umpire and instead of touching Joe Halligan he was "forced" supposedly. But the score counted. In the seventh Guy Halligan elevated the ball over the right field fence for four sacks. In the ninth A. Mark singled, advanced to second on Musolf's out and scored on Moore's double.

In the eleventh A. Mark duplicated his opposing catcher by putting a home run neatly over the right field fence. This should have sewed up the game but in the last half J. Halligan singled, Ernie Moeller dropped Dillon's fly and Hollibaugh was hit by a pitched ball. Then Charlie let one get away from him scoring Joe. Byron then showed how it is done in the best games and struck out Whitman and Guy Halligan after which Nelem died by the Moore-Musolf route.

Moore was knocked unconscious in the sixth during the mix-up over the infield fly, this being the only accident to mar the game. The umpiring was very good, the arbiters having the game in hand all the way.

Summary: Home runs—A. Mark, G. Halligan. Two base hits—Moore, 2; Musolf, 2. Double plays—Moore, unassisted; Woizeschke to Musolf; Musolf to Moore; Swartz to Moore to Musolf; J. Halligan to Whitman to Bolt. Struck out—By B. Mark, 10; by J. Halligan, 14. Bases on balls—By Halligan, 1. Hit by pitcher—By Mark, Hollibaugh. Umpires—Francis Kelly and Timmons.

Inside Stuff.

Brother battery against brother battery, the younger brother in each pitching, the older brother and catcher each getting a single and a home run and each getting twelve put-outs. Not a member of the batteries got an error. As a pair the Marks beat the Halligans in batting 364 to 300. The Halligans accepted 23 chances to the Marks 15. By Mark yielded but 5 hits to Joe Halligan's 13 but Joe struck out 14 men to By's 10. By hit a man, but Joe gave a base on balls. Two bases were stolen on Atlee but Guy had one base stolen on him and had a passed ball. How is that for even work.

That Moore boy sure showed the stuff. He accepted 11 of 12 chances, the one he missed coming after he was hurt. His double in the ninth brought in the run that put the game in extra innings.

Swartz and Nelem each showed up at their best. Fred accepted his 6 chances and Merel bootied but one of his 11. Both men made star plays of seeming sure hits.

If earned runs were counted it would be seen that our boys have 2 and East

Tawas 1. A look at the assist column shows that By kept the batters hitting in the air better than Joe did. Also his strike-outs were at the most opportune times especially in the sixth and eleventh when he was in a hole.

WHO IS THE TAXPAYER?

The following communication, signed by the contributor, is given space in this column, because it touches on a question of vital public interest, the discussion of which is always in order.

The communication follows:
"The Pest—Officer Musgrave made a fine haul the other day, when he took into custody those two peddlers, who were selling goods without a license. The merchants in Alpena pay a lot of taxes and it is up to the police and citizens generally to protect them from this class of peddlers. If a man wants to sell any goods make him show his license. If he has none, call the police. The two men Officer Musgrave arrested paid $10 each and costs amounting to $27."—The News.

Wrong again Mr. Pest. "The merchants in Alpena do not pay a lot of taxes. The taxes are paid by the people who buy their goods. The ultimate consumer in any community, always pays the taxes whether he owns a dollar's worth of property himself or not. And he pays not only the taxes but the rent, the heat and light bills, the clerk hire and delivery expense, the insurance, the advertising, and so forth and so on, from five to ten times as many merchants as are needed.

It's not "up to the people generally to protect the merchants," it's up to the people to protect themselves. And while they have the so-called competitive system they ought to be allowed to buy where, in their judgement, they can do so to the best advantage, whether it be at their doors, on the street, in Chicago, Hong Kong or Ossineke. Why this everlasting rooting for the protection of the merchant? It's time a crusade, a blockade or something was started to protect the people from the merchants.

J. H. THOMPSON
We publish the foregoing appeal on behalf of the Mail-Order Houses of Chicago, for the reason that it contains a lesson in social science, and because its author, Mr. J. H. Thompson, is presumed to be responsible, he being one of Uncle Sam's Mail-carriers in this city.

Evidently, Mr. Thompson considers himself some student of sociology, when he says: "The merchants of Alpena do not pay a lot of taxes. The taxes are paid by the people who buy their goods. The ultimate consumer, in any community, always pays the taxes whether he owns a dollar's worth of property himself or not."

The statement is true, as far as it goes, provided the ultimate consumer patronizes home trade; but it is not true, if he patronizes foreign trade. That the "ultimate consumer" pays everything, is as true in Chicago as it is in Alpena. It is true all over the United States and Canada. It's an old story, and is full of wind. How can a man who lives and makes his money in Alpena, and patronizes Chicago Mail-Order houses, pay the taxes of Alpena merchants?

But the important question is: who supports and maintains our city government? Mr. Thompson will probably admit that city governments are maintained only by taxpayers. Without taxpayers there can be no city government, no public schools, no streets on sewers or highways, no parks or playgrounds, no sanitary system for the preservation of the public health, or civilization.

Taxation being based upon the assessment of property, Mr. Thompson's "ultimate consumer" who owns no taxable property and patronizes foreign trade, is not a taxpayer, in any sense of the term; nor is he the outlier of towns, for the reason that he may be here today and in "Hong Kong or Ossineke" next year; and if he remains in Alpena, and buys all the goods he consumes in the Mail-Order houses of Chicago, he cannot be of any benefit to Alpena merchants. He will be too busy paying the taxes, rent, heat and light bills, of the Chicago merchants. Such consumers should live in Chicago. It is the duty of every good citizen to live where he spends his money. The man who lives in Alpena and enjoys the protection of its laws, and is "everlastingly rooting" for the protection of Chicago merchants, has our permission to live in Chicago.—Alpena News.

Man feels sorry for woman because of what she has to go through for being married to someone else.

A member of a legislature 49 years of age boasts that he has never been kissed by anyone but his mother. He shouldn't be in the legislature. He is either a blasted liar or else lacks much in practical experience.

A man who makes fun of molly-coddles is quite often a fellow who will remain standing without hitching while some frivolous female pats and pets him and makes him believe she loves him as long as he makes good with the theater tickets and luncheon after the show.

Along Came Ruth.
"What do you think Ruth?" began her aunt, as Ruth came in, "Johnny has been using my carving knife in the garden, and he left it on the back porch in the rain last night, and this morning it is covered with rust. Don't you think I had better throw it away and get a new one?"

"By no means!" answered Ruth, "let me tell you what will take all the rust off the blade. Put the knife in a basin and cover it with coal oil, then set it aside for several hours. At the end of that time, take it out and stick it in the ground for a short time, then by working it in and out of the soil for a bit, you will remove all the rust. Easy isn't it?"

"Why yes, and if I have a new edge put upon it I will have a new one at the mere cost of sharpening, and I was sure I should have to buy a new one."

The Ten Commandments of Picture Framing and Hanging.
Thou shalt not use ornate or elaborate frames. The simpler forms are always the better art.

Thou shalt avoid the use of bright gilt frames. Dull gold, bronze and black are much more restful.

Thou shalt not frame water colors or colored prints with mats, but put the frame squarely against the picture.

Thou shalt not frame trivial pictures at all. They have no lasting value.

Thou shalt not use cords or chains for hanging thy pictures. Set them on the plate rail, if it is not too high, or bang them flat against the wall with a single nail.

Thou shalt not hang thy pictures above or below the level of the eye.

Thou shalt not over-crowd thy walls with pictures, better too few than too many.

Thou shalt not hang glass covered pictures where the light will strike them and reduce them to dazzling white blurs.

Thou shalt not select or hang any pictures that will not bear a seven-days-in-the-week association.

Thou shalt not hang fruit or game pictures in any part of the house except the dining room.

IT IS OVERDONE.

Newspaper Constantly Asked to Donate.

"Space and copies of his paper go to make up the newspaper man's entire stock in trade," says Fourth Estate in an editorial entitled "Objects of Charity." "These two are all that he has to offer for sale to the public, and no one has ever yet given any sort of satisfactory reason why he should be asked by anyone to donate them.

"One thing newspaper people will never be able to understand is why any person will walk into a newspaper office and make himself or herself an object of charity and insist upon what they would disdain to ask for in any other shop or place of business in the town. The principle is the same in the newspaper office as in the dry goods store, the grocery, the drug store, and what a great many people need is to come to recognize it is the same and get off the newspaper charity list.

Advertising space in the newspaper is for sale, not to give away. It has a certain intrinsic value in itself that makes it worth money. Copies of the newspaper are for sale, not to give away. If they are worth having, they are worth the exceedingly small price asked for them.

"The public, or at least a large portion of it, has some very erroneous ideas about these matters and it is but just to the newspaper folks that these ideas be corrected in accordance with the same business principles that prevail in all other business establishments.

"In the vast majority of cases, this generous charity on the part of the newspapers is blissfully taken for granted and the paper's liberality abused. That which is purely a favor is accepted as a matter of course, and what should be requests are couched as demands.

"When the courtesy has been performed there is rarely appreciation, and more often dissatisfaction—generally silence.

"The result in many other towns and cities has been that a man has been put upon all free publicity, no matter what its object—even upon the church notices. In those cities such favors as the press bestows are properly appreciated and valued."

Are your neighbors very bad?
Pass a law!
Do they smoke? Do they chew?
Are they always bothering you?
Don't they do as you would do?

Pass a law!
Are the prices much too high?
Do the wife and babies cry
'Cause the turkeys all roost high?
Pass a law!
When M. D. finds new diseases,
Pass a law!
Got the mumps or encephalitis,
Measles, croup or "expertitis"?
Lest we all fly into pieces,
Pass a law!
Are the lights a-burnin' red?
Pass a law!
Paint 'em green, or paint 'em white
Close up all them places tight
My! Our town is such a sight
Pass a law!
No matter what the trouble is,
Pass a law!
Goodness, sakes, but aint it awful
My! What are we going to do?
Almost anything ain't lawful,
And the judge is human too,
Pass a law!

THE SHIFTING TENANT

Agricultural Schools Should Work to Keep Farmers' Sons on Land

Specialists of the Department of Agriculture who have been making an investigation into the use of land by high schools in teaching agriculture and in the encouragement of boys to carry on supervised home projects, make the following suggestions as to how the agricultural instructor may help to solve the serious shift-tenant problem.

It can safely be assumed that the average boy leaves school at 18 years of age. From the best information available the average farmer does not start farming on his own account until he is somewhere between 25 and 30 years of age. In other words, there is a period of the farmer's life, when he is between 18 and 30 years of age, when he is not working on his own farm nor is he his own master. It would seem that wherever the home-project method has been introduced an effort should be made to follow up the boy and, if possible, arrange in some way so that he continues his home-project work and gradually becomes a partner with his father in the farm business. This feature should be a part of the extension work of the agricultural instructor.

Farmers are recruited from two sources, from the sons of farmers and the sons of agricultural laborers. In going over the original census schedules of 1910 for farmers of Iowa County, Wis., this rather interesting fact developed that where the tenant and landlord had the same surname the tenant had been on the farm that he was on the day the census was taken for a much longer period than where their surnames were different. It was found that 81 per cent of the cash tenants who were related to the owner had been tenants on the farms which they were on, at the census date, for two years or less, while the per cent for those where no relationship existed was 65. For share tenants the figures were 50 and 80 per cent respectively.

In other words where there is relationship there is less of the shifting-tenant problem than where relationship does not exist. From other records it was learned that of the total years a man had been a tenant, he had been a tenant on the farm where he was at the time of the records were 76 per cent of the total time when kinship existed and 50 per cent had attended high school, but where there was no relationship only 18 per cent had attended high school.

In other words, if through the school the farmers could be made to take an interest in the agricultural training of the boy and they could be established in a partnership relation, the shifting-tenant problem would be partially solved.

Strenuous School Life.

School life at Shrewsbury, England in the sixteenth century was a strenuous affair. Mr. Percy Adleshaw, in his "Life of Sir Philip Sidney," has an interesting account of the school at that time. "The school year," he writes, "was divided into halves. From Lady day to All Saints' day the hours of attendance were from six o'clock in the morning till eleven, the dinner hour. In the afternoon the boys studied from 12:45 till five o'clock. Prayers were recited at the beginning and close of the day. If a holy day occurred in the week it was a play day; but usually the weekly day for games was Thursday. One custom then begun is still observed. . . . At the earnest request and great entreaty of some men of honor, of great worship, credit, or authority, an extra holiday was granted to the boys. The judges of assize, when visiting Shrewsbury, are still accustomed to ask for, and obtain, this boon."

FEED THE BIRDS.

The economic importance of keeping our robins and bluebirds supplied with food is emphasized in department Bulletin No. 171, entitled "Food of the Robins and Bluebirds of the United States." These two members of the thrush family are most attractive and desirable assistants to the farmer, reducing the insects that prey on his crops besides eating a number of undesirable weed seeds. However, as they are very generally distributed throughout the United States and are usually abundant wherever found, it sometimes becomes a problem to provide for them when the supply of insects and wild berries is insufficient and the birds have to resort to cultivated crops to sustain life. In order to keep the birds from destroying valuable crops the department's biologist advises that they be provided with adequate supplies of wild fruits and berries by their human friends. Ornamental trees and shrubs which furnish these may be planted in the vicinity of cultivated crops for this purpose.

The open season for rabbits is changed to October 1 to conform to the opening of the bird season. Squirrels and quails are protected until 1920.

And She Took Him Up.

"I went home feeling awfully bad the other night," confided a married friend. "My eye was bright, my step was firm, my head was clear and my digestion was perfect—still I was feeling rotten. I told my wife about it as soon as I got into the house. I groaned some more, though I was so hungry that I had to keep right on eating in spite of the missus' protests. Finally she said: 'I'm afraid, dearie, that you won't be well enough to go to that dance with me tonight.' And, before I thought, I blurted out: 'Damn it, I'm afraid I will!' And I couldn't explain to her that it was a slip of the tongue, and she dragged me out with her in spite of my shrieks of pain."

This cable is to form part of the longest and strongest hoisting cable in the world, and is to be used in a mine in Cuba. It weighs 15.7 pounds to the foot and is made in lengths of 8,000 feet. ### EASY TO START A LIBRARY

Ten of the Best Writings of the World's Most Noted Authors May Be the Nucleus.

In the Woman's Home Companion Laura Spencer Porter writes a practically helpful article showing how the ordinary person can begin founding a personal library. Following is her suggestion as to ten good books to begin with:

"For those who are beginning a library and have little money to spend I would suggest that there be bought, say, one book each of ten great authors. It does not matter who the authors are so long as they stand high and their books are well known and standard ones. Let us take as an example the following ten, chosen at random from a catalogue of standard writers: Emerson, Eliot, Bronte, Ruskin, Carlyle, Dickens, Thackeray, Lowell, Shakespeare, Keats, and as a selection of ten books of these ten writers let us take in the same order Emerson's 'Essays,' Eliot's 'Mill on the Floss,' Bronte's 'Jane Eyre,' Ruskin's 'Sesame and Lilies,' Carlyle's 'Heroes and Hero Worship,' Dickens' 'David Copperfield,' Thackeray's 'Pendennis,' Lowell's essays, 'Among My Books,' a complete volume of Shakespeare or any one of the Shakespeare plays, preferably 'Lear' or 'Romeo and Juliet,' and Keats' 'Poems.'

"Here you have ten books by ten master minds, books widely varied in subject, style, treatment. Let those ten suffice for a time. Read them."

WOMEN IN CHURCH COUNCIL.

The high council of the Church of England, sitting under the joint presidency of the archbishops of Canterbury and York, voted to give women the suffrage in the election of church councils and also the right to sit on parochial councils. In view of the fact of its former conservatism, this is very significant in the ruling of the church. Women have always been the most loyal workers, but have hitherto had no voice in molding its policies.

ESTEEMED IMPETUOSITY.

"He's all right in his place," replied Mr. Ohlsport. "Sometimes you will bet on a horse that hasn't a chance of winning unless the jockey loses control of him."

RAISE INFERTILE EGGS.

Fertile Egg Great Source of Loss in Summer.—Keep Male Bird Out of Flock After Hatching Season.

It is conservatively estimated that there is an annual loss in eggs in this country of $45,000,000. Practically all of this enormous loss is sustained by the farmers of this country, as it is on the general farms that the great bulk of eggs is produced. A very great part of this loss can be prevented by the production of infertile eggs, which are laid by hens that do not have a male bird with them. The male bird has no influence whatever on the number of eggs laid. Therefore, as soon as the hatching season is over the male should be removed from the flock.

The greatest trouble from blood rings in eggs occurs in hot weather. Special care should be given to the gathering and storing of the eggs during the late spring and summer months. At these times the eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, placed in a room or cellar where the temperature does not rise above 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and marketed two or three times a week.

Blood rings are caused by the development of the embryo of a fertile egg and its subsequent death. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or cause a blood ring to form in one. It is generally considered that eggs become infertile from 7 to 14 days after the male bird is removed from the flock. Repeated experiments have shown that where fertile and infertile eggs are kept under similar conditions, the fertile eggs spoiled much quicker, due to the fact that they deteriorate faster than infertile eggs in the average summer temperature. Summer heat has the same effect as the hen or incubator on fertile eggs. Sell, kill, or confine the male bird as soon as the hatching season is over.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, unless cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
