Will Waterbury of Detroit visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Waterbury over Sunday. Mr. Waterbury was recently married to Miss Mary Leonor Cunningham of Alpena, and his wife accompanied him here.

The October session of the board of supervisors convened Monday. The first two days of the session were marked by considerable verbal pyrotechnics regarding the charges against the prosecuting attorney. The session will probably continue until the middle of next week.
O. E. McCutcheon of Idaho Falls, Idaho, was in the city Tuesday shaking hands with old friends. Mr. McCutcheon was a practicing attorney in Iosco county in the early days, leaving here some twenty-three years ago. He was prosecuting attorney of the county for two terms and also at different times was county superintendent of schools, circuit court commissioner, and representative in the legislature from this district for two terms. He has also been much in the public eye since moving west, having served two terms in the state legislature of Idaho and some years as dean of the law department of the state university. He is still practicing law in company with his son at Idaho Falls.

The class of 1916 of the Iosco county normal school tendered a banquet Wednesday evening to the board of supervisors, the members of the board of education and their wives, and the teachers in the schools. This is an annual affair with the normal class, and the attendance this year is said to have been better than ever before.
The viands for the occasion were prepared by the young ladies of the class, and received fulsome praise from those present.

School commissioner J. A. Campbell acted as toastmaster for the occasion and short addresses were made by Superintendent Swem, L. J. Patterson, H. M. Belknap and others.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.
Oct. 17, 1915, 6 o'clock std. time.
Topic—"Can We Capture Politics for God?"
Leader—Miss Elizabeth J. Mark.
Everyone very cordially invited.
Tho'ts.
"The ends of the earth shall be saved."
Some can go, a few more can give, and we all can pray for the success of our missions.
The mission study class is a tremendous success.

TEACHERS.
The Herald will be pleased to receive items of interest from our schools throughout the county this year. Write on one side of the paper and mail the letter so it will reach this office Tuesday of each week. The notes of the preceding week can be handled very nicely this way and you will find that both scholars and parents take a great deal of interest in the school work.

M. E. CHURCH.
Services at Tawas City M. E. church next Sunday as follows:
Sunday school at 11:00 a. m. Preaching service in the evening at 7:00 o'clock. Topic "Peace, the Crowning Issue of the European War."
A special musical program has been prepared and a cordial invitation is extended to all. Services are held on standard time.

C. E. NOTES.

Topic next Sunday evening, "What We owe to the State and National Societies." Time of meeting 6 o'clock standard time. Place of meeting, Baptist church.

Last Sunday evening's meeting led by Miss Eva Bing, was a decided success. A large number of visitors from the Hemlock society were present. Topic—"Be a Leader; Be a Follower" was well discussed.

Some of the qualities of successful leadership are—Be a good follower; be earnest, courageous, consecrated, enthusiastic, considerate, obedient, assiduous, etc.

Special music helped much to make the evening an enjoyable and profitable one. All visitors cordially welcomed.

"RALLY DAY" AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Next Sunday, Oct. 7, Sunday school "Rally Day" will be observed at the Baptist church at 10 a. m., standard time. All are cordially invited to attend.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., for the week beginning Wednesday, Oct. 13, 1915.

For the region of the Great Lakes: Local rains are probable Wednesday and again about Friday in the upper Lake region; otherwise generally fair weather will prevail. It will be somewhat cooler Wednesday in the upper Lake region but on the whole temperatures will be moderate.

EDITING A NEWSPAPER.
Editing a newspaper is a pleasing business—if you can stand it.
If new subscribers want to bawl out anybody—the editor's the goat.
If the town is lagging behind and people won't get out and make things hum—its because the town paper is on the bum.
If business is bad—it's because the editor wants too much money for his advertising space.
If business is good—advertising hasn't anything to do with it, but conditions are right.
If we print what pleases people—that is our duty and we deserve no credit.
If we print what is displeasing—we are a grouch and a crepe-hanger, and don't deserve the patronage of the public.
If we print the news as it is actually—people call us over the phone and tell us to stop their paper.
If we garble it—they tell us we are subsidized by the corporate interests.

Editing a newspaper is a pleasing business—it is not!

LATEST WAR NEWS.
"I understand," said the Gadabout, "that Germany, France, England and Russia are now all in favor of disarmament."
"Is that so," asked Stupid.
"Yes. Germany is in favor of the disarmament of the other three, and they are equally in favor of disarming Germany."

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our kind neighbors and friends for their kindness in our sad bereavement, and also thank the friends for the many floral offerings.
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carpenter and Family.

CHARGES ARE NOT DENIED

Attack Made on Bar Association and Herald but no Refutation of Charges.

"O, wad some power the gifties gie us To see oursel's as ithers see us; It wad from mony a blunder free us, An' foolish notion."—Bobbie Burns.

The above quotation from one of the world's greatest poets might well be called to the attention of the editor and some of the contributors of the last issue of the Iosco County Gazette, published at East Tawas, for some of the articles appearing therein, especially one by the editor and one by John A. Stewart, attorney, have made them appear ridiculous in the eyes of the discerning public, and have certainly not helped the cause which they were espousing.

We refer to the articles published in defense of Albert W. Black, against whom charges were filed by the Iosco county bar association, as reported in this paper last week, Mr. Stewart being the only member of the association to dissent from the same.

No denial of the truth of the charges was made, but the whole trend of the articles was one of criticism and malignity towards those who were responsible for filing the charges and giving publicity to the same.

Of course it is easy to understand why Mr. Stewart should be so ready to come to the defense of the accused prosecutor, as it is a matter of common report that Stewart was persuaded to move to Iosco county by Mr. Black, with the understanding that should he, Black, succeed in landing the appointment of circuit judge, he would immediately appoint Stewart to fill the unexpired term as prosecuting attorney. Of course the appointment of another man as judge caused this plan to miscarry, but naturally Mr. Stewart felt himself under some obligations to Black. However, it would seem that Mr. Stewart was too new a man in the county to take it upon himself to malign and cast slurs upon the attorneys who have been here for years, some of them for more years than Stewart has been practicing. With the exception of C. A. Lyon, Mr. Stewart is the newest member of the bar association of the county in point of practice here, and it ill befits him to criticize the actions of men who have had far better opportunities than he to observe the trend of affairs in the county.

Mr. Stewart begins his communication in the Gazette by implying that the bar association formed last June was only an attempted organization, and thereby tries to belittle the action taken by the association. If Mr. Stewart will take the trouble to look up the files of either the Tawas Herald or the Gazette for the last week in June, 1915, he will agree that the organization took on all the aspects of a perfectly legal and regular affair, and was so accepted by himself and his brother attorneys, as they evidenced by signing the articles of association.

He also attempted to give some of the reasons for the formation of the bar association, but seemed to forget some of the more important features of the articles of association, so to refresh his memory we quote a few of them as follows:

"C. The object for which this Association is formed is:

"1. The honor and dignity of the profession of the law.
"2. The securing of honesty and fair dealing by the members thereof in their business transactions and rendering of services in connection with clients and the public.
"3. The protection of its members from disrepute and odium which may attach to them by reason of unprofessional, dishonest or disreputable conduct, on the part of any of its members, and the publicity thereof.
"4. The furtherance of a course of honesty and integrity among its members and upholding of honor in dealing with clients and the public.
"5. The cultivation and encouragement of friendly intercourse among its members and the discouragement and condemnation of a contrary spirit.
"6. Increasing the usefulness of the members hereof in promoting the administration of justice and assisting the Court in the same.
"7. The adoption of a general scale of charges for legal services for the guidance of its members in dealing with the public.
"8. The furtherance of such a general course of conduct on the part of its members as will tend to inspire the confidence of the public in the profession of the law."

Mr. Stewart's memory also seemed to fail him regarding the resolution appointing a grievance committee at the June meeting, as he stated in his communication that the committee was appointed "for the purpose of investigating any complaints that might be presented and read before the bar association." To again refresh his memory we quote verbatim the resolution adopted by the bar association:

"Whereas a great deal of talk and evil report has been had and circulated throughout Iosco county and elsewhere in regard to questionable actions of one or more members of the Iosco County Bar in connection with the practice of the law in private and public matters and,
"Whereas, the same has resulted in odium and disrepute being attached to the names and reputations of the other members of the Bar of said County and to the honor and dignity of the profession; and is working substantial injury and harm thereby to the business and reputation of said members,
"Moved that the chair appoint a committee of two to make an investigation of the said charges and report and ascertain the truth or falsity of the same, and report to this Association as soon as practicable for such further action as may be necessary therein."

Thus it would seem that it was not necessary for a complaint to be read before the bar association, nor was it necessary for the committee to be requested by the association to investigate a complaint before doing so. The committee therefore investigated complaints, both public and private, which were brought to their attention. We are informed that they found over fifty separate charges against Mr. Black, only a portion of which were mentioned in the formal charges preferred last week.

Another statement was that the actual charges were signed only by N. C. Hartingh and Wm. H. Flynn. We would like to ask Mr. Stewart if it is usual in any organized body for the report of a committee to be signed by the whole organization. Also we would repeat the information contained in last week's article that the report of the committee was adopted by a five to one vote, and certified to the court by the president and secretary of the organization. Of course Mr. Stewart may be more competent to judge of the legality and importance of the matter in question, but the people of the county will be slow to accept his judgment against that of five other attorneys.

Another implication made by Mr. Stewart is that the editor of the Herald came to the meeting to secure a copy of the charges while the association was still in session. To this we give Mr. Stewart the lie direct, as there is no truth whatever in the implication. The editor did call at Mr. Hartingh's office while the meeting was being held, but his business was regarding a real estate deal and had nothing whatever to do with the matter under consideration. His intimation therefore is nothing more than an attempt to bolster up his cause by gross misrepresentation.

Mr. Stewart also cast reflections upon the Association for voting in as a member C. A. Lyon, who has been a practicing chiropractic in the Tawas for the past two years. For his information and that of those who might think the reflection justified, we will state that Mr. Lyon is a duly accredited lawyer, having graduated from the University of Michigan law department with the class of 1880, the same class as F. F. French, and been admitted to the bar in St. Joseph county in 1881. He practiced law for some years, but was forced to retire on account of a nervous breakdown. It will therefore be plain that Mr. Lyon's qualifications are as good as those of any attorney in the county. Mr. Lyon's application for admission to the Iosco county bar association was filed last June just a few days after the reorganization, and he was voted in at the meeting last week as it was the first since the organization.

It would seem unfortunate for his cause that Mr. Stewart chose to bring the Goretzki case into the discussion, especially when he tried to garble the facts so as to seem to favor Mr. Black. We are reliably informed that Judge Chester never made the statement accredited to him by Stewart, that there was no fraud in the case, and it is a matter of record that the case was adjourned to allow Mr. Black and his attorney to have an opportunity to amend their pleadings in the case.

Conference meetings of the Grand Rapids district of the Swedish Lutheran churches have been held at Detroit, Bay City and other points this week. Services were held in the Swedish Lutheran church in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week by Rev. G. S. Swenson of Detroit and Rev. Westling of Sparta.

IT IS A REAL FIGHT.
Thirty-one years ago Richard W. Sears, the founder of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was employed as a telegrapher and express agent by the Minneapolis & St. Paul railroad. When he died a year or two ago, he left a fortune estimated at $25,000,000. In a little over a quarter century the business house that bears his name was built up from an idea to its present gigantic proportions. Its yearly sales run over $100,000,000. It has more than 27,000 employees, and sells to nearly 5,000,000 customers.

Think over these figures for a moment. They sound like dispatches from the warring nations of Europe. You can almost imagine cablegrams or wireless messages something like this: "England has raised $100,000,000 on a recently discovered rubber tree," or "Germany has captured 8,000,000 more Russians today." The only difference is this: Instead of being day dreams and imagination the figures cited are facts, hard cold facts and further than that: these figures are growing year after year with alarming strides.

We have cited only one of the many concerns that are taking the business which rightly belongs to the country merchant. How are they doing it? By sitting down and folding their hands in a "well what am I going to do about it" attitude? Certainly not. Business is not built up and held that way today.

They are building their business by progressive methods. In nearly every farm house in your community you can find their catalogs. They do not advertise once a year and then sit down and pray that business will be better than it was last year. They create a demand and then fill it.

Let us come a little nearer home. A danger far greater than the Chicago mail order houses is threatening the very life of your business today. Here is a thing that has recently been called to our attention. An autobus line is in operation between Flint and Flushing. The Board of Commerce guarantees the drivers of these busses $12.00 per day. Are they doing this to spend their money? Certainly not. They are doing it in order to draw the trade along the line to Flint.

In a few years the muddy roads will be a thing of the past. Year after year good roads are being built and before you realize it, all the highways of Michigan will be in condition so that autos can travel summer and winter without fear of stalling in a mud-hole or snowbank.

It's up to You. Face the issue squarely. Meet conditions as they are today and forestall the inevitable result otherwise your town and your will be on the map, like the Belgium of Europe, in name only.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., OCT. 15, 1915

ELBERT BEDE SAYS:

Kisses are sometimes the actions that speak louder than words. He who hesitates is won—says the leop year girl who has just proposed. A girl who gets to be an old maid has little faith in the efficiency of prayer.

A girl can quickly change her ideas of an eligible man to fit the one she can get.

The person who decides all questions from his own viewpoint is not a fair judge.

A man who can't make a name for himself is quite often satisfied to give one to a woman.

When it is said that a woman carries her age well it is meant that she carries it where no one will ever find it.

Lots of big-hearted people don't let their sympathy go below the waist line—and carry their money in their pants' pockets.

In the clothes they wear women should learn the distinction between those that are attractive and those that are attracting.

The married man who goes away from home to hunt trouble would walk along a street lined with gold pieces and never see them.

When a man really prefers to live in the suburbs, the chances are that he wants to keep his wife where she can't get down town to shop so often.

Belonging to one political party or another must be largely a matter of habit—otherwise how could there be anyone in the parties opposed to ours?

A man's own opinion of himself is fully as reliable as the forecasts of the party vote made by the party leader just before the vote begins to come in. A girl in love will never admit that all men are alike. A few years after marriage she may be of the same opinion still—she may think hers is the worst.

After a girl has been engaged seven or eight years she begins to wonder if that is the length of time hubby would require in which to fulfill the promises made after marriage.

A revolutionist is usually somebody who is too cowardly to risk his own life to get something he desires, so he becomes a leader of the downtrodden and sicks them on from the rear.

When conditions are such as to make you wish to sit down and wait for things to become more propitious, that is the time to get out and hustle, for your competitors with less energy than yourself will be doing what you wished to do and you will have the field all to yourself.

SAFETY FIRST.

(A lady reformer in Boston demands that girl stenographers be protected from their predatory employers by iron cages.)

Duck into your cage, Lucille; Lock the door behind you tight; Duck into your cage, Lucille; There's a letter I want you to write. Are you locked securely? Now I feel you are safe from me tonight.

Then write as I dictate, girl; "Your favor received. In reply— You are setting my brain in a whirl. Though your face looks like a pie But it's "Safety First" my girl—I'm a predatory guy.

Do you need a chaperone? Should I a policeman call, Or talk through a megaphone From the fire escape or the hall? It would never do to be alone, For even the angels fall— And my wife, Lucille, I'll have to own, Would not approve at all.

The storekeeper who does not advertise his business might as well put up his shutters. Judicious advertising means financial success. Never in the history of the commercial world has advertising occupied so dominant a place as it does today.

SELECT SEED BEANS IN POD AT ONCE.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12, 1915.—Bean growers who would avoid a repetition next year of the heavy losses from disease suffered this season are advised by the Department of Agriculture to give their personal attention to the immediate selection of a stock of seed beans free from disease infection. They should select the seed beans in the pod and not after threshing.

They should simply pick the pods that are free from all spots, save and thresh separately. The planting of infected seed is primarily responsible for the troubles experienced. Weather conditions greatly influence the subsequent development of disease, but clean seed on clean land will go far toward giving a clean crop even in a season like the present, which has been exceptionally favorable to the development of disease and unfavorable to the growth of the bean crop.

Two bean diseases are commonly prevalent, anthracnose and bacterial blight. Both attack and spot the pods, penetrate them and enter the beans, remaining dormant over winter under the seed coats, where they cannot be reached by disinfectants.

When the beans are planted, these diseases attack the young seedlings, causing a root rot, and blighting of stem and leaves, and if the weather is cool and wet, they spread again to the pods. Bacterial blight is conveyed by wind and other means to a greater extent than anthracnose and is less easily controlled, but clean seed and crop rotation will give best results. Old bean ground should not be replanted next year.

As far as possible each farmer should save his own seed. Beans have been so generally affected by disease that the farmer should not rely on ordinary so-called northern-grown seed or elevator stock for planting. If he has to buy seed he should make certain that it has been selected from disease-free pods. Examine all threshed seed carefully and if it shows suspicious spots or other evidence of disease it should not be used. Home selection also will tend to build up a strain adapted to the locality and better than seed brought from a distance.

A survey just completed shows that there are fields in all parts of the bean states where clean pods, or even plants with all pods clean, may be found, though some fields are hopelessly affected. The farmer who expects to continue bean growing—and this valuable crop should not be abandoned because of this year's discouraging experience—should pick enough clean pods to plant his next crop, or at least a large seed plot. These should be shelled by hand and carefully stored. If the quantity is small it would be well to plant by hand two beans every 12 or 15 inches in ordinary rows in a separate seed plot.

There should be organized effort on the part of county agents, bean dealers and community leaders to have all available clean seed saved for local use, and not sold with the general crop. This must be done before the beans are threshed.

HOW TO SELECT SEED BEANS.

- Get seed from your own crop if possible. If then there are no clean pods in your own crop or try to secure clean pods from a more fortunate neighbor.
- Select in the pod, not after threshing.
- Pick pods free from all spots.
- Spots on the pods mean that anthracnose or bacterial blight may be hidden in the seemingly clean bean.
- Thresh selected pods separately.
- Examine your threshed seed carefully and throw out all doubtful-looking beans, especially those that are spotted or shriveled.
- Rotate. Don't replant old bean ground next year. Clean seed and rotation are the best crop insurance.
- If you have to buy your seed, make sure that it has been selected by the grower from disease-free pods. Examine purchased seed. Do not plant if the threshed seed looks suspicious.
- Look ahead. Insure a supply of clean seed for 1917 by selecting seed from clean pods and planting it on clean land in 1916.

WHY PEOPLE LOVED HIM SO.

His past, while not an open book, had bitter lessons taught; the one diploma that he took in suffering was wrought; in life's exacting school he'd learned how weak a man can be; he understood the hearts that yearned for love and sympathy; no pious saint himself, he knows the sorrow and the woe of others—he had suffered, too—and Ah! we loved him so.

He freely gave, not asking why; no lecture throwing in; into no details would he pry; no sermon would begin; he sought no evils to correct; he gave because it pleased; he injured no one's self-respect—enough, that want was eased. His was the simple modest creed, "Let not your right hand know;" we knew him as a friend in need, and Ah! we loved him so.

Of his own failings conscious, he no judgment sought to give; he strove, unlike the Pharisee, to give, and to let live; unlike those "Holier than thou," who sheltered lives have led, his gentleness would not allow a harsh word to be said; not without sin he undertook never the stone to throw; his past was not an open book—but, Ah! we loved him so.

Mothers—Watch Irritable Children!

That fever, paleness, grinding of teeth while asleep, and coated tongue are indications that your child has worms in its system. Kickapoo Worm Killer quickly gets rid of these parasites. It is perfectly safe for even the most delicate children. It is pleasant to take, has three effective medicinal qualities:—acts as a laxative, expels the worms, and tones up the system. Begin treatment today and eliminate the cause of irritableness. adv-1 25c.

The Optimist.

On the whole, poets do not seem to have too good a time of it. It is rather rare for an editor to see eye to eye with them in regard to the quality of their work.

Percival Fliptop had had his work "turned down" by five editors in succession, and was now being told the cold and bitter truth by the sixth. His rage got the better of him.

"Some day," he burst out, "you editors will be fighting for my work."

"Never mind," chortled he of the hard heart. "When that day comes, even if I lose, I'll be just as happy!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GIVE CONSIDERATION TO EYE

Is One of the Most Wonderful and Delicate Organs of the Wonderful Human Body.

More people are wearing glasses today than ever before. But that is no reason, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, for the inference that eyes are any more defective now than they were fifty years ago. It means simply that the work of today is more exacting on the eyes than the work of the earlier time, and that people are taking advantage of the increased knowledge of the structure of the eye and the means of making it serviceable. It has been discovered how the task of the person whose capital is his eyes may be more easily performed. Electricity has turned night into day and made it possible for the eye to work longer. Lenses correct the defects of the eye, and, by lightening the burden, make the organ equal to the opportunity.

The eyes of civilization are no more defective than those of people living in primitive conditions, and those of men are not inferior in structure to those of animals. The chief difference is that civilized man has found the means of remedying the defects and is employing it, thus adding to his own efficiency. But this is not wholly true. There are still persons whose pride in the excellence of their sight is refusing them the aid they need for comfort and efficiency. There also are persons who abuse their eyes by guessing at the correction needed, instead of employing the accurate knowledge they may have. The eye is one of the most wonderful and delicate organs of the wonderful human body. It is certainly entitled to as much consideration as one gives his watch.

DIVINE WORSHIP IN MINES

Workers Underground Are Afforded Places in Which They May Perform Religious Devotions.

In the Myndd Newydd coal mines, in Wales, there is an "apartment" used exclusively as a place of worship. This underground chapel dates from a period of more than fifty years ago, since when it has always been used as a church, the miners assembling in this strange room every morning to perform their religious devotions.

The chapel is situated close to the bottom of the shaft, so that the miners, on descending the pit, can attend before proceeding to their various stations. The "apartment" lacks ornamentation or adornment, the pillars and beams supporting the roof being of rough wood. A disused coal trolley, turned on end, serves as a pulpit. The miners sit upon wooden benches placed across the chapel from side to side, and the oldest worker of the mine performs the duty of pastor.

In the salt mine at Wieliczka, Austria, there is a chapel of St. Anthony, a Byzantine excavation, supported by columns, with altar, crucifix and life-size statues of saints, apparently in black marble, but in reality made of salt.

Ostrich Forcibly Fed.

The Zoological Society Bulletin remarks that refusal of food is generally the first symptom that an animal or bird is sick. The ostrich is one of the most provoking in this respect, and, if heroic measures be not adopted, soon becomes so thin as to become a prey to some really dangerous ailment.

A fine South African ostrich received from Arizona at the New York Zoological gardens in Bronx park last summer refused his breakfast on December 23, 1914. He showed no other symptoms of illness. A week passed and he began to look thin. Keeper George Snyder, at considerable personal risk, began a system of forcible feeding, ramming bolus after bolus of food wrapped in lettuce leaves down the throat of the unwilling bird.

This treatment was kept up for more than six weeks, and the ostrich became so accustomed to it that he ceased to resist. On February 6, 1915, he first evinced a willingness to feed himself, and within a short time his hunger strike was over.

Old Sport of Falconry.

Falconry is an ancient sport. It appears to have been known in China 4,000 years ago, and at an equally early date in the valleys of the Nile and Euphrates. The references to it in Aristotle, Pliny and Martial are definite. It was probably introduced into England from the continent in the ninth century and was followed there down to the middle of the seventeenth century; with greater ardor than any other sport, even that fox hunting. Falcons were allotted to men according to their rank: To the emperor, the eagle and vulture; to kings, the gerfalcons; to earls, the peregrines; to yeomen, the goshawks; to priests, the sparrow hawks, and to servants, the useless kestrels.

THE DEED OF GIFT.

Archbishop Ireland tells the following story of a total abstinence pledge that had a fixed economic value:

"I was strolling on a summer evening along one of the streets in the upper town of St. Paul, Minnesota. The figure of a friend of mine was seen hammering a piece of wood in front of a newly built cottage. I approached with the salute: 'Well, Patrick, what are you doing here?' 'Industrious,' answered he, 'putting some last touches to this house of mine.' 'This house of yours?' I replied. 'Have you had the money to pay for this fine building?' 'Yes, indeed, this house is paid for and so is the next house, mine also; one to live in, the other to be rented to some neighbor.' My wonder grew. 'Why, how is this, Patrick? I remember well when you had very little money.' 'So do I remember,' replied Patrick, 'but I have found the money. You, Father Ireland, gave it to me.' Still more did my wonder grow. 'Come inside,' continued Patrick, and in an instant, following his quick pace, I was upstairs in Patrick's bedroom. 'Look here,' he said, 'this is the deed of gift.' I looked. On the wall above the bed, nicely framed, was the document, 'I promise to abstain during my lifetime from all intoxicating drinks. Signed Patrick. Witnessed, John Ireland.' The mystery of the two houses, the property of Patrick, was explained. With gladness hand I saluted him; with warm heart I prayed for further success to the cause of total abstinence."

NEWS FROM THE IOSCO COUNTY SCHOOLS.

Remember the State Teachers' Association at Saginaw, Oct. 28-29. Every teacher in Iosco county should attend.

One school month has passed into history. We have well entered the second. Steady improvement all along the line should mark our efforts.

Longfellow's "Birds of Killing Worth" has been selected for the eighth grade reading at next pupil's examination in May 1916.

Next week we intend beginning a series of articles on school room hygiene. I trust as we read these articles we may become impressed with the necessity of doing things along this line.

Many school out buildings are not in a sanitary condition. Now is the time to remedy these defects.

Tawas City School Notes. The eighth grade is studying commission in arithmetic.

Emma Bigden has entered the Latin I, making the number seventeen.

Columbus day was observed by the pupils of the sixth and seventh grades. The life of Columbus was studied and the Declaration of Independence read.

Normal Notes. A short program was given on Columbus day.

The boys of the class are making a fireless cooker.

A new wastebasket and several plants have been added to the equipment of the room.

The county normal class gave its annual banquet to the board of supervisors, board of education and their wives, and the teachers, on Wednesday evening in the normal room. Mr. Campbell acted as toastmaster and toasts were given by Supt. Swem, Mr. Patterson, Mr. Belknap and Harry Westcott.

THE SEVERITY OF THE "UNCO GUID."

The "Holier-than-thou" attitude and lack of sympathy on the part of many worthy folks may be attributed to provincialism. They hold themselves superior to others not as good as they are, because they have had no experience. They have never suffered. Therefore they cannot resist throwing in a lecture with their alms. They simply are not human.

A writer in the Western Christian Advocate scores this tendency when he says: "One of the most remarkable things about certain good people is their severity in dealing with their fellow men. Particularly is this true with a certain class of men and women who led what might be called protected lives. They have never known from actual experience what poverty, sickness, disaster, or disgrace mean, but they are almost devoid of sympathy in dealing with their neighbors who have had one or more of these things to deal with."

"To give a garment and a lecture together, to pry into the last detail of family life before giving charity, to insinuate openly or covertly that every applicant for aid is an impostor, to make the helpless poor feel like criminals—these are crimes—of which many good people are guilty."

"Some day, it may be, we will all be old, and it may be that many of us will be poor; so let us cast a little bread and sympathy on the water so that it can come back to us in case we need it."

After all, as some epigrammatist has reminded us, "there is so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us, that it ill becomes the best of us to speak ill of the worst of us." A little more charity all around; a little more understanding and sympathy, and the world will wag more easily along its orbit.

TEACHERS AND SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

The Herald is prepared to furnish anything you may need in the way of stationery, drawing paper, examination paper, colored paper or cardboard, and in fact anything you may want in this line.

We have just printed a stock of standard report cards from a form endorsed by County Commissioner J. A. Campbell, and can fill your order for any number.

We print school orders and all kinds of blanks for any purpose. Before ordering elsewhere get our prices.

Also it is stated that the bar association committee agreed that no mention of this case should be made in the report, as it would injure Mr. Black's chances for a fair and impartial trial in this county.

If Mr. Stewart's communication, taken as a whole, is a sample of his ability as an attorney we would hesitate before trusting him with a case, as it would seem that any man in his sober senses would know better than to make so many blunders, distortions and misrepresentations in an article as to cause him to become ridiculous in the eyes of the reading public.

Mr. Jackson, the editor of the Gazette, not content with publishing the misrepresentations of Mr. Stewart, must need add a few of his own, and pay his compliments to the Herald by placing it in a false light.

In the first place he stated that the Herald contained an "attack" upon Mr. Black. This is a falsehood, as anyone who read the articles appearing in the Herald will agree. No attack was made, but only a plain statement of facts and an opinion that Mr. Black "if guilty" should be made to suffer the penalty for his misdeeds.

Nothing contained in the articles published could be construed as passing judgment upon the accused, as only facts were used, and the Herald was perfectly right in stating that if the charges were proven Mr. Black would be liable to disbarment and also to criminal prosecution. This statement is borne out by the sections of the law quoted in the report submitted by the committee of the bar association, and by the following excerpt from Vol. 1 of the compiled laws of Michigan for 1897:

"Sec. 1128. Attorneys, Solicitors and counselors may be removed or suspended by the several Courts in which they shall be authorized to practice."

"Sec. 1129. Any attorney, solicitor or counselor, may be removed or suspended who shall be guilty of any deceit, malpractice, crime or misdemeanor; but not until a copy of the charges against him shall have been delivered to him by the Clerk or Register of the Court in which the proceedings shall be had, and an opportunity shall have been given to him to be heard in his defense."

The Herald editor was sincere in his expression of sympathy for Mr. Black. But his sympathy does not extend far enough to justify him in suppressing the facts which are a matter of public record and in which the people of the whole county are interested. Neither would it justify him in springing to the defense of a man accused of crime simply because of personal or political friendship. If we mistake not, the time is not very far past when Mr. Jackson would have been as ready to criticize Mr. Black as anyone, and it is only comparatively recently that he has become so solicitous for him.

The editor of the Herald has far stronger reasons for sympathizing with Mr. Black than Mr. Jackson has, but the publication of a newspaper he holds is a public trust and that matters affecting the whole people should not be suppressed simply from personal feeling.

Mr. Jackson states that it is an astounding fact that Mr. Black's accusers are brethren in the fraternity. This should not be so astounding to Mr. Jackson, as he has practised the same tactics himself, indeed is guilty of them in this very article by ascribing to the Herald motives which were not true.

Regarding the statement by Mr. Black, we have little to say, except that he, too, misrepresented the facts. He stated that the editor of the Tawas Herald had shown a lack of friendship for him during the present year. This is not true, unless a refusal to support Mr. Black for an office can be construed as unfriendly.

During the contest for the appointment as circuit judge last spring Mr. Black called the Herald editor on the long distance telephone from Bay City and asked his support in the matter of the appointment. This the editor refused, stating to Mr. Black that he was supporting Mr. Hartingh, whom he considered better qualified and more entitled to the position than Mr. Black. During this same conversation the question of printing was mentioned and the Herald man accused Mr. Black of sending printing to C. & J. Gregory which could just as well have been done in the county. This was true, but the editor did not on that account harbor any ill feeling against Mr. Black. However, shortly after this conversation Mr. Black called up the Herald and ordered out the small advertisement he was then carrying, thereby showing that he had made a personal matter of the refusal to support him for judge.

Had the editor of the Herald been unfriendly to Mr. Black, as charged, he might have said far more than he did regarding the rumors and charges made against him, as the stories have been current comment for some time. But, as we have stated before, personal feeling had nothing to do with the matter, and we therefore postponed any reference to the same until it became a matter of public record.

THE "STITCH IN TIME."

Plan to Repair Buildings, Machinery, and Equipment During the Winter Months.

So long as good weather continues in the fall most farmers are so busy with threshing, corn and potato harvest, fall seeding, hauling, etc., that less important work is usually postponed until winter. However, the exercise of a little thought and the expenditure of a very few minutes at this season will often save not only hours but days later on when the weather and roads get bad and outdoor work is impossible.

Then the odd jobs of overhauling the farm equipment, repairing, painting, etc., which have been put off until a slack season, will require attention; but all too often the necessary materials will not be on hand, and the work will be delayed until it is possible to make a trip to town, and not infrequently it remains undone until the busy season the following year, when necessity demands it.

A list should be made of the things that will be wanted for this work. It will only take a few minutes to jot them down as they are brought to mind, and then on the next trip to town they may be bought and set aside so they will be ready when wanted. The condition of the different machines which will, or should be, overhauled should be noted, and the parts which will need to be replaced purchased. Then there are the odd jobs of repairing buildings, fences, gates, etc., which will require lumber and nails. There is no need to make an extra trip for them when wanted; they may be brought home the next time a load is taken to town. Likewise the lumber and hardware for the small jobs of construction which should be done before spring.

Also the paints, oils, putty, and brushes which will be required in painting the various farm wagons, implements, inside woodwork, furniture, etc., and above all, the necessary materials for the improvements planned for the house should be obtained, so that they can be completed this winter and not have to wait another year.

Everyone knows how much more satisfactory it is to have the necessary equipment ready to perform a piece of work when an opportunity presents than to get started on it and then find that it will have to be postponed until a trip can be made to town, which even if the roads are good and the trip can be made at once, means a loss of time and added expense.

It is astonishing how much can be accomplished on rainy days or during slack times, when the tools and materials are at hand, and there should be no difficulty in overhauling practically every implement on the farm during the winter season and have them ready for next season's work. The value of these "stitches in time" is frequently out of all proportion to the small amount of time they require. Aside from the satisfaction of having each implement in first-class shape when it is needed, there is the actual saving accomplished by avoiding having horses and hired help standing idle while repairs are being made, which, in turn, frequently means a loss of part of a crop.

It is useless to go into detail concerning the many jobs which can be accomplished with profit during the winter months; there are plenty of them which will occur to the farmer who will spend a few minutes in considering the matter.

Why Languages Differ.

An interesting contribution to the discussion of a universal language is offered by the Montreal Family Herald. The adoption of a universal language, purely spoken by all who use it, is made difficult by the fact that there are physical differences of an important character between the different races. The vocal organs are so unlike in different peoples that a language originally uniform would soon change in the mouths of the various nations, until they could no longer understand one another.

If the Italian language could be taught to all Chinese or Russians it would change so rapidly that in a few years no one would recognize it as Italian. One theory to account for this fact is that the people in the chilly north speak with the lips nearly closed, and that those who live in milder climates give free articulation by opening the mouth.

DARING ROBBERY IN NEW ORLEANS

Lone Thief Secures $100,000 From Bayou State Security Bank.

POLICE WITHOUT CLUE

Bold Bandit Forces President to Cash Personal Check at Point of Revolver, Then Makes His Disappearance.

New Orleans.—One of the most daring daylight bank robberies ever recorded in this city was committed this morning when the Bayou State Security bank was looted of $100,000 in currency by a lone robber. There is absolutely no clue to the thief.

As has been the custom for some time of the president of the bank, Mr. Andrew Galbraith, entered his private offices in the rear of the main banking apartment at ten o'clock. Shortly after a young man of prepossessing appearance quietly opened the door and entered the room.

When the president looked up he found himself gazing into the muzzle of a revolver and heard the cool demand for $100,000 under penalty of death for refusal. Mr. Galbraith immediately realized that the robber would carry out his threat should he make any outcry or disturbance. He was calmly told to write his personal check for the amount named and to endorse it. He was then ordered to take it to the paying teller while the mysterious visitor followed him closely with the revolver leveled at him under his coat.

When President Galbraith presented the check the young robber stepped to the window and requested $1,000 in small bills and the rest in paper of large denomination. He stuffed the loose bills carelessly into his pocket, put the package containing the $99,000 under his arm, nodded to the president, backed swiftly to the street door and vanished.

For further particulars regarding this daring robbery read the new serial, "The Price," by Francis Lynde, soon to appear in this paper.

POTATO BAKING MADE EASY.

A device for baking potatoes is a long tin frame with six little tin spikes on it. A potato washed and ready to bake, is fastened on each spike and the frame is set in an oven. The potatoes can be easily handled in this way, and, moreover, they are evenly and well baked. When the contrivance is used there is no danger of charred and broken skins on the side next to the oven.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
