WHY IS A SUMMER RESORT

Their Purpose and Some Good Suggestions as to Their Regulation.

The following article was written by Dr. C. V. Crane of Tawas City, for "Public Health," the official publication of the Michigan State Board of Health, and appeared in the May number.—Ed.

Why do people frequent summer or winter resorts? Consciously or unconsciously to re-establish the metabolic balance.

In the child and youth, under normal conditions, anabolism (the building up) is greater than katabolism (the breaking down). As we approach middle life these two processes are about equal, while from this period on katabolism, like the subtle fumes of a poisonous vapor, insidiously gains mastery—senility and death being the result.

If we but observe the guests at summer or winter resorts, we find them divided into several classes. First, those of abundant means, who are seeking pleasure primarily and health secondarily. Second, a large group who are seeking health or "to get a rest" or "to get a change." In short, both groups, but more especially the second are seeking conditions favoring anabolism.

In the second group we find the child who has not gained after an attack of measles, the winter before. We find the business man, who has put in a strenuous year and who, upon the advice of his physician, is seeking a change of scene. We also find the society woman who, with late hours, indiscretions in eating and sleeping, has developed a case of "nerves." Finally we find the clerks and others of similar work who live in offices from daylight until dark and who have been keeping late hours and sleeping poorly for months past. All these and many more we find in our second group. Again let me repeat—they are seeking conditions favoring anabolism.

It is not the purpose of this paper to speak of the third and largest group, the group that we should find in resorts but do not find—the mothers of large families and their children, the man who works at hard labor in dark and poorly ventilated factories—the group that cannot spend the time or money in idleness. These only are missing.

The Ideal Resort.

Therefore, the ideal resort is that one which can surround an individual with conditions that encourage anabolism and that antagonize katabolism and can offer these conditions to rich and poor alike.

Unfortunately, I know of no ideal resort.

Let us consider just two of the factors found in our "ideal" resort, namely, the conditions that encourage anabolism and the conditions that antagonize katabolism. After we have considered these two factors, let us compare the average Michigan resort with our "ideal" resort with special reference to these two factors.

A. Conditions Favoring Anabolism.
There are a great many conditions that tend to build up the human body and I will try to enumerate only the most important and common ones.

They are fresh air, sunlight, good water, pure food, proper rest, judicious exercise, proper bathing; to which can be added for nervous cases, enervated by smoke, fumes, gases, or bacterial laden dust. We get good fresh air in a moderately wooded and moderately high country for the reason that the vegetable growth gives off oxygen and takes up carbon dioxide, also for the reason that the relative humidity is usually not great. We also get good fresh air on the shores of the Great Lakes for the reason that the off shore winds have swept through woods with the interchange of gases above mentioned, while the winds from the water have been "washed."

Sunlight needs no further comment here other than to state that our houses should be so constructed that they will not exclude this life giving, health sustaining and germ killing force of nature.

Pure water is that water only that is shown by chemical and bacteriological examination to be free from impurities or contamination. We get water that is usually good from deep wells, springs, the Great Lakes, etc.

POPULAR COUPLE WED

Miss Irma B. Dillon and Robert D. Lynd Married at Home of Bride June 23.

The Dillon home was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, June 23, when Miss Irma Belle Dillon, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dillon, and Robert D. Lynd of Detroit, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The marriage ceremony took place at four o'clock, Rev. John Pinches of the M. E. church officiating.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in the bride's colors, yellow and white. The bridal party took their places underneath an arch of ferns and daisies intermingled with roses and pounies, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Grace Richards, who graduated from the Albion conservatory this year. Miss Myra Salisbury, vocal teacher at the Albion conservatory, sang "O Promise Me," and other selections during the service.

Behind the bridal party rose a bank of ferns interspersed with daisies and yellow and white roses. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white Persian silk crepe over white taffeta silk trimmed with pearls and real lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Cecil Bonney of this city acted as bridesmaid. She was dressed in white embroidered organdie over wollo satin and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Q. Forest of Albion, Mich., a graduate of this year, prominent as an orator and debator. An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which a dainty wedding luncheon was served. Only a few close friends and the relatives of the contracting parties were present for the occasion. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. William Lynd of Detroit, mother of the groom, Misses Myrtle and Inez Lynd, sisters of the groom, and David Lynd, a brother, all of Detroit, Miss Myra Salisbury of Alpena, Miss Iva Marker of Detroit, Mrs. C. B. Dillon and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Chicago, aunt and cousin of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dillon of Detroit.

The bride is a popular young lady of this city. She graduated from the East Tawas public schools, class of 1910. She has also been prominent as a soloist in the M. E. church choir.

Re. Lynd is also a graduate of the Albion college, a member of the Zetaethian society and holds the office of secretary of the Detroit Y. M. C. A.

E. choirs, and a solo "A Dream of Paradise" from Gray by Arthur E. Applin.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Last Wednesday evening, June 23, the commencement exercises of our city schools was held in the opera house. The large attendance was proof of the interest taken in the welfare of our public schools. The stage was tastefully decorated in the class colors, yellow and blue with the class motto in gilt letters, "Impossible is Un-American." A profusion of cedar, ferns and wild flowers added to the decorations, yellow and white daisies and blue flags were the principal flowers used.

The class consisted of three persons, Miss Gladys Owen, president; Miss Kathryn Teare, secretary and Philip Applin, treasurer. The invocation was given by Rev. W. R. Blachford. Miss Owen then gave the salutatory in which she welcomed all present in a pleasing manner. She spoke of the different forms of salutation among both civilized and uncivilized peoples and ended by choosing as her favorite that of "Teddy Roosevelt" "Delighted."

Bishop Chas. D. Williams of Detroit was then welcomed by Rev. G. E. Sloan as the speaker of the evening. He had chosen as the topic of his talk, "Unto the Perfect Man," believing that this motto should be placed on the wall of every home, church and school room. He spoke of the training of years ago when the young child's mind was crammed full of facts, of the emphasis put on vocational training alone in later time. Education must be back of this training, the man behind the vocation, the character and personality is what counts. He said that the training of the mind and spirit should begin with the body—but that a perfect physical man without mental and moral training is a brute. The greatest defect in our schools today he said was the little emphasis on moral and religious training. He said it was almost impossible to give religious work in schools on account of the different denominations and the jealousy of each. The teachers, however, can so teach every subject so as to give the mind, spiritual and moral culture. The mind, body and spirit he said should be developed into the perfect man. That it is one's duty to himself, his neighbor and his God to aim to attain the final goal of education, the perfect man.

A number of beautiful vocal solos were rendered during the evening's program, one by Miss Myra Salisbury, vocal instructor of Albion conservatory. Mrs. R. H. Budworth and Arthur L. Applin also gave some pleasing selections. Miss Grace Richards, who graduated from Albion conservatory this year was the accompanist for Miss Salisbury and Arthur Applin and played the opening march.

Miss Kathryn Teare presented the schools with the new Victrola purchased by the class of 1915 speaking of the necessity of good high class music in our schools, deeming it necessary to a higher education.

Selections were played on the Victrola, after which Philip Applin gave the valedictory speaking of the value of education, and bidding good bye to classmates, telling them that by patience and perseverance they would attain the heights of success, bidding them always remember that "Impossible is Un-American." President John McCray presented the diplomas and the benediction by Rev. John Pinches closed one of the best and most pleasing graduating exercises ever held here.

Our ire is difficult to rouse, But one thing never misses— When someone on the telephone Says "Hello. Guess who this is."

IGNORE THE DEMAGOGUE; APPEAL TO THE MAN.

Every informed thinking man sees not alone the threatened dangers of but the damage now being wrought by the propaganda of radicalism in this country. But so few are informed.

The threatened danger is that the uninformed, led by self-seeking, dishonest demagogues, will be swept off their feet by their specious argument and, thus, the country will be swept into social chaos. The present damage is that of what we call "social unrest"—strikes, destruction of property, loss of wages, a spirit of law defiance, and, worst of all, distrust and class-hatred. And as thinking men, we admit both the threatened danger and the present damage. But what are we doing about it?

There can be but one answer to the foregoing question. Informed thinking men must make it their business to teach the uninformed thinking man that along the way the demagogues are speaking to him every day in lurid page and with poisoning tongue; give him cool reasoning and self-convincing facts as antidotes. If the threatened dangers become facts in this country, the blame will be upon the employers of labor for neglecting their duty to inform their workmen; if the present damage is suffered to continue, the blame will fall in the same place.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS FOR BOOSTING YOUR HOME TOWN.

Don't be the man who put sit in city.

Building good houses builds a good town.

Save a little money and save a lot of worry.

Good roads lead not only to town, but to money.

Be a live one and the town will never be a dead one.

A nice front porch has prevented many an old maid.

Why should the town muzzle dogs and not knockers?

When someone plans to help the town, plan to help the plan.

The best plans a man can have to the future are house plans.

A good way to make the world better is to begin with the home town.

A town is like a perambulator; it isn't much good unless it is pushed.

Don't spend all your time telling what you could do if you had some time.

Be like a ball player. The thing he is always working for is home.

Be one of the leaders of the town, if you can; anyway, keep up.

If you think a cow can't laugh for joy, let somebody sell you a good silo.

Don't be a grouch. Everybody in this town wishes you well, even the doctor.

Let's not be trying to stop something all of the time. Let's start something.

A good town will do more to keep the boys at home than good advice.

A town is like a girl. It's wonderful what a little fixing up will do for her.

Opportunity knocks once at every man's door; better be at home when the lady calls.

The world owes every man a living, but the street corner is a poor collection agency.

Don't look for soft snaps; the hard snaps are the ones that have the ginger in them.

Don't spend so much time talking war that you haven't time left to talk business.

If you would like to have somebody working for you, put a little money in the bank.

It improves the soup to throw a little pepper into it. Same way with a town.

If you spend all that you earn, some other fellow is banking your money.

Many a young man goes away to seek his fortune when fortune is seeking for him at home.

Plaster your house and everybody will follow your example. Lath and the world laths with you.

You've got to be a citizen in order to vote; but you've got to do a good deal more than vote to be a citizen.

If you will consider the men in this town who are well off you will find that most of them made their money here.

The big things were not all done in the big towns. The greatest poem in the English language was written in a country churchyard.

There is only one better man than the man who gets behind and pushes, and that's the man who goes ahead and pulls.

SOME COMPLIMENT.

It is not often an editor hands himself a compliment.

But this is the exception, and that is just what we are doing, because a certain well known citizen of this community has and is persistently recognizing the value of this paper as a reliable disseminator of local news, and has paid us this compliment in a manner which speaks volumes for his knowledge of the good things of life.

He is not destitute of this world's goods, but he possesses the rare faculty of holding onto that which he gets, lest the pangs of poverty overtake him in his declining years.

He possesses a wide knowledge of local affairs, because he is a constant reader of this paper, and the knowledge extracted therefrom is turned to good account in his own behalf.

If an important event is soon to occur, he knows of it in advance, because he has read of it in this paper.

If there is a bargain to be had anywhere in the community he is promptly apprised of the fact, because of that, too, he has read in this paper.

And if an acquaintance is sick, or death has overtaken some member of a family, or the stork has paid a visit to the home of some friend, he is among the first to extend his condolences or congratulations—because of these, also, he has read in the paper.

He is a man of wisdom—a pillar of strength—with a brain which absorbs to the utmost of the essence of life.

Few things escape his notice, for he is ever on the alert.

But the one thing which he never overlooks is this paper.

And therein lies the compliment which we take unto ourself. It gives us a feeling that we are something more than a mere worm in human shape, that we may be even a whole cog in the community wheel.

True, he is not a subscriber to the paper—his dollar never reaches this office—but he reads the paper just the same.

For his neighbor is a subscriber and pays in advance, and in his generosity he lends the paper to the "pillar of strength"—by request.

But it may not always be so. In time we have hopes that the "pillar" will pay us the super-compliment of permitting us to add his own name to our subscription list—paid in advance, of course.

Time sometimes works wonders, even in the newspaper field.

And we have hopes, strong hopes.

SELF PRAISE, NO PRAISE.

Irving Cobb, the famous war-correspondent, stor writer and lecturer, was approached by a stranger who asked him what sort of a fellow Cobb was. Cobb replied: "Cobb is related to my wife by marriage, and if you don't object to a brief sketch, with all the technicalities eliminated, I should say that in appearance he is rather bulky, standing six-foot high, not especially beautiful, a light roan in color with a black mane. His figure is undecided, but might be called bunched in places. He belongs to several clubs, including the Yonkers Pressing Club and the Park Hill Democratic Marching Club, and has always, like his father, who was a Confederate soldier, voted the Democratic ticket. He has had one wife and one child and still has them. In religion he is an innocent bystander."

WILLING TO WORK CHEAP!

Jame Ward, farmer, who lives near Warren, O., was presented the other day by a farm hand, who had worked for him a year, with a list of things the farm hand thought the boss should put up for him to retain his services for another year. Here they are: House, rent free; garden for truck; eight loads of manure; six hundred eggs to set; half of young chickens raised; half of eggs produced; half of milk from eight good cows; half of butter from eight good cows; 100 pounds of flour per month; twenty bushels of apples; forty-eight gallons of cider; apples for apple-butter; seven tons of coal, three of this fall's pigs or four spring pigs to be fed and fattened free; one-third of the calves when old enough to veal and twenty dollars a month salary. That's all.

RIDERS FOR THREE GENERATIONS.

To the manor born certainly applies to the renowned Orton family of riders. For three generations they have held the world's championship for equestrianism, extending back for three-quarters of a century.

The present Orton family, now with Robinson's Famous Shows, were literally born upon horseback. Riding from infancy, taught by their distinguished parents, they were perfect at ten years of age, when they were sent to school for their education. During their college years they kept up their practice daily, which not only preserved their skill, but aided them in acquiring their perfect physical perfection. The wonderful ease and grace, the dash and daring of their riding is thus accounted for. They will be seen at every performance of Robinson's Famous Shows at East Tawas, Monday, July 5.

WHY IS A SUMMER RESORT.

but without the above examinations we cannot state that it positively is pure water.

Good food means fresh food or food unadulterated by preservatives; means food highly nutritious, easily digested and assimilated. It means milk from inspected herds, and eggs fresh laid, not from cold storage.

Proper rest, judicious exercise are obvious and need not be commented upon here except to advise physicians to advise their patients along these lines, each case being a rule unto itself. Proper bathing is also an obvious factor in promoting health, and the temperature of the water—length of time of the bath, especially in lake bathing, should be considered by the physician in giving advice to his patient.

B. Conditions Antagonistic to Katabolism.

Katabolism is a normal process, and I wish to consider abnormally increased katabolism. Diabetes, nephritis, sarcoma, carcinoma, and other so-called wasting diseases, the etiology of which are not definitely known, exhibit a class of conditions manifesting an abnormally increased katabolism, and will form one group. In the second group we find the acute infections and contagious diseases which show similar though much more rapid katabolism.

We can influence both of these groups to a great extent. In the first we can lessen the increased katabolism by rest, diet, etc. The second group of diseases we should prevent.

In this way we could eliminate increased metabolism. Hence it is obvious that our resorts should offer to its guests at least the three following conditions:

A. Location. The resort itself should be suitably located so that it will be well drained. It should not be located near breeding places of mosquitoes, etc. Its rooms should be properly screened from flies. Sunlight and fresh air should be freely admitted to all rooms.

B. Sewage, etc., should be disposed of in such a manner that there will be no danger of infecting the guests or surrounding neighborhood. Garbage cans should be protected with screens.

C. Nutritious food, pure water, also provisions for exercise and games, need no further comment.

State Inspection of Summer Resorts.

The average Michigan resort falls far short from our "ideal" resort in the conditions above considered and many of them are nothing more or less than a very ordinary second class hotel. Sanitary regulations are superficial, food and water quite below the average and good airy sleeping accommodations unusual.

They are usually established for making money, more than for promoting health.

It is most unfortunate that the large group of people mentioned above, namely, those who are financially unable to visit a resort, cannot do so. If it were possible for this group to camp on state land, and they knew they would be allowed to do so, many of them would avail themselves of the opportunity. I believe it would be more economical for the State of Michigan to establish state camping sites or recreation parks, than to maintain institutions for them after they become incurable.

Our Michigan resorts are practically all private ones and are not open to thorough inspection by state authorities. One way to improve our resorts would be to have them licensed by the state under regulations and standards formulated by the State Board of Health. Have a State Inspector of Resorts appointed whose duty it would be to inspect these resorts from time to time and his report published in "Public Health."

This would be advantageous to all concerned—the resort keeper, the guest and the state. The resort keeper would be protected by having competent inspection of food, water, sanitation and grounds, and his business correspondingly increased.

The guest would be protected and more accurately given those conditions that favor the building up of the human body, hence would be getting more good for any given amount of money spent, than under present conditions.

The state would not be a loser in this arrangement because it would convert a great number of consumers into producers. If we had an arrangement whereby the poor or indigent group could receive these advantages, say for instance at a state camping site, the state would be ahead in the long run for reasons apparent.

A second way in which our larger resorts could be improved would be by having a competent physical director employed—preferably a graduate in medicine. He would be in close touch with the guests and be able to advise most intelligently relative to diet, rest, exercise, bathing, etc.

In case a guest was sent to a resort upon the advice of a physician, the physical director could see that the physician's orders were carried out, which would be of great advantage to the guest.

One of the most satisfactory arrangements in a nearby progressive resort is that in which each family have their own cottage. This cottage is furnished with all necessities except cooking utensils. In the central building is a large dining room which furnishes meals to all the transient guests as well as those residing in the cottages.

This arrangement allows families to have seclusion when they wish it, also relieves them of the burden of preparing their own meals.

It would be absolutely impossible to standardize resorts except along the lines roughly outlined above. This would give the guests not only a feeling of safety but a knowledge of safety in so far as health and freedom from dangers or disease are concerned.

From the point of pleasure, the fishing at one resort would appeal more to one than to another; likewise the bathing, boating, etc. However, each and every resort could be made to conform to a definite standard of sanitation and each and every resort could be made to surround its guests with conditions that favor katabolism and which antagonize katabolism, and should such a thing come to pass that our resorts were thus standardized, Michigan would immediately become the nation's summer resort and "Haven of Rest."

THE CITY CHAP.

A city chap, he is surely skeered To go around with three days' beard.

And when he jumps into a barber chair,

It's a quarter here and a quarter there And his prosperity's not insured.

Until he has gone and been manicured And they slap a massage on his face

Before they allow him to leave the place,

And they shine his shoes and they brush his hat,

And they treat his scalp and do this and that.

And they handle him with such tender care

That they make him feel like a millionaire.

The cost of livin' don't never go down,

That is, not while you're livin' in town,

Where the butter cost four shillin' a brick

And the price of eggs would just make you sick.

A feller to stick with the bunch, Has got ter stay downtown fer lunch.

For the fellers nowadays pull off big deals

While they're Fletcherizing of their meals.

It costs him money, I will be bound, Durned near every time he turns around.

Which leads me to think there is quite a charm

To the simple life on the dear old farm.—Detroit Journal.

UTILIZING THE FURNITURE OF LONG AGO.

There are only a few houses which have not some old-fashioned pieces of furniture tucked away in the garret. Many of these are useless to the owner, and if sold to a dealer would bring little money. It is, therefore, quite the best thing to utilize the old wood in making some odd pieces of furniture.

Old walnut dining table tops have been used for wainscoting in a dining room fireplace corner. A settee upholstered in plush, when replaced by carved panels of walnut, was very effective. The middle panel had the owner's initials in old English lettering cut within a circle in the center. The settee was then upholstered in leather.

Some of the most attractive Gothic screens seen are made of black walnut table tops. They are finished with an oil-painted canvas in each panel. The floral designs carved on the wood are usually of hawthorn, ferns and poison ivy.

The remnants of an old ebony table were recently used for panels in a piano. When finished were sent to a factory and the instrument ordered made. The case was sponized to match the panels.

Another woman, who had a handsome old cherry dining room table, had it converted into a chest. She then carved the panels with a design of ferns, palms and holly berries. It was finished with a coat of oil and brass trimmings. An old rosewood table top, the underpinnings of which were decayed with age, was used to make a violin. The circular pieces left were used for making small picture frames.

WHY, JEFF!

Jeff Livingston, who, in spite of the fact that he is the president of the great Snider Preserve Company and a millionaire, is as democratic as his first name, was once a poor boy and wore his rags and patches with the rest of the "kids." Jeff occasionally finds time to indulge in a little literary work and his most recent effusion is founded upon an incident in his early career. Here it is:

Two ladies met a boy one day; his legs were briar-scratched, His clothes were blue, but a nut-brown hue marked the place where his parts were patched.

They bubbled with joy at the blue-clad boy with his spot of nut-brown hue.

"Why didn't you patch with a color to match?" they chuckled, "Why not with blue?"

"Come, don't be coy, my blue-brown boy, speak out!" and they laughed with glee;

And he blushed rose-red, while he bashfully said: "That ain't no patch; that's me!"

Preceding the regular circus performance the new spectacle of "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" will be enacted on the largest stage in the world. This mammoth 1,250 character pageant cost $1,000,000 and the costumes, scenery and stage properties are said to be a revelation in gorgeousness. Among the 385 scenic acts, are scores of equestrians including the Lloyds, famous English riders; the Borinis, rolling globe artists; the Josephson Glima troupe; the five highest perch acts ever presented; Big Bingo, the biggest living elephant; five herds of trick elephants; 50 clowns, 20 families of aerialists and a magnificent horse show and speed tournament. THE RURAL PRESS

The Local Paper a Most Useful Agency on the Farm—The Press, Pulpit and School a Trinity of Influence That Must Be Utilized in Building Agriculture.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union

A broad campaign of publicity on the subject of rural life is needed in this state today to bring the problems of the farmers to the forefront. The city problems are blazoned upon the front pages of the metropolitan dailies and echoed in the country press, but the troubles of the farmers are seldom told, except by those who seek to profit by the story, and the glitter of the package oftentimes obscures the substance. A searching investigation into the needs of the farmers will reveal many inherent defects in our economic system that can be easily remedied when properly understood and illuminated by the power of the press.

The rural press, the pulpit and the school are a trinity of powerful influences that the farmer must utilize to their fullest capacity before he can occupy a commanding position in public affairs. These gigantic agencies are organized in every rural community and only await the patronage and co-operation of the farmers to fully develop their energy and usefulness. They are local forces working for the best interests of their respective communities. Their work is to build and their object is to serve. They prosper only through the development and prosperity of the community.

Every farmer in this state should subscribe for the local paper, as well as farm periodicals and such other publications as he may find profitable, but he should by all means subscribe for his local paper, and no home should be without it. The local paper is part of the community life and the editor understands the farmer's problems. It is the local press that will study the local problems and through its columns deal with subjects of most vital importance to local life of the community.

A Noble Task.

In too many instances the country papers mimic the city press by giving prominence to scandals, accidents and political agitation. The new rural civilization has placed upon the rural press renewed responsibilities, and enlarged possibilities for usefulness. It cannot perform its mission to agriculture by recording the frailties, the mishaps and inordinate ambitions of humanity, or by filling its columns with the echoes of the struggles of busy streets, or by enchanting stories of city life which lure our children from the farm.

It has a higher and nobler task. Too often the pages of the city dailies bristle with the struggle of ambitious men in their wild lust for power, and many times the flames of personal conflict sear the tender buds of new civilization and illuminate the pathway to destruction. The rural press is the governing power of public sentiment and must hold steadfast to principle and keep the ship of state in the roadstead of progress. The rural press can best serve the interests of the farmers by applying its energies to the solution of problems affecting the local community. It must stem the mighty life current that is moving from the farm to the cities, sweeping before it a thousand boys and girls per day. It has to deal with the fundamental problems of civilization at their fountain head. Its mission is to direct growth, teach efficiency and mold the intellectual life of the country, placing before the public the daily problems of the farmers and giving first attention to the legislative, co-operative, educational and social needs of the agricultural classes within its respective community.

The Power of Advertising.

The influence of advertising is clearly visible in the homes and habits of the farmers, and the advertising columns of the press are making their imprint upon the lives of our people. The farmer possesses the things that are best advertised.

The farmer is entitled to all the advantages and deserves all the luxuries of life. We need more art, science and useful facilities on the farms, and many homes and farms are well balanced in this respect, but the advertiser can render a service by teaching the advantages of modern equipment throughout the columns of the rural press.

The farmers are in need of personal leadership. They have political leaders, but they need local industrial community and educational leaders.

Strange Potato Industries.
"Towns in the Netherlands have several ways of dealing with the surplus production of potatoes. According to a recent consular report, there are now factories for drying potatoes, with an annual output of many thousand bushels. Of these plants 30 are for the production of potato flakes, while in 33 the potatoes are dried by the hot air process. Potato flakes can be used for feeding stock, for distilling alcohol, for making starch, and for the other purposes for which natural potatoes are used; or they can be ground and boiled to make potato flour. This flour is a yellowish-white product, rich in carbohydrates, and is used principally by bakers for adding to rye and wheat flour in making bread. It is claimed that the addition of potato flour gives the bread a good flavor, makes it more digestible and keeps it fresh for a comparatively long time. It is also used to some extent in thickening soups and sauces.

Matter of Superstition.
A third marriage is considered unlucky in certain parts of India. A fourth marriage is not. So when a man wishes to become a benedict after two previous trials and still evade superstition he evokes a very clever scheme. Mr. Man of India goes through a ceremony with a bird or animal or flower as the bride, in order that his next wife will be the fourth and not the third venture. Though this may sound ridiculous to many of our American people it is any more so than the lengths to which persons in this country will go to avoid the number 13 or "unlucky days" and other household bogies?

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An Interview With Mr. Ford
This is the Most Important Advertisement I Ever Caused to be Published---Read Every Word---and Then Marvel

On a Personal Visit to Mr. Ford I Broached the Subject of a Possible Rebate August 1st

The Ford Motor Company announced last year, as you will remember, that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a fund of $40 to $60.

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000," was the quiet reply, "and in eleven months, a full month ahead of August first."

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes---barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders today. Factory and branches are sending out 1,800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford, "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales three hundred cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this, "you may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car, between August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement."

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners and to prospective Ford owners up to August 1st, 1915. It actually means: Ford touring cars for $490, less the $50 rebate; Ford runabouts for $440, less the $50 rebate. What is there left for me to say?

On Wednesday, June 16, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton was the scene of a pretty wedding, when their daughter, Zedena Hope, was united in marriage with Mr. William Ross Kitchen, in the presence of forty relatives and friends. Rev. Martin of Prescott performed the ceremony and the beautiful ring service was used. The home was prettily decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin messaline and oriental lace and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel McLeod, wore white lace over pink silk and carried pink carnations. Little Lulu Ruckle, niece of the bride, acted as ring bearer, wearing a dainty dress of white with pink ribbons. A. Horton acted as best man. The ceremony took place at three o'clock after which a dainty four course luncheon was served. The presents were most and very beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen left for a short wedding trip and will be at home in Hule, after July 1st, where Mr. Kitchen is manager of the elevator. The young people are well known and highly respected throughout the county and have a host of friends who unite in wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

They all report a good time especially Clifford. But the next time you go don't take any roosters along Cliff.

Hemlock ball team went to McIvor and won their third straight game by the close score of 8-6. They found the McIvor team much improved over last season. Miller pitching for the Hemlock team, pitched faultless ball in five successive innings but three batters faced him, in two more but four and was scored upon in only two innings, when errors, robbed him of a shut-out. Batteries for Hemlock—Miller and Allen. McIvor—Pavelock, Field and McMullen.

Oh, yes, Tawas City was one ahead in the ninth inning because they allowed Jack Johnson, their heavy hitter, after fanning on three straight strikes, to take the next turn at bat and hit a home run. And the decision in question was so raw that umpire Gaul changed it to a decent one. In the tenth inning the Tawas boys weakly batted out and the Hemlock team put over the winning run. "If" the Tawas boys done all the playing "they" would always win. "If" the Tawas boys could play as good as their correspondent writes up, Connie Mack could take them and cop the American league flag and give the Boston Braves a stiff argument for the world's championship.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

June 27, 1915. 6 o'clock std. time.

Topic—"Greeks and Italians Once a Prize—Why Not Now?"

Leader—J. F. Mark.

Everybody very cordially invited.

Last Sunday evening a goodly number listened to the discussion on "God's Spirit Directing the Soul-Winner," led by Mrs. Carr and much good thought was gotten out of the subject.

Tho'ts.

Have we any difficulty in obtaining the direction of the spirit of God in our personal lives? Is it not more frequently true that the difficulty lies in the fact that we will not follow after the direction has been given? What we want is not more direction. What we want is more conservation and courage. It is easy enough to talk in this way, but it is not easy to live in this way. Yet we cannot deny that the one great need in all our lives is for the spirit of courage and consecration which will enable us to overcome all hesitation and follow wherever the spirit may direct.

AHBOOB BIL BRYAN.

Ahboob Bil Bryan (may his jaw have rest!)

Awoke one midnight from a dreaming fest

And in the alcove where he kept his thinks—

Likewise his grape-juice and some other drinks—

He saw an angel in a nighty clad,

Who banged a battered Remington like mad,

Excessive speech had made Bil Bryan bold,

So in his deep Chautauqua voice he trolled;

"What typest thou?" The Vision snarled, "Go hence!

I write the names of future presidents."

"And is mine one?" asked Ahboob, "Nope, not yet,"

Replied the writing Angel. "You should fret."

And Ahboob, though his inmost soul was vexed,

Just swallowed hard and muttered, "Put me next."

The Angel wrote and beat it. The next night

He came illumined by a tungsten light,

And gave to Ahboob, with a loud tee-hee

A carbon copy of his screed, and—

Ge!

Bil Bryan's name stood first of any man's

Among the list of famous Also-rans.

THE CHURCH AS A SOCIAL CENTER

A Broader Sphere for Religion—New Field for the Rural Church.

By Peter Radford

Lecturer National Farmers' Union

The social duty of the rural church is as much a part of its obligations as its spiritual side. In expressing its social interest, the modern rural church does not hesitate to claim that it is expressing a true religious instinct and the old-time idea that the social instincts should be starved while the spiritual nature was overfed with solid theological food, is fast giving way to a broader interpretation of the functions of true religion. We take our place in the succession of those who have sought to make the world a fit habitation for the children of man when we seek to study and understand the social duty of the rural church. The true christian religion is essentially social—its tenets of faith being love and brotherhood and fellowship. While following after righteousness, the church must challenge and seek to reform that social order in which moral life is expressed. While cherishing ideals of service, the rural church which attains the fullest measure of success is that which enriches as many lives as it can touch, and in no way can the church come in as close contact with its members as through the avenue of social functions.

THE REAL "GOOD FELLOW."

The real "good fellow" is the fellow who knows something good about everybody and tells it. He never knocks on his neighbor or digs up the past. He always lends a helping hand to the fellow who is up against it and gives him a chance to make good. He never forgets to do and say the little things that make his wife happy. His children find him a jolly chum and an ever-ready playmate. His home is a haven of love, happiness and contentment. The real "good fellow" is the world's greatest asset. —Bert Morehouse in Ginger.

A SPARE.

The motocyclist sped along; He didn't seem to care— He missed a lone pedestrian, And left him standing there. "My average has improved," he said; "I made another spare."

Man wants but little here below; Twill hold him for the nonce. You ask, then, why he labors so?— For things Friend Wifie wants.
