SMITH-ANDRE WEDDING. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith in Grant township was the scene of a pretty home wedding, at one o'clock on Wednesday, June 7, when their daughter, Jennie Belle, was united in marriage to Arthur C. Latham by Rev. J. Brainard Brown. The Episcopal ring service was used.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edith, of Bay City and the groom by Mr. Fred Smith.

The bride wore white embroidered tissue and carried white roses and maiden hair fern.

An hilarious time was enjoyed at the Epworth League business meeting last Wednesday evening. Games and refreshments ended at about ten o'clock at which time occurred a baseball game in which "pachin goes" was the main point.

On account of contemplated absence from the city it was necessary for Miss Elsie Young to resign as our second vice-president. We are sorry to lose her but we know that wherever she goes the Epworth League will be helped by her presence and work. Mr. Boyd R. Swem was appointed to fill vacancy.

DEATH OF MRS. C. GOEDECKE.

Mrs. Goedecke has lived in Tawas township all her life and her early demise is sincerely mourned by hundreds of friends who have known her since childhood.

Mary Lenora Fahselt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fahselt, was born in Tawas township March 7, 1881, and was therefore 35 years, two months and 24 days old at the time of her death.

On September 1, 1901 she was united in marriage to Chris. Goedecke, and they have since made their home on a farm in Laidlawville. To this union one son was born, who, with the bereaved husband, survive her. She also leaves her father, four brothers and three sisters to mourn her early demise.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon of this week from the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. C. C. Henning, pastor of the church, officiating and the remains were laid to rest in the Lutheran cemetery on the Plank road.

Mrs. Goedecke had a large circle of friends in Tawas City and vicinity who join in extending their sympathy to the bereaved family.

"THE REAL THING." On Friday evening, June 2, the scholars of Alabaster high school enacted a drama called "The Real Thing" and as far as acting or entertaining goes it could not have been better named.

The hall at Alabaster where it was given was packed to capacity and from everyone there was praise aplenty, the only one fault that might be charged against it is that it was too short, only three acts and we would have enjoyed six.

For the sake of our many friends at Tawas City, we hope that some day the school might take the play to them.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown during our recent bereavement. Also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

Chris Goedecke and son, Herman Fahselt and family.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to Dr. A. Stealy and his wife for their care and thoughtfulness during the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother.

Chris. Goedecke and Son.

BOOST MICHIGAN. When you buy goods at home you have the opportunity of seeing what are buying and if everything is not just right the difficulty can be adjusted promptly and satisfactorily without expense or loss of time.

It is to be regretted that occasionally a merchant is shortsighted and does not appear willing to render the right kind of service to his patrons. Such a policy is inexcusable and such merchants are a disgrace to their community and a hindrance to the prosperity of their town.

But there are also altogether too many consumers who are running bills from thirty days to one year at their dealer's expense and annoyance, often times forcing him into bankruptcy, and during that same period are sending cash hundreds of miles away without even giving the local man an opportunity to bid upon the order.

There is not a drop of red blood in such an individual's veins nor a spark of patriotism in his make-up. His community would be better off without him.

We once heard a man excuse himself for ordering goods of a mail-order house in another state by saying that the local dealer was holding him up, yet upon investigation learned this dealer was worth only a few hundred dollars while the mail-order house was worth several millions, so evidently had not held up as many as the other fellow.

We ascertained by asking a few questions that this particular person had run a bill with this dealer for over six months and yet was complaining because the merchant could not quote him as low a price on a small order on a six months' credit basis as the mail-order house would on a good sized order, cash in advance. The home merchant was a taxpayer and a part of the town that made this party's property more valuable while the mail-order house never paid a dollar's worth of taxes in Michigan, but on the other hand was drawing upon the resources of the town and the state, making them poorer instead of richer.

Michigan folks should get together and work hand in hand for the advancement of their own state, their own interests, their own prosperity. Common sense teaches it is the proper thing to do.

Michigan merchants and Michigan people give each other a fair show—Boost Michigan.

PIONEER DAY A BIG SUCCESS.

Large Representation Present from Throughout the County. A Permanent Organization Formed.

That the people of Iosco county believe in showing honor to the pioneers who by their efforts made possible the conditions with which the county is favored today, was demonstrated on Tuesday of this week by the large number of citizens from all parts of the county who gathered at Hale to join in the Pioneer day inaugurated by the county federation of Gleaners.

By automobile, wagon and on foot they gathered, until before noon Hale was entertaining one of the biggest crowds in her history. And right cordial was the welcome and most excellent the entertainment provided for the visitors. At noon a dinner was served by the Gleaners in the Daley hall, the four large tables being filled again and again until all were served, the number being estimated at about 400. The meal was an excellent one, both as to quality and quantity, and if any went away hungry they had only themselves to blame.

An open meeting of the Gleaner federation was held at the town hall in the forenoon, at which their routine business was transacted. Then in the afternoon at two o'clock the Pioneer program was begun, the meeting being held in the Baptist church. The building was filled to its capacity and a more enjoyable meeting would be hard to imagine. Following is the program which was carried out, John Fraser, chief Gleaner of the Federation, acting as chairman:

Song "America" . . . . . "America" Invocation . . . . . Rev. Thos. Marsh Song . . . . . "Song to Our Pioneers" Address of Welcome . . . . . Rev. Marsh Response . . . . . John Fraser History of Reno . . . . . Mrs. Etta Frockins Talks on Early Days, H. M. Belknap. J. G. Dimmick, Jno. M. Waterbury Solo . . . . . Mrs. Thos. Marsh History of Plainfield . . . . . Lillian Harris Early Experiences in Plainfield . . . . . E. V. Esmond Address . . . . . Mrs. M. B. Ferry Closing Song . . . . . "God Be With You"

The program as originally planned included several other interesting features, but owing to lack of time these were necessarily omitted.

The short talks by the early pioneers of the county, relating some of their experiences and telling of conditions as they were in the early days, were very interesting and enlightening to those of the younger generation and to the newer comers in the county. The only regrettable thing was that there was not more time so that more of these old residents might have been heard from.

The histories of Reno and Plainfield townships were also very interesting with their reminiscences of the organization and early officials of the townships, their gradual development, etc. The Herald hopes to publish one or both of these histories next week.

Mrs. M. B. Ferry, curator of the state museum at Lansing, in her address urged the people to give their support to a pioneer society and to use every effort to preserve the relics of pioneer days, which now seem so common, but which in years to come will have a value which cannot be computed in dollars and cents. She had with her replicas of some of the old costumes which are a part of the exhibit at the state museum, four of which she displayed by dressing four little girls in them and seating them upon the stage. She appealed to the people of Michigan to show more interest in the history of our great state and a greater love and respect for our national and state flag.

A permanent organization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, E. V. Esmond; vice-president, John A. Campbell; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Nellie Jennings. A member of the executive committee is to be appointed in each township and city, and it is hoped to make the annual meeting of the society an event of interest not only to the pioneers, but to every citizen of Iosco county.

Of course no gathering of this kind would be complete to see people without a ball game, so while the session was being held at the church, the business men of Hale attempted to show the regular team how the national game should be played. They gave the youngsters a hard rub, too, for the game went to ten innings and resulted in a score of 12 to 13 in favor of the regulars. The game deserves a column of itself, but we have neither the time nor space to give it.

NEXT ISSUE OF MAGAZINE DEVOTED TO IOSCO COUNTY.

Development Bureau's "Northeastern Michigan" Proving Popular in Sections Where it is Distributed.

The Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau has announced that the next issue of its publication, "Northeastern Michigan," will be devoted to Iosco county.

The Bureau has been publishing this magazine for more than a year and it is sent to people who have expressed an interest in Northeastern Michigan in all sections of the United States. From time to time certain counties have been featured in what has been called "Specials" of this magazine. In such cases practically all the space was given over to that particular county, setting forth its advantages and possibilities as an agricultural community. Five Northeastern Michigan counties have thus been featured and the Bureau expects to continue so doing until each county in its district has been so advertised—now it's Iosco county.

The magazine consists of twenty-four pages, having stories relative to the agricultural, horticultural and industrial features of the county, all of which has been well illustrated with reproductions of photographs taken in the county. Crop reports, letters from representative men, in fact anything that will create interest in the county is given space. Taken all in all these specials are very exceptional mediums through which publicity may be given to a county and Iosco county is going to be benefited by this publication.

The Bureau is offering every Iosco county citizen an opportunity to assist them in making the Iosco County Special the most interesting one yet published. Assistant Secretary Hill says: "We are going into more elaborate details with the Iosco County Special than with any heretofore published. We are letting everyone who is at all interested in Iosco county offer suggestions to their own satisfaction and in so doing we are only asking for co-operation that will give the best results."

Here is Iosco county's opportunity! Every reader has their chance to write the Bureau, telling what they think should be included in the magazine, giving data, offering suggestions of every description that will aid the compilers in making the magazine effective. Photographs are especially desired.

What have you to offer? The following is a preliminary outline of the magazine:

General article on the county; its agricultural, industrial, horticultural, natural and improved advantages as a county which the homeseeker would, or should select in which to begin farming. Advantages and possibilities for general farming, etc. Illustrations showing the advancement and development of the county.

Railroad facilities—Including transportation and leading markets, etc. Detroit & Mackinac railway's employment and value.

Salt wells and their coming value. Electric power supply. AuSable river dams and their value to the whole of Michigan.

Summer resort opportunities—lakes, streams and lake shore.

Good roads—established and to be built.

Letters from out-of-state settlers, their observations and considerations of the county and its progress.

Water supply. Climatic conditions, etc.

What have you to suggest that should be included in the prospectus in order to make this "Special" the most interesting and effective one yet published? Your suggestions are very much worth while and will be given careful consideration. Let us have anything you think of, especially photographs.

Address your communication to the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, W. H. Hill, Asst. Sec., Bay City, Mich.

REMARKABLE LINES. One of the most remarkable articles we have ever read was the requests of the wife of a minister at Conklin, Mich., a few weeks ago, just before she died. The article, which was written in rhyme, is given below, being taken from the Enterprise, published at Conklin, where the woman lived:

When I am Dead I do not want a gaping crowd to come with lamentations loud, when life has fled; nor would I have my words or ways rehearsed, perhaps, mid tardy praise when I am dead.

I do not want strange, curious eyes to scan my face when still it lies in silence drear; nor do I want them if they would to tell my deeds were ill or good, when I am dead.

I only want the very few, who stood through good and evil too, true friendship's test; Just they who sought to find the good, and then as only true friends could, forgive the rest.

They who, with sympathetic heart sought hope and comfort to impart, when there was life, not keeping all the tears and sighs till weary, worn-out nature dies and ends the strife.

I'd have them come, the friendly few and drop, perhaps, a tear or two, by kindness led. Nor do I want them if they would shed, nor do I want much sung or said, when I am dead.

To have them each come in alone and call me in the old sweet tone would suit me best, and then, without a sob or moan go softly out and leave alone the dead to rest.

Just as I've lived, almost unknown, a life unmarked, obscure and lone, so let me die, just one who lived and loved and died; a mound of earth and naught beside, tells where I lie.

DEATH OF MRS. COBBETT. Mrs. Elizabeth Cobbett, who was a resident of East Tawas for about forty years, died in the city of Detroit last Friday morning, June 2, at 9 o'clock. Death came as the result of a general breakdown. She had been ill for a number of years and during the past year was almost continually confined to her bed. She died at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. F. Hovis on Baldwin avenue.

Elizabeth King was born in Norwich, England, Jan. 9, 1832 and was 84 years of age at the time of her death. She came to this vicinity in 1871 and for nearly forty years resided in East Tawas. In 1850 she was married to Benjamin Cobbett at London, Can. From this union eight children were born, three sons and five daughters. After leaving this city, Mrs. Cobbett lived at AuSable for about five years and from there moved to Detroit, where she spent the last years of her life.

DEATH OF MRS. JAMES ALFORD. After an illness of over six months' duration, Mrs. James Alford, sr. passed away at the family residence in this city last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased had been suffering from cancer of the face and head for some time. She had been taken to Mercy hospital at Bay City a number of times, where three operations had been performed. After the last operation just one month ago she was taken home but it was found that nothing more could be done for her. She had not been confined to her bed until two days previous to her death and all sustained hopes of her recovery until that time.

Isabella Hodgson was born in Mansfield, Ontario, Canada, March 29, 1856. On August 2, 1880 she was united in marriage to James Alford at Mansfield, Canada. Eight children were born to them of which five are living at present. In 1893 the family moved to East Tawas and have resided here for the past 23 years.

Funeral services were held from Christ church, Episcopal, last Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock standard, Rev. W. R. Blachford, officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the East Tawas cemetery. The pall bearers who were chosen were Thomas Curry, A. E. Bigelow, John Lang and Mr. Germain.

She was a devoted wife and a beloved mother, patient at all times in her suffering, and her life of unselfish service and of patient endurance under all trials will ever be a cherished memory in the hearts of friends and relatives. Numerous friends join with the sorrowing relatives in mourning her demise.

REBEKAHS ELECT OFFICERS. At the regular election of officers of Irene Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F. last Wednesday evening the following were elected for the ensuing term:

Noble Grand—Nella Misener. Vice Grand—Carrie Parker. Rec. Sec.—Allah Alford. Treasurer—Anna Hanson. Dist. Deputy—Mary Anderson. Representative Reb. Assembly—Florence Slye. Alternate Representative—Emmelie Mark.

RURAL CREDIT AND RURAL THRIFT. The south and the west and the northern agricultural states have much to learn in the way of rural thrift from the New England rural communities. The constant cry is easier credit for the farmer, but what the farmer most needs is more thrift. Some of the southern states are cursed with crop lien laws which are holding back the rural communities by allowing a man to mortgage his future work and hopes and keeps him continually in debt instead of allowing him to lay something aside. It is an astonishing fact that Massachusetts has five times more savings bank deposits than have twelve southern states. In Massachusetts there are 3,300,000 people and 2,250,000 of them have savings bank deposits. In three years the savings banks in connection with the public schools showed 1,400,000 deposits. Every school in the rural communities ought to have a course of "thrift talks" whereby the teacher could lay before the scholars the necessity of saving a portion of whatever money they might earn. This money could be deposited in savings banks and, later when it has grown, could be used to purchase good, safe bonds paying three and one-half to five per cent interest. The child mind, as well as the minds of those who are older, should be impregnated with the fact that it is not what one earns that makes competency for old age, but what one lays aside.

TAWAS 5, STERLING 2.

Our boys swam over to Sterling and back last Sunday and took a ball game merely as a side issue. That is to say, the ball game was the least of their troubles. According to the score it must have been about the best game of the circuit.

In the fifth Tempin singled, L. Klink then doubled, Tempin dying at home. E. Moeller to Marzinski to Samuel. P. Doyle fied to Bigden. J. Doyle doubled, L. Klink scoring. Stacker out Musolf to A. Mark. In the seventh after Vogel and Tempin had been retired C. Moeller to A. Mark, L. Klink jabbed one at Bigden who promptly threw the ball out of the diamond. Then P. Doyle got C. Moeller mixed up the same way. L. Klink scoring. J. Doyle then walked but Stacker popped to Bigden.

Friday afternoon, from start to finish, Oscoda and Tawas City high schools played a very interesting game. Oscoda winning by a close score of 9-7. Oscoda got a four run lead in the first. It was too much to overcome. The box score:

Rev. Billy Sunday says that "the trouble with too many people is that they use the hold-backs too much and the traces too little."

True, isn't it?

Have you not been planning for some time to do something to better your condition, but for some reason you have been holding back till a little later?

Come to think of it, are you not ashamed when you remember many of those excuses you have made to yourself for not going ahead with your half-formed plan for improvement which might so easily be carried out and completed?

Is it not a fact that you are hesitating because it will cause you a little extra work to be successful?

Are you not reluctant about denying yourself some pleasure or some leisure time necessary to the realization of your plan?

The whole trouble with you is that you do not want success "hard enough."

It is about time you dropped the "hold-backs" and got into the "traces."

Why You Should Own a Maxwell

Comfort

First, because it is a comfortable riding car. Plenty of room for five people; deep, soft cushions; springs made of the best spring steel, scientifically heat-treated, accurately suspended and balanced. You will always be comfortable in a Maxwell.

Appearance

Second, because the Maxwell is a trim, smart, good-looking car.

Many makers of heavy, high priced cars, as you know, have copied the general lines, the shape of the body and hood of the Maxwell. This is more of a compliment than an infringement.

Service

Third, because the Maxwell, being a product of thirteen years evolution, is so designed and manufactured that it gives unflinching, consistent and satisfying service to thousands of owners.

Maxwell cars are made of the best materials that money and brains can buy—and they are made right. You can get out of any car only what is put into it.

Low First-Cost

Fourth, because you get everything in a Maxwell that you can get in any car and you get it for less money.

The answer to this is that the Maxwell is a light car and it is built in enormous quantities. The Maxwell Co. is one of the three largest producers of high grade motor cars in the world.

Low After-Cost

Fifth, because the Maxwell will give you more miles per dollar than any car built.

We say this without hesitation or doubt. It is our honest belief and we are willing to prove it by Maxwell owners, by comparison with any other car or by any other way you suggest or prefer.

The Maxwell will please you. We know it will. Let us arrange for a demonstration and we'll take the responsibility of satisfying you completely.

Government Establishes Rifle Shooting School For Civilians in Maryland

Citizens of Washington, D. C. Flock to Winthrop, Maryland, Rifle Range for Instruction, Where Swamp Has Been Changed Into Model Army Post.

In the brief history of rifle shooting as a sport in the United States nothing has ever approached the serious efforts now being made in the Capitol City of the nation to place the sport on a permanent and practical basis.

It is of vital interest to every citizen in this country to know that some day real soon it may be possible for anyone so inclined to spend an afternoon or a whole day on the rifle range in or near any of our cities, large and small, and learn all there is to know about rifle shooting as a sport and pastime, and when that time comes to our people will flock to those ranges and learn for the first time that here indeed is a sport fit for kings.

There are many government rifle ranges scattered throughout the length and breadth of this land of ours, but the principle of their operation is entirely wrong, or else their reason for existence is totally misunderstood. Large sums of money have been expended to purchase suitable ground for rifle ranges and the expensive equipment necessary to bring everything up to standard requirements. Yet all we have to show for our efforts is a magnificent rifle range where a few hundred and some cases a thousand or two regulars or National Guardsmen spend a few days each year in a commendable effort to become proficient in the art of rifle shooting.

It should be possible for anyone interested in rifle shooting, from whatever motives, to go the rifle range at any time and shoot to his heart's content. But it is not, and there's the rub.

The Range at Winthrop, Md.

And this brings us to the problem which Capt. William C. Harlee, of the United States Marine Corps, is trying to solve with the people of Washington, D. C., and the rifle range at Winthrop, Md. As a matter of cold truth the problem is no longer a problem, for the answer is shown by the practical results already obtained, as will subsequently be shown.

Some six years ago the site of the present Winthrop Rifle Range consisted of a thousand acres of swamp land and pine woods, infested with mosquitoes, malaria, and other diseases. Today one of the trimmest little army posts in the country is a living testimony to the unselfish devotion to ambition by a few officers of the Marine Corps in the face of obstacles that would discourage the average man. But the men of the marines are not made of the stuff that wilts in the face of fire and as a result Winthrop stands today high and dry on a firm foundation, literally and figuratively.

Starting out with little lumber secured through the quartermaster's department and a small saw mill obtained from the same source, the community has been built up until now it has spacious mess halls, galleys, officers' quarters, an administration building, an ice plant, an electric light plant, a garden which in summer produces more than enough for the ninety men stationed there and whoever else chances to be at the post. In live stock there are on the post exchange farm a fine drove of hogs—which, by the way, finds shelter in and old army tent—flocks of turkeys and white Orpington chickens, some ducks, a small flock of sheep, etc.

And all this has been accomplished with practically no cost to the government, the officers of the range having been lucky in obtaining the assignment to their command of good mechanics, carpenters, and other skilled laborers, including a blacksmith.

When the marines came to Winthrop they found most of the 1,000 acres pretty densely wooded. So, at the request of the range officials, experts from the forest service visited the range and there scientifically "thinned out" the growth. As soon as this was done, by blazing trees that could be dispensed with, the cutting began, with the result attested in the many up-to-date buildings at the post.

In addition to the ordinary routine of running the post, which is quite a varied and considerable undertaking, Lieutenants Price and Shuler, with their ninety men, of course, make the prime object of the range—the teaching of marksmanship—their first consideration. And they manage to turn out remarkably efficient sharpshooters from the various groups of 100 to 200 marines and bluejackets who are always at the range from other posts and from the fleets to take the rifle-men course.

Each morning at nine o'clock the excursion steamer Dearyr worries out into the stream for the three-hour run down the river from Washington to Winthrop. On board are from 100 to 150 youths and men of all classes, but of one color. There is a spirit of democracy aboard the boat among civilians and soldiers alike that to provide for. There is no lost motion anywhere, and as soon as the inner man is satisfied everybody moves out to the 200-yard firing point where the marksman course is begun. Each shooter takes his place at the target assigned him and when all is ready the signal is given, the targets are raised above the ground and firing begins.

Work at the Targets.

At each firing point there is an expert marine coach qualified by much experience as an expert rifleman. The coach of each shooter a clean suit of overalls and jumper. On the shoulder and elbow of the right arm are pads to protect the men firing from the recoil of the rifle. Then each man is given a Krag army rifle, already sighted in for him by the coach, and 40 rounds of ammunition which are just enough to shoot the marksman course.

When the order to "Commence Firing" is given, every man is supposed to be lying on the ground at an angle of 45 degrees facing the target 200 yards away. The target has a bull's-eye which causes 20 inches in diameter and corresponding outside rings measuring approximately 9 inches from the next nearest line. A shot in the black counts 5, in the next ring 4, the next 3, and any shot on the balance of the target measuring 6 feet by 4 feet counts 1.

Five shots are fired from this position at what is called "Slow Fire." Then the shooter kneels and fires five shots and then stands and fires the remaining five shots, which completes the slow fire string of twenty shots. Then he follows the same procedure excepting that each five shots in each position are fired in thirty seconds, and this is called magazine or rapid fire. When he is finished he has fired forty shots, and all the shots have counted.

It requires a score of 150 or better to become a marksman and at least fifty per cent of those who shoot usually win the marksman title.

Concrete Results Obtained.

Mr. Shooter is now pretty well satisfied with himself and the world in general. He has qualified as a marksman with an army rifle at a total cost of forty cents, twenty-five cents for the ride on the boat and fifteen cents for the lunch, and a day spent in the open with good company and plenty of fresh air as an added stimulant for future endeavor along the same lines. The boat takes him back to the city, and he is then ready for another trip later on when he may qualify as a sharpshooter and eventually an expert marksman. His education in the sport of rifle shooting is then fairly complete and he has made himself a valuable citizen besides, for he is ready for any emergency he may be called upon to face. He will help to spread a knowledge of rifle shooting as a premier sport from a practical, pleasant and profitable standpoint.

What has been accomplished at Winthrop may, with slight government support, be done all over the country. It is only a question of applying practical principles to a problem that has been such because no one has heretofore had the courage to apply the methods which have been used at Winthrop with such success and practical results.

RED TOP

By KEITH KENYON.

One of the bellhops nicknamed her that the first day she came on duty at the St. Dimitri switchboard. The bellhops and their captain looked her over cautiously. She was not a city girl. Andy, bravest of all, strolled over about nine, and leaned tentatively on the top of the desk with his most friendly smile.

"How does the scenery strike you, Red Top?" he asked.

"Not half as strongly as something will strike you if you call me Red Top again," she retorted calmly. "Just stroll along there, child. I'm not a bit lonely and if I am I'll call my own numbers, thank you."

She tucked a couple of large shell pins into her side braids and looked past Andy's head absently.

The colonel expressed himself as delighted over her aloofness. Even to the colonel she was aloof, and he was owner of the St. Dimitri. She gazed past his handsome head quite as nonchalantly as she had past Andy's.

"Gad, sir," said the colonel happily, as he lingered over the after-dinner cigar with the proprietor, Haswell. "Gad, sir, I rather think she'll stay. Fine girl, Haswell, too good for the position. Beautiful hair. Perfect profile. Wonder she isn't mobbed, but it's the manner that holds them off. She squelches a man with one look. What's her name?"

"Ruth Hollister, sir."

"Hollister, Hollister? Massachusetts? Used to be Senator Ben Hollister at Washington from Massachusetts when I was in the house. Fine chap. Gad, sir, I remember when that navy appropriation bill came up after the Japanese trouble—"

The colonel rambled off luxuriously, leaning far back in his deep leather chair and rocking one foot. But when his cigar burned out he sauntered down the long marble corridor to the telephone desk, and began with his very best Georgia manner.

"I beg pardon, I'm sure, Miss Hollister. I'm Colonel Congreve. I'm wondering if you could possibly be of the same family as my old friend, Senator Hollister of Massachusetts."

"I don't think so, Colonel Congreve," came back clearly, even crisply. "I am from out West, near Omaha. We have no senators in our family yet. We're just settlers."

"Omaha? God bless my heart," murmured the colonel. "How did you ever get so far from home?"

"I was one of ten hundred thousand girls who imagine they can sing for grand opera in New York. I got tired living on hopes and air; so I learned this."

That night the colonel sat up on the roof garden, quite alone, long after the crowd had gone. Just why one girl's face should suddenly fill his world, he could not see. Yet all he had to do was to close his eyes and there rose before him the face of Ruth Hollister. Red Top, Haswell had said the boys called her. Glorious hair she had, rich in tone as a ripe chestnut. He wondered how he could help her. And the next day Haswell was told to promote Miss Hollister to the business department.

"You see, Miss Hollister," he told her, "I want to get up a winter booklet that will not only attract the very best advertisers, but the best patronage, too. Nothing flamboyant, but neat and correct, you get me? Just work along with Allan here, and I think between you you can turn out a mighty fine thing."

Allan smiled. He was the colonel's private secretary, and the two got to work over the new booklet. Ruth grew to love the work. And the colonel bided his own time, satisfied to know she was drawing $35 a week instead of $12, with a tidy little suite at the hotel thrown in for good measure. Around Christmas would be time enough, he thought, and he strolled over to the avenue one day and enjoyed himself supremely selecting a diamond ring for her.

The day before Christmas he came into the inner private office unexpectedly and found Ruth standing by the window, gazing down at the park while Allan talked to her. They did not notice the colonel's entrance, and he stood in silence listening. As he listened to the unreasoning, impetuous flood of speech the boy was pouring out to her—nothing but love, love, love, no mention of money or position, nothing but love—he knew all at once that here was what she needed and he could not give it to her—young love in all its splendor and divinity. He went out noiselessly.

Later Allan came to him, his clean-shaven young face radiant with a new confidence.

"I want you to be the first to know, sir," he said, "Miss Hollister has promised to be my wife."

"You don't tell me, Allan, well, well," said the colonel musingly, fumbling in his vest pocket. "So she marries according to tradition here, eh, but chooses one of the force. I wonder if you'd mind so very much if I supplied the ring. It would give me the greatest pleasure—" he drew out the morocco case and opened it. "No, don't thank me, my boy."

After the boy had stepped out of the room, the colonel sighed and lit a fresh cigar. Still, gad, sir, there is such a thing as victory in defeat. (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## DEFENSE AGAINST ALL ENEMIES IS DEMANDED BY AMERICAN PEOPLE

JACKSON WOMAN HAD TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE, BUT IS NOW ALL RIGHT.

"I wish that every poor sufferer would give Tanlac a fair trial," said Mrs. Caroline Rhyne, of Jackson, while in conversation with the Tanlac representative at the Weeks Drug Store.

Mrs. Rhyne then went on to explain how she had been in a terrible condition from stomach trouble and nervous disorders.

"I used to suffer from backache and headaches and nervousness so badly that it almost set me wild. I had hardly any desire for food and just had to force myself to go to the table. I lost so much strength that I could hardly walk. My nerves were simply frazzled. I could not sleep at night and always woke up feeling more tired than I had been before I went to bed.

"Since using Tanlac I have entirely recovered my health," said Mrs. Rhyne, "and that is why I am so anxious to recommend it to others. I now feel like a new woman. My appetite is so ravenous that I can hardly get enough to eat. No matter what I eat I do not have the slightest trouble with my digestion. My nerves have steadied down and I sleep like a top every night. I feel better, look better, and am better since using the great medicine. I take pleasure in recommending it to everybody."

PERSONAL PROTECTION IS POLICY ENDORSED NOW BY QUARTER MILLION OF PEOPLE.

More than a quarter of a million people—over two hundred and fifty thousand men and women—praise Tanlac today because Tanlac makes them better—makes them feel better, gives them more strength, more energy, more vim, better nerves, surer ambition, saner hope.

There are many sick people, some of them actually diseased, others simply "ailing," "not feeling well," "run down." And very often to be in feeling well, ailing, run down, is the beginning of being diseased; because weakness brings illness. The weak cannot successfully resist the attacks of disease.

These sick people sometimes get used to being sick. They get so they believe that it is natural to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, belching and bloating from gas, sourness and soreness of the stomach, constipation, biliousness, inactive liver, dizziness, kidney troubles, pains in the sides and back, palpitation of the heart, headaches, "ringing in the ears," weakness, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, falling off in weight, foul breath, coated tongue and irritability. But it isn't natural and Tanlac, the new medicine, is proving that health is within the reach of all.

LANSING MAN IS TELLING HOW MOST WELCOME CHANGE HAS COME OVER HIM.

B. S. Carlton, of 108 S. Chestnut Street, Lansing, tells a story which seems almost too good to be true. Mr. Carlton is a messenger in the Capitol at Lansing, and is well known and has a host of friends. This is what he says:

"A friend of mine who used Tanlac gave his testimonial. I read it in the paper and it proved the means of bringing about the first relief from stomach trouble.

"I suffered especially," continued Mr. Carlton, "from pains in my stomach and bowels and from nervousness. My trouble was of such long standing that it had become chronic. I could not eat without being distressed afterwards and it was almost impossible for me to sleep nights. I was run down and weakened. I had no appetite to speak of and just had to force myself to go to the table sometimes.

"As I said, I read this testimonial given by my friend and I knew that he would not endorse Tanlac unless he knew the medicine. Therefore when I took Tanlac I was pretty sure it would help me if anything would. There is not much more to tell except that from the very start I improved under the Tanlac treatment and today I am again enjoying good health and feel fine all the time. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering from stomach and bowel troubles."

TENT CATERPILLAR.

Nests Should be Destroyed When First Detected—Spray with Arsenicals to Destroy Larvae.

This is the season of the year when the larvae and small nests of the tent caterpillar are likely to be found upon orchard and other trees, especially in localities where the caterpillars were present last year. With the first warm days of spring the larvae escape from the eggshell in which they have lain dormant during the winter. Trees infested with larvae during the early part of the year, or those in the immediate vicinity, are perhaps more likely to be chosen by the parent moth for the deposition of her eggs, and such trees at least should be seen to.

The recommendation of the department's entomologists for the control of this pest are, briefly as follows:

As soon as small nests are detected, they should be destroyed, as this prevents further defoliation of the tree. When in convenient reach, the nests may be torn out with a brush, with gloved hand, or otherwise, and the larvae crushed on the ground; care being taken to destroy any caterpillars which have remained on the tree.

The use of a torch to burn out the nests will be found convenient when they occur in the higher parts of the trees. In using the torch great care is necessary that no important injury be done to the tree; it should not be used in burning out nests except in the smaller branches and twigs, the killing of which would be of no special importance. Nests in the larger limbs should be destroyed by hand, as the use of the torch may kill the bark, resulting in permanent injury.

Tent caterpillars are readily destroyed by arsenicals sprayed on the foliage of trees infested by them. Any of the arsenical insecticides may be used, as Paris green, Scheele's green, arsenate of lead, etc. The first two are used at the rate of one-half pound to 50 gallons of water. The milk of lime made from 2 to 3 pounds of stone lime should be added to neutralize any caustic effect of the arsenate on the foliage. The paste form of arsenate of lead is used at the rate of 2 pounds to each 50 gallons of water, and the powdered form at one-half this quantity.

On stone fruits, such as cherry, peach and plum, arsenicals are likely to cause injury to foliage and must be used with caution, if at all. On such trees the arsenate of lead is preferable, as it is less injurious to foliage, and on all trees sticks much better. In spraying for the tent caterpillar, only applications should be made while the caterpillars are yet small, as they then succumb more quickly to poisons than when more nearly full grown, and prompt treatment stops further defoliation of the trees.

FORMER OAKLAND COUNTY BOY IS GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE

FRANK B. LELAND, WHO HAS SHIED HIS HAT INTO THE RING WAS BORN ON A FARM IN ROSE TOWNSHIP, THIS COUNTY, WORKED HIS WAY THROUGH COLLEGE TO A COMMANDING POSITION IN THE BUSINESS WORLD. MAKES A STRONG BID FOR SUPPORT.

(Oxford Leader of May 5, 1916).

Oakland County Republicans at the coming August primaries will likely look with much favor upon the gubernatorial candidacy of Frank B. Leland, of Detroit. The fact that he is a native of this county will command the attention of Oakland county Republicans who are invariably loyal to the "home folks."

Leland was born on a farm in Rose township, this county; in fact for a number of years has owned and operated the farm on which his boyhood was spent, so it is but natural that Oakland county should have more than a passing interest in his candidacy. We have been proudly interested in the remarkable success of this former Oakland county boy in business circles and it is a forgone conclusion that "folks back home" are going to do all they can to aid in placing him in the executive office at Lansing; for, as the Detroit News says, "There is an appeal in the record of Mr. Leland, who as a farmer boy, worked his way through college, came to the city and achieved success."

But no one here need pin his faith on these grounds alone for Frank B. Leland is eminently well qualified for the position of governor of this great state. Experienced in finance and business, possessing educational training represented by two degrees from the state university, still retaining a warm place in his heart for the farming life and interests from which he sprung, he combines qualities seldom presented in gubernatorial candidates.

As president of the United Savings Bank of Detroit, he commands the confidence and respect of the solid business interests of the state, and as president of the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium he has engaged in a war against the white plague that has made the entire state his debtor. Eight years a regent of the U. of M., handling the expenditures of millions of dollars, shows the capacity of the man as well as indicating that he has had exceptional opportunities for studying the business methods of the state and its institutions. He comes not before the public forum as an untried neophyte but as a successful business man of practical experience. From the standpoint of political expediency, the party which wishes to again control the reins of state government must consider Leland. He comes in the unique character of a man on whom all Wayne county republicans can combine and with the endorsement of all the press of the metropolis—a condition we cannot recall as ever occurring in the past.

Nor does his support seem to be dependent upon the heavy vote of the metropolis, although that is bound to be a great factor in his favor at the primaries. He has a large following in the state as evidenced when he was nominated for regent of the U. of M. despite the opposition of factional organizations in Wayne.

Leland's strong personality, varied business experience, high educational qualifications and commendable record in public and private life will make him a mighty potent factor in the coming campaign. If nominated his election is assured. If elected Michigan will have a governor second to no state in the Union.—Advertisement.

the land the birds were building nests, and singing sweet songs. It was in the springtime when the purple buds expand; and the brooks laughing and rushed and leaped, and waved their fluttering signals from the steep.

As the farmers tilled the earth some hundred years ago, they heard the cawing of crows and thought that they were after their precious seed. They were very angry and thought of destroying all the birds.

They held a town meeting at the new town hall. There were more foes than friends. The preceptor was the best friend in the crowd. He was for the birds, and told many things to the people but they would only smile and believed that the birds should be destroyed.

The preceptor said and done all he could to save the birds but it was of no use for he was the only one in the crowd against the many. Summer came but nothing seemed to do well for the insects destroyed everything. Fall came without a leaf on the trees. Everything was destroyed by the insects. Now the people found that they were wrong, but it was too late for all the birds were gone from the town.

JUDICIAL CLUB ORGANIZED. East Tawas, Mich., June 6, 1916. To the Electors of the 23rd Judicial Circuit, comprising the Counties of Isosco, Alcona and Oscoda: A large number of business and professional men of the Tawasess assembled in East Tawas on the evening of Monday, June 5, the object or purpose of which was to perfect an organization to assist in the election of Albert W. Black to the office of Circuit Judge of this 23rd Judicial Circuit; also to set in conjunction with similar organizations to be effected in the other two counties of the district.

There were also selected one representative from each of the various townships and cities in the county, the list being as follows: East Tawas—E. G. Ash. Tawas City—J. M. Wuggazer, Ex-Mayor. Whittemore—H. M. Belknap, Mayor. Oscoda—F. G. Cowley, Ex-Supervisor.

Expressions were given in terms which accentuated the high esteem in which Mr. Black is held in this, his home county, and also the ardent and tenacious friendship for him in the hearts of his fellow citizens, who believe that a select on to this high office should be made by the entire voting populace; and a campaign both loyal and vigorous will be put forth to bring about his election of Circuit Judge, for which he seems specially fitted, as all who know him personally, will concede. It is a laudable ambition, and if Mr. Black succeeds in attaining unto it, this circuit will have an able jurist, a man of calm demeanor, compassionate, but stern temperament, with justice as his highest ideal in the performance of every duty.

The new club, unanimously passed the following resolutions, after which an adjournment was had subject to call of the President: Resolutions Adopted. We, the Committee appointed to present resolutions to this meeting, hereby submit the following: Whereas, a vacancy in the office of Circuit Judge for the Twenty-third Judicial Circuit of Michigan, comprising the counties of Isosco, Alcona and Oscoda, occurs this year of 1916; and Whereas, it becomes necessary that the Republican party nominate a suitable candidate at the coming primary election, to be held August 29, next; and Whereas, it is the sense of this meeting that, considering the situation carefully, we suggest the name of the one who, in our opinion is the most suitable man for this high office.

Therefore, believing that the office of Circuit Judge should be filled by a man not only learned in the law but of a high degree of integrity and nobility of character, and should possess as well, a judicial temperament in order that he may properly fulfill the duties of the office; and further believing that such a man possessing all of these qualities, we suggest to be found in Albert W. Black, who is now completing his third term as Prosecuting Attorney of Isosco County, and who has shown that marked ability as a lawyer and man that particularly singles him out at this time as the logical candidate of the Republican party for the office of Judge, we therefore recommend that this club so announce, and further the candidacy of Mr. Black by all honorable and fair means, in order that his election be secured; and to this end we pledge our earnest support.

And we further recommend that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the entire Press of the Twenty-third Judicial Circuit, for publication.—Advertisement.

—so now there's no need to sacrifice pride to economy

Now for the first time your sense of pride and strictest economy are fully satisfied in one and the same car.

Never before has a stylish, comfortable, completely equipped car been offered at anywhere near so low a price.

This Overland costs only $615.

But it is every inch an Overland—a perfect beauty.

Though a small, light, economical car, it is roomy, strong and powerful.

And it is absolutely complete to the last detail.

Of course it is electrically lighted and started; and the electrical control buttons are located on the steering column—right at your finger tips.

As for easy riding, this newest Overland is not to be compared with any other car of its size.

The buoyant cantilever rear springs, the deep, soft upholstery, and large tires provide real riding comfort.

You should have a car this spring—and if you want top class at bottom price, it must be this Overland, for no other car meets both these requirements.

The demand for this car is in excess of the factory's capacity. Order yours now, to avoid delay.

See us right away.
