SAVING THAT COUNTS

SMALL ECONOMIES CUT DOWN HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES.

Housewife's Part is to Make Small Income Go as Far as Possible, and Thought in That Direction is Well Expended.

It is the small economies that make big savings possible, and the housewife who scorns the pennies will never possess many dollars. Nowadays big salaries are not so common as we should like to have them, and the average man must struggle along as best he can on just a living wage. In these hard times it is the wife's part to make the small income go just as far as she can, and only by strict attention to the trifles as well as to big expenses, can she put by any money at all.

The man whose wife has been brought up on the old adage, "Look to the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves" may well thank his lucky stars that he captured such a prize, for such women are rare, indeed, in these days of thriftless, careless housewives. Such a woman, who lives up to her belief that "a penny saved is a penny earned," is indeed the better half of any man.

After all, the poor husband can only bring in the family earnings. He cannot make them stretch over all the household expenses, with a little to spare to bank for rainy days. That is the wife's share in the partnership, and often it is the hardest.

Housewives, yours is the part to save here and pinch there, that the weekly stipend may be enough to provide for your needs. If your husband's salary seems all too little, look about you to see where you can lower expenses. Since the salary cannot be enlarged, the household expenditure must be minimized.

"Waste not, want not" is another proverb which might well be adopted as a motto by the American housewife, for it is well known that in no other country in the world is there so much waste in the household as in America. Even our thriftiest housewife, one who would be considered a model as compared with others, would be amazed could she be transported into the kitchen of a French woman. For it is in the kitchen where the greatest waste goes on, and it is there where the French housewife displays the most thrift.

Our model housekeeper would be considered extravagant by the average peasant woman of France or Germany. In these countries the women utilize every bit of food that comes into the house. In the poorest homes as well as in the homes of those who have comfortable means, there is always to be found a huge pot on the back of the stove, or in the peasant's kitchen hanging on a hook in the fireplace. This is the potato pot, or soup pot, and into it go all the scraps which are left over—meat, vegetables, bones, everything.

Another pot, kept near at hand, is for fats. When the soup is skimmed, the fat is thrown into the other pot. Bits of fat from meat, drippings, the fat left in roasting pans, all fat (except mutton or lamb tallow), is thrown into the fat pot, where it is melted down, made into clarified fat, and used in place of lard. No French woman would think of buying lard, in fact, she would be rather horrified at the idea, for the homemade, clarified fat is considered, and is far superior to the lard sold in the shops.

The casserole dish, too, comes from this land of provident housewives. When there is the will to save, the way usually is found, and the casserole is one of the results. We American women should take a leaf from the note books of our French cousins and learn where and how to save.

Roast Beef and Nut Hash.

Hash in Pastry Ramekins.—Chop remains of cold roast beef fine; season to taste, add minced onion, cook slowly (adding little water or milk) until mixture thickens. Have ready baked individual pastry shapes; fill these with hash, dot with butter. Stand in oven until browned. Serve hot.

Nut Hash.—Mix thoroughly one cupful chopped walnuts and peanuts mixed, one cupful bread crumbs and one cupful nicely seasoned hot mashed potatoes; add milk to moisten; brown in oven. Serve with cream of tomato sauce.

Celery in Butter Sauce.

Wash three bunches of celery, cut in pieces three inches long, boil in salted water until tender and drain. Beat the yolks of four eggs, add one-half cupful of the cooled water in which the celery was cooked, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, one-half saltspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Cook in a double boiler until thick and add one-half cupful of butter a small piece at a time, stirring constantly. Arrange the celery on a hot dish and cover with the sauce.

Graham Pudding.

Two and a half cupfuls flour (graham), one cupful sweet milk, one cupful molasses, one cupful raisins, two level teaspoonfuls soda, pinch of salt. Steam two hours. I usually take two cupfuls graham and one-half cupful white flour. Serve with this hot sauce: Two cupfuls milk. When hot add one-half cupful sugar sifted with one level teaspoonful of flour and mixed with one beaten egg. Add a little salt and flavor to taste. Add more sugar to sauce if you like it sweeter.

To all persons interested in said proposed improvement in the townships of Burleigh, Iosco county, and Richland, Ogemaw county, Michigan:

Whereas, a hearing of objections to the proposed improvement of assessment district road No. 35, was held on April 4th; and

Whereas, at said meeting the specifications were finally decided to be class C, stone bottom and gravel top; and

Whereas, it is now found that said specifications should be changed to class B, gravel, twelve feet in width, together with the proper culverts, bridges, drainage and grading under the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to provide for the construction and improvement of highways, to borrow money therefor, and the estimation and collection of taxes for the construction thereof, and to limit the sums of money to be paid by counties for highway purposes," Act 59, Public Acts of 1915, as amended by Act 310, Public Acts of 1915.

Therefore, all persons affected thereby and the townships of Burleigh, Iosco county, and Richland, Ogemaw county, and especially the counties of Iosco and Ogemaw, and all persons owning or interested in any real estate in said townships, are hereby notified that I will be present at the farmhouse of the Prescott farm along the said highway proposed to be improved, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. on the 6th day of May, 1916, for the purpose of hearing objections to said change in specifications.

Demand These Features in Your SILO!

Five Big, Dominant features put the Saginaw Silo at the head of the list. Each one strengthens and fortifies the Saginaw Silo. A Silo without any one of these features does not measure up to the standard of construction you should demand in your Silo.

The Saginaw Inner Anchor uniformly distributes the anchoring pull on all the staves. This device, with the Angle Steel Rib, prevents the staves from caving in.

The Saginaw All-Steel Door Frame is the keystone of the Saginaw Silo, a heavy structural steel frame that completely does away with bulging or buckling of the silo walls.

The Saginaw Angle-Steel Rib encircling the Silo, overcomes vibration of staves when Silo is empty and prevents any possibility of caving in. The strongest winds cannot push in the wall of the Saginaw Silo.

The Saginaw Splice-Dowel unites all the staves into a rigid, immovable wall. It makes an air-tight joint between the staves sections and each Dowel interlocks each staff with the others in four places.

The Saginaw Base Anchor holds the Silo to its cement foundation with the surest grip of the cement.

To Build Permanent Build of Redwood Redwood will not shrink, swell or decay. It resists fire. Government reports show that Redwood has resisted rot and decay for centuries. Redwood staves with the staunch, steel-built features of the Saginaw Silo give it permanence and the perfect Silage qualities of wood-swept clean, succulent Silage.

Erect A Saginaw Silo Saginaw Silos are built of Redwood, Shiplap Yellow Pine and Yellow Pine, the best woods for silo building. Whatever wood you choose, you get the Saginaw steel-built construction that fortifies the Silo against wind and storms.

Behind every Saginaw Silo you have the reputation of the largest and most successful makers of Silos. Saginaw Silos represent full value. Whatever you pay, you can't get as much dollar for dollar value to silos.

"Better Chalk It Up on the Barn Door, Burt"

I know a fellow who has a long head but a short memory. He thinks straight; but sometimes his best thoughts jump the fence and get lost in the woods. When his wife wants him to hang on to a good idea, she always says, "Better chalk it up on the barn door, Burt. What's the good of thinking without doing?"

Now I have a "hunch" that ever since you've been reading about the United States Separator, you've been thinking that, sooner or later, you would get me to "show you over" the machine. Isn't that right? And each time you came to town you forgot to stop! Own up! Didn't you?

You know as well as I do that the U. S. is the closest skimming Separator made,—that it costs no more than the old-style disc machine,—that it is easy to run, easy to clean, easy to keep in repair. Of course you know all that,—and that eventually you will make a deal with me for a United States Cream Separator. Still, you forgot to look us over. Say, "Burt," I will pay for the chalk, if you will write down on the barn door—

"Next trip to town, get a United States Cream Separator."

Anyway, it will be time well spent, and it will not obligate you in any way, to come in and look around. Here's hoping to see you soon—

A Waterproof Cement.

It is said that the United States army engineers have long used the following mixture for water-proofing cement: One part of cement, two parts of sand, three-quarters of a pound of dry powdered alum to each cubic foot of sand. These are mixed and dried, and to them is added water in which has been dissolved three-quarters of a pound of soap to each gallon. This, it is said, is nearly as strong as ordinary cement, is quite impervious to water, and does not effloresce.
