The Woman's Benefit Association Of The Maccabees

The Largest, Strongest, and most Progressive Society of Women in the World.

Non-political and non-sectarian. Offers more opportunities to women than any other society. Good training and future success, love of humanity and protection of helpless little ones.

A splendid opportunity for broad-minded and sympathetic women to join this great fraternal chain of one hundred and eighty-six thousand women banded together for the betterment of their own sex. This Organization has a national reputation for this great work in the interest of women, and has already paid into homes of deceased and distressed members over twelve million dollars, every dollar going into some home in time of want and distress. We cannot begin to record the deeds of loving kindness and sympathy that have gone hand in hand with these disbursements.

This Organization has risen to high position in Fraternal Insurance through the hearty co-operation of its members and has built up by the management of its officers, a reserve of over eight million dollars.

The Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees was founded in Michigan by Michigan women in 1892; the cornerstone of its own building, laid in Port Huron, October 22, 1915, being the first woman's benefit association in the world to erect its own building.

Your loved ones are protected by our death benefits; we will see that you have proper burial with our burial benefits. We will take care of you when sick through sick benefits and hospital service.

First in Fraternity, First in Stability
First in the Hearts of its Members

We want a competent woman to act as organizer in this locality. For further information write Mrs. Alberta V. Droelle, Great Commander for Michigan, 411 St. Aubin Ave. Detroit, Mich.

CIGARETTE LAW VIOLATED.

Whether the dealers in tobacco and cigarettes are ignorant of the law passed by the last legislature, or whether they are deliberately violating the same, is not known, but the fact remains that the law is being violated in Tawas City and elsewhere, and that boys under twenty-one are smoking just as many cigarettes as ever.

Michigan has one of the most drastic laws on this subject to be found anywhere. The law prohibits the sale or gift to any person under 21 years of age of cigarettes in any form. That term "any form" is construed to mean tobacco and papers for the making of cigarettes, as well as the factory made "pills," so there is no getting around the law in that manner.

Following is the full text of the law, which is known as No. 31 of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1915:

Section 1—Any person within the state who sells, gives to or any way furnishes any cigarettes in any form to any person under twenty-one years of age, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $50 or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed 30 days for each offense.

Section 2—Any person under twenty-one years of age who shall smoke or use cigarettes in any form on any public highway, alley, street, park or other land used for public purposes, or in any public place of business or amusement, may be arrested by any officer of the law, who may be cognizant of such offense; and further, it shall be the duty of such officer on complaint of any person and upon warrant properly issued to arrest such offenders and take them to the proper court. In case the offender is found guilty the court may impose a penalty in his discretion in the sum not to exceed $10 or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 5 days for each offense.

Section 3—Any person who knowingly harbors any person under twenty-one years of age, or grants to them the privilege of gathering upon or frequenting any property or land held by him, for the purpose of indulging in the use of cigarettes in any form shall be held under the same penalty as provided for under section 1 of this act: Provided, that no part of this act shall be construed as to interfere with the rights of parent or lawful guardians in the rearing and management of their minor children or wards within the bounds of their own private premises.

THE BEAN SITUATION IN MICHIGAN.

It is well known among Michigan bean growers that the crop now being harvested is much below the normal, both in yield and quality. The growth has in most cases been stunted; the plants have not podded heavily; and in spite of the fact that good seed was sown the continuous wet weather has caused the diseases to develop more seriously than at any time since Michigan began growing beans as a staple crop. Many fields have already been plowed under for seeding to wheat, and many fields are barely worth harvesting or will yield a very light crop. It is estimated from rather general observation about the State that the crop after being hand picked will not be more than 30 or 35 per cent. of normal and may be considerably less.

Michigan bean growers may not, however, appreciate the serious condition in regard to a suitable source of seed beans for the 1916 crop. In most cases the home-grown beans cannot be recommended for planting, but on account of the high market price of beans, there will no doubt be a tendency to plant badly diseased stock. The use of such seed will very materially reduce the yield and will greatly increase the percentage of cull beans. It is very much cheaper to buy good seed even at a price much above the market price rather than to grow a badly diseased crop and pay 5 to 7 cents a pound for picking out by hand the diseased beans.

The following suggestions may be of value in securing good seed: In regard to "northern grown seed," it may be said that some of the seed grown in northern Michigan has given very good results, producing a good crop, comparatively free from disease. Many of the beans in northern Michigan are badly diseased even in a normal season, and there is always more or less uncertainty in buying seed from an unknown source. Many of the beans in northern Michigan were killed by frost in August so that this source of beans is quite limited this season.

In many sections of the State, there is occasionally a good field of beans—one which has produced a good crop and which shows very few disease spots on the pods. These should by all means be saved for seed. The local jobbers will in most cases be glad to assist in locating such fields. In many fields there are certain spots, usually the higher portions of the field, in which the beans are much better than the average in the field and which may be saved for seed. Plant or pod selection may also be practiced. It will be found that certain plants or pods are practically free from the diseased spots, and if these are selected and placed in clean sacks, an especially good grade of seed should be obtained. In making these selections attention should also be given to the vigor of plant, erectness, podding, maturity, etc. If obliged to purchase seed without an examination of the plants, seed should be selected which shows the smallest percentage of diseased beans in the unpicked sample. However, the beans should be very carefully hand picked before planting.

Bean growers should avoid growing beans too frequently in the rotation and should avoid putting bean pods or manure on the bean fields. It is suggested that so far as possible, a clover sod be plowed under for beans, and the cultural conditions be as ideal as possible.

It is believed that if farmers follow the above suggestions and are favored with a good season, the 1916 crop will come back to normal.

MODERN FABLES.

The Fable of the Husband and the Modern Farm Machinery.

Once upon a time, on a fertile farm that was bounded on all sides by other fertile farms, there dwelt a tiller of the soil whose quarter-section was a veritable museum of alleviators of the weariness so often closely associated with farm work. His shed reminded one of a machinery exhibit at a state fair. He plowed with steam, sawed his wood with gasoline and pitched hay with electricity. Most of his working hours were spent sitting on a stool winding the mainspring on some patented contrivance that did the prespiring and assumed all tired feelings and back-aches.

Inside the house, however, it was different. The wife performed her usual Monday wash-day task by the same methods that the good housewives had employed while Ben Franklin was a printer's devil. The only modern invention in the kitchen was a new-fangled egg beater that the wife had received in exchange for six hundred of her husband's tobacco tags and twelve cents in stamps.

One day the rural carrier brought a letter telling of the arrival of a baby boy at the home of the oldest son in a neighboring county seat. The old lady never rested until she had exchanged a portion of the butter and egg money she kept in blue china cup on the top shelf of the cupboard, for a railroad ticket to the scene of the wonderful event. The old man stayed at home to oil up the machinery. He also resolved to do the housework during the wife's absence. Three weeks later when the wife returned she found her lord and master sweeping the parlor with an electric vacuum cleaner, while a power washer did the washing, a motor churn did the churning and a self acting sewing machine was merrily repairing a barbed wire snag in the old man's overalls.

Moral—Labor saving devices are useless and unnecessary so long as the other fellow does the work.

FREE UNTIL 1916.

Have you subscribed yet for The Youth's Companion for 1916? Now is the time to do it, if you are not already a subscriber, for you will get all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1915 free from the time your subscription with $2.00 is received.

The fifty-two issues of 1916 will be crowded with good reading for young and old. Reading that is entertaining but no "wishy-washy." Reading that leaves you, when you lay the paper down, better informed, with keener aspirations, with a broader outlook on life. The Companion is a good paper to tie to if you have a growing family—and for general reading, as Justice Brewer once said, no other is necessary.

If you wish to know more of the brilliant list of contributors, from our ex-Presidents down, who will write for the new volume in 1916, and if you wish to know something of the new stories for 1916, let us send you free the Forecast for 1916.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for 1916 will receive, in addition to this year's free issues, The Companion Home Calendar for 1916.

BENTLEY WOMAN ENDORSES TANLAC

States That She Was in Bad Way Until She Took Great Remedy.

Mrs. Fred L. Shook, wife of a well known farmer of Bentley, Michigan, made the following statement yesterday:

"Tanlac has made a wonderful change in my condition. I have taken three bottles and find that it does all that is claimed for it. I suffered from stomach and kidney trouble for several years. I used to have the most terrible pains in my back and side. My whole nervous system became upset and I could not sleep at night. I used to wake up several times during the night and would find it hard to go to sleep again. This kind of rest left me feeling tired and worn out the next day. My stomach became upset and I had trouble digesting my food. I lost my appetite and my whole system was badly run down. I suffered a lot from bad headaches and found it hard to do my work. I was in just this condition when Tanlac was first recommended to me. After I had taken a half bottle I began to improve rapidly. I do not have any more backaches and my nervousness became steady once more. My sleep is now sound and refreshing and I find that my work is very easy for me. I attribute my improvement to the use of Tanlac and recommend it to my friends."

Tanlac may be obtained from James E. Dillon, East Tawas and Tawas City, Mich. adv

HUNTING INSTEAD OF BASEBALL

"The Days of Real Sport" Now Begin For Tyrus Cobb, Star of the Diamond.

Let T. R. beware! One whose name is on as many tongues as his own and whose record is known from ocean to ocean, even as the career of Oyster Bay's chief citizen—is going after Bull Moose with a Remington autoloading rifle!

But the time hasn't yet come for a declaration of war on the part of the leading Progressive, for this mighty hunter, so fearfully armed, is withal a peaceful citizen, one Tyrus Cobb by name, who is heading for the moose of Canada—not of the United States.

Now that the world's series is over Tyrus will sally forth on this hunt, which is the annual recreation event in the life of the peerless diamond star.

When Cobb last played at New York's Polo Grounds, he took a few moments from his work to pick the rifle which he prefers for his entry into the big game land. A party of friends, with whom he hunts on and off, whenever the chance comes, will go along with the fans' favorite hitter.

Probably Cobb is one of the most conspicuous examples of the affinity of baseball for the shooting sport. Though the great American game has no heartier rooters, usually than the shooters, they are not all ball players. On the other hand, professional ball players, almost without exception, seek recreation with the gun, in some form, after the hard season's games are over, and in between games, if opportunity offers.

There will be a great exodus from the diamond to hunting fields now that the brown October days are with us. Walter Johnson, Ed. Walsh, Nap Rucker, Clyde Milan, Vean Gregg and many others will shoulder their rifles, as will Cobb, and go out into the open for the hiking and the ozone and the nerve thrills that help to prepare for the exacting grid of another year on the circuit.

Learn a Little Every Day.
About 3,000,000 people in the United States are treated every day by physicians.
The jetties of the Danube river increased the depth of the mouth of the stream from 8 to 25 feet.
Arab children make their bows and arrows from the bones of the camel.
Alice and Phoebe Cary, American authors were born in Ohio in 1820 and 1824 respectively. With but a slight education their poems show unusual power. Phoebe wrote only poems but Alice wrote a number of novels and other articles for magazines. Both sisters died in 1871.

A Cut or Tear.
When the children fall and cut themselves (a matter of daily occurrences in most families), teach them the necessity of cleaning the wound at once with an antiseptic lotion such as this:
Boric acid ..... 1/2 ounce
Sterile water ..... 1 pint
Have this solution in a place where the children can easily reach it and teach them the necessity of quick action, and the danger of an open cut, if it is not immediately cleaned of dirt, gravel, rust, mud or whatever may have entered at the time of the hurt.

The Ex-Champion.
I saw his homely picture in a thousand sporting papers. It was only two short months or so ago. To shake his hand a thousand fans were cutting foolish capers, and followed him where'er he chanced to go. But now they pass him up just like the pay cars pass the vagrants, no glad words greet him as he moves along. Boquets that they threw at him once have scarcely lost their fragrance—he's a has-been now, forgotten by the throng.

An ounce of flour, four level tablespoonsful.
An ounce of butter, two level tablespoonsful.
An ounce of ground coffee, five level tablespoonsful.

A novel method of relieving fatigue is being employed by soldiers in the French army. The men take off their shoes, lie on the ground or any flat surface, and raise their legs at right angles to the body against a wall or other upright support. The toes, ankles and knees are worked. THE ONLY WAY.

Mail order houses have been a thorn in the side of local merchants the country over for many years. They have been denounced by business men and attacked in editorials time and again but each annual statement shows more business done and better profits than the year before.

People may be exhorted to trade at home—to support home industry—until doomsday, but unless the local stores in the smaller cities throughout the country adopt the same methods that have made the mail order business so profitable, these pleadings will be in vain.

Advertise! Advertising is the basis of the success of these big concerns and the manner in which the Houghton, Mich., Mining Gazette points out the failings to those merchants who complain most against mail order competition, will be interesting to many publishers. After referring to the periodical denunciation which mail order houses receive the article says:

"But the mail order houses go right along doing more and more business just the same and notwithstanding. They now are planning on a nationwide newspaper campaign to follow up their catalogue business. Business men cuss them and try various and diverse means of attacking them. But abusing the mail order houses never is an argument. Saying mean things about them is making them friends. Talking about supporting home industry doesn't get very far because the average business man who talks about patronizing home business usually buys more or less of his own personal necessities somewhere else. There is only one way to compete with the mail order house and that is to do business the way he does it. Don't ask for sympathy because you carry a lot of bad accounts on your books. Clean 'em up. Don't complain about his prices when you can meet them. Meet them and let your public know that you are meeting them. Do your advertising and do it more efficiently than he does. His once a year catalogue isn't in it with daily announcements of prices. We are not suggesting that you run one big advertisement for a week or anything like that. But make your advertising valuable by its very attractiveness, its continuity, and the plain statements of goods and prices. We can show you dozens that are doing it every day in the Gazette. They are not sitting in the rear end of the store kicking about the mail order houses and the ungrateful public. They are putting in some time each day getting a good, straight-from-the-shoulder advertisement ready to print in the morning. They are discounting their bills. Their business is good. They look prosperity and they show it, too. They are making money and thinking about what sort of an automobile they will buy next. They are beating the mail order people because they run their business right, keep their collections up to the minute, beat the mail order prices, and tell the people about it all of the time. That last item is the most important of all."

Pistol and Revolver Cartridges That Are Dependable and Accurate

YOU selected your pistol or revolver because you expected it to give you results.

Now, results—whether in casual shooting—or in serious work at the target—depend more than you might think on the wise choice of ammunition. It is worth remembering that the biggest men in the Pistol and Revolver classes are shooting Remington-UMC Cartridges—made for every standard make of pistol and revolver used anywhere in the world.

For the right ammunition from the sportsmen's point of view, see the Remington-UMC Dealer. He displays the Red Ball Mark of Remington-UMC.

Sold by your home dealer and 835 other leading merchants in Michigan

Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Co., Woolworth Bldg., (233 B'way) N.Y. City

Farm Loans

We are in a position to make long time real estate loans at very reasonable rates. We can give you convenient partial payment privileges, with the interest paying dates at a time most convenient for you.

In making these loans it is necessary to have the title to the property absolutely correct. This sometimes takes considerable time, depending on the nature of previous instruments against the land, so it is well to make your application early in order that should such delays occur there will still be time to get the money before needed.

A farm loan is a convenient way of clearing up old debts and getting them concentrated, thus saving continual annoyance which a number of small accounts gives.
